Flooding East of Holt Covers Farming Land

After flooding rivers have reached their crests and are steadily receding throughout most of the area, farmers in the territory east of Holt and below the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge are faced with high water troubles. Hundreds of acres are under water and yesterday's snowfall has compounded the problem.

While virtually all field and road ditches in the area are open, the flood is caused by the apparent inability of the Thief river to carry the water away from the area fast enough. Water flowing into the river from the northeast has filled the winding channel, and spilled over the banks on both sides of the river.

Farmers in the area have called a meeting with Sen. Donald Sinclair of Stephen and Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle tentatively for Friday morning at the Edwin Anderson farm southeast of Holt. The group will tour the area to inspect the situation and discuss possible solutions.

Robert Kloubec, work unit conservationist for the Pennington County Soil Conservation district and the Marshall - Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation district, viewed the flooding on Monday. Flooding has been general for more than two weeks but the water was reported to be rising this morning.

Indicating that the channel of the river is unable to carry the water being drained into it, the water level at the mouth of the river at Thief River Falls is low, Kloubec noted that geological surveys show a drop of 24 feet from the average level of the west pool of Agassiz refuge to the dam by the power plant in Thief River Falls. Nearly all of the channel from the refuge to the city limits has been cleared of trees and brush the past several years, but the channel itself is apparently too narrow and too shallow to carry the large volume of water.

At the Arthur Moe farm the flood has completely covered about one-fourth mile of farm driveway. On the Johnny Nelson farm, located where the refuge road east from Holt crosses the river, water surrounds the farmstead and has begun seeping into the barn. A number of Nelson's cattle are marooned on a small piece of ground behind the barn and could prove a problem if water rises higher.

Main concern of the farmers in the area is the duration of the flooding, since outlets are free of obstruction but are not carryingg the water away. Many believe that only expansion of the river channel can help solve the problem since retention structures in the agassiz refuge can not hold back the flood.

Jurors to Report

Jurors drawn for the spring term of district court in Pennington county will report Monday at 9:30 a. m. to the court room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, according to Miss Ardith Johnson, clerk of Court. Judge Harley G. Swenson will preside at the general April term.

SLIGHTLY unnecessary at the present time is this stock tank in a flooded pasture southeast of Holt. Normally filled from a well across the road, the tank was nearly submerged by flood water on Sunday.

Perpetual Charter Night Set by VFW

Perpetual charter night activities at the Veterans of Foreign Wars post in Thief River Falls will be held Saturday with a banquet starting at 6:30 p.m. at the VFW club rooms. Speaker will be Charles "Harpo" Dexter of Bagley and the life charter will be presented by Arnold Ringstad of East Grand Forks, past department commander.

Invocation will be given by Myrle Carlson, chaplain, with Ray A. Jorgenson as master of ceremonies, welcome and greetings from Post and unit 2793 will be extended by Farrell Harris, commander, and Mary Lou Johnson, president. Arnold Gerjets, district commander, will bring greetings from the district. Del Harbott will introduce life members.

Encouraged to attend the evening banquet and program are all members of the post and their wives, auxiliary members and their husbands. Dancing to the music of Bob Peterson's orchestra will follow the program.

Filings To Close Tuesday on Board Of Local Schools

Filings for the Thief River Falls board of education close Tuesday, and only one candiate has filed for election to date. Harry Oen, who was appointed by the board to fill the unexpired term of John Burtness who resigned, is the only person to file. The term of Rufus Olson, currently serving as board chairman, also expires this year, as does the term of Lloyd Howick, past board chairman.

Payment on Shorn Wool Announced At 31.6 Per Cent

Shorn wool payments for the 1965 marketing year will amount to 31.6 per cent of the dollar returns each grower received from the sale of shorn wool during 1965, according to Winton Knutson, chairman of the Pennington County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

The payment rate was determined recently by the department of agriculture as the percentage necessary to bring the national average wool price of 47.1 cents per pound received by growers during 1965 up to the previously announced incentive level of 62 cents per pound under the national wool program.

Producers will receive an incentive payment of $31.60 for every $100 received from the sale of shorn wool during the eleventh year of the program. This compares with a payment of $16.50 per $100 marketings for the 1964 marketing year when the average wool sales price was 53.2 cents per pound.

The chairman reminded growers that each wool payment is determined by multiplying the growers dollar return from the sale of his wool (less marketing charges) by the payment rate of 31.6 per cent. The percentage method of payment is designed to encourage growers to improve the quality and marketing of their wool, since the grower who gets the best possible price for his wool also gets a higher incentive price.

The payment rate on 1965 sales of unshorn live lambs to compensate for the wool on them will be 60 cents per hundredweight. This payment on sales of live lambs that have never been shorn is based on the shorn wool payment, the average weight of wool per hundredweight of lambs and the value of lamb's wool relative to the value of shorn wool. It is designed to discourage unusual shearing of lambs before marketing.

According to Chairman Knutson, the ASCS county office will begin making 1965 program payments shortly.

Viking PTA Will Hold Variety Show

Viking PTA will present a variety show Monday at 8 p.m. in the Viking school gymnasium. The show will feature a variety of family entertainment including a style show by the men, a mock wedding, several musical numbers and a one-act hillbilly comedy.

Admission is 40 cents for adults, and 20 cents for high school students. Children will be admitted free. A free lunch will be served.

Employment in City Shows Normal Winter Decrease

Employment in Thief River Falls during the first quarter of 1966 (mid-January to mid March) decreased 1.1 per cent from the fourth quarter of 1965, according to The Minnesota State employment service. There were no significant changes, just a normal winter drop.

Total employment as of mid-March 1965 was 2,805 and in March 1966 the figure was 2,832. As of mid-March 1966 local trade was down 22 workers, or 2.1 per cent. In the service category, there was a drop of .2 per cent; manufacturing was up 3 per cent; construction employment was down 12.1 per cent; and finance was up 1 per cent.

Unfavorable weather is delaying the start of construction activity as well as farm work. Employment is expected to start its upward swing in late April. Many construction workers are awaiting recall by their regular employers as soon as work can get started.

The demand for workers is very light. Service workers such as waitresses, cooks and housekeepers are in steady but not heavy demand. The outlook for construction employment is good and should increase rapidly as weather permits outside activity to begin.

The supply of workers, mainly seasonal construction workers is at a peak. The supply will decrease rapidly when summer weather arrives, the employment service stated.

Musical Talent Contest Set at Grygla School

Grygla eliminations for the annual musical talent contest of schools will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Grygla school gymnasium. Vocal groups, duets, organ solos, piano solos and other instrumental numbers are entered. Everyone is welcome to attend.

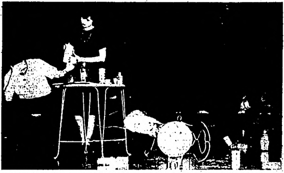
Winners in the elimination contests at the three schools will compete in the final event on Friday, April 29, in the Grygla gymnasium. Judges will select several winning numbers from the three divisions of grades 1-3, 4-6, and 7-8. Winners will receive pins or trophies.

Admission prices are 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for high school students and 10 cents for elementary students. Lunch will be served following the contest.

SBA Specialist To Be Available For Conferences

Harry A. Sieben, regional director of the Samll Business administration, announced today that John R. Cronholm, loan specialist, will be in Bemidji on Wednesday, May 11.

Sieben urged small businessmen in the area who are interested in learning more about the various SBA programs to make plans to visit with Cronholm. Appointments can be made by contacting the Chamber of Commerce, Bemidji Avenue and Third Street, Bemidji, Minnesota. Telephone number is 751-3540.



CONDITION of the main characters in the community theatre's production of "The Tender Trap" on "the morning after the night before" is apparent in the above. The scene, from Act II of the play takes place in the New York bachelor apartment of Charlie Reader (James McConnell), the prone figure at right, after a highly sociable evening. The occasion is the visit of Charlie's old friend Joe McCall (Francis Womack), the miserable-looking character at left. Pouring coffee is Sylvia Crewes (Pat Anderson), one of Charlie's many female acquaintances. This hilarious adult comedy—first by the community group—will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Community Theatre To Stage 'Tender Trap'

Initial offering by the recently-organized Thief River Falls Community theatre, "The Tender Trap" will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium. Tickets are on sale at Larson Music company, the Jewel Box, Ekeren Drug and at the door both evenings.

Under the direction of Bill Jensen, the play is billed as an adult comedy with the setting being a bachelor apartment in New York City. New flats have been built by the theater group which is also acquiring its own properties. Assisting with the direction are Alyce Weckwerth and John Johnson.

Action of the play takes part in the bachelor apartment of Charlie Reader (James McConnell) a successful salesman for an Indianapolis firm. Charlie finds himself surrounded by gorgeous girls who are eager to wait on him but have a matrimonial objective.

The girl friends include Poppy Matson (Peggy Stahl), a pretty beatnik who is juvenile editor for a book publisher; Jessica Collins (Gloria Bjorkman), who is a buyer for a chain of women's stores; and Sylvia Crewes (Pat Anderson), a sophisticated and extremely handsome woman in her early 30's, who is a violinist.

see Georgia first

SELECTED to represent Pennington county in the Minnesota-Georgia 4-H exchange program is Judy Oski, junior at Lincoln senior high school and a member of the Mavie 4-H club. She will tour and visit with farm families in Georgia this summer.

Judy Oski Named To 4-H Exchange

Judy Oski, Goodridge, member of the Mavie 4-H club, has been selected to represent Pennington county in the 1966 Minnesota - Georgia 4-H exchange. Delegates are selected on the basis of their long-time 4-H record and their interest and participation in citizenship and leadership activities.

This is the second year of the six-year 4-H exchange program with Georgia. The program is sponsored by the Minnesota and Georgia agricultural extension services.

"The trip is an educational opportunity for members to share 4-H ideas and experiences," says Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota. "The 36 member-delegates will also receive citizenship and leadership training."

Participants will travel by chartered bus from St. Paul to Georgia. Upon arrival in Georgia the Minnesota 4-H members will go directly to the nationally known Rock Eagle 4-H center in Atlanta where they will join selected Georgia 4-H members for a citizenship short course. Following the short course they will spend several days with host families throughout Georgia. They will conclude their georgia trip with a weekend in Atlanta, returning to Minnesota in time to participate in the Minnesota 4-H Junior Leadership conference, June 22-24.

Burton Olson, Benton county extension agent, and Mrs. Olson will accompany the group.

In previous years Minnesota has conducted statewide exchanges with Mississippi, Manitoba and Maryland. Next year Georgia 4-H delegates will spend two weks in Minnesota on a return trip.

Farm Census in Marshall County Will Start Soon

Annual state farm census for Marshall county is scheduled to get under way on or before May 1. The Marshall county enumeration is under the supervision of Norman W. Hiben, Marshall county assessor.

Each township and village assessor will take the farm census for 1966 at the time of the annual assessment. The assessor will record the acreage of land in farms, acreages of the various crops and numbers of livestock and poultry on farms for each farm with headquarters in this township of village. This information is secured for the purpose of furnishing basic information so that the department of agriculture may prepare accurate reports of the state's agriculture.

The information recorded in this farm census is not used for taxation purposes but is used as part of regular reports on production of crops and livestock.

CLOCKS in Minnesota will be set ahead one hour Saturday evening as the state officially goes on Daylight Saving Time at 2 a.m. Sunday. The fast time will remain in effect until 2 a.m. Sunday, October 30. Marlys Mossestad, Miss Thief River Falls, provides a reminder of the DST schedule which was adopted by the U.S. Congress and approved in a ruling by Minnesota Attorney General Robert Mattson.

Scout Exposition Set Saturday

"The Wonderful World of Scouting" is the theme for the 1966 annual Boy Scout exposition scheduled for the Thief River Falls city auditorium from 2 to 8 p.m. Saturday. A total of 24 Scouting and hobby booths, including several double booths and a triple booth, will be on display.

The event is sponsored by the Thief River Falls Jaycees in cooperation with the Lake Agassiz Boy Scout council. Art Heinze and Jim Wills are co-chairmen of the project, and Dave Anderson, district scout executive, is the adviser.

Scouting units from Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire, Roseau and Warroad have entered exhibits. In addition, the exposition will be made an international event by the appearance of a large Canadian Cub Scout pack, which has reserved a triple booth.

Cub packs, Scout troops and Explorer posts which have entered exhibits, with their leaders, are as follows: Troop 59, E. L. Iverson, Camping; Pack 59, Adrian Larsen, Back Yard U.S.A.; Troop 57, Robert Protz, Pioneering; Troop 60, Byron Johnson, Handicraft and Chemistry; Troop 53, St. Hilaire, Harry Sjulson, Scouting Highlights of the Past Year in Color; Pack 60, Irving Swanson, Cub Scout Collections; Post 46, Quentin Jones, High Adventure; Troop 56, Roseau, Harold Grothem, theme unknown; Troop 51, Warroad, Colin R. Meeker, Compass; and Pack 51, Warroad, Raymond Green Jr., Space Derby.

Theme of the Canadian exhibit is unknown. A 4-H booth and a Jaycee information booth will also be featured. The concession stand will be operated by Troop 57.

The Scouting booths will be joined by 12 booths at which local hobbyists will display their collections and creations. Hobbyists who have entered exhibits are as follows:

Oakland Park nursing home, handicraft and weaving; Valley home, handicraft and fancy work; Orville Ellingson, woodworking and photography; Mrs. George Biddick, China painting; James Solsten, violin making; Johnson Bros. hobby store, hobby material display; Pat Klemish, Elton Cummings and Ed Krystosek, coin collecting; and Lollie Owen, Ebba Sagmoen and Mrs. Ole Easthouse (Goodridge).

AMONG the 12 hobby displays slated for the annual Boy Scout exposition and hobby show Saturday in the city auditorium will be the coin collection of Pat Klemish (left) and Ed Krystosek. Elton Cummings, also a coin collector, will add to the display. A wide variety of hobbies will be represented at the exposition, which is scheduled for 2 to 8 p.m. Saturday in the city auditorium. Tickets may be purchased from Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers.

Karen Kaushagen Weds Harvey Meehl April 2

Miss Karen Y. Kaushagen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kaushagen of 510 North Kinney, became the bride of Harvey A. Meehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Meehl Sr., of Elk River, on Saturday, April 2, at 8 p.m. at the Silver Creek Lutheran church.

The Rev. Kenneth Kramer officiated at the eight o'clock double ring ceremony attended by approximately 150 guests. Mrs. David Schwartz presided at the organ and played "Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring" for the processional and "The Wedding March" as the recessional. A cousin of the bride, Judee Kaushagen, sang "The Song of Ruth", "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer". Forming the chancel setting were lighted candelebra and baskets of white gladioli, chrysanthemums and carnations accented with red roses and foliage. Blue bows and white tapers in candle holders marked the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of blue brocade satin in empire style. Fashioned by the bride, the gown was made with long sleeves that came to a point over the wrists and a modified A-line skirt featuring a matching detachable train secured with a bow at the empire waistline. Her elbow length veil of blue silk illusion flowed from a shallow pillbox headpiece of blue brocade. Seed pearls centered with a tear drop pearl enhanced the headpiece. Her bridal bouquet was a cascading arrangement of 18 red roses accented with white stephanotis and a blue bow.

Mrs. Richard Champ of Moorhead, the bride's sister, attended as matron of honor. Bridesmatron was Mrs. Wayne Konickson. They wore sleeveless floor length empire gowns of blue brocade satin with matching blow headpieces. To complete their attire they wore white shoes and gloves and carried wicker rings with red roses, white chrysanthemums and blue bows. Their crystal pendants were gifts from the bride.

Harlan Meehl of Rice attended his brother as best man. Duane Hackett of Minneapolis was groomsman and the ushers were Dean Kaushagen, brother of the bride and Floyd Hackett. The men of the wedding party were attired in blue dinner jackets and dark trousers. Their boutonnieres were rose carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kaushagen wore a pink coat over a pink and white figured dress. A pink hat and white accessories completed her ensemble. The groom's mother was dressed in a two-tone rose knit suit with black accessories. Both wore identical corsages of red roses and white feathered carnations. Also attending the wedding were Mrs. Helga Leiran, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meehl, grandmother of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors was given by the parents of the bride with Mrs. Gerrold Nelson as hostess. Centering the serving table was a four tiered wedding cake decorated with rose colored roses and white wedding bells and topped by a Christogram, a symbol of marriage in Christ. The two upper tiers rested on graceful swan pillars.

Cutting and serving the cake were Mrs. Don Wentzel and Mrs. Lyle Liden while Mrs. Edith Nabben and Mrs. Roy Nelson poured. Sandra Christianson presided at the guest book and Shirley and Donna Fuller served as waitresses. Mrs. Bruce Russell, Mrs. Duane Hackett and Joyce Langans opened and arranged the gifts.

Guests attending the wedding were from North Dakota, Fair Haven, Rice, Faribault, Hopkins and the Twin Cities as well as from the surrounding areas.

For traveling on the wedding ern Minnesota, the bride wore a ern Minnesota, the bride qoere a turquoise A-line dress with a matching coat, black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Thief River Falls, and the groom is a graduate of the Sauk Centre high school. They will make their home at rural Rice where the groom is engaged in dairy farming. Photo--Ken Johnson Studios, Crookston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Peterson and family of Coon Rapids were Easter weekend guests, from Thursday through Sunday, at the E. O. Peterson home.

Berktold-Haupt Vows Exchanged At Lake City

St. Mary's Catholic church at Lake City was the scene Saturday, April 16, at the wedding of Miss Mary Ann Berktold of St. Paul and James Louis Haupt of Stillwater. The Right Rev. Msgr. Warren Ryan officiated at the double ring ceremony attended by 160 guests. Jacqueline McKeown presided at the organ and provided the traditional nuptial music for the eleven o'clock ceremony.

The brkle's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Engelbert J. Berktold of Lake City and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Haupt of Red Lake Falls.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a regal floor-length empire gown of peau de soie. Designed with a lace bodice and long tapering sleeves, the gown featured an A-line skirt that swept back to form a modified train. Her bouffant veil was held in place by a pearl tiara and she carried a cascade bridal bouquet of red roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Patricia Berktold of Lake City, as maid of honor and Mrs. Bernard Schmitz of Plummer, sister of the groom, as bridesmatron. For their attire, the made of honor wore a floor-length gown of a deep blue brocade while the bridesmatron was attired in a pale blue gown of similar fashion. Both carried identical bouquets of cascading blue and white carnations.

Robert Haupt of Red Lake Falls, brother of the groom, was best man, and Ted Berktold of Lake City, brother of the bride, was groomsman. Escorting the guests to their seats were John Haupt of Crookston, uncle of the groom and Joseph Berktold of Lake City, brother of the bride. They were attired in black tuxedos with white carnation boutonnieres. The groom' boutonniere was a red rose from his bride's bridal bouquet.

The mother of the bride wore a two-piece light blue suit complemented by a white flowered hat and white accessories. The groom's mother was attired in a beige dress fashioned with long sleves. Ice-vanilla accessories completed her attire. Both mothers were presented with identical corsages of red roses. Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs. Anna Berktold and Mrs. Ann Costello, grandmothers of the bride.

A reception and dinner in the church parlors followed the ceremony with the parents the of bride as host and hostess. Mrs. John Haupt, aunt of the groom cut and served the four-tiered wedding cake decorated in blue and silver. The guests were registered by Mrs. Lee Grossbach while Mrs. John Costello served the punch and Mrs. Bernie Roozen arranged the gifts.

The bride is a graduate of the Villa Maria Academy at Frontenac and was employed by Economics Laboratory in St. Pau. The groom is a graduate of Lincoln high school at Thief River Falls and the department of carpentry of the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school. Following a wedding trip to Colorado, the newly-weds will be at home at Stillwater where the groom is employed as a carpenter by Swager Brothers, Inc.

TOPS Dieteers Change Time and Hear SRD Reports

At the meeting of the TOPS Dieteers Monday evening at the Thief River Falls city auditorium, members voted to change the time of their meetings to eight o'clock in place of the regular 7:30 p.m. starting time. This change will be in effect during the period of daylight saving time. President Della Burstad was in charge of the meeting.

Reports were given of the State Recognition Day held Friday and Saturday in Minneapolis. Hannah Breznay reported on the talk given by a doctor and the report on the leaders' meeting was given by Dela Burstad. Other members of the TOPS Dieteers club of Thief River Falls who attended the SRD were Hazel Omlid, 1965 club queen and Lillian Cork.

The announcement was made that Mary Hardy will be present to speak to the group at the next meeting, Monday, April 25. Refreshments were served following the meeting by Elsie Higdem and Florency Myers.

At the meeting of the club held April 4, Judy Jones was crowned March queen and presented with a gift from the club.

New Officers of Winslow Chapter, OES, Installed

New officers of the Winslow chapter 182, Order of Eastern Star, were installed at ritualistic ceremonies held Wednesday, March 30, with Mrs. Jean Larson of East Grand Forks, Past grand matron of Minnesota, as installing officers.

The program opened with a prelude of piano music by Mrs. Elizabeth McIver of the Grand Forks chapter. Carmen Quam, retiring worthy matron, gave the welcome and also introduced the out-of-towns guests who were in attendence from Grand Forks, N. D., East Grand Forks and Warren.

Following the Bible ceremony by Bethel 24, Mrs. Jean Larson installed the officers whose names appear elsewhere in this issue together with the installation picture. Assisting Mrs. Larson were Frances Stromberg, installing marshal, Olga Borty, installing chaplain and Elizabeth McIver, installing organist.

During the ceremonies Nancy Prichard sang "My Task" after the installation of the worthy matron and "A Perfect Day" following the installation of the other officers. The jewel was presented to worthy matron Dolores Wilson by Past matron Marie Burrell who was worthy matron at the time Mrs. Wilson was initiated into the chapter.

Past matrons, Sara Mayer-Oakes, Marge Ihle, Eva Schilbred, Thora Nelson, Olga Borry and Betty Sampson conducted the Star Point Addenda.

An informal reception followed the ceremonies.

Diane Bratteli Awarded St. Olaf Honor Scholarship

Diane Brattell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brattell of Grygla recently received the Honor Scholar award from St. Olaf Colege in Northfield. This award is the highest recognition an incoming freshman can receive.

Miss Brattell was granted the scholarship on the basis of her scholastic standing, activity, record, test scores and recommendations. To qualify for a scholarship, a student must rank in the upper five per cent of the high school class and have a college board SAT composite score (verbal and Mathematics) approximately 1200. An honor scholar, who maintains a 3.0 average at St. Olaf, may apply each year to have the scholarship renewed.

Miss Brattell will graduate from Oak Grove Lutheran high school, Fargo, N. D., May 27, as salutatorian with a 3.98 grade average.

Making the report was Lila Hanson, who represented the Tuesday club at the conference.

It was also reported that two of the club members, Dorothy Buck and Lydia Farmes, would be serving as hostesses the following day at the open house at Carnegie Public library in observance of National Library week. All the members are urged to attend.

Following the regular business meeting members worked on their individual projects and refreshment were served by Mrs. McKechine.

Those attending were Dorothy Buck, Marie Hovie, Gwen Brooten, Lydia Farmes, Marie Biddick, Evie Mittelstadt and Lyla Hanson.

St. Bernard's PSA To Discuss Lunch Program

The regular monthly meeting of the St. Bernard's PSA will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the parish hall. The main topic of discussion will be the proposed hot lunch program. A program will be presented and lunch will be served following the business session. All parents having children attending St. Bernard's school are urged to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Waale, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Christensen and Jennifer Travnicek were weekend guests at the Jerry Wedul home at International Falls.

Brothers Reunited At Thief River Falls

Two brothers who met each other for the first time, were reunited recently at the Curtis Jackson home in Thief River Falls. Ronald Kaset of Junction City, Kansas and Curtis Jackson of this city were brought up in different homes and to their knowledge this was their first meeting.

Mrs. Fred Albrecht of Mt. Iron and Mrs. Cardinal of Brooks were Wednesday supper guests at the Ed Christensen home in this city.

Moccasin Garden Club Members To Meet April 23

Moccasin Garden club will meet Saturday at 7:30 p.m. at the Norton Nelson home with Mrs. Nelson as hostess and Mrs. Alvin Burstad as program chairman. Roll call will be "Roses." An exchange of house plants will also be held.

At the regular meeting held February at the Vivian McCrum home Mrs. Adam Lendobeja was program chairman and Mrs. McCrum was hostess. Roll call was information on the begonias. Mrs. Lendobjen reported on the use of cold frames and green houses. Reports on the Crookston meeting were given by Mrs. Ed Koglin, Mrs. Archie Wilson and Mrs. Louis Handeghard of Hendrum.

Mrs. Clarence Peterson was hostess at the March meeting with Mrs. Norton Nelson as program chairman. Roll call was information on the evergreen trees. Mrs. Nelson, who spoke on pruning, gave 15 reasons for the need of pruning. The centennial seals which had been ordered at the February meeting, were distributed to the members to be used during the centennial year of the Minnesota State Horticultural society. Mrs. Sidney Wilson was in charge of the garden quiz and on history of the Horticultural society.

firm as Charlie, drops in unexpectedly to visit Charlie. Joe has discovered a new cure for the common cold, but the head of the firm has no faith in it and won't let him run a field test, so Joe has quit his job.

The two decide to call in Earl Lindquist (William Moeglein), a chemist, to run tests. He brings his lab assistant, Miss Julie Gillis (Annette Sebring), a sweet young thing, to help him.

Charlie thinks that he can "Straighten out this cute, confused little girl", but instead finds himself caught in "the tender trap".

Assisting the cast in production of the play are Pat Johnson, Cathy Wysoski, Loren Weignad, Roberta Weigand, JunNita Lieske, Virginia Gjernes, Shirley Kruschke, Richard Kotschevar, Gloria Halle, Jolene Kruschke, Starr Elliott, Sue DeLisle, James Foley and Lyle Paulson.

Officers of the organization include Merle L. Kruschke, chairman; James Solsten, vice chairman; Helen Wysoski, secretary; and Lee Swanson, treasurer. Mrs. Silas Hanson is in charge of tickets with James Schob in charge of sets.

Usherettes will be Lynda Broughton, Kathy Buringrud, Debra Ferber, Debra Halvorson, Barbara Hamerlinck, Jolene Kruschke, Charlene Myers, Nancy Olson, Kathie Protz, Linda Skibicki, Susan Swanson and Bev Thompson.

Late-Season Storm Brings Snow to Upper Midwest

Thief River Falls and the surrounding area got a taste of winter weather, hopefully the last of the season, Tuesday as a massive low-pressure area passed eastward to the south, influencing weather over much of the nation. Parts of Wyoming and Colorado were paralyzed by heavy snow, and the storm and the storm system brought tornadoes to Iowa. Twelve inches of snow fell in the Black Hills of South Dakota, and nine inches fell in parts of Minnesota. Thief River Falls, on the periphery of the storm, was blanketed by an inch of the white stuff.

Only slight relief is in the forecast, which calls for fair to partly cloudy skies today, tonight and tomorrow with a slight warming trend tomorrow. Highs today will range from 28 to 35; lows tonight from 15 to 25.

Temperature and precipitation readings recorded at the airport are as follows: 36 and 22 on Monday; 33, 25 and an inch of snow containing .11 inch of water on Tuesday; and a low this morning of 17.

TRF Legion Post Participates in Membership Drive

Every American Legion post in Minnesota has pledged an all out membership mop up campaign to be climaxed by a statewide aerial roundup and collection on April 30, May 1, according to Frank Hylla, Cold Spring, state legion membership director.

Hylla announced that ten planes will fan out from Crystal Airport, Crystal, on Saturday, April 30, to make stops in each of the legion's 10 districts. "This aerial roundup is under the direction of Clarence Hinck, veteran Minnesota pilot, and former chairman of the national aeronautics committee of the legion. Pilots for this roundup are from Aviation Post 511, Minneapolis, selected by Vernon Arne, commander, and are all legion members," Hylla continued.

Ecklund - Holmstrom Post 117 in Thief River Falls now has 620 members, according to James Cuppett, commander. This is above the 710 membership goal he said, but the post is still seeking its own goal of "666 in '66". Warren Nelson of Warren, area vice commander, will head a membership caravan from this area of the district to Fergus Falls April 30.

Pre-scheduled stops will be made by roundup pilots in each district to collect memberships enrolled by posts surrounding the airports, with the post commanders required to deliver the memberships in person to the district commanders. Every Minnesota post will be contacted personally by district vice commanders and county commanders previous to the roundup.

"Purpose of the intensive drive is intended to marshal a greater membership number in support of veterans legislation, and to strengthen the legion's voice in support of our country's action in Vietnam," Hylla announced. "It is felt likely that results of this drive will cause a new high in legion membership in Minnesota. Minnesota's present high mark of 96,413 members enrolled was established in 1965."

Traffic Safety Workshop Set in Moorhead April 26

Special invitation was issued today by Minnesota highway patrolman Clifford Nick, Moorhead, for emergency vehicle operators to attend the annual traffic safety workshop to be held in Moorhead Tuesday, April 26, at the North junior high school.

Nick will present a training program for police officers, ambulance drivers, tow truck operators, funeral directors and members of civil defense and volunteer fire department on how to protect the scene of an accident. He will also cover legal emergency equipment and its proper use, and Minnesota statutes governing their operation. Nick is the area patrol safety officer.

The traffic safety workshop will begin with registration at 7 and the program proper at 7:30 p.m.

The workshop is aimed at improving the traffic safety picture in Minnesota through initiating action programs for safety, Nick said, and everyone is invited. In addition to the emergency session, a general session will be held on the theme "Education for safety, covering driver training and various improvement and refresher programs available to the public.

A successful workshop requires public participation, Nick said. "Public participation is needed if we are to reduce the terrible traffic toll which reached over 40,000 injured and killed in Minnesota alone last year."

Langen To Speak To District GOP

Congressman Odin Langen has announced plans for returning to Minnesota to attend the 7th District Republican convention scheduled for Friday and Saturday at Fergus Falls Langen will be the Keynote speaker at the convention and will address the delegates at 11:15 a.m. Saturday.

"I plan to discuss the problems that an urban-oriented administration in Washington has created for rural America," Langen said, "and why these problems present such clear-cut responsibilities and challenges for Republicans in this election year."

Choir Director's Clinic Slated

Thief River Falls conference of the American Lutheran church will hold a junior choir directors' clinic Saturday beginning beginning at 9:30 a.m. at Our Redeemer's Lutheran church in Badger. Clinicians will be Bryant Ulseth, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Clifford Zaffke, Crookston; and Mrs. Peter D. Roland, Stephen.

The clinic will offer help in ideas for organizing choirs, recruiting singers, basic techniques in directing and actual pieces that can be accomplished by small groups of singers.

Young Librarians Meet at Lincoln

Eleventh annual convention of the Northern Minnesota Association of Student Librarians was held Saturday at Lincoln high school with over 200 students and librarians in attendance. Schools represented at the meeting included: Argyle, Bemidji Junior high, Bigfork, Blackduck, Fosston, Kelliher, Red Lake, Coleraine, Lake Bronson, Twin Valley, Roseau, Walker, Cass Lake, LaPorte, Nevis, Warroad, McIntosh, and Thief River Falls junior and senior high schools.

Theme of the convention, "A Library Club Is a Service Club Which Works to Improve Library Service In Our Schools," was carried out in the program.

Vicki Lane, Kathy Breiland, Linda Skay, Donna Rux and Linda Anseby registered the schools. A morning snack served by the members of Franklin junior high school was followed by a get-acquainted mixer with Sandy Protz and Patty Lambert in charge. At 10:15 p. m. Supt. Marshall Hankerson welcomed the students and commended them for their valuable service to their schools and fellow students.

Debbie Dryden emceed the morning program. Each library club was allowed three minutes for a formal campaign speech for its candidate who had been selected as outstanding member of his club. Janet Cummings represented Franklin junior high school and Kathy Breiland represented Lincoln senior high school.

Kathy Helm and Sherry Adamson were the campaign managers for Lincoln high with Linda Skay, Doreen Seefeldt, Darlene Kelly, Susan Sorum, Sherry Sabo, Debbie Green and Patty Grandbois also participating in the campaign. Each school had two voting delegates who selected the winner. LaDawn Rude presented a trophy to James Tisland of Blackduck who was elected Student Librarian of the Year.

The Lincoln club presented a skit written by Debbie Dryden and Sheryl Mousley. Participating in the skit were LaDawn Rude, Linda Skay, Lorray Owen, Patty Lambert, Beverly Haney, Doreen Seefeldt, Darlene Kelly, Susan Sorum, Sherry Sabo, Nancy Olson, Debbie Green, Donna Rux, Patty Grandbois, Sheryl Mousley and Debbie Dryden. After the skit, Lorray Owen and Lynette Langlie presented several musical selections.

Blackduck, president school of the convention, presided over the business meeting. A number of library clubs discussed National Library Week, April 17-23; Roseau extended an invitation to host the 1967 meeting and will be secretary-treasurer and host school for the meeting. Thief River Falls was elected president and Warroad vice president.

Following the noon luncheon the student librarians were shown the film "Bon Voyage". During this time the librarians held their annual business meeting. Oral Johnson, Franklin junior high counselor, spoke on the counseling role of the librarian and how the librarian and counselor can best work together for the betterment of the students.

Lester Rodahl Rites To Be Held Thursday At Holt

Funeral services for Lester Rodahl, 54, who died Saturday evening at the Veterans hospital at Fargo, N. D., will be held Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Nazareth Lutheran church at Holt with the Rev. Kenneth Kramer officiating. Mrs. Orville Larson will serve as organist and hymn selections will be sung by Mrs. Alf Movik and Mrs. John E. Ness.

Pallbearers will be Forrest Johnson, Edgar Horlen, Carl Lunke, Ted Sampson, Edwin Anderson and John Augustine.

The body is reposing at Collins Funeral home, Middle River, until noon Thursday and at the church one hour prior to the time of services.

Lester Rodahl, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olaus Rodahl, was born June 19, 1911 in East Valley township, Marshall county where he attended school and grew to manhood. He served with the U. S. Army during World War II. On Sept. 19, 1945 he was united in marriage to Miss Myrtle Nelson at Thief River Falls. Following their marriage, the Rodahls made their home in the Holt community. For the past year, Mr. Rodahl had been a resident of the rest home at Middle River.

He is survived by his wife, Myrtle of Thief River Falls; three sons, Delmer Rodahl, Waco, Texas; Wayne and Leyton, both of Thief River Falls; three daughters, Roanne, Polly and Tracy, all of Thief River Falls.

Also his mother, Mrs. Josie Rodahl, of Lahabra, Calif.; four brothers, Julian, Thief River Falls; Victor, Holtville, Calif.; Leroy, Searcy, Ark.; and Orris of Scandia; four sisters, Mrs. George (Gladys) West, Whittier, Calif., Mrs. Vernon (Clarice) Hollesvig, Lahabra, Calif., Mrs. Leonard (Cora) Johnson, Burnsville and Mrs. Arnold (Mae) Christianson of Mentor.

He was preceded in death by one son, his father, one brother and one sister.

Rites Held For Retired Farmer, Arno Steinhauer

Funeral services for Arno Steinhauer, 80, a lifetime resident of this community who died Saturday evening at Northwestern hospital, were held today (Wednesday) at 2 p.m. at the Green Funeral chapel. The Rev. Merrill Harris officiated. Organ and vocal music was provided at the services by Mrs. Oscar Fosholm.

Serving as pallbearers were Robert Nyvall, Chester Larson, Lawrence Lubitz, Millard Nelson, Henry Schwartz and Marlan Augustine. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery.

Youth Temperance Education Week To Be Observed

"Youth Temperance Education Week" is to be observed April 24-30, as a result of a proclamation issued by Gov. Karl F. Rolvaag. The proclamation urges citizens in churches, schools, clubs and as individuals to join in the observance of youth temperance education.

Gov. Rolvaag noted that "The future of our state and nation lies in the hands of the youth of today" and that "qualities of temperance, respect for law, and a high sense of responsibility for the common welfare are essential qualities for the maintenance and development of healthy, happy and successful human lives and a high degree of social progress."

Women's Workshop For DFL Workers Set in St. Paul

Minnesota has three legislators who will be participating in the Third Annual DFL Women's workshop on Saturday, April 30, at the Hotel St. Paul.

Connie Burchett, from Anoka county and Helen McMillan, from Austin, have been the legislature for two terms. Alpha Smaby, of Minneapolis, has just completed her first term. All three are particularly interested in the areas of education and welfare.

These women legislators feel that more women should consider entering the political arena, particularly since Minnesota has a much smaller percentage of women legislators than do most other states, according to Mrs. Clarence Joringdal, Pennington county DFL chairwoman.

Pennington county DFL women are busy making plans to be part of this workshop. Registration will begin at 8:30 a. m. with a continental breakfast, and the workshop will close at 4 p. m. with a "punch party."

Mrs. Joringdal, who is honorary workshop chairman, is taking reservations and arranging for rides. Reservations can be made through her at 681-3545, or mailed to the State DFL Central Committee office, Mrs. Betty Kane, 1637 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, Minn. 55403.

A $5 fee includes registration, morning coffee, luncheon, punch party and kit materials. A special rate of $4.50 applies if a check is sent with reservation.

Please send or call your reservations by Wednesday, April 27, Mrs. Joringdal said.

Four Area Women Plan Legislative Fly-in Program

Four area women will participate in an all-female "Legislative Fly-In," to Washington, D.C., which takes place April 24-27, under the sponsorship of the Minnesota Farmers Union.

Included in the group from this area of the state are Mrs. Delmar Hagen, Gatzke; Mrs. Lynn Hanson, Goodridge; Mrs. Dean Vatthauer, Red Lake Falls; and Mrs. Ben Wichterman, Plummer.

The Minnesota farm group was one of several from northwest states last summer which arranged "Legislative Fly-In" trips which were made up of farmers, business and professional men.

"The Legislative Fly-Ins proved to be an effective new dimension in making the case for legislation needed by rural America," said Edwin Christianson, president of the Minnesota unit and vice president of National Farmers Union.

"We believe that this Ladies Fly-In is a first from the standpoint of a group this size making a flight principally to work on legislative matters," he said.

The Ladies Fly-In group will leave the Twin Cities International airport Sunday morning for Washington and will return to the Twin Cities on Wednesday evening.

Christianson said that, in their visits at the Congressional offices, the ladies would discuss the need for improved farm income, greater conservation efforts, a permanent school milk program, the Food-for-Freedom program, rural housing and truth-in-lending and truth-in-packaging measures.

Airman Hutmaker Is Honored at Grand Forks AFB

Card of Thanks

For the service rendered by the Falls - Starekow clinic and the Northwestern hospital.

My recent admittance, as I recall was the fourth one since, 1962, and I wish to express my feelings towards their ever-ready kindness and sympathy. Their smiles that create happiness costs nothing, yet the memory of it sometimes lasts forever.

It brings rest to the weary, cheer to the sad and it is natures best antidote for troubles.

I appreciate all that remembered me with cards and letters and visited me and the regaining of new friendship through my pleasant roommates, and their visitors.

I also wish to thank the friendly pharmacist for the promptness of mailing out medicines whenever necessary. And the very kind neighbors that are so willing and always ready to lend a helping hand. Thank you one and all, Mrs. Ellsworth Blylie. 1t32c

Card of Thanks

Thanks to Dr. Wendt, the nurses, Rev. Steen, Mr. Hendrickson and to all who visited me and sent cards and gifts while I was a patient at Northwestern hospital. God bless you all. Mrs. Selma Halverson. 1t32p

In Memoriam

In Memoriam of my husband, John Halverson, who passed away a year ago April 15. He has gone to rest, but not forgotten God bless his family. Wife Selma Halverson. 1t32p

Surprise, No Game!

Coach Ralph Skay's baseball Prowlers were scheduled to begin play on their 1966 schedule this evening, Wednesday, with the Fosston Greyhounds providing the opposition in the opener at the fairgrounds diamond. But, for reasons that are apparent, the game was postponed. And it is extremely doubtful if Friday evening's game, against the defending district champion Red Lake Falls Eagles, will be played. This game, too, was slated for the fairgrounds diamond.

According to coach Skay, the Prowlers' pitching staff of Tommy Cummings, Billy Poole, Bill Dicken, Jon Looker and Nicky Drees will be limited to three-inning stints for the first five or six games. On the form that Cummings, Poole, Dicken and Drees showed last season, the Prowlers should get strong pitching.

The Prowler coaches, and Lee Swanson and Earl Rogalla are assisting head coach Skay, had hoped to test the Prowlers in action. Keith Hendrickson had been set for first base; second base will find Dale Erickson, Gary LaValley, Cummings and Drees in contention; at shortstop Cummings, Drees, Dicken and Larry Peterson are to be tried; and at Third base Bob Brodin, Dicken and Larry Peterson are candidates.

The outfield will have Billy Poole in left field, Karl Poppenhagen in center field, and Rocky Wilson or Merle Sampson in right field. And veteran Wayne Smith will be the starting catcher.

The Prowlers could be a potent batting team this season if such strong-armed hitters as Smith, Hendrickson, Dicken, Cummings, Poppenhagen and the others come through. And the locals will need strong hitting if they are to carry on the winning tradition that has been a trademark of coach Skay's clubs for the past number of years.

Entitled to Recognition

At one of the club's regular meetings, the Rotary should give a vote of thanks, or acknowledgement, to the members of the Rotary bowling team.

The Rotarians won the Monday night National bowling league title. And the boys had such an edge that they didn't need to win any of the points that were on the schedule on Monday night; the Rotarians had clinched the title the week previous.

So here are the team members, and their pin averages, who are entitled to recognition: Bert Badden, 163; Ken Onken, 178; John DeKay, 170; Dr. Ed Gilbert, 162; Andy Williamson, 150; Harold Storhaug, 168; and Morris Owen, 147.

Last year I sniped at the Rotarians on several occasions, contending that they were the "Mets" of the National league, etc. But during the off-season the Rotary made some changes in their roster, and this season it was all serious bowling. And the result is a league title.

Fact is, I think they deserve a special meeting.

"Easy Money

The doubles and singles bowling tournament being conducted by the Family Bowl lanes here will be concluded this weekend, and it appears that the top money is "up for grabs".

In last Sunday's bowling, on the p. m. shift, Ray Schaefer of Grand Forks, carrying a 44-pin handicap, rolled games of 169-212-225-177, for an aggregate of 827, taking over first place in the singles.

And on the same shift, bowling on lanes one and two, the Sannes brothers of Lancaster, Glenn and Floyd, moved into first place in the doubles competition, posting an aggregate of 1,624 pins. Glenn carries a 164-pin average and Floyd has a 173-pin average. The duo, with a 124-pin handicap, had games of 222-159-167-190-223-188-180-171.

It is probable that the cannonading will be hot-and-heavy on Saturday and Sunday, particularly on Sunday. A contingent of 20 bowlers, headed by Tom Devine will be coming over from Grand Forks. And there is a possibility that Jerry Roseland, who has been Devine's partner in doubles competition in tournaments around the area, will be here. Roseland, who carries a 181-pin average, is rated as one of the top bowlers in Grand Forks.

Sportsmen Club To Meet Tonight

Regular monthly meeting of the Pennington County Sportsmen club will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. in the city auditorium meeting room. Reports will be given, general business conducted, movies shown and lunch served.

At its March 23 meeting, the board of directors voted to cut expenses by ending the practice of sending out meeting notices in the mail. Notice of meetings will be given via public news media. The May meeting will be held May 18.

TRF Baseball Team To Meet Tonight

First meeting of the Thief River Falls baseball team will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 7 p.m. at the Army recruiting office in the city auditorium. Anyone 18 years of age or older who is interested in playing baseball this summer is invited to attend.

Pennington NFO Elects Members To Milk Board

Merle Lundeen of Trail (chairman), Don Erickson of Plummer, C. R. Appleman, Edward Stucy and Bennie Johnson of Goodridge were elected to the milk board for the coming year at the monthly meeting of the Pennington county NFO Thursday. Johnson succeeds Donald Swanson of Thief River Falls.

Reporting on a meeting held earlier this month in Fargo, Lundeen stated that all members are urged to get their production in cooperating plants. He noted that a creamery may be a cooperating plant by signing the NFO master contract.

It was also reported that Armour of St. Paul is now doing the buying at the Winter collection point and that expenses are $1.50 a head plus five cents per hundred weight as an NFO fee. Any members with slaughter animals for sale can call Alton Carlson at St. Hilaire (964-2156) or Albert Kotrba at Goodridge (378-3510) for trucking arrangements.

Daniel Johnson, county NFO chairman, urged members to write President Johnson and their Congressmen, urging that ceiling prices not be placed on farm products until 100 per cent of parity had been reached. A reminder was also made of the Farmer Merchant Mixer to be held Monday at the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls. A social hour from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and dinner at 7:30 p. m. will be free to farmers and reservations may be made by calling 681-3720.

Mrs. Lloyd Michal of Roseau was guest speaker at the meeting, urging women to support the NFO. She spoke of young people leaving the farm, of empty farm buildings and farm auction sales. She said farmers are told that they cannot charge more for their food, but this is not true. Farmers must organize and ask for a fair price, she concluded, and NFO offers this opportunity.

Newfolden School Hot Lunch Menu

Tuesday, April 26, Oven fried chicken, gravy, mashed potatoes, white and dark bread with butter, Red cherry relish, candied sweet potatoes with toasted marshmallows, milk.

Wednesday, April 27: One meal casserole, white and dark bread, with butter, apple sauce, pickles, frosted graham crackers, milk.

Thursday, April 28: Pizzaburgers, green string bean casserole with white bread with butter, peach sauce, honey, milk.

Friday, April 29: Cream of tomato soup, soda crackers, peanut butter sandwiches, plain bread with butter, cocoanut cream dessert, chocolate chip cookies, milk.

Gilbert Attends Optometric Meet

Dr. E. L. Gilbert, Thief River Falls optometrist, recently attended a spring educational seminar at the Inn Towne motel in Minneapolis. More than 100 optometrists from every part of the state participated in the two-day sessions sponsored by the Minnesota Optometric association. Theme of the meeting was "Facing Reality, Present and Future." Professionalism and professional services were the main topics of the discussions.

St. Hilaire Has State Approval On School Funds

Applications for federal funds under the elementary secondary education act of 1965, Title I, have been approved for the St. Hilaire school by the Minnesota department of education, according to H. Budahl, principal.

One of these projects, dealing with supplemental teaching, has been in operaton since Dec. 9, 1965. The second project will be a four-week pre-primary session during the month of June. All costs of the latter project, including transportation, will be paid with federal funds.

Other projects are under consideration for the 1966-67 school year, Budahl said.

New Manager at Singer Center

Michael D. Nedley has been transferred to Thief River Falls as manager of the Singer Sewing center here to succeed Ray Corradi who has been transferred to Virginia. Nedley has been with the company for 18 years and moved to this city from Bismarck, N. D. He is married and has a 16-year-old son. His family will join him when housing arrangements have been made.

Present Awards at Plummer Ladies Bowling Banquet

The Plummer Ladies bowling banquet was held at the Plummer hall on April 13. The annual meeting, and the presentation of awards, was held following the dinner. Newly-elected officers are Alta Peterson, president; Louella DuChamp, vice president; and Lorna Huotari, secretary-treasurer.

In league competition, the Plummer State Bank team—Clara Hanson, Alta Peterson, Louella DuChamp, Nina Larson, Rosie Peterson, Lily Lee and Belle Erickson—won the first place trophy.

Second place winners were the Brooks Farmers Union Insurance—Connie Parenteau, Gloria Parenteau, Mae Sabourin, Eunice Reinbold, Deloris Generoux, Agnes Robidoux, Marcelle Violette and Jan Mattison. And the third place award was won by the Terrebelles—Val Gagnon, Joyce Rock, Virgie Sauve, Charlotte Remick, Zola Ste. Marie and Mae Wichterman.

The Plummer Oil Company — Mary Ann Nystrom Mary Ellen Amundson, Gloria Froseth, Ruth Hassenstad, Pollie Skjerven, and Carolyn Larson-was presented with a trophy in recognition of their last place finish.

The bowlers posting the high game score for each team were presented with trophies and the following gained awards: Gloria Parenteau, Brooks Farmers Union Ins., 221; Clara Hanson, Plummer State Bank, 221; Val Gagnon, Terrebelles, 215; Jean Matt, Plummer Lanes, 190; Lois Johanneck, Gervais Repair, 207; Bev Pahlen, Bev's Beauty Shop, 207; Clara Efta, Starlites, 236; Arlene Thune, Murphy's, 201; and Mary Ann Nystrom, Plummer Oil, 191.

Gloria Parenteau of the Brooks Farmers Union Ins., received a trophy for the season's high series, a 582. Val Gagnon of the Terrebelles received the trophy for the season's high average, having a 157-pin average. And Clara Efta of the Starlites earned a trophy for the season's high single game, a 236. And the Most Improved Bowler of the Year trophy was presented to Donna Pahlen of the Plummer Lanes.

Langen Says Present Administration Moves To Lower Farm Prices

"The Johnson administration is moving steadily ahead in its misdirected efforts to halt the raise in living costs by depressing farm prices," states Congressman Odin Langen, "and now they have gone so far as to take the bacon, ham and chops as well as butter from our boys in the services."

The congressman referred to reports that the Pentagon has ordered the armed services to cut their use of prime pork in half at U. S. Military installations because of higher prices. This latest action followed a Pentagon directive on March 25 to reduce military consumption of butter.

"I am certainly in favor of economizing wherever possible in government expenditures," Langen said, "especially now because of the inflation problem, but not at the expense of our young men in uniform. This move to reduce pork consumption, however, was obviously initiated not by motives of economy, but rather as a part of the administration's systematic drive to further lower farm prices —and in this instance they will not only deprive hog and dairy producers of income, but also of the opportunity to do their part for our servicemen by feeding them."

"Hog prices to farmers have already dropped a good 15 to 20 per cent since the first of the year," Langen observed, "and pork imports into this country from July of 1965 to January of 1966 were up 43 per cent over the same period a year ago. Clearly, from the farmer's standpoint, this is no time for the administration to take action which will expand market supplies of pork and push hog prices even lower."

"Gardner Ackley, chirman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, keeps saying that higher farm prices are at the root of raising food costs," Langen said, "but he conveniently ignores the real heart of the matter, which is that the President's inflationary policies have caused significant increases in processing, packaging, transportation, handling and labor costs—and these costs make up 61 per cent of the price of food to the housewife."

"It seems quite clear," Langen concluded, "that the farmer, who has been struggling with depressed prices for years, can expect no help from this aministration, especially when the Secretary of Agriculture—the man who is supposed to represent the farmer to the President—expresses pleasure when already low farm prices get even lower."

Defensive Driving Includes Belt Use, State Patrol Says

Drive defensively and you drive safely, says Safety Education Officer Obert Lillo of the Minnesota highway patrol.

Most peopel do not practice defensive driving, he said, explaining that defensive driving means driving in a way to avoid having accidents despite the mistakes and violations other drivers make and no matter what adverse conditions are present.

Defensive driving also means protecting oneself against serious injury while driving by having proper equipment—and one of the most important pieces of equipmet is a correctly installed and properly used safety belt.

The defensive driver buckles - up his safety belt the moment he steps into the car, because he knows the dangers of the road and is ready for any emergency. Safety belts, he knows, can reduce serious injury accidents by more than one-third.

Defensive driving means adjusting to all conditions of the road and the weather. The driver who cares about himself and others around him therefore wears his safety belt to help keep control of his car. Rough roadways or slippery streets can cause a driver to lose control, but if the driver is wearing a safety belt he eliminates this possibility because the safety belt holds him in place.

Everytime you get into a car, whether for a short trip or a long one, buckle-up that safety belt. It's a part of defensive driving, and defensive driving is your best chance to survive, Officer Lillo said.

Dairy Industry Faces Reduced Milk Supply

Long accustomed to surplus milk supplies, the dairy industry and consumers now face a time of reduced milk production and slightly increased prices. Several factors have given rise to this situation. Poor pasture conditions, below normal feed quality and a reduction in both dairy herd and dairy cattle population all have taken their toll on milk production, according to the North Central Milk and Ice Cream association.

For the nation as a whole, milk production has declined for the past 11 consecutive months. In Minnesota, Wisconsin and Iowa, which produce about one-third of the total milk supply, the decline has been far greater than for the rest of the country.

According to United States department of agriculture data, milk production in Minnesota declined 14 per cent in January, 14 per cent in February, and 10 per cent in March as compared to 1965. Iowa production dropped 15 per cent in January and 17 per cent in February compared to the year earlier. Milk production in Wisconsin, while still lower in these months than a year earlier, showed somewhat lesser declines of seven per cent in January and eight per cent in February.

Decreased milk production coupled with increasing total consumption has, of necessity, resulted in moderate price increases in farm milk prices. Grade A milk producers in 47 markets including Minneapolis - St.Paul were granted a 22-cent increase in Class I price effective April 10. To the consumer, milk continues to be one of the best food buys even with recent moderate price increase. This is especially true in the Twin Cities area which has long enjoyed the lowest fluid milk prices available in the country, the association said.

Few of the many other important food and non-food purchases of consumers remain today at anything like the level of prices which were paid in the 1947-49 period. And with the increase in consumer increase that has taken place since that time, less than six minutes of labor is required by the average worker to earn the price of a quart of milk. At 42 or even 43 cents per half-gallon whole milk offers the consumer the most nearly complete food available at a cost of only 11 or 12 cents per pound!

It is intended, of course, that the increases in producer milk prices and the effect of this on consumer prices will be such as to stimulate farm production of milk thus averting substantial price increases in milk and dairy products to consumers in the months ahead, the association adds.

Editorials . . .

"If the 'great society' has its way, it's going to subsidize the arts, desalinize the oceans, sanitize the streams, fertilize the flowers, federalize education, subsidize rents, socialize medicines, generalize transportation, unionize workers, computerize the armed services and chastise everyone who dares to criticize." —Rep. Bob Wilson

Change in Morals

In line with the apparent lowering of moral standards sweeping the United States and many European countries, the following editorial from the Truman Tribune strikes a remarkably true chord:

Don't "build a better mouse trap" young man, don't! You will find a much quicker market for your wares if you collect dirty stories and spew them over a dim witted audience in nearly any metropolitan night club.

Don't become a fine surgeon, young man, don't! You will find a faster buck if you learn to beat your opponents' brains out, join a cult, collect wives, skip alimony payments and dodge the draft.

Don't pursue bio-chemistry with the driving hope of someday finding a cure for cancer young man, don't! Your success would not be marked with an $800,000 contract, with the Green Bay Packers.

Don't learn a skill or trade that will elevate the standard of living of your fellowmen! Take a couple of guitar lessons, wiggle your anatomy in a vulgar manner, look as much like a hood as possible and become a millionaire before you become 21.

Don't become a fine statesman dedicated to the principles of Christian faith and Constitutional government for this endeavor will only reward you with catcalls from your subordinates and condemnations from your peers. You will find vast fortunes awaiting you if you "rise above" your principles, misappropriate funds, lie to your constituents and buy your votes with the taxpayers' dollars.

Don't dedicate your life to teaching fundamental values and searching for the truth, don't! You'll find much smoother sailing if you remain neutral in each moral crisis, preach halftruths and ignore the lessons of history.

The above suggestions are certainly void of any moral virtue, but has not our sense of values deterioriated to the point where there is more fact than fiction in them? We endorse the Cassius Clays, the Sibleys, the Bobbie Bakers by tolerating them, and we pay tribute to the Beatles, the Presleys, the Bergmans, the Sinatras and on and on simply by paying our hard earned cash to view their performances. When we patronize a filthy movie, is there any reason why our children shouldn't follow the example set by their elders.

Public opinion could change the unbelievable rut society is in—overnight.

Nine Against the Nation

By a six to three majority ruling on June 15, 1964, the U. S. supreme court decreed that both houses in state legislatures must be made up of districts equal in population. In so doing, these robed mortals disrupted a system which had served well for over a century and kicked off a controversy which has echoed from coast-to coast.

A majority of the states favor a constitutional amendment which would permit states to apportion one house of their state legislatures on factors other than population. Twenty-eight states have passed resolutions calling for a national constitutional convention to bring the issue before the people. Two-thirds of the states must pass such resolutions before this action can be taken.

Isn't it ironic how a simple majority of a nine-member body can make majorr decisions which direct the fate of a free people, but that the more than 180 million people themselves must be represented by a two-thirds majority in deciding their own fate?

We believe that not enough people are showing concern about the question on a local basis. Particularly in our rural areas, where population is falling, holding steady or not keeping pace with expanding urban areas, the question of adequate representation is vital. We could find ourselves in the position of the patriot who claimed "taxation without representation is tyranny"—and we could be in that position much quicker than many realize.

And while the nation ponders the problem of whether or not states should have the right to make their own choice rather than dance on strings pulled in Washington, Minnesota has itw own reapportionment problems. A fair plan of reapportionment was mapped out after chaxusting study by the last state legislature, but Gov. Rolvaag saw fit to veto the bill and thereby rendered countless man-hours of work completely futile.

On Monday Gov. Rolvag called a special session of the legislature to convene next Monday morning and consider the reapportionment question. While we consider this session necessary to avoid the undesirable aspects of an at-large election, we are mindful of the fact that the time and expense would not have been necessary at all without the governor's partisan veto last year.

There is little doubt that our area of the state will be chopped up to a considerable degree and that area legislators will be consulting their maps before entering election campaigns this fall. When the dust has settled and the smoke has cleared, we will be looking at a legislature more heavily loaded than ever from the surbruban metropolitan areas. All we can do is hope—as the rural bargaining power is drained from the legislature—that the men in power will be merciful in their decisions.

Rep. Richard Fitzsimons of Argyle, chairman of the House appropriations committee, told persons attending the Jaycee Boss-Employee banquet last week that he does not expect much rural difficulty arising from reapportionment. Rural legislators have always been fair to the metropolitan and suburban areas, he said, and he expects that rural areas will receive the same consideration. We hope this is true, but we are crossing our fingers.

Taken to Task

Minnesota's Republican executive committee has been taken to task by many of the state's newspapers which profess allegiance to the conservative policies of the GOP. The reason is the committee's decision to publicly denounce the John Birch society.

One of the most scathing blasts comes from the Truman Tribune which, in part, states the following:

"Either state GOP chairman George Thiss or the state GOP executive council, and perhaps both, should go fishing until the 1966 elections are history. It has been 15 years since we were a member of the GOP state executive committee and we have lost touch with just who has the dubious honor at the moment, but if there were ever a cause of foot-in-mouth disease they now have it in at least the third stage.

"When this committee, headed by George Thiss, met last week and displayed their bumper crop of ignorance compounded with stupidity by throwing members of the Birch society in the same category as communists they did a disservice to the Republican party that we doubt will be corrected this year. Filled with such enthusiasm and bad judgment, George Thiss and his committee of tinhorns should evaporate for the duration plus six. What did George Thiss hope to gain by such an abdominable distortion of the truth?

"For the most part, the John Birch society is made up of very substantial, stable citizens—much moreso I believe than Minnesota's present GOP executive committee with their state chairman thrown in. We have never joined the Birch Society, but we have been a guest at three or four of their meetings. We found in attendance other newspaper editors, doctors, farmers, lawyers, educators, hourly working men, businessmen, nurses and good citizens from other walks of life.

"Yes! There were also two rabble rowsers that we can remember by first and last name. They did not reflect the precise thinking of the other members present, but there was no doubt in my mind that they would lay down their lives for Old Glory rather than see her tramped on by communists. Would members of the GOP state executive committee do as much?"

Backward Thinking

When the government talks of "sweeping reforms", it usually means that private enterprise is swept into the dustpan of federal bureaucracy. We don't believe we are being unpatriotic when we condemn the U. S. government for legislating its way into business where it does not belong. Time has shown government business to be extremely inefficient and tremendously expensive to the taxpayer—as well as imposing restrictions which are neither necessary nor desirable.

Some time ago, a National Commission on Food Marketing was officially established. At that time, it was generally believed that this was to be a study commission only.

This belief, apparently, may prove wrong. News stories describing recommendations made by the Commission's staff (though the text has not yet been released) have appeared in a number of responsible publications, The New York Times among them. And their substance is that if these recommendations become law, the federal government will assume the most sweeping kind of authority over the nation's food industry.

Dr. Max E. Brunk, professor of marketing at Cornell University has sent a long letter to the Commission's chairman in which he powerfully protests the whole philosophy on which the staff report is based. In his words, ". . .I believe a significant factor in our achievement has been the general nature of our trade regulation laws. We have not attempted to lay down detailed rules for all to follow, nor have we imposed detailed prohibitions. We have used the more flexible method of prohibiting unfair trade practices and unreasonable restraints of trade. In most instances, the legality of a practice has been determined by its effect on competition. Labeling is required to be truthful and informative."

The new staff recommendations, he went on, would substitute "undesirable rules of thumb" for these guidelines—whose soundness has been proven by long experience. Some mergers, for instance, would be deemed illegal per se without regard to their effects. Some price differentials would be outlawed regardless of the need to meet competition. And the result, he finds ". . . would be to introduce rigidities into the regulatory system and make it difficult for the economy-to-adjust to changing conditions."

Among other things, the staff recommends that everything be produced and packaged to government grades and standards. Food advertising would be de-emphasized and reduced. And trading stamps would be banned in the sale of foods.

If this country's food industry, in all its many ramifications, had been a failure, there might be some excuse for so drastic a program. But that industry has done a superb job of meeting our needs on a low-profit mass-production basis. Competition is intense, mergers or no mergers, as every consumer must know.

These staff recommendations are an example of the kind of thinking that would have government boss everything and everyone—to the ultimate destruction of free, competitive enterprise which has been responsible for our unparalleled material growth.

Pipe Line Company Plans Expansion

A $4,700,000 modernization program was announced recently by T. S. Johnston, president of Interprovincial Pipe Line company. This provides for the electrification of the company's pumping stations in Manitoba and the remote control from Edmonton of the pipe and Superior, Wis.

The operations affected by the modernization program will be the pumping stations at Edmonton and Hardisty in Alberta; Kerrobert, Loreburn, Regina and Glenavon in Saskatchewan; Cromer, Glenboro and Gretna in Manitoba; and Viking, Clearbrook and Deer River in Minnesota.

Operatons east of Superor, in Wisconsin and Michigan, are now controlled from Superior while operations in Ontario and New York state are now controlled from Sarnia. The implementation of the program will enable the company to maintain its position in the rapidly evolving pipe line industry as one of the most efficient crude oil trunk line systems in the world.

The program will not be completed until late in 1967. Meanwhile, the company has informed its employees and is initiating a long-range, comprehensive program for all employees affected. This will include retraining, educational grants, severance payments, assistance in finding other employment and help with moving expenses. The company proposes to train a number of its present employees for new electrical and operating positions. As a reult, the reduction in staff in the United States will be betwen 20 dnd 24 employees.

The company is not leaving any area in which it now operates and will continue as a large taxpayer in every municipal district along its route. As a result of the proposed program, the company will expand its operation effectively and economically to meet the growing requirements of the various refineries which it serves.

Safety Belt Use Urged by State Highway Dep't.

With Minnesota drivers as the target of an intensive campaign to double the use of safety belts in all automobiles, many questions are asked about them. The Crusade for Safety office of the Minnesota highway department answers the queries.

A frequent question asked is, "Why should I wear a safety belt?" The answer is that the automobile safety belt is one of the most effective means available to bring about an immediate, dramatic decrease in automobile accident injuries. Safety belts could save at least 5,000 of the nearly 50,000 traffic deaths each year nationally.

Safety belts benefit hundreds of thousands of people every year by reducing the risk of injury in accidents. They hold driver and passengers in their seats, the safest position in most crashes. In an accident there are actually two crashes—one when the car hits an obstacle and the second when the body of the occupant is thrown against part of the car. It is the second crash that injuries or kills. The safety belt distributes and absorbs the impact force, governs the stopping distance, thereby reducing the effect of that second crash without discomfort if the belt is properly worn.

The safety belt protects occupants from serious injuries caused by striking the dashboard or windshield in an emergency stop. It helps the driver maintain good posture and improves his driving control and skill. He is kept behind the wheel and at the brake so that he can avoid an accident in case of a sudden swerve or bump, helping the driver to keep control of his car in an emergency such as a skid or sideswipe.

Safety belts prevent ejection if the door should open as the result of a collision. Studies prove that the odds are five to one in a person's favor if he remains in the car. Many people ejected from cars are killed because of the terrific force with which they hit the pavement, lamp post or other fixed object after they are thrown from the car. Some are ejected only to be run over by their own car or by other traffic.

It pays to buckle up and live.

AAA Publishes Vacation Issue To Promote State

Minnesota AAA has published a 32-page special "Minnesota Vacation Issue" of its official publication, the "Minnesota AAA Motorist." The April edition, now off the press, is completely devoted to Minnesota attractions and vacation possibilities. Its theme is "Discover Minnesota."

Besides being circulted to 350,000 AAA members in Minnesota, the special issue is being offered to AAA members throughout the U.S. and Canada via AAA-affiliated automobile clubs.

Stories and pictures about many of the state's attractions appear in the publication and the gamut runs from Grand Portage National monument at Minnesota's northeasternmost tip. . .to the Pipestone monument in far southwestern Minnesota. Articles about fishing, the northern Minnesota wilderness area, the Twin Cities, state historical attractions, camping menus and many other vacation pursuits in the North Star state make up the special edition.

Minnesota residents wanting to promote their state by sending copies of the vacation issue to friends and relatives in other states or foreign countries may obtain free copies of the publication by writing to "Minnesota AAA Motorist, 13th & LaSalle Ave S., Minneapolis, Minnesota 55403.

The supply is limited and copies will be sent on a "first come, first served" basis.

Euclid Man Named President of Minn. Angus Breeders

Minnsota Angus cattle breeders elected Bill Strickler, Euclid, to head their statewide organization at the recent annual meeting in Pipestone. He replace retiring president Dick Falkenhagen, Kasson.

New vice president of the Minnesota Angus association is Elol Stassen, Marshall; and Paul Krapf, Jasper, is the secretary-treasurer. Directors, in addition to the officers, include Clayton Carpenter, Sauk Centre and Fred Weaver, Mapleton.

Guest speaker at the annual banquet which preceded the meeting was Glen Bratcher, secretary of the American Angus association, St. Joseph, Mo. The 1966 Minnesota Angus Queen, Miss Charlotte Myers, Thief River Falls, was crowned before the more than 150 members and guests by the 1965 queen, Becky Stassen, Marshall.

Strange how a landscape sets the imagination to work. Right now, looking at this scene, I can imagine all sorts of things.

Winged steeds riding to heavy music . . . pioneers in the wilderness . . . castles on the cliffs . . . boating at high speeds.

Look at the magic that enables the lake to mirror the rocky mountain peak and the heavens! The vastness and stillness of the scene sets my mind to wondering about time and space and things I will never understand.

But in standing here and wondering so, I feel like I've been near God.

There is a place where I can find Him always—in Church. Will you come with me?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Well-Read Network" Proposed by Library Division in Minnesota

"Well-read Network" that will allow users of libraries in every Minnesota community to draw upon the resources of other libraries in the state may not be far from becoming a reality, according to Hannis S. Smith, director of the library division of the state department of education.

Discussing the proposed network in conjunction with Library Week, being observed in Minnesota and nationally April 17-23, Smith outlined its objectives.

"To meet the growing needs of our people for up-to-date information on an immense variety of subjects, and to provide the reading public with works of literary and artistic importance, Minnesota must do two things," Smith explained. "First, it must expand the territory served by minimum adequate public library services; second, it must coordinate the services of its expanded public libraries with the services of all other kinds of libraries—school, academic and specialized.

"When federal funds were first made available in Minnesota," Smith continued, "the library division of the state department of education developed a 'dream plan' for providing good library service to everyone in Minnesota. This plan envisions a number of regional library systems, each servicing several counties. It is in effect a network of libraries with service outlets reasonably close to every resident of the state."

Minnesota has already taken steps toward achieving this, Smith emphasized; already some Minnesota regions have developed embryo forms of such a network. He noted that these steps have paid off in increased state support of libraries.

"The legislature has established modest state aid to public libraries. This will have to be expanded as more regions are added to the network. There are now five regional library systems at varying points of development, and several strong single-county libraries with the population and tax base necessary for good beginning development."

In some of these, Smith stressed, the library income from local funds is at a reasonably high tax rate but still insufficient to support good service. This is where state and federal funds are used to help, he noted.

What will the "Well-Read Network" be like once it is fully established? Smith gave these details:

"In every one of the state's 11 library regions there would be at least one large collection of library materials having more than 100,000 non-fiction titles, including a variety of materials other than books. There would also be a numbers of substantial though smaller collections strategically located in the surrounding area—within a half-hour's drive at most. In smaller communities, there would be branches much stronger than the average small community library is today. Bookmobiles would serve as branches-on-wheels for outlying communities."

Each such system would serve at least 100,000 people; a minimum justified on the basis of economics and efficiency, Smith noted.

"Every one of these systems would have sound working arrangements and cooperative arrangements with all the school, academic and specialized libraries in its area," he emphasized.

"Through the network, every citizen in the state would be able to ask at his local library for any material he wanted from any other library. This would include not only books but also periodicals, pamphlets, phonograph records, slides, films and other materials."

Credit Banks of St. Paul Loan Over $1 Billion

Farm Credit banks of St. Paul reached a milestone reently by exceeding $1 billion in loans and discounts outstanding. According ot Lloyd L. Ullyot chairman of the presidents committee, this is an all-time high and represents an increase of 14.1 per cent over loan volume one year ago.

Farm Credit Banks obtain loan funds by selling securities of investors and provide agricultural credit to farmers and their cooperatives in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Farmers obtain long term credit from the Federal Land bank through 77 related Federal Land bank associations. Fifty-three Production Credit associations obtain funds from the Federal Intermediate Credit bank and provide short and immediate term credit to farmers. Farmers' cooperatives obtain short and long term funds from the Bank for Cooperatives.

U of M Dairyman Recognized for DHIA Expansion

Ralph W. Wayne, extension dairyman at the University of Minnesota recently received special recognition for outstanding cost reduction achievement from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. He was one of 12 USDA employees from throughout the nation to receive an indivudual special merit award for cost reduction.

Wayne's award was given to recognize his leadership in converting the record keeping for the university's Dairy Herd Improvement association (DHIA) program from hand processing to automatic data

Under leadership of extension dairymen at the university, the switch to automatic data processing enabled the agricultural extension service to expand both the total DHIA program and the herd management educational program.

This expansion of the DHIA program would have cost $51,500 if records had been hand processed, but with automatic data processing, the extension service saved this amount.

Automatic data processing of records resulted in an expanded DHIA program—from 4,454 dairy herds with 115,496 cows to 6,051 dairy herds with 184,752 cows.

The conversion also doubled the time field supervisors could spend on herd management educational efforts, which in turn produced increases of 866 pounds of milk and 42 pounds of butterfat per cow on test.

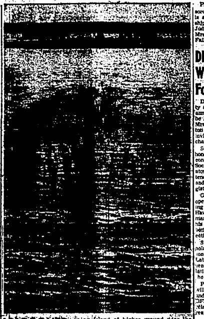
The production increases meant more efficient dairy operations and higher net and gross incomes for Minnesota dairymen.

Wayne has been a university extension dairyman since 1945 and holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from the university. In 1957, he received a USDA superior service award.

UND Gets New Scholarship for Engineer Students

A $500 undergraduate Rayonier Foundation scholarship has been established at the University of North Dakota to assist students in engineering. The scholarship, to be awarded to the student or students entering their junior or senior year and majoring in mechanical, civil or chemical engineering, will be available for the first time for the 1966-67 academic year.

The recipient or recipients will be selected by the University. The funds may be divided between two students. Established in 1953 by Rayonier, Inc., Hoquiam, Wash., a forest products manufacturer, the Rayonier Foundation maintains a continuing program of aid to education.



MAROONED on an island of higher ground near the Thief river are cattle owned by Johnny Nelson. Water in the foreground is overflow from the river, as the picture was taken west from the west bank of the river on Sunday. At present the cattle appear comfortable, but any significant rise in water level would make their haven considerably less secure. Ditches opening to the northeast, plus run-off from snow in the woods is believed to feed the flooding which is caused by the inability of the river to carry the water away fast enough.

Valley History Group Will Meet Sunday Afternoon

Annual meeting of the Red River Historical society is scheduled for Sunday at 3 p.m. at St. Joseph's provincial house, Crookston. The public is invited to this annual meeting.

Featured speaker will be Professor Robert W. Keyser from the anthropology department at Moorhead state college, Moorhead. Professor Keyser will speak on "The Archaeology of the Red River Valley."

The society seeks to coordinate efforts of the local and county historical societies in the valley and to further interest in the history of the Red River of the north. An international organization, the society claims members from Manitoba.

4-H NEWS

Grygla

Grygla 4-H club met March 19 at the Alard Morken home with Susan Vigen, president, presiding. Roll call was taken with the members giving the name of their favorite president.

It was stated that new members were to sign up after the meeting and pick up their records. It was voted to have roller skating at the next club meeting.

Susan Vigen gave a project talk on clothing. A demonstration on shop was given by Paul and Donald Haack. Lyle Anderson played a piano solo which was followed by group singing led by Mrs. Alard Morken. Lunch was served by Mrs. Norris Hagen and Mrs. Morgen.

The next meeting will be held at the Donald Verbout home.

DFL Women Plan Workshop Session For April 30th

DFL women of Pennington county are looking forward to the third annual DFL Women's workshop to be held April 30 at Hotel St. Paul. Mrs. Clarence Joringdal Pennington county chairwoman, has been invited to serve as an honorary chairwoman of this event.

Senator Walter Mondale, guest of honor, will present the noon luncheon address, "Bringing the Great Society to Your Community." Senator Mondale's wife Joan will attend the entire workshop. Coffee and rolls will be served during registration, from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m.

Governor Karl F. Rolvaag will open the workshop with a welcoming address. Keynoter will be Lex Hawkins, state Democratic chairman of Iowa, who will tell how his party elected a governor and both legislative houses the last election.

State Senators Paul Thuet, Nicholas Coleman and Wendell Anderson, and Representatives Robert Latz and George Mann will present a panel discussion on legislative problems and on issues for the coming campaign.

Professor Charles Backstrom will discuss "Statistics, Campaigns and Candidates." Robert Goff, DFL legislative coordinator, will relate these statistics to the newly reapportioned districts.

Key theme of the day will be summed up by a final duo of candidates' wives, Mrs. Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis and Mrs. Sue Rockne of Zumbrota, who will discuss "Womanpower—the Key to a Liberal Legislature." The day will conclude with remarks by Lt. Governor Sandy Keith and a punch party at which everyone will have a chance to meet the workshop celebrities.

"All Pennington county women are urged to mark April 30 on their calendars and call me to make their reservations," Mrs. Joringdal said.

Registration fee is $5. Registrations, accompanied by a check and mailed before April 27, will get the bargain note of $4.50.

Dennis Sullivan Completes Copter Repair Course

Pvt. Dennis M. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete J. Sullivan of Thief River Falls, completed a helicopter repair course at the Army Transportation school at Fort Eustis, Va., April 11.

During the 15-week course, Sullivan was trained to repair single-rotor reconnaissance-type helicopters. Training included adjusting, removing and replacing helicopter assemblies.

Approximately 50 per cent of the transportation school's instructors are combat veterans who recently returned from Vietnam.

Sullivan entered the Army in August 1965 and received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. The 19-year-old soldier was graduated from Lincoln high school in 1965.

Most Benefits to Veterans Are Not Subject to Taxes

Veterans administration said today that practically all veterans benefits are tax-free and need not be reported on income tax returns.

However, interest earned on GI-life insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA, is not classed as a benefit but as earned income, and must be reported on tax returns. Proceeds of the GI policy and the dividends thereof are tax-free and need not be reported according to John R. Murphy, manager, Veterans administration center, St. Paul.

Other VA benefits which are not taxable include education and training allowances, subsistence payments, to disabled veterans in vocational rehabilitation training, compensation and pension payments, grants to seriously disabled veterans for "wheelchair" homes and motor vehicles and all benefits to families of deceased veterans, Murphy said.

Strange how a landscape sets the imagination to work. Right now, looking at this scene, I can imagine all sorts of things.

Winged steeds riding to heavy music . . . pioneers in the wilderness . . . castles on the cliffs . . . boating at high speeds.

Look at the magic that enables the lake to mirror the rocky mountain peak and the heavens! The vastness and stillness of the scene sets my mind to wondering about time and space and things I will never understand.

But in standing here and wondering so, I feel like I've been near God.

There is a place where I can find Him always—in Church. Will you come with me?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Well-Read Network" Proposed by Library Division in Minnesota

"Well-read Network" that will allow users of libraries in every Minnesota community to draw upon the resources of other libraries in the state may not be far from becoming a reality, according to Hannis S. Smith, director of the library division of the state department of education.

Discussing the proposed network in conjunction with Library Week, being observed in Minnesota and nationally April 17-23, Smith outlined its objectives.

"To meet the growing needs of our people for up-to-date information on an immense variety of subjects, and to provide the reading public with works of literary and artistic importance, Minnesota must do two things," Smith explained. "First, it must expand the territory served by minimum adequate public library services; second, it must coordinate the services of its expanded public libraries with the services of all other kinds of libraries—school, academic and specialized.

"When federal funds were first made available in Minnesota," Smith continued, "the library division of the state department of education developed a 'dream plan' for providing good library service to everyone in Minnesota. This plan envisions a number of regional library systems, each servicing several counties. It is in effect a network of libraries with service outlets reasonably close to every resident of the state."

Minnesota has already taken steps toward achieving this, Smith emphasized; already some Minnesota regions have developed embryo forms of such a network. He noted that these steps have paid off in increased state support of libraries.

"The legislature has established modest state aid to public libraries. This will have to be expanded as more regions are added to the network. There are now five regional library systems at varying points of development, and several strong single-county libraries with the population and tax base necessary for good beginning development."

In some of these, Smith stressed, the library income from local funds is at a reasonably high tax rate but still insufficient to support good service. This is where state and federal funds are used to help, he noted.

What will the "Well-Read Network" be like once it is fully established? Smith gave these details:

"In every one of the state's 11 library regions there would be at last one large collection of library materials having more than 100,000 non-fiction titles, including a variety of materials other than books. There would also be a numbers of substantial though smaller collections strategically located in the surrounding area—within a half-hour's drive, at most. In smaller communities, there would be branches much stronger than the average small community library is today. Bookmobiles would serve as branches-on-wheels for outlying communities."

Each such system would serve at least 100,000 people; a minimum justified on the basis of economics and efficiency, Smith noted.

"Every one of these systems would have sound working arrangements and cooperative arrangements with all the school, academic and specialized libraries in its area," he emphasized.

"Through the network, every citizen in the state would be able to ask at his local library for any material he wanted from any other library. This would include not only books but also periodicals, pamphlets, phonograph records, slides, films and other materials."

Credit Banks of St. Paul Loan Over $1 Billion

Farm Credit banks of St. Paul reached a milestone recently by exceeding $1 billion in loans and discounts outstanding. According ot Lloyd L. Ullyot, chairman of the presidents committee, this is an all-time high and represents an increase of 14.1 per cent over loan volume one year ago.

Farm Credit Banks obtain loan funds by selling securities of investors and provide agricultural credit to farmers and their cooperatives in North Dakota, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Farmers obtain long term credit from the Federal Land bank through 77 related Federal Land bank associations. Fifty-three Production Credit associations obtain funds from the Federal Intermediate Credit bank and provide short and immediate term credit to farmers. Farmers' cooperatives obtain short and long term funds from the Bank for Cooperatives.

U of M Dairyman Recognized for DHIA Expansion

Ralph W. Wayne, extension dairyman at the University of Minnesota, recently received special recognition for outstanding cost reduction achievement from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He was one of 12 USDA employees from throughout the nation to receive an individual special merit award for cost reduction.

Wayne's award was given to recognize his leadership in converting the record keeping for the university's Dairy Herd Improvement association (DHIA) program from hand processing to automatic data

Under leadership of extension dairymen at the university, the switch to automatic data processing enabled the agricultural extension service to expand both the total DHIA program and the herd management educational program.

This expansion of the DHIA program would have cost $31,500 if records had been hand processed, but with automatic data processing, the extension service saved this amount.

Automatic data processing of records resulted in an expanded DHIA program—from 4,454 dairy herds with 115,496 cows to 6,051 dairy herds with 184,732 cows.

The conversion also doubled the time field supervisors could spend on herd management educational efforts, which in turn produced increases of 866 pounds of milk and 42 pounds of butterfat per cow on test.

The production increases meant more efficient dairy operations and higher net and gross incomes for Minnesota dairymen.

Wayne has been a university extension dairyman since 1945 and holds B.S. and M.S. degrees from the university. In 1957, he received a USDA superior service award.

UND Gets New Scholarship for Engineer Students

A $500 undergraduate Rayonier Foundation scholarship has been established at the University of North Dakota to assist students in engineering. The scholarship, to be awarded to the student or students entering their junior or senior year and majoring in mechanical, civil or chemical engineering, will be available for the first time for the 1966-67 academic year.

The recipient or recipients will be selected by the University. The funds may be divided between two students. Established in 1959 by Rayonier, Inc., Hoquiam, Wash., a forest products manufacturer, the Rayonier Foundation maintains a continuing program of aid to education.

MAROONED on an island of higher ground near the Thief river are cattle owned by Johnny Nelson. Water in the foreground is overflow from the river, as the picture was taken west from the west bank of the river on Sunday. At present the cattle appear comfortable, but any significant rise in water level would make their haven considerably less secure. Ditches opening to the northeast, plus run-off from snow in the woods is believed to feed the flooding which is caused by the inability of the river to carry the water away fast enough.

Valley History Group Will Meet Sunday Afternoon

Annual meeting of the Red River Historical society is scheduled for Sunday at 3 p.m. at St. Joseph's provincial house, Crookston. The public is invited to this annual meeting.

Featured speaker will be Professor Robert W. Keyser from the anthropology department at Moorhead state college, Moorhead. Professor Keyser will speak on "The Archaeology of the Red River Valley."

The society seeks to coordinate efforts of the local and county historical societies in the valley, and to further interest in the history of the Red River of the north. An international organization, the society claims members from Manitoba.

DFL Women Plan Workshop Session For April 30th

DFL women of Pennington county are looking forward to the third annual DFL Women's workshop to be held April 30 at Hotel St. Paul. Mrs. Clarence Joringdal Pennington county chairwoman, has been invited to serve as an honorary chairwoman of this event.

Senator Walter Mondale, guest of honor, will present the noon luncheon address, "Bringing the Great Society to Your Community." Senator Mondale's wife Joan will attend the entire workshop. Coffee and rolls will be served during registration, from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m.

Governor Karl F. Rolvaag will open the workshop with a welcoming address. Keynoter will be Lex Hawkins, state Democratic chairman of Iowa, who will tell how his party elected a governor and both legislative houses the last election.

State Senators Paul Thuet, Nicholas Coleman and Wendell Anderson, and Representatives Robert Latz and George Mann will present a panel discussion on legislative problems and on issues for the coming campaign.

Professor Charles Backstrom will discuss "Statistics, Campaigns and Candidates." Robert Goff, DFL legislative coordinator, will relate these statistics to the newly reapportioned districts.

Key theme of the day will be summed up by a final duo of candidates' wives, Mrs. Arthur Naftalin of Minneapolis and Mrs. Sue Rockne of Zumbrota, who will discuss "Womanpower—the Key to a Liberal Legislature." The day will conclude with remarks by Lt. Governor Sandy Keith and a punch party at which everyone will have a chance to meet the workshop celebrities.

"All Pennington county women are urged to mark April 30 on their calendars and call me to make their reservations," Mrs. Joringdal said.

Registration fee is $5. Registrations, accompanied by a check and mailed before April 27, will get the bargain note of $4.50.

Dennis Sullivan Completes Copter Repair Course

Pvt. Dennis M. Sullivan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pete J. Sullivan of Thief River Falls, completed a helicopter repair course at the Army Transportation school at Fort Eustis, Va., April 11.

During the 15-week course, Sullivan was trained to repair single-rotor reconnaissance-type helicopters. Training included adjusting, removing and replacing helicopter assemblies.

Approximately 50 per cent of the transportation school's instructors are combat veterans who recently returned from Vietnam.

Sullivan entered the Army in August 1965 and received basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. The 19-year-old soldier was graduated from Lincoln high school in 1965.

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

The eyes and ears of a child are his windows to the world around him. By listening and seeing he learns more than by any other means. But all too often a child does not hear or see well, and this defect remains unrecognized until the child has become severely handicapped, not only physically, but also socially, educationally and emotionally.

According to the Minnesota State Medical Association, vision and hearing defects are often disguised as poor behavior, a dislike for certain activities which require seeing or listening, or more tragically, as mental retardation.

A child's senses are usually fully developed by the time he is five or six years old. In many cases, if a vision or hearing defect is discovered by that time, it can be corrected with medical treatment. If the defect remains undetected until the child is in school, it may be too late for help.

In an attempt to prevent children from being unnecessarily handicapped the Pre-School Medical Survey of Vision and Hearing was established. Under the auspices of the Survey, medically-trained volunteers in communities throughout the state have screened thousands of four-year-old children for vision and hearing defects.

Using techniques and equipment specially designed for use with four-year-olds, volunteer screeners have been able to detect many previously unsuspected vision and hearing defects. All children who do not pass the tests in the screening are referred to their family physicians for examination, diagnosis, and treatment. Many children have been saved from blindness or deafness because their defects were found through screening. Because even a slight loss of hearing or vision in a small child can have serious consequences, the MSMA urges parents to have their children's ears and eyes examined by their family doctor.

When screening is done in any community, the Survey's records are turned over to the school authorities. Thus the school system is able to plan special education for potentially handicapped children. The school nurse is alerted to the child with a vision or hearing problem. Once the problem is diagnosed the child can be helped and unnecessary repetition of grades and later, school dropouts may be prevented.

The value of vision and hearing screening at the age of four has been proved. The Pre-School Medical Survey of Vision and Hearing provides instruction and assistance to volunteer organizations which wish to conduct such a screening. For further information contact: Mrs. John R. Stolize, Executive Secretary; Pre-School Medical Survey of Vision and Hearing; Route 5; Stillwater, Minnesota.

With spring cleaning time here again, this is the perfect time to safety check the home and make it as accident free as possible. Accidents are a leading cause of death. According to the Minnesota State Medical association, more children between the ages of one and 14 die as a result of accidents than the next six causes of death combined.

Nearly half of the people who die in home accidents are killed by falls. Eliminating hazards that might produce a fall would be a good way to start making the home a safer place. Small unanchored throw rugs, badly lighted stairways, stairways without handrails, highly polished floors can all be invitations to a fall. These should be corrected as soon as possible, and homemakers may be able to correct most potential hazards while they do their cleaning.

Fires are another serious cause of deaths in the home. Check the house for overloaded circuits, defective wiring, defective swithces, chimneys and flues in need of repair. The whole family could make a game of a hazardous rubbish hunt and help to clear all rubbish out of the basement, closets, garage and attic.

Flammable liquids should be kept in proper containers and stored away from any source of heat. Their fumes are often flammable and can travel some distance before they ignite. Matches should be kept out of children's reach at all times.

The medicine cabinet is another prime target for spring cleaning, says the association. Medicines which are old or no longer needed should be thrown out. Labels should be protected from damage so that it is always known what is in the container. Above all, medicines should be kept out of reach of children. Accidental poisoning has increased rapidly in the last few years. If there are small children in the house, it is a good idea to keep all medicines, as well as cosmetics and other poisonous items, locked away where children cannot get at them.

Safety is a matter of common sense. It isn't enough to remove potential hazards from the home; families must also practice safety. If adults make sure that tripping hazards are kept off the stairs and floor, that spills are wiped up before someone falls, that the pot handle does not project dangerously over the edge of the stove, the children, who are natural imitators will follow suit. Home will be a safer place to live.

Our LAND

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture

Minnesota community planners expecting residential developments in their areas may want to take a close look at a new report on soils in the Twin Cities metropolitan area. The report gives a detailed analysis of soil texture, slope and drainage in every locality of the metropolitan area.

A general conclusion of the report, however, is one for many communities to note: Poor land from a farmer's standpoint is often ideal for residential construction firms.

And on the other hand, good agricultural land is not necessarily the best for building homes, especially where the developer is trying to keep costs down.

In general, a cost-conscious developer will often seek an area with rather course, well-drained sandy soils and level topography. To a farmer, this would be a rather drouthy soil but the fact that it doesn't hold water is just what the developer often prefers.

Furthermore, bearing strength is less of a problem on sandy soils, since th strength varies less with moisture than is true on silt or clay soils.

The specific map in this report would not, of course, apply to Rochester, Worthington, Moorhead or Grand Rapids. However, the principle holds: The Twin Cities report is a re-analysis of agricultural and geological data for non-agricultural purposes. Local soil maps are available for several areas of the state.

The study was conducted by the University of Minnesota cooperative extension service and the Twin Cities Metropolitan planning commission. Authors are Lowell D. Henson, assistant professor soils; Clement D. Springer, formerly with the planning commission; Rouse Farnham, associate professor of soils; Alex S. Robertson, U. S. Soil Conservation service, and E. R. Allred, professor of agricultural engineering.

Hanson says planners, engineers and developers in other communities may want to see the Twin Cities report to review the principles of soil characterizaton and the method of interpretaton of soil suitability for different kinds of residential and other community use.

Single copies of the report are available from the Agricultural Bulletin Room, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 55101. Ask for Ex. extension agents also have copies.

Minnesota tourists and vacationers will soon have some additional canoeing facilities on the Bigfork river in Itasca county. The new trail will join one previously developed on the same river in Koochiching county.

Canoeists will begin their trips at Bowstring, Sand or Squaw Lakes in Itasca county and travel the wild scenic Bigfork river 180 miles to its outlet in the Rainy river on the Minnesota-Ontario border.

Public and private facilities are being developed for overnight camping and several outfitters are making arrangements for servicing canoeists for the river trip.

Jerry Sullivan of the U. S. soil Conservation service at Grand Rapids says the canoe trail development in Itasca county originated at a meeting of the Itasca county technical action panel.

The TAP members (Wallace Freeming, Farmers Home administration; TAP Chairman George Brown, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service; George Saksa, county agent; Kent Churchill, U. S. Forest service; and Sullivan) proposed the canoe trail idea to the people in the Bigfork river area of northern Itasca county.

Local residents of the area voiced approval for the proposed canoe trail at a November meting in Bigfork following an enthusiastic talk by John Rice of the Wadena County Soil and Water Conservation district. Rice explained the benefits being relaized in his community from extensive use of the Crow Wing River Canoe Trail that he helped develop.

The organization has been incorporated as the "Bigfork River Canoe Trail."

James Knight, pioneer resident of the Bigfork area, has written a history of the river and surrounding area that will be published in a brochure on the canoe trail. This brochure will be available, free, from Secretary, James Sparke, Bigfork River Canoe Trail, Effie, Minnesota.

A detailed strip map of the river has been developed by Art Ennis, Big Falls, and will be available at commercial establishments in the area. The map shows road crossings, campsites, historical points, section lines and other data.

The Bigfork River Canoe Trail, according to Sullivan, is another outstanding recreation facility that will add much to the tourist attraction of northern Minneota. It is an illustration of the results achieved by local people working with their local, state and federal agencies toward a definite resource development goal.

The Library Corner

The nation is fast becoming aware that a free America is an informed America, and fortunately the tentacles of that realization are fast closing about our minds and becoming a party of the nation's thinking. The concept of a free public library grows more vital each year, and public monies are being channeled into them in ever-increasing amounts as the awareness grows. Knowledgeable people have never ignored it; others are falling into line. . .but not all others. Not yet. However, it seems that the day when everyone recognizes it cannot be too far off.

Which brings us to asking a few pertinent questions: Do YOU have a library card? Do you use it, if you do have one? If not, why not? This would be the perfect time to do something positive about that little oversight. Simply drop in, step to the desk and register. If you're an adult and residing in the county, the card is yours.

The procedure is a little more involved if you are a student, in the younger age brackets, but it isn't difficult to get that coveted card. It's personalized with your own number and is exclusively yours, for as long as you keep it. And it's free. Free to all in the county and to those students living here while attending school.

In the latter case the card is valid as long as holders are students here. Those outside the county are invited, yes, urged to make use of our facilities also. For a nominal fee your whole family can borrow armloads of books at each visit. Where else do your dollars spread so thin

Don't just come in and pickup your children, as so many of you sometimes do; linger awhile and search the shelves. Surely there's something here that you'd like to read about, no matter what your interests. Just look at the list: For moms and all women-type people: Books on hobbies; amusing sick children; fiction, both new and old standards; books on the retarded; books for slow readers (do you have one at your house?); song and game books; party ideas; pastime pursuits; cooking and party ideas; handwork; things to make with seeds; mosaics; art; folklore; fiction; politics; religion; biographies; travelogues; books of poetry; humorous books; something light and frothy; something ponderous and challenging to the mind. And once again: fiction.

For pops and all man-type people: Hobbies; remodeling; fiction; hints for building; mosaics; automotive and repair guides; TV manuals; fiction. . .all kinds, for all kinds of men; machinist guides; plumbers and steamfitters' guides; fishing and hunting books, and even one on making your own flies; art; travelogues; education guidelines; books on family problems, from financial to emotional; the race question; politics, religion (in fiction and non-fiction); maps, biographies; books on other lands, many of them with full color plates. . .the list is endless.

Books for children-type people: There are ever so many. Lives of famous men and women, stories for all ages, books on birds and mammals; adventure, detective and other mystery books; all are here for you to enjoy, along with many, many other types of books and a number of children's magazines.

More and more of you adults are dropping around to browse and to borrow books. Converts to the cause of reading are increasing. And aren't you missing a lot if you don't read! There is still a tremendous waste of opportunity and a wealth of books waiting to be read. Come on in; look the place over, just once more, for purely nostalgic reasons, if for no other. See the stacks of new books crowding us to the walls; come, take 'em away.

Perhaps you just intend to look around, and then, like the individual who goes into a shop "just to look around", you'll very likely leave with something. And we'd like to see you often. There's a card file just as you enter, to your left. The books we have on hand are all listed there, by title, author or subject, and invite your inspection. Help yourselves.

To celebrate Open House (the red carpet is always out, but it carries an extra big welcome this week, a point we want to particularly stress), we're gifting the children with book marks, and the adults with a pocket calendar. Come in and share the last days of the library that once served a community's needs admirably, but out-grew the needs of our people.

To equalize space and the number of volumes housed, the proud new complex which will soon be our home came into being. It will be a facility of which the area can be justly proud. Even to carpeted floors in the main areas, the new library is planned to provide the last word in comfort and convenience and its service will be vastly updated and expanded.

During National Library Week, we wish to salute all who have dreamed endlessly, worked diligently and planned so carefully to bring this opportunity to intellectual growth to our community.

SOMEWHERE beneath the ripples lies the driveway to the farm located in the trees in the background at right. Water from the swollen Thief River has backed across hundreds of acres of farmland in the area below the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge east of Holt. Ducks feeding in the flooded fields are shown as specks against the sky as they took to the air when disturbed by the Times photographer. No one seems certain where all the water came from, but it is apparent that the river does not have the capacity to carry it away fast enough. The river level at Thief River Falls is low, indicating that the water is not moving down the channel rapidly. Residents of the flooded area note that the high water has been present in that area for about two weeks, although most other area flood crests have passed.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q How may I get information about getting my GI insurance back in force? I am a veteran of World War II and served in the Navy. I let my insurance drop upon my discharge in 1946.

A—To be eligible for the new GI insurance being sold by the Veterans Administration until May 2, 1966 a veteran must have been eligible to have purchased National Service Life Insurance, have a service-connected disability, or have a non-service disability so severe that he cannot purchase private insurance. You should contact the nearest VA office.

Q I am a veteran of World War I. I am 65 and I am retiring in April of this year. Could you please tell me if I am entitled to nonservice-connected benefits and how I go about filing for such benefits?

A There is no benefit based on age alone. Veterans of World War I, World War II or the Korean conflict, discharged under other than dishonorable conditions after 90 or more days' service, or because of a service-connected disability, who are permanently and totally disabled from reasons not traceable to service and are unable to perform a gainful occupation may be entitled to a nonservice-connected pension if their income without dependents is under $1,800 or (with dependents) under $3,000. See your nearest VA office.

Q My husband tried to enlist in the Navy and was turned down because of his health. He then enlisted in the Merchant Marines. He died in 1939 and I would like to know why I am not entitled to a pension from the Veterans administration.

A. Members of the Merchant Marines are not veterans. They are not eligible for the various benefits in the Veterans administration program.

Q My father received a small pension from the Veterans administration until his death four years ago. My sister, through an accident that occurred when she was a child, is unable to earn a living. I would like to know if she is entitled to a pension as she has never worked and will never be able to do so.

A The VA considers a "helpless child" as one who became permanently incapable of self-support prior to age 18. If this is your sister's case, you should submit medical evidence to the VA to support this claim. If the claim is upheld, she will be able to receive pension payments.

Q I am a veteran who is receiving a nonservice-connected pension from the Veterans administration. I would like to know if I can receive my VA pension and social security benefits when I reach age 62 or age 65.

A—A veteran may receive a nonservice-connected pension if otherwise eligible as long as his income without dependents does not exceed $1,800 or with dependents $3,000 per year. Social security benefits are counted as income.

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

The new lawn may be started during the spring season either by seeding or sodding. If you choose to seed your lawn, sow the seed between April 15 and May 10. Late seeding will often result in excessive weed competition.

A good lawn depends on the selection of the proper variety of grass, a good supply of nutrients and plenty of water.

The Kentucky bluegrasses are best for the sunny lawns and heavier soils. If the lawn is to be used for play, the addition of the creeping red fescue grasses will help improve the wear ability. Seed mixtures for sunny lawns should contain from 60 to 80 per cent Kentucky bluegrass. The other percentages are often made up of the fescue grasses. The Park variety of bluegrass will germinate quickly and give quick turf cover. Where sod has been laid, it is often advisable to do some overseeding with creeping red fescue in order to give wearing quality.

A shady lawn or one with sandy soil should be seeded with 60 to 70 per cent of the creeping red fescue and only 30 to 40 per cent of the Kentucky bluegrasses.

Whether seeding or sodding, be sure you have a good soil base. For a good soil base, apply 30 to 40 pounds of complete fertilizer such as a 12-12-12 per 1,000 square feet of lawn. Till this into the soil along with a good supply of organic matter to a depth of 6 inches. After seeding, rake the soil lightly to cover the seed and to make a good contact between seed and soil. To assure prompt germination, water regularly. Keep the surface of the soil moist but not wet.

After sodding the lawn, be sure seams are covered or firmly pressed together to prevent air from getting under the sod layer and causing drying out.

Keep in mind that new reseeded grass is very tender. The new lawn should be used sparingly. Mowing should begin when the grass attains a height of three inches.

Half the fun of gardening is trying some new and different varieties each year. Some may be only novelties, while others may prove to be adapted and very useful. Here are a few of the new available varieties, though you may have to try several seed companies before you can locate all of them.

An All-American selection this year is Gold Nugget squash, a small-fruited winter squash that takes up little space because of its compact bush habit of growth. About 5 to 8 uniform squash will mature early in the season on short runners. Fruits are orange and round to slightly flattened.

Butterking lettuce is the second All-America winner for 1966. Although it has not been tested by the University of Minnesota, it has more tip burn resistance and is slower to bolt than older head lettuce varieties.

Hybrid carrots of special interest this year include Pioneer Hybrid, resembling Nanto in shape, quality and earliness, but quicker to reach usable size, and Early Cross, resembling the Imperator type, with long, slim and uniformly tapering roots.

Empress is a new disease-resistant slicing cucumber. Crusader, is a new pickleing cucumber. Because of the nature of their flowers, both will produce crops of early cucumbers. Tiny Dill pickling cucumber requires only a small space in the garden, but produces an abundance of small-fruited pickles.

Superman tomato is a new mid-season hybrid with large, round, meaty fruits, which appears to have promise in Minnesota. Fireball, Moreton Hybrid and Big Boy are three dependable tomatoes.

Minnesota Hybrid 26 muskmelon is similar to Iriquois in earliness but higher in yield.

Try some Anoka potatoes in your garden this year. They are a smooth white with shallow eyes and good quality.

Make your plans now for improving your landscape. Early spring is a good time to visit your landscape nurseryman and discuss with him the improvements you want. At this season of the year he often has more time to discuss your problems with you. If you start now, you, too, will have more time to organize your landscape plan and decide on the plant materials you might want to plant later.

Some questions will help you develop your landscape plan. First of all, do you have an adequate foundation planting? Does your existing foundation planting serve to blend the house with the lot? Is the landscape scene properly framed with permanent trees? Perhaps you should consider planting some trees this spring.

With the trend toward more out-of-door living, the patio has become an important part of the landscape. This year you may want to add a patio to your garden. But if the patio is to work for you, it should be large enough to provide space for the family and the furniture. A minimum size is 12 feet by 20 feet for the average size family who will be doing extra entertaining.

Several types of surfaces can be used for patios. The patio block has become common. Sectioned cement surface is also effective. Stone surfaces laid over sand can also be used.

Another consideration for the patio development is to provide adequate shade. It may be necessary to add a tree or two in well chosen locations in order to give you the shade needed at the time of day when the patio will be most often used.

Don't overlook the opportunity of using evergreens in your landscape.

Evergreens can give you winter interest as well as provide a habitat for winter birds.

Many gardeners like to start their choice flower seeds indoors in order to have a good supply of particular plants to set out in spring. To grow successful transplants, it is necessary to have proper containers and good light sources and to practice good watering.

To start plants inside, use shallow wooden trays or flower pots for the initial seeding. Use a soil mixture of three parts garden soil, two parts organic matter such as peat, well-rotted manure or leaf mold and one part sand. After this is mixed thoroughly, it should be sifted through a quarter-inch mesh screen to remove any debris or bulky material.

The seeds may be sown directly on the survace of the container and then covered lightly with a dusting of either sphagnum moss, commercial peat or the soil mixture. If possible, sterilize the soil by placing it in the oven for 30 minutes at a temperature of 180 degrees F. Be sure that the soil is heated thoroughly so it is completely sterilized.

Seed treatment with a fungicide will often help to further control damping-off problems. Such material as Aresan can be used. Only a pinch of the fungicide is necessary in the average seed packet.

Avoid planting seeds too early. Usually such flowers as petunias and pansies should be started by mid-March. Other summer blooming annual flowers can be started by the first of April.

Place the plants in a well lighted window. If there is heavy shading in the area, use supplementary fluorescent lighting.

Grow the seedlings at a cool temperature of 60 to 65 degrees F. if possible.

State Veterans Have Long Home Loan Plan

Minnesota veterans with more than 180 days of active military duty discharged from the service since January 31, 1955, have at least until March 3, 1976, to complete a GI home or farm loan under the new GI Bill.

John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center, St. Paul, said the new law brings to veterans of the post-Korean period GI loan privileges previously available only to veterans of World War II and the Korean conflict. The legislation carries its own minimum deadline of 10 years after the actual signing of the bill on March 3, 1966.

Murphy said a maximum eligibility date of 20 years afer discharge from the qualifying active service is also in the law. Veterans discharged because of service-connected disabilities have the maximum 20-year entitlement. Between those minimum and maximum periods, individual veterans can figure their eligibility according to the following formula: Add 10 years to the date of the last discharge from active service plus one year for each three-month period of that service.

Murphy said the veteran must hold a discharge other than dishonorable. If released because of a service-connected disability, the service time may be less than the stipulated 180-plus days period. The new law also benefits those servicemen who remain on active duty after completing at least two years of service. They may obtain VA-guaranteed loans while still in the armed forces. The manager said that for a post-Korean veteran or serviceman, VA may guarantee a home loan made by a private lender up to $7,500 or 60 per cent of the loan, whichever is less.

For a farm real estate loan other than for the acquisition of a home, the guaranty may not exceed $4,000 or 50 per cent of the loan; and for non-real estate farm loans, the guaranty may not exceed $2,000, or 50 per cent of the loan.

"This means," said Murphy, "That a lending institution will receive the government's guaranty which is intended to be in lieu of a downpayment or to reduce the downpayment which the lender normally requires.

"The maximum amounts of entitlement apply to each person who qualifies under the new law. In other words, an individual who is eligible as a serviceman will not gain additional entitlement when he is released or separated from the service, and an individual who can qualify as a post-Korean veteran and who later serves for 181 or more days will not receive additional entitlement for the later periods of service," he said.

Loans may be for the purchase of homes; to make alterations, repairs or improvements in homes already owned and occupied; to purchase farms or farm supplies or equipment; to obtain farm working capital; or to refinance delinquent indebtedness on property to be used or occupied by the veteran as a home or for farming purposes.

Murphy said veterans eligible under the new law who still have unused and unexpired World War II or Korean conflict entitlement will have their previous entitlement cancelled. However, should they obtain a guaranteed or direct loan during the period their cancelled entitlement would have been effective, they need not pay the statutory fee. They may also secure business loans during the period.

"The entitlement of a post-Korean veteran or serviceman may be reduced if he has already used his World War II or Korean conflict entitlement. However, under certain circumstances, entitlement previously used can be restored. VA does not require a down payment. Lenders, however, may require downpayments," he said.

Certificates of eligibility or additional information may be secured from the VA center at Ft. Snelling.

Children Should Use Safety Belt In Auto Travel

"How many times have you seen someone driving down the street with a young child standing on the front seat beside the driver?", questions the safety division of the Minnesota highway department.

"Can you think of a more dangerous situation should the driver make a sudden emergency stop, or have a collision? In either case the child would be hurled foward against the dash board or into the windshield and could suffer injuries which may be permanently disabling or fatal."

April is Child Safety Month in the annual "Blueprint for Safety" distributed by the Minnesota highway department.

The best protection for a child is the safety belt. With the child sitting on the seat, wearing his safety belt, he is protected against being thrown about the car.

Almost every injury in a collision results from the person being thrown against hard objects inside the vehicle or being thrown out of the car.

These are two safety belt benefits: One is that the child is safer from harm. Secondly, the restraint of the safety belt keeps the child from moving about and distracting the driver.

Many of the children under 15 killed or injured in traffic accidents last year could have been spared suffering had they been wearing safety belts at the time of the collision, according to Minnesota highway department accident records.

The moral? Buckle up, and buckle them up, too, because you want them to live.

FAS Project Work In State Totals $8,772,370 in '66

A total of $8,772,370 was awarded in county Federal - Aid - Secondary construction projects last year, according to the State Aid division of the Minnesota highway department. The breakdown of the work types in relation to mileage is shown in the table below:

Type of Work	Mileage	Amount
Grading	248	$3,140,329
Base Courses	285	3,374,990
Aggregate Surfacing	135	272,690
Bituminous Surface	185	1,257,091
21 Bridges	–	693,279
Storm Sewer	3	14,056
Miscellaneous Work	1	19,935
Total	*499	$8,772,370

(*In 1965 there were 173 Federal Aid projects covering 499 actual miles of work.)

FAS monies are available to the counties on a 50-50 matching basis for use on a major portion of their county state-aid system, and are distributed annually by the commissioner of highways to the counties through the highway department's state aid division.

ASSEMBLY of Steiger tractors is shown in this view of the interior of the manufacturing plant. The tractor in the foreground at right has been painted, but other tractors shown have not yet reached the painting stage. At present the company, located southwest of St. Hilaire, is making three models of four-wheel drive farm tractors. The 1250 has maximum horsepower of 140 and is rated as a 6 to 8 bottom plow tractor. The 1700N has 190 horsepower maximum and is a 10 to 12 plow tractor while the 2200N has 238 horsepower maximum and is a 12 to 16 plow machine.

Tractor Production by Steiger Farms Grows

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Experimentation in 1957 to provide a farm tractor which would meet the needs of their farm has mushroomed into a booming business for Steiger Farms, Inc. The company now makes three models of farm tractors and a smaller model for the logging industry, has expanded its shop twice and last fall built a new office building on the farm.

Douglass Steiger, selected by the Thief River Falls Jaycees as the area's Outstanding Young Farmer for 1966, is president of the family corporation. His brother, Maurice, is secretary-treasurer and their father, John, is a director in the corporation. Tractor building is accomplished in addition to farming 3,400 acres of land.

The Steiger farm is located about six miles west and two miles south of St. Hilaire. Signs mark the road and include the legend "Steiger Manufacturing" on a background of a large "V"—symbolic of the opening on the front of each Steiger tractor. (See accompanying photos).

When the first Steiger tractor was built in 1957, the Steigers were farming 1,200 acres of land. In 1960 the corporation was formed and Douglass has served as president since that time. The Steigers use a continuous cropping program on their farm—contrary to a crop rotation which is a currently popular practice—and incorporate a heavy fertilizer program. With the use of their own large tractors, they hope to seed and cultivate 200 acres per day this year. Their large tractor is capable of cultivating up to 400 acres per day.

Farm tractors produced by the company now include the Model 1250, rated at 140 h.p. maximum, which will pull six to eight bottoms; the Model 1700N, rated at 190 h.p. maximum, which will pull 10 to 12 bottoms; and the Model 2200N, rated at 238 h.p. maximum, which will pull 12 to 16 bottoms.

In addition the company has found a market for the Model 850 "Logger", which is used in the timber primarily in the Eastern states. The firm will build 30 of these tractors starting in October, primarily to supply the Eastern market.

The "Logger" features a "swinging box"—exclusive with the Steiger tractors — which provides a shorter turning radius. A pedle-operated hot shift reverser gives instant forward and reverse motion assuring operator full control of motion with his right foot. The two-speed winch, coupled with the torque converter, gives speeds from zero to 350 feet per minute.

There are 12 forward speeds on the Model 1250 farm tractor, with speeds from 1.32 to 14.2 miles per hour. The Model 1700N has nine speeds from 1.8 to 19 miles per hour while the 2200N has nine speeds from 1.0 to 21 miles per hour.

Production at the Steiger plant, aside from the manufacture of exterior metal work and part of the transmission on the 2200N, is mostly assembly. Engines are General Motors diesel type of various sizes. Tire sizes range from 16.9 x 26 on the "Logger" and Model 1250 to 23.1 x 26, 12-ply on the 2200N

NAMED by the Thief River Falls Jaycees as their Outstanding Young Farmer for 1966, Douglass Steiger is shown with one of the tires for the four-wheel drive tractors being built on the farm. Douglass and his brother Maurice designed and built their first tractor in 1957, and since then the business has been expanding. Steiger Farms, Inc., a corporation which includes the Steiger brothers and their father, John, is headed by Douglass as president.

Farmer-Merchant Mixer Scheduled In City Tonight

Farmers in the Thief River Falls area are invited to attend the Farmer-Merchant Mixer scheduled for 5:30 p.m. tonight (Monday) in the American Legion club rooms in Thief River Falls. A social hour will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., a smorgasbord meal will be served at 7:30 p.m. and entertainment will follow.

"All of our farm friends are invited to attend this stag mixer," states Vernon Nelson, chairman of the agriculture committee of the Chamber of Commerce. "The evening will be entirely social with no business planned. We will show a color film of the 1965 World Series between the Minnesota Twins and Los Angeles Dodgers and opportunity will be provided for card playing and visiting."

The mixer is free to all farm men attending with costs of the evening paid by the Thief River Falls business fraternity in appreciation of farmer patronage. Complimentary tickets will be given to farmers at the door.

Nordic Musicians Gain "A" Ratings At Music Festival

Four soloists and the band from Newfolden high school received "A" ratings at the District 32 instrumental music festival held Friday and Saturday, April 15 and 16, at Roseau. This enables them to advance to the state-area music festival to be held at Thief River Falls Friday and Saturday.

Eight instrumental soloists from Newfolden competed in the solo division Friday afternoon and evening. "A" ratings were received by Kristi Carlson, alto saxophone; Sheila Elseth, bass clarinet; Mandy Halvorson, flute; and Johanna Weltzin, bassoon. Those receiving "B" ratings were Deland Elseth, trombone; Leon Elseth, cornet; Joy Hodik, clarinet; and Geraldine Roppe clarinet.

Six ensembles were entered Saturday morning and all received "B" ratings. They included a flute duet comprised of Carol Leidberg and Cynthia Green; a woodwind trio comprised of Barbara Stokke, Clarinet, Ilene Hiausen, flute and Johanna Weltzin, bassoon; a clarinet quartet comprised of Diane Johnson, Susan Stokke, Barbara Roppe and Nancy Johnson; a mixed clarinet quartet composed of Barbara Stokke, Joy Hodik, Janet Holmstrom and Sheila Elseth; a french horn quartet comprised of Nancy Jensen, Gracia Dyrud, John Tunheim and Diana Gast; and a trumpet trio composed of Marlin Bjornrud, Bradley Olson and Janelle Hodik.

Climax of the festival was the band competition Saturday afternoon. The Nordic band received an "A" rating on there performance of the "The Klaxon March" by Fillmore and "Variation Overture" by Williams from all three judges. The bands were also judged on sight reading of new material.

Social Security

John Peterson, claims representative of the Social Security district office in Grand Forks, N. D. will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Junior College Sets Talent Show

Members of the junior college choir in Thief River Falls will sponsor a talent contest Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium. To Make Study on Hayes Creek Park In Roseau County

Contracts totaling $54,515 have been let to private firms to conduct feasibility studies at four possible state park sites, it was announced today by Wayne Olson, Minnesota conservation commissioner.

Feasibility studies were authorized by the 1965 legislature which appropriated $75,000 for the purpose. Four firms were chosen on the basis of past experience on comparable studies.

Olson said the firm of Aguar, Jyring, Whiteman and Moser of Duluth have been retained to study the proposed Red Lake state park.

The firm of Theodore J. Wirth and associates will carry out the study for the proposed Carver state park, while the firm of Brauer and associates will study the feasibility of a proposed Hayes Creek state park in Roseau county.

A proposed state park in Stearns county will be studied by the firm of Nason, Law, Wehrman and Knight, Inc.

Pennington Farm Census Will Get Under Way Soon

Annual state farm census for Pennington county is scheduled to get under way on or before May 1. The Pennington cunty enumeration is under the supervision of E. Clarence Weckwerth, county assessor. Each township and village assessor will take the farm census for 1966 at the time of the annual assessment.

The assessor will record the acreage of land in farms, acreages of the varius crops and numbers of livestock and poultry on farms for each farm with headquarters in his township or village. This information is secured for the purpose of furnishing the basic information so that the department of agriculture may prepare accurate reports of the state's agriculture.

The information recorded in this farm census is not used for taxation purposes but is used as part of regular reports on production of crops and livestock.

"Farm operators of Minnesota are urged to cooperate with assessors by supplying accurate figures as requested. By doing this, they are performing a service for agriculture in their community," Weckwerth said.

Goodridge PTA

Election of officers will take place when the Goodridge PTA meets Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium. A movie will be shown on school activities and mothers of fourth grade students will serve lunch.

Farm Records Studied At Analysis Meeting

10-YEAR participants in the farm management program conducted by the Thief River Falls area voctional-technical school received award plaques Wednesday evening at the annual record analysis meeting. Among the recipients were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stanley, left, Grygla, and Fredolph Swanson, Red Lake Falls.

Approximately 120 farmers and their wives attended the record analysis meeting of the farm management program in the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school Wednesday evening. Al Severson, president of the Grafton (N. D.) National bank, was the guest speaker.

Award plaques for 10 years of participaton in the program were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Anton, Mr. and Mrs. Erling Lundeen, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stanley, Fredolph Swanson and Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Troska. The farm management program has been in operation for 11 years and is currently directed by Peter Probasco.

Participation in the program has grown in the past several years, as shown in the analysis summary issued at the meeting. There was a total of 202 farms in the program for 1965, as compared with 151 in 1964. Records kept included farm inventories cash receipts and expenses, feed consumed by the various classes of livestock, family living secured from the farm, household and personal expenses and receipts and the operator's liabilities and assets other than farm capital.

Capital investment in 1965 among the 202 farms varied from $4,952 to $334,300. Earnings on the 202 farms averaged $4,111 with the 40 most profitable farms having cash earnings averaging 10,411 and the 40 least profitable showing a loss of $876.

In 1964 the 151 farms had capital investment ranging from $3,015 to $267,294. Labor earnings averaged $1,976 with the 29 most profitable averaging $5,973 and the 29 least profitable losing an average of $2,308.

Records for 186 farms in 1965 showed average total liabilities of $18,495 and total assets of $49,482 as of December 31, indicating an average net worth of $30,987. This represented an increase of $2,102 in net worth during the year.

Included in the summary were 89 farms with dairy cattle, 26 with sheep, six with turkey hens, 11 with turkey poults, 28 with feeder cattle, 45 with beef cows, 30 with market hogs and 13 with feeder pigs. Records came from vocational departments at the following schools: Ada, Climax, Fergus Falls, Fertile, Fisher, Fosston, Frazee, Goodridge, Greenbush, Halstad, Karlstad, Lancaster, Middle River, Plummer, Perham, Roseau, Thief River Falls and eight records from areas not served by vocational agriculture departments.

Oats was produced on 152 farms and had an average yield of 53.1 bushels. Other crops, numbers of farms producing them and average yields included: Alfalfa hay, 130 farms, 1.9 tons; wheat, 111 farms 27.2 bushels; barley, 59 farms, 43.5 bushels; corn silage, 88 farms, 5.7 tons; flax, 54 farms, 8.2 bushels; Timothy seed, 21, farms, 264.9 pounds; millet, 16 farms, 314.9 pounds; rye, 12 farms, 22.5 bushels; sunflowers, seven farms, 813.3 pounds; potatoes, five farms, 86.2 hundredweight; and sugar

June 1 Listed As Target Date for Alfalfa Pelleting

June 1 is still the target date for beginning operations at the new alfalfa pelleting plant in Thief River Falls, according to Charles M. Will, assistant county agent for Pennington county.

Will expects the plant to boost the economy of the Thief River Falls area. As more land comes out of soil bank in the next few years, the farmers can grow alfalfa instead of surplus grain, he said.

Even though alfalfa from a radius of 100 miles will be used, Will expects the pellets to find markets far from the Thief River Falls area. He reported that Midwestern feedlot operators were interested and that the pellets may also be sold in Europe and Alaska.

Paul Stelmaschuk, former county agricultural agent in Pennington county and now the area development agent at the University of Minnesota, assisted in starting the project. As the county agent, he provided information on production and marketing which enabled the co-op members to decide what kind of plant they wanted to operate. The co-op was formed as a result of a Rural Area Development conference sponsored by the university.

Stelmaschuk said that hay which was confined to the Thief River Falls markets will now bring outside money to the area. The mere presence of a successful plant operation should also help to remove some of the uncertainities about alfalfa as a cash crop.

Pelletized forage is in demand by many feedlot operators because of increasing mechanization, since the pellets are more convenient to handle than baled hay.

REV. Don Whipple, director of Greater Minneapolis Youth for Christ, will hold special meetings at the Viking Covenant church April 28-30 and May 1 at 8 p.m. The meetings are sponsored by the Viking Covenant Young People and everyone is welcome. Rev. Whipple was formerly vice president of Youth for Christ International for Southeast Asia. He has traveled around the world ministering in 26 countries.

John Aune, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnt M. Aune of Thief River Falls and a junior at Carleton college, Northfield, is currently on the staff of the Carletonian, the college's weekly student newspaper, as sports editor.

Strandquist Man Killed in Crash At Newfolden

An 84-year-old Strandquist man became Minnesota's 167th traffic victim of the year as a result of a head-on collision in Newfolden Thursday afternoon. The highway patrol reported that at 2:30 p.m. Thursday Jonas Holmstrom of Strandquist was driving a pickup east on the main street of Newfolden and entered the intersection with Highway 59 to turn north.

Before the turn was completed, the vehicle was struck by a semi-trailer truck driven by Raymond Major, 22, of Arva, Ont. which was traveling north on the highway. Holmstrom was killed outright and his pickup was totally demolished. Major and his passenger, Williams Edwards, 27, of Exeter, Ont. both escaped injury. Damage to the semi truck was estimated at $200.

Funeral services for Holmstrom will be held today (Monday) at 1 p.m. in the Bethesda Lutheran church in Strandquist. Rev. Harvey Jacobson will officiate and interment will be in the Mamrelund cemetery west of Strandquist. A complete obituary will follow.

Local Firemen To Attend State School This Week

Volunteer and paid fire fighters from over 700 fire departments will attend the 15th Minnesota state fire school at the University of Minnesota St. Paul Campus. Thief River Falls fire department will be represented at the school.

The four day school begins today and runs through Thursday.

Courses of instruction include fire inspector training, officer training and basic and advanced fire-fighting.

Mayors and city officials of the towns which send firemen to the school will be feted on Wednesday. They will view exhibits and demonstrations of equipment and techniques.

Rescue and firefighting equipment—such as resuscitators, rescue saws, protective clothing and pumps—will be demonstrated. A high altitude rescue demonstration will be given.

Newman Club to Hear Fr. Pryor

Father Pryor of the Sacred Heart church in East Grand Forks will be guest speaker at the Newman Student federation meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at St. Bernard's church hall. Topic for discussion will be "The Council." Lunch will be served. All Catholic students of the area vocational school and junior college are urged to attend.

TRF Girl Seeks Class Presidency

Mary Bennes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bennes of Thief River Falls, is a candidate for senior class president at the University of Minnesota in Duluth. All school elections are being held early this week. Miss Bennes, who has been active in a number of campus activities, is opposed for the office by Michel Dean of Hibbing.

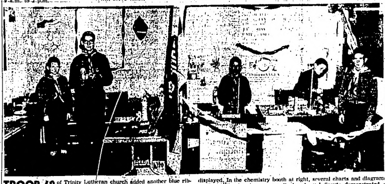
Wool Payments Made in Marshall Total $27,032

Incentive payments to Marshall county growers under the 1965 national wool program now are well under way, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. As of April 21, such payments in the county—on shorn wool and unshorn Lambs amounted to $27,032.98.

Payments on wool represent the percentage necessary to bring the producer's sales returns up to an announced support level. Lamb payments are made under the program to encourage the normal marketing of lambs with the wool on and to prevent unusual shearing of lambs.

SELLS HEREFORD BULL

Hunt Hereford Farm, Thief River Falls, has reported the sale of a registered horned Hereford bull to Robert Kezar, Newfolden.



TROOP 60 of Trinity Lutheran church added another blue ribbon to its large collection in Saturday's annual Boy Scout exposition held in the city auditorium. The troop, which has lost much of its membership since last year, was still able to construct and man two separate booths again this year. At left is the handicraft booth, in which a number of articles hand-made by the Scouts were displayed. In the chemistry booth at right, several charts and diagrams dealing with chemistry were displayed, and Scouts demonstrated a number of chemical reactions and water distillation. Periodically, a cloud of smoke rose from the booth as a magnesium ribbon was burned. Blue ribbons also went to Troop 57 and Pack 59. A complete rundown on the exposition will appear in Wednesday edition.

Olmstead and Melby Vows Exchanged at Poplar Grove

Miss Carol Olmstead, daughter of Ernest Olmstead of Badger and foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Majer of Strathcona, and Robert Melby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Melby of Greenbush, exchanged marriage vows Saturday, April 2, at 8 p.m. at the Poplar Grove church with the Rev. Sidney Swenson officiating.

Mrs. Roy Gjovik provided the traditional wedding music and also accompanied the soloists, Mrs. Sidney Swenson. Lighted candles and Easter lilies provided the chancel setting.

The bride, given in marriage by her foster father, wore a floor-length satin dress fashioned with a scoop neckline and fitted bodice accented with appliqued flowers enhanced by seed pearls and satin bows. Her silk illusion veil, borrowed from her foster sister, fell from a crown of rhinestones and she carried a cascade arrangement of pink tea roses and white carnations. Her jewelry was a matching set of pearl earrings and a pearl drop pendant on a slender golden chain.

Mrs. Harold Wold of Moorhead attended her foster sister as matron of honor. She was attired in a street-length dress of pale green brocade taffeta with a matching chanel bow headpiece. Mrs. Donald Melby, sister-in-law of the groom, was bridesmatron. She wore a teal blue two-piece dress. Both wore corsages of tea roses and white carnations.

Flower girl, Marilyn Majer, wore a pale green brocade taffeta dress, styled similar to the one worn by the matron of honor, as she dropped rose petals on the white carpeted aisle. Escorting her to the altar was Merlo Wold, who carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Serving as best man was Donald Melby, brother of the groom. Harold Wold was groomsman and Marlo Nelson and Laurel Majer were ushers.

A reception, given by the foster parents of the bride, followed the ceremony. Centering the bridal table and flanked by pink and white candles was a pink and white wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. Cutting and serving the cake, baked by the bride and decorated by Mrs. Majer, was Mrs. Harold Harlow of Minneapolis. Mrs. Andy Skytland of Grand Forks, N. D. poured. Mrs. Carmen Titus registered the guests. Mrs. Dean Sather and Judy Skytland served as waitresses and the gifts were opened and displayed by Mrs. Joe Krane and Clarine Skytland. Assisting in the kitchen were Mrs. Ludvig Larson and Mrs. Emery Austin.

Following a wedding trip to Canada the newly-weds will make their home on a farm near Greenbush where the groom is associated with his brother in dairy and grain farming.

An autumn wedding is being planned.

WCTU Members Hear Missionary Lenorah Erickson

Thirty-eight women of the Thief River Falls community and surrounding area attended the WCTU meeting Friday afternoon, April 15, at the home of Anna and Elsie Koglin in this city. Many came to renew acquaintances with the guest speaker, Missionary Lenorah Erickson, who showed slides and told of her work in Taiwan. Following her illustrated narration, Miss Erickson answered questions regarding her missionary work as a teacher among the Chinese on the island of Formosa. Miss Erickson, who is formerly of Roseau, is home on furlough and is making her headquarters in Minneapolis.

Mrs. Tarkel Ose was in charge of the meeting and the distribution of 3,000 leaflets on youth temperance education, together with some posters which had previously been ordered by the WCTU unit. These were distributed to several women who accepted the responsibility of taking them to the various churches in the community. This is an annual project in which the Alice Mae Stewart Union of Hazel and the Thief River Falls unit of the WCTU are participants.

During the social hour, lunch was served by the three sisters, Hatti Lanska and the Misses Anna and Elsie Koglin.

Eagles Auxiliary Donates $410 To Youth Activities

Eagles auxiliary of Thief River Falls met Monday, April 18, at 8 p.m. at the Eagles club room with president Teen Berg presiding at both the officers meeting and the regular business session. Mrs. Berg also reported on the two large donations given recently by the Eagles auxiliary. She stated that at the youth banquet Friday evening, April 15, in behalf of the auxiliary, she had presented a check for $205 to chairman Lowell Collins to be used for the local youth activities of the Aerie. The second check in the amount of $205 that she had the honor of presenting, was given Saturday night to the Rev. Fahnlander to be used at the Home on the Range for Boys. She further stated that these checks were the proceeds of the money raising project of the local auxiliary and that members were to be commended for their conscientious efforts.

Officers for the new year were nominated with election to be held May 2 at the Eagles club. Polls will be open from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. To be eligible for voting, members must have a paid-up card or receipt. Tellers at the election will be Louise Rullen, chairman, Hattie Holmstrom and Fran Hendrickson.

Members were reminded of the National convention to be held at Cleveland, Ohio in August. President Teen Berg was chosen as a delegate to attend the sessions.

Th special prize was won by Agnes Israelson and the winner of the attendance prize was Clara Harder. Ruth Onkka and Shirley Ehrenstrom were in charge of the entertainment for the evening. Hostesses were Vina Newman, Anne Irving and Edith Nabben.

The next meeting of the Eagles Auxiliary will be held Monday, May 2, with the election of officers.

13th District Horticultural Workshop Held

The spring workshop of the 13th District Horticultural society was held Saturday, April 16, at Williams with 14 garden clubs represented.

The meeting opened with a business session with President Mrs. O. N. Hildahl of Roseau presiding. Otto Lee, Lake of the Woods county agent spoke on insecticides and showed a film on gardening. E. M. Hunt of the State Horticultural society was guest speaker. He stressed the centennial year and urged every garden club to commemorate 100 years of horticulture by sponsoring some special event within the club. He also reminded members of the convention to be held August 25 and 26 at Minneapolis. Included at the convention will be a luncheon at Northrup King and tours of Como Park, the arboretum, a wholesale nursery and a rose garden. Movies of European gardens will be shown. He also stated that each club in the state will have space available for a display.

Members of the Williams Garden club gave talks and demonstrations on introducing the Bluebird Trail to encourage the bluebirds to nest in this part of Minnesota.

A silver tea concluded the day's session. A centennial cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Ed Weizenhaus, president of the Williams club, centered the refreshment table.

They will then leave for Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, where the airman will receive advanced training in electronic data processing. He recently graduated from a year's course in this field at Keesler AFB, Biloxi, Miss. While here the couple were guests of Mr. Allison's mother, Mrs. Flora Allison. They also visited his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Shafer of Greenbush, and with other relatives and friends in this area.

PUBLIC OPINION

Marvin Lundin
T. R. Times

Concerning last weeks letter from Milton E. Larson and your own onesided opinion, regards to industry, railroads and the taxes they pay:

Don't these taxes go to operate our schools? Where are we to get the money to operate if not from industry? Would small business such as you pay the tab?

And what do you know of unfair labor tactics? Are you an authority on labor management where it involves hundreds of thousands of men? Or in honesty, aren't you just parroting industry propaganda?

Our local stocks for the railroad were $5.4 a share three years ago; they are now $43 plus a $1.50 dividend each year per share.

Does this sound like an industry about to perish?

Some industry executives receive from $110,000 annual wage and up to $310,000. Is that fair wage for work performed?

Is this the unfair labor tactics you refer to?

How about some editorials on this side of the coin, so the public can hear that side also.

The local airport should appreciate your viewpoint. Where would they be without R.R. taxes?

Smart people like you know our problems but you don't seem to know the answers. All you can do is complain. Always telling us peons (public) how to run the country, manage our business, manage labor, schools, city offices—etc.

You will have an answer for me I'm sure, but it will be in the same view, as you wouldn't change your opinion if the sun came up in the west, but you expect us to.

How about an editorial on what's "right" for a change, not always what's wrong.

Raymond O. Olson

Dear Editor:

Regarding your article, Editorial, "Why Higher Prices".

In view of the fact that Rural America is being "Liquidated" at a tremendous rate now, largely through the efforts of the Committee for Economic Development (C.ED) of Washington, D. C., (Minnesota lost 3,600 farmers in 1965 along, look at the auction bills now and draw your own conclusions for 1966) I was very disappointed to find an editorial in a rural area newspaper, attempting to discredit a farm organization, who has proven that its only ambition is to raise farm income reasonable and by use of the Capper Volstead Act authorizing such ambitions.

The bylaws of NFO prevent this organization from going into any business; it's a service organization and its success to date has been achieved in spite of tremendous odds which include sidewalk farmers and other uniformed or misinformed individuals.

In taking issue with the Marshall Messenger, you also discredit Kiplinger and meat packers who have men who have carefully studied and know and understand NFO marketing arrangements. Bankers and many others pay $24 a year for this newsletter service, and this would indicate very poor judgment on their part for subscribing to a service that provides questionable information. (Ever ask a banker for his opinion of your evaluaton of Kiplinger?)

Regarding supply and demand, of course they work, for those that control them: Example, hogs up 5 cents a pound, bacon went up 50 cents a pound; wheat has gone down regularly for the past 10 years, bread has gone up with even faster regularity; we now have about 14 per cent less milk than we had just a year ago, yet the dairy farmer wo was getting about 7 cents a quart for his milk, may now get about ¼ cents per quart of the 2 and 3 cents raise in the retail price of milk. Yet the farmer with the ¼ cent raise gets charged with inflation. So much that the President has said that he intends to reduce farm prices about 10 per cent. (Grand Forks Herald, April 18).

Why not use the power of the press to disclose this information, much of which can be documented from the official U. S. source "Food Costs and Farm Prices, April 1965."

When hog prices were low, organizers for NFO were told that NFO prices were impossible to reach, now these prices have been reached and passed, yet when NFO is given credit by outsiders for a part of the raise, many efforts are made to discredit their efforts. Even in the recent giant grain sale, NFO had to photograph thousands of telegrams from grain byers who stated that they in fact bought this NFO grain. Why is such evidence required even by beneficiaries of the NFO efforts, such as businessmen etc.

Credit should be given where credit is due; people don't eat more food because there is a war on; they don't grease bullets with lard. But we are fed a lot of baloney.

The loss of 10 or 12 good farmers in a community is equal to the loss of a $100,000 non-competitive industry. Isn't it worth your effort to try to save what is left of rural America, by preventing further losses due to low farm income.

The Implement Dealers association will verify the fact that the loss of implement dealers is in direct ratio to the loss of farmers from the community. Have you lost any businesses lately? Does this affect your income directly?

Higher prices could well be the theme, in the event giant corporation farms take over. They would not have to abide by the Capper Volstead law. Eight of these giants, the size of one in existance today, could easily farm the entire state of Minnesota. They could charge all that the traffic would bear; remember, no one can compel you to sell your farm producton, you could then enforce the law of supply and demand, with you in control.

Remember NFO is organized under the Capper Volstead Law which protects both the farmer and the consumer by control of the maximum price that can be charged. With food such an important item, which would you rather trust, 2½ million farmers organized under Capper Volstead law, with NFO, or several giant farm corporations not under the law which protects the consumer as much as the farmer?

Sincerely
Arnold R. Thompson

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. HERMAN SOLUM

Even though ready-mixes are a boon to the homemakers of today, many people prefer the taste of home made cakes, cookies and breads and consequently make their own. Here is a recipe for an old-fashioned, moist, spicy raisin cake that may be served either plain or frosted with your favorite icing. For a quick snack try serving slightly warm with a little whipped cream and accompanied by a cold glass of milk or a steaming cup of coffee.

BOILED RAISIN CAKE

1½ cups sugar
½ cup butter
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon allspice
¾ teaspoon cloves
1 cup raisin juice
1 teaspoon soda
2½ cups regular flour
1 cup raisins, boiled

Method: Boil raisins in 1½ cups water for about 15 minutes or until done. Drain and cool, reserving juice for the cake. (If needed water may be added to fill the cup.) Cream sugar and butter, add egg yolks; sift spices, soda and flour together and add to batter, alternately with raisin juice. Beat egg whites and fold into batter. Bake in a large greased pan in a 350 degree oven until cake leaves sides of pan or center spring up when tested. Mrs. Solum uses a cake pan larger than a 9x12 inch but stated that a smaller pan may be used by making cup cakes from the remaining batter.

Another favorite at the Solum home is Barbecue, which may be made in advance and stored in the refrigerator until needed. Her recipe is as follows:

BARBECUE

1 lb. hamburger
1 chopped onion
¾ cup catsup, tomato soup or combination of both
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Brown hamburger and onions. Add remaining ingredients and simmer for 30 minutes.

The Herman Solums have lived in Thief River Falls for the past 13 years. Prior to retiring, they farmed near the Old Mill State park near Argyle. Their five children, three boys and two girls, are married and are not living in this area. They also have 12 grandchildren.

The Solums attend Zion Lutheran church where Mrs. Solum is a member of the Guild and a circle. She enjoys embroidering and working with her flowers, which are found in profusion both indoors and out.

Laketrails Camp Offers Program Again This Year

Laketrails Base camp, a non-profit corporation devoted to providing a real wilderness camping program for teenagers, will open its fifteenth consecutive season this summer.

The camp for teenage boys and girls is located at Lake of the Woods on Oak Island, forty miles from Warroad. The Laketrails program is mainly one of canoeing and camping in Canadian waters. In addition to this, the camper may involve himself in sailing, water sports, in-camp boating program and water skiing.

Laketrails also provides instruction in out-board and in-board boat handling, mechanics, swimming, first aid, canoeing and camping skills. Program is limited to 40 campers per week, thus insuring a small (1 to 4) staff to camper relationship.

The camping program is divided into two block units: four weeks for boys (June 24 through July 22) four weeks for girls (July 23 through August 19). The rate per week is $40 and campers are encouraged to spend at least two weeks in order to take advantage of the entire program. A camper also may come for the entire four-week period.

Earl Jenkins, camp director, reports that Laketrails is now accepting applications for the summer and encourages the campers to get their applications in early. For further information, write to: Laketrails Base Camp Red Lake Falls, Minnesota.

Three Varieties Added to Malting Barley Exemption

Three additional varieties of malting barley have been added to the 23 previously designated for planting under the 1966 feed grain program's malting barley exemption, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

The program exemption has been approved for this year because late reports have indicated that much of the 1965 crop was sub-standard as a result of rains at harvest time, and because of upward trends in requirements. Supplies for 1965-1966 are adequate.

The additional varieties are Dickson, Piroline and Firlbecks III. The last-named variety is recommended for production only in California and Oregon.

Besides these three, acceptable malting varieties for the purposes of the 1966 program exemption are Atlas, Barbless, Betzes, Forrest, Hanna, Halsa II, Hannchen, Helnes Hanna, Idaho Club, Kindred, Larker, Manchuria, Montcalm, Moravian, O.A.C 21, Oderbrucker, Odessa, Parkland, Traill, Trophy, White Winter, Winter Club and Winter Tennessee.

Under the malting barley exemption, an eligible producer in 1966 may plant up to 110 per cent of his 1959-60 barley base acreage without affecting his eligibility for barley price-support loans and purchases or for corn or grain sorghum benefits of the fed grain program.

An "eligible" producer for purposes of the program exemption is one who has planted a malting barley variety for commercial purposes in one of the last five years in a state where malting barley is traditionally produced, who plants only the acceptable varieties this year, and who is approved as eligiole by the ASC county committee. To retain eligibility, such producers keep within their corn and grain sorghum base acreages on the malting barley farm and within the feed grain base on any other farm in which they have an interest.

Farmers electing to grow malting barley under the program exemption will not be eligible for barley diversion or regular price-support payments. However, they may put all their eligible barley production under loan at a rate based on the national average of 80 cents per bushel, and they will also be eligible for an additional 12.5 cents per bushel for barley delivered to the Commodity Credit corporation for purchase.

SMALLEST of the four-wheel drive farm tractors made by Steiger Manufacturing company is this Model 1250 pictured by the farm shop which produces the machines. The Steigers' first mechanical "baby" was born in a barn, but the remodeled barn has been expanded to a 64x120 shop with a considerable amount of special equipment. The tractor shown above is rated as a six to eight plow machine, and has maximum of 140 horsepower.

Tractor Making At Steiger Farm Growing Larger

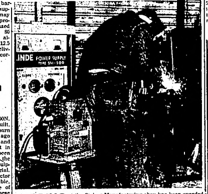
and 18.4 x 28, 10-ply on the 1700N.

When the first tractor was built, a slightly remodeled 32 x 50 barn was the workshop. Two years ago this was doubled to 54 x 50 and now the plant is 64 x 120 feet in size. Overhead tracks have been installed so that any area of the plant can be reached with equipment for handling heavy material.

Since exact tools for tractor building are not readily available, the Steigers have made some of their own. They find many of these tools fit their needs exactly and do a better job than commercially-made equipment would do if available. Among items of new commercial equipment installed is an automatic welding machine which has greatly increased welding speed.

The newly-built office is 24 x 40 in size, attractively paneled on the interior, and constructed so that additions can be made if needed. At peak production the plant employs 10 people, but more will be added if the demand for the tractors continues to grow. The company has set a series of goals, and is currently on schedule. It looks forward to big things in the future.



WELDING at the Steiger Manufacturing shop has been speeded by the addition of a recently-acquired welding machine. In addition to its large shop, the company has constructed a 24x40 office building and employs a full-time secretary and bookkeeper. When in full production, the firm employs about 10 people in addition to the Steigers themselves.

Local Students Enter Mechanic Contest In May

"Don't pick up the phone when your car won't start. Pick up your tools." That is the motto of a group of youthful students mechanics who will compete in an annual trouble-shooting contest in Minneapolis May 6.

Competing from Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school will be John Melby of Middle River and Leroy Falk of Salol. They will be accompanied by Ray Olson and Vern Horter, instructors.

Trouble shooting makes a game of mechanical education as students find and repair as many as 20 malfunctions deliberately hidden in new cars by experts. The two-man team of teen-agers which does the most efficient job of locating correcting the pre-arranged "bugs" in the shortest time is delcared the winner.

TRF Mayor Urges Bond Purchases

Mayor Orin Green today appealed to residents of Thief River Falls to buy more U. S. saving bonds as a means of fighting inflation and supporting the efforts of American forces in Vietnam.

The Mayor's appeal came in response to a letter from Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey which stressed the part savings can play, in lessening inflationary pressures in the economy. The Vice President's letter was sent to the mayors of some 1,600 communities and was a follow-up to President Johson's appeal, made at the recent Washington conference of the National League of Cities, for local leadership in the battle against inflation.

The Vice-President, in his letter to Mayor Green, added to this list the encouragement of Savings Bonds purchases by the public as an important anti-inflationary action for municipal officials to take.

Local Firemen Attend Regional Meeting in Argyle

Spring meeting of the Northern Region Firemen's association was held at Argyle Thursday evening, April 14. Attending from Thief River Falls were firemen Albert Latrenz and Duane Noel, Fire Chief Roy Langevin and Fire Marshal Pat Barry. A total of 148 firemen representing 20 towns were registered. Representatives from the Ottertail Power company and the General Safety Fire Equipment company were also present.

President William Herbert of Crookston opened the meeting and introduced Argyle's fire chief, William Robertson, who in turn introduced Mayor Virgil Peterson. The mayor welcomed the visitors and remarked briefly on the growth of the Argyle fire department.

Herbert announced his resignation after having served as association president for 20 years and as a Crookston fireman for 50 years.

A large delegation from Bemidji was present headed by Chief Jerry Moen. The Bemidji group asked to host the firemen's school to be held later this summer and on a Sunday. Their invitation was accepted.

Fire Marshal Barry spoke on the coming state fire school to be held in St. Paul today through Thursday and urged each department to be represented.

Chief Lawrence Sundahl of Stephen was elected regional president to succeed Chief Herbert. All other officers were reelected. They include Willard Erickson, Fertile, vice president; Roy Langevin, Thief River Falls, secretary-treasurer; and Vince Sullivan, East Grand Forks; and George Copp, Warren, legislative and finance committeemen. Directors are Art Knutson, Gary; Harvey Peterson, Bagley; Roy Green, Bemidji; and John Mead, Red Lake Falls.

Records Analyzed At Meeting on Farm Management

beets, four farms, 9.3 tons. Several other crops were also listed in the records.

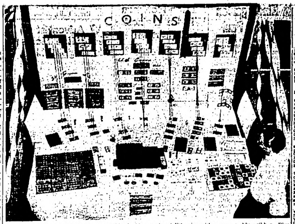
Eighty-nine farms with dairy cattle showed returns averaging $176.75 above feed cost of $165.39 per cow. The 20 per cent of the farms with highest production of butterfat per cow had feed cost of $207.07 and return above feed cost of $232.98 while the 20 per cent with lowest production had feed cost of $128.25 and return above feed cost of only $87.62.

Sheep on 26 farms averaged $14.60 above feed costs per ewe with the top 20 per cent averaging $25.67 and the lowest 20 per cent averaging $2.24.

Feeder cattle on 28 farms averaged $8.07 return above feed cost per hundredweight of beef produced. The top 20 per cent averaged $16.95 while the lowest 20 per cent lost an average of $2.20 per hundredweight. Feed costs averaged $17.31 for the 28 farms, but only $16.51 for the top 20 per cent and $20.12 for the bottom 20 per cent.

Market hogs returned an average of $11.37 above feed cost per hundredweight on 30 farms, with the top 20 per cent returning $15.20 and the bottom 20 per cent returning $5.02. Feeder pigs returned an average of $82.65 per litter above feed cost with the top 20 per cent returning $127.04 and the bottom 20 per cent returning only $8.06.

Proper management plays a vital role in farming, Probasco said, since there are many factors determining production which are within the control of the individual farmer.



COIN collector Ed Krystosek combined his collection with those of Pat Klemish and Elton Cummings in the Boy Scout exposition hobby booth pictured above. The booth, one of 12 participating in the exposition, won a blue ribbon. Blue ribbons also went to Orville Ellingson's photography booth and James Solsten's violin-making booth. More exposition photos will appear in Wednesday's edition.

NFO Asks Letters To President on Low Farm Prices

Pennington county NFO is calling on all farmers and businessmen to immediately write individual letters to the President of the United States so the voice of rural America can be heard, according to Daniel Johnson, county president.

Recent statements coming out of Washington, particularly from the council of economic advisers to the President and other high government officials, blaming farm prices for the high cost of living, have brought sharp criticism from the NFO. The NFO said that such statements are unfair and that although prices paid to farmers for some farm commodities have risen, farmers are still lagging far behind the rest of the economy as far as income is concerned.

NFO pointed out that food is still the best buy in America and that one hour's wages will buy more food than ever before in the history of the nation. It also pointed out that farmers' per capita income in 1965 was only 63 per cent of the per capita income of the non-farm population.

Johnson said that writing individual letters to the President is the only way rural America's voice can be heard and called for everyone to write an individual letter stating the necessity of realistic and fair farm prices so public opinion can not be swayed against farmers.

Clemens L. Oberg Services Held At Viking Saturday

Clemns Leroy Oberg, 56, a resident of Viking since 1947, died unexpectedly Tuesday while in Newfolden.

Funeral services for Clemens Oberg were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Viking Covenant church with the Rev. David Bjurlin officiating. Hilma Drotts served as organist. Vocal selections included a solo by Aleck Anderson and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Hjelle.

Pallbearers were Roy Olson, Clarence Tangquist, Emund Andeen, Hardin Aasand, Melvin Aasand and Lester Aasand. Interment was in Bigwoods cemetery with Sindings's Funeral chapel in charge of arrangements.

Clemens Leroy Oberg was born Feb. 7, 1910 at Hoople, N. D., to Albert J. Oberg and Clara Aasand Oberg. In 1916 he moved with his parents to Argyle where he received his elementary education. He resided from 1939 to 1944 at Seattle, Wash., and for three years at Minneapolis prior to moving to Viking where he was engaged in land clearing as a machine operator.

He was married on April 7, 1951 at Thief River Falls to Florence Olson, who survives together with two brothers, Gerald Oberg of Viking and Lawrence of Argyle; one sister, Mrs. Clifton (Clarinda) Huseth of Cass Lake and a number of nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents.

Agnes Leiseth Rites To Be Held At Middle River

Mrs. Agnes Leiseth, 75, a resident of 501 North Horace, died Saturday at Northwestern hospital in this city.

Funeral services for Mrs. Agnes Leiseth will be held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the First Lutheran church in Middle River with the Rev. Duane Nelson officiating. Interment will be in the Finnish cemetery. Collins Funeral home at Middle River is in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Agnes Leiseth, the former Agnes Linstad was born Aug. 18, 1890 on a farm in Walsh county, North Dakota to Berger and Martha Linstad, who are both deceased. In 1916 she was united in marriage in Moorhead to Carl C. Elkins of Murphy, N. C. To this union three children were born, Carl, Morlan and Evelyn. Mr. Elkins died in November 1920.

On November 9, 1940 she was united in marriage to Arnt Leiseth in Moorhead. He preceded her in death in 1951.

She is survived by one son, Carl Roreland of Minneapolis, one daughter, Mrs. John (Evelyn) Luoto of Middle River; six grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Minnie Rogelard of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Richard Johnk of Moorhead and several nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her husbands, one son, Morlan Elkins, one brother and three sisters.

"THIS AGREEMENT, made and entered into this 28th day of February, 1966, by and between Independent School District 564, Thief River Falls, Minnesota, for itself, its successors, and assigns, hereinafter called the Lessor, and the State of Minnesota, hereinafter called the Lessee:

WITNESSETH, the Lessor and the Lessee, in consideration of the rents, covenants, and agreements herein reserved and contained, do hereby agree each with the other as follows:

1. The Lessor grants and the Lessee accepts a lease of the following described premises in the City of Thief River Falls, County of Pennington, Minnesota, to-wit:

Approximately 7,300 square feet of space in the Thief River Falls Senior High School to be used solely for junior college purposes, plus additional space to be shared with Thief River Falls Senior High School.

for a period of one (1) year from 1 July 1965 through 30 June 1966, to be used as classrooms and offices by the Junior College Board.

2. As rent for the above described premises, the Lessee agrees to pay the Lessor his out-of-pocket costs, including custodial services and supplies, utilities, remodeling and equipment authorized in advance by the Junior College Board, and such other services as may be agreed upon in advance by the Junior College Board. Payment shall be made on the basis of an estimate of $9,200.00 per year, to be paid in nine monthly installments beginning in September of 1965, with the provision that the ninth payment may be adjusted if the Junior College Board and the School District agree to a change in the yearly fee.

3. Lessee will quit and deliver up the said premises to the said Lessor at the end of the aforesaid term, in as good order and condition and state of repair, reasonable use and wearing thereof and inevitable accidents excepted, as the same now are or may be put into by said Lessor.

4. The Lessor shall provide all janitorial or custodial services for housekeeping or cleaning or such other usual janitorial services as may be necessary.

5. If the leased premises or if any part of the real estate upon which the leased premises are situated, are damaged or destroyed rendering the leased premises unfit for occupancy by Lessee, the rent shall abate accordingly.

6. It is understood that the Lessee shall not make any improvements, alterations, or repairs of any kind or nature without first obtaining the consent in writing of the Lessor.

8. All the covenants, terms, and conditions of this lease shall extend, apply to and firmly bind the heirs, executors, administrators and assigns of the respective parties hereto as fully as the respective parties are themselves bound.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, the parties have hereunto set their hands the day and year first above written.

In presence of: Harry Oen, G. B. Martin.

Expect Farm Program Will Assist Wildlife

Pheasants, ducks, grouse and other species of wildlife will soon be important beneficiaries of the federal farm program, according to Ted Shields, Minnesota game and fish director.

Shields had high praise for officials of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service (ASCS) who have cooperated in developing practices under the land retirement programs which will improve wildlife habitat.

The new Cropland Adjustment program (CAP) has the potential of far exceeding the old soil bank program in its effects on wildlife, according to Shields. This program is just getting underway this year, but is expected to attract many additional farmers in subsequent years.

In recent years, about two-thirds of Minnesota's farmers have diverted cropland from production under federal cost-sharing programs. Modifications in this year's programs make it much more attractive to farmers to improve habitat for wildlife on these diverted acres. Improved soil building benefits also will result.

This year for the first time, farmers can receive cost-sharing at an improved rate for planting a mixture of legumes and grasses on any or all of the acreage they divert from surplus crop production. Better payment rates also are available for planting wildlife food plots, shrub and tree plantings and creating ponds for fish and wildlife.

The importance of the improved program lies in the fact that ASCS officials expect about 20,000 farmers to participate in programs to divert cropland this year. This creates a tremendous potential for improving wildlife habitat throughout the agricultural areas of the state.

Shields pointed out that the need for better nesting habitat for pheasants, which will be provided by oats or grass-legume plantings, is recognized by the fact that only 35 to 45 per cent of the pheasant hens have been able to produce a brood of young during recent years. Fifteen or 20 years ago 60 to 70 per cent of the hens produced young. Studies have shown this to be a direct result of the diminishing availability of high-quality, undisturbed nesting cover.

The critical need for more winter cover is emphasized by the effect of the 1965 St. Patrick's Day blizzard which killed 50 to 60 per cent of the state's pheasants.

Shields urged farmers to pay another visit to their county ASCS offices to obtain the latest details of the revised programs.

Car Stolen from Oklee Student Is Heavily Damaged

A car belonging to Ernie Spong, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Spong of Oklee and a junior at Moorhead State college, was stolen Monday night by an 18-year-ol Fargo man.

When police overtook the culprit, the car was extensively damaged. According to a television news report Tuesday the car, a 1960 Chevrolet, was "demolished."

In a high-speed chase through the streets of Moorhead and Fargo, the vehicle struck seven parked cars, damaged several street signs, hedges, bushes and other objects. When the car was immobilized, the driver left on foot and was pursued and captured by police.

Fishing Season To Open on Some Boundary Waters

Minnesota boundary water fishermen will get off to an early start when the summer fishing season begins on these waters April 30.

Minnesota-Wisconsin and Minnesota-North Dakota and South Dakota border waters will be open for the taking of walleye and northern pike on that date, but other Minnesota waters won't open until May 14. Also closed until May 14 are Minnesota-Canada boundary waters.

Trout fishermen, however, will be able to fish all inland waters of the state on April 30 in addition to the North Shore streams which opened April 2. Also fair game on the 30th will be kokanee salmon, found in Caribou lake in Itasca county and Leo Lake in Cook county.

Kokanee are also found in Grindstone lake in Pine county, but by special regulation the fishing season is open year 'round on this lake for all species.

Trout fishermen are reminded by the conservation department that stream trout and splake (a cross between a lake trout and a brook trout) are subject to a new size limit this year. Not more than three of the 10 fish allowed in the limit may be 16 inches or more in length.

The rule does not apply to lake trout. The lake trout season is also open on all waters but few are caught outside of far northern Minnesota and Canadian boundary waters lakes.

Anglers who plan on fishing for walleyes and northern pike in Wisconsin and Dakota border waters should consult their fishing synopsis for an exact designation of these waters and details on regulations, the conservation department said.

New GI Bill Is More Restrictive Than Other Bills

Post-Korean veterans in Minnesota planning to take advantage of the educational provisions of the new GI Bill should bear in mind certain restrictions, according to John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center in St. Paul.

The new bill does not permit apprenticeship courses and other on-the-job or on-the-farm training, such as those authorized under previous GI Bills.

Murphy said flight training by itself will not be permitted. "It will become authorized only when it is part of a complete college or university program leading to a definite degree."

Veterans discharged from the armed forces after Jan. 31, 1955, will be eligible to begin courses after June 1, 1966. He said full information may be obtained at the VA center in Ft. Snelling and in most colleges and educational centers at the end of this mont.

Mallards Released By FFA Members Shot in 7 States

State and federal game officials report that band recoveries from mallards raised and released by Minnesota FFA members last summer shows that hunters in at least seven states enjoyed the benefits of this program.

About 9,000 mallard ducklings were raised and released into the wild at the age of five weeks last summer by members of the Minnesota chapter of the Future Farmers of America. The Fish and Wildlife service and the Minnesota conservation department worked closely with private game farms to supply the Future Farmers with a wild strain of birds which would migrate along with wild mallards.

About 3,000 of the young mallards released were marked with official Fish and Wildlife service aluminum leg bands. Each band has a different number, making it possible to determine where, when and by whom each released bird was banded.

To date, 176 of the 3,000 bands have been recovered, according to the Minnesota department of conservation and the bureau of sport fisheries and wildlife.

Nearly all of the banded birds reported were killed during the 1965 fall hunting season. Of these, 120 were taken in Minnesota, 20 in Iowa, seven in Illinois, three in Wisconsin, three in North Dakota, two in South Dakota and one in Michigan.

The long distance record is held by a male mallard released by the St. Cloud FFA chapter last July 14. It was recovered on October 14 near Homer, Mich., about 636 miles east southeast of the release site. Most of the ducks recovered were taken more than 50 miles away from their release site.

Additional band recoveries from the 1965 FFA releases in Minnesota may still come in from hunters who took these mallards during the hunting season last fall, as well as from hunters taking part in future seasons. Band recoveries are an important source of information used in judging the success of the experimental mallard release program.

Plans are now being made for an enlarged release program this year. More than 60 Minnesota FFA chapters have already ordered 13,000 of the 18,000 ducklings scheduled for production by the Fred Armstrong game farm at Anoka.

More than 100 sportsmen's clubs and civic, business, social and fraternal organizations will cooperate with the FFA in purchasing the ducklings and feed.

Helm, Kaisler to Attend Convention For Chiropractors

Chiropractic doctors throughout the state of Minnesota will be attending the 58th annual convention of the Minnesota Chiropractic association to be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Duluth. Among these will be Dr. R. M. Helm and Dr. W. P. Kaisler of Thief River Falls.

The state auxiliary to the association, composed of doctor's wives, will also hold its annual convention at the same time and place.

Site of this year's conclave is the Hotel Duluth. The convention will open Thursday morning with a welcome from Dr. Duane P. Wething of Detroit Lakes, association president. Rev. Roger M. Kunkel from Duluth's Lakeside Presbyterian church will give the invocation.

Chiropractic conventions are primarily educational meetings where specialists in various phases of chiropractic technique instruct the doctors on the latest developments in that field. Featured speakers this year will be Dr. George J. Goodheart Jr. of Detroit, Mich., and Dr. B. N. Grossman of Glenn Falls, N. Y.

Dinner to Honor Legislators Set May 21 in Cities

Formation of a statewide committee to sponsor a testimonial dinner for Minnesota Senate and House Conservative legislators was announced recently by Fred J. Hughes, St. Cloud attorney, and member of the University of Minnesota board of regents. Hughes is chairman of the committee.

Les Ihle of Thief River Falls is also a member of the dinner committee. The dinner has been scheduled for Saturday, May 21, at the Leamington hotel in Minneapolis.

Paul Peterson On Dean's List

Paul Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson of Thief River Falls, has been named to the dean's list for the winter quarter at Gustavus Adolphus college, St. Peter. Election to the list requires a cumulative grade point average of "B" or better.

Students named to the dean's list will be honored at a banquet May 10 in the college dining room. Speaker for the banquet will be Dr. Lucius Garvin, vice president for academic affairs, Macalester college, St. Paul.

SURROUNDED by water is the Johnny Nelson farm located just west of the Thief river where the refuge road running east from Holt crosses the river. For the past two weeks the water spilled over the banks of the river, and at last report the water level was still slowly rising. Wet snow on Tuesday and today is expected to compound the problem. Nelson sandbagged one portion of his driveway to permit entry to the farm yard, and also did some diking to keep water out of his barn.

Bank Debits in March Down 4 Per Cent from 1965

Bank debits in Thief River Falls during March showed a decrease of 4 per cent from the same period a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis. In dollars, the city's bank debits volume during March was $9,008,000. In the same month of 1965 the total figure was $9,484,000. During the first three months of 1966 bank debits amounted to $26,570,000 an increase of 4 per cent from 1965.

For Minnesota the March volume of bank debits for reporting cities increased 15 per cent from March of last year. Debits for the first three months of 1966 increased 19 per cent from the same period of 1965.

The volume of bank debits reported by the total sample of Ninth Federal Reserve district cities for March increased 14 per cent from a year ago. The cumulative total for the first three months of 1966 indicated a 17 per cent increase from the comparable 1965 period.

Bank debits are mostly checks against depositors' accounts and thus represent payments for goods, services, debts, etc. They also include transfers of funds which of themselves have no business significance. Bank debits mainly include all debits against checking accounts of individuals, partnerships and corporations, and of the states and poltical subdivisions. They do not include debits to the accounts of other banks, the United States government and savings accounts.

UND Enrollment Now Totals a Record 5,835

Final second semester on-campus enrollment figure for 1965-66 at the University of North Dakota is a record 5,835, which is 498 more than the on-campus spring semester total of a year ago. The 5,835 includes 3,923 men and 1,912 women. The figures were compiled by the office of the registrar.

A breakdown of the on-campus figure shows University College (freshman division) with the highest enrollment with 14,465. Other divisions and their enrollments are: college of Science, Literature, and Arts, 1,313; College of Eddcation, 823; College of Business and Public Administration, 751; Graduate School, 691; College of Engineering, 315; College of Nursing, 143; Law School, 140; Medical School, 90; St. Joseph's Nursing, 44; and special and unclassified students, 60.

Hearing on Milk Marketing Order Believed Coming

Word is circulating that the U. S. department of agriculture is scheduling a hearing on a federal milk marketing order in connection with the proposal submitted by Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., to the secretary of agriculture last fall, according to a news release from Land O'Lakes.

The proposal would regulate the handling of Grade A (fluid) milk in a wide area consisting of the following counties in northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota:

Minnesota—Becker, Clay, Douglas, Grant, Kittson, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Ottertail, Pennington, Polk (except that portion of Polk County lying east of U. S. Highway No. 59), Pope, Red Lake, Stevens, Todd, Traverse, Wadena and Wilkin.

North Dakota—Barnes, Benson, Cass, Cavalier, Dickey, Eddy, Foster, Grand Forks, Griggs, Kidder, LaMoure, Nelson, Pembina, Pierce, Ramsey, Ranson, Richland, Rolette, Sargent, Steele, Stutsman, Towner, Traill, Walsh and Wells.

Approximately 1,500 producers of Grade A milk whose farms are located in the proposed area would be regulated by the proposal, as well as approximately 50 handlers in the area.

"Apparently, there is a high degree of support for the proposal from producers as well as cooperative associations in the proposed area," the Land O'Lakes release states. Tentative hearing date will in all probability be the week of June 20-24.

Cropland Program Offers Advantage To Area Farmers

Cropland Adjustment program—available in 1966 for the first time—offers major advantages to farmers according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. Signup in the program is now under way at the Marshall county ASCS office in Warren.

The program is designed to fill a need not quite met by the annual acreage allotment and diversion programs in achiveing and maintaining supply-demand balances for farm products. It is also expected to provide more hunting, fishing and other opportunities for outdoor recreation.

CAP is especially attractive to farmers who want (1) to shift from production of surplus crops to other activities, (2) to retire gradually from farming while continuing to live on the farm, (3) to continue working off the farm or (4) to take advantage of other local employment opportunities.

Farmers participating in CAP will receive adjustment payments related to the value of the crops normally produced on the land, and conservation cost-share payments on the land diverted.

While no deadline has been set for the signup under the Cropland Adjustment program, farmers who are interested in diverting acreage under a long-term rather than an annual agreement are urged not to delay filing a CAP application. There is a limitation of the total acreage within a county or trade area which may be placed under such agreements. Other program signups conducted this spring at the Marshall ASCS county office include those for wheat and feed grains. For these, the final date for filing applications to take part was Friday, April 15.

Peace Corps Test Slated May 14

Thief River Falls area residents interested in joining the Peace Corps are invited to take the Peace Corps placement test at 9 a.m. Saturday at the post office.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general attitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. The test requires no preparation and is non-competitive an applicant can neigher pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D. C.

The placement test takes about an hour and a half. An optional achievement test for applicants who have studied French or Spanish requirew an additional hour.

Solutions Suggested In Rail Car Shortage

Paul A. Rasmussen, chairman of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehoure commission, met Tuesday in Kansas City, Mo., with the national committee of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissioners (NARUC) on rates, services and operations of transportation agencies, to discuss the railroad car shortage problem.

Commission Rasmussen is chairman of the railroad car shortage committee of the NARUC, and for several years, as a member of that committe, has studied this problem in order to recommend a program that would guarantee a sufficient number of railroad frieght cars to satisfy the transportation needs to the economy, not only in Minnesota and the Northwest, but throughout the entire United States.

"This is not a seasonal problem," Commissioner Rasmussen stated, "But is a very serious nature, limiting transportation facilities throughout the entire year and is generally characteristic of the United States."

The associaton, as a result of the study and recommendatons made by Commissioner Rasmussen and the railroad car shortage committee, has for a period of several years urged congress to establish a more realistic per diem rental fee for the use of freight cars. In 1964, the per diem charge was changed from $2.88 to a graduating scale of from $2 to $12. "This scale, however, is not sufficient to encourage or justify the building of freight cars," Commissioner Rasmussen stated. "Many of the eastern railroads, as a matter of policy, perfer to pay a per diem charge rather than to build freight cars."

In the recommendations that Commissioner Rasmussen made to the NARUC committee on rates, services and operations of transportation agencies, he suggested that the federal government appropriate sufficient funds so that the government can stockpile freight cars on the same basis as the defense department stockpiles strategic materials.

The government would then negotiate for the purchase of such cars from private car-building companies, and they would be available for rental or lease to private industries or to railroads at a rental fee or a purchase price that would sufficiently compensate the government so that this stockpile of freight cars would be maintained without any additional need for further appropriaton unless it appeared advisable to enlarge the number of cars in the stockpile.

He also suggested that the NARUC recommend to Congress that the laws be modified to authorize the railroads to place a escrow funds that accrue during a good year to be set aside as a reserve, deductible from the federal income tax, stipulating that the railroad must use these funds to build freight cars within a period of four or five years, otherwise the funds would become taxable.

Commissioner Rasmussen stated, "The transporatation needs of the United States, as it pertains to railroad facilities, demands that a permanent policy be established which will guarantee that industries and the entire public will have available a sufficient number of freight cars to satisfy the needs of our economy."

School Officials Meet With Langen At Detroit Lakes

"The greatest need in public education today is a better understanding of the local - state - federal - relationship," said Congressman Odin Langen Saturday in Detroit Lakes as he met with the school board members and superintendents of the schools in the Seventh Congressional district. "That is why meetings of this sort are so important, to give all of us a better grasp of this most real and important partnership."

Attending from Thief River Falls were Supt. M. R. Hankerson, board chairman Rufus Olson and board member Harry Oen.

Langen said that the first thing that must be acknowledged is that federal aid to education, including elementary and secondary schools, is now a fact and is here to stay. "Federal spending for education has almost doubled in the last two years," he said. "With close to $9 billion ear marked for education of all types this year. The trend in grade schools and high schools is even more startling, with the comparatively modest $48 million spent in 1945 now multiplied 31 times to the present federal spending level of $1.5 billion.

"Federal aid to education is now a fact of life on all levels," said Langen, "and must be treated accordingly. The big discussion therefore must be on how best to obtain and use federal aids without losing the autonomy of the local school system."

Congressman Langen, who spent many years serving on local school boards before moving into the legislative world, had high praise for the past efforts of the school board members and administrators in the Seventh district.

"You and others before you have forged the greatest educational system in the world," he said, "and you still remain the back-bone of education in this nation. The degree to which you maintain your strength and local authority will determine the future of American education.

"We are in an era of a federal-state partnership in local public education, with the accompanying federal and state funds that are available for your use. Whether or not your individual school system flourishes depends to a great degree on how imaginatively you elucidate your ideas to obtain these funds and how effectively you implement your programs to best serve your community and prevent federal supervision. Your role has somewhat changed, but your goal of providing the best possible education for your children remains the same."

Show Strength in Ninth Reserve District Economy

Economy of the Ninth Federal reserve district exhibited a strong upward trend during the first quarter of 1966, the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis reported today in its monthly economic review. The observation was based on preliminary data available concerning major economic series. The Ninth district is made up of Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota, upper Michigan and northwestern Wisconsin.

Employment data particularly suggested expansion, the bank said. Overall nonagricultural employment grew at a better than two per cent rate. Employment in manufacturing, mining, and construction was particularly strong in relation to year-earlier comparisons.

An upsurge in building permit valuation in January, averaging about 25 per cent higher than a year earlier, may also be significant for construction employment in succeeding months.

Unemployment registered an exceptionally low figure an estimated 82,000 unemployed workers in January compared with 97,000 the year earlier. The unemployment rate in February was estimated at below the 3.5 per cent level.

A 19 per cent increase in bank debits in the January - February period over the year-earlier data indicated continued booming retail sales. Total retail sales in 1965 advanced more than six per cent above the 1964 level. Automobile sales were especially good in 1965, and they continued to be relatively strong based on early 1966 preliminary data.

According to the bank, the district series on the industrial use of electric power and production worker man-hours in manufacturing also point to an economy which in early 1966 operated at an advanced level.

Farm prices through March remained generally at favorable levels and marketings appear to have been normal.

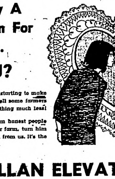
You Wouldn't Marry A Woman You've Known For Five Minutes. . . .
WOULD YOU?



Yet, the bogus seed and fertilizer salesman are now starting to make the rounds of the countryside, hardly take that long to sell some farmers "Bonafide, pure" seed that usually turns out to be something much less!

One way to beat this bogus salesman is to buy from honest people you know and can trust. When the itinerant calls at your farm, turn him back to the road. Tell him you plan to buy all your seed from us. It's the best insurance against poor seed!

"There is but one sure road to access to truth—the road of patient, cooperative inquiry operating by means of observation, experiment, record and controlled reflection." —John Dewey

Paying Their Way

In his 1966 budget and economic messages, President Johnson has called on Congress to apply reasonable user charges to transportation agencies which use publicly-provided and tax-paid facilities in the conduct of their operation. The time has come when these carriers should contribute more toward paying their own way, according to the administration.

The President has proposed a "nominal" charge on the fuel used by inland waterway vessels, higher charges on heavy trucks and highway diesel fuel and a four-cents-per-gallon tax on general aviation fuels. Should these charges be made, the government may get back a small part of the money it has expended to make facilities available to these carriers.

Government-financed facilities with public tax-payer money has provided the means for operation of the air, water and highway carriers for years. There are few private airports in the nation in comparison with those substantially financed by the government. No trucking firms own their own highways and few are the water lanes traversed by commercial ships which have not been government-improved in either channel or harbor.

No one will argue that all these carriers do not have a place in America, for all serve a very vital need. Thhe question is whether or not they are paying their way for the public facilities which they use in conducting their business. The President doesn't believe they are, and for once we are in agreement with him.

Sounds of Silence

Writing in Nation's Business, Alden H. Sypher, retired editor and life-long journalist, noted that "Government by fear is causing bands of silence to fall across the land . . .

"Noise still rises from bearded builders of dissension but in increasing numbers the more responsible, mature and highly qualified people are withdrawing from public discussion. . ."

He goes on to say the inclination toward silence is "restricting the exchange of ideas that could result in honest consensus. It is the product of fear—the fear of a vastly increased central authority with tremendous power and little restraint in its use.

"The fear of farmers whose livelihood is largly controlled in Washington and whose product prices have been affected by stockpile manipulations.

"Of businessmen who have seen controls become effective not by law, nor uniform patterns, but by unbearable pressure of central power and authority.

"Of educators who have seen sudden withdrawal of federal funds for failure to conform—and just as sudden replacement of the funds through intervention not by educators, but by political figures.

"Of city leaders who see in the antipoverty war new political alignments that may be directed or at least greatly influenced by Washington.

"Of little people who rest uneasily under the benevolence of power they have seen unleashed, over which they have no control."

And, says the Oregon Voter, "beyond the self-imposed silence and fear of economic repercussions, there lies the historically proven danger of becoming a subservient, obedient and abject people. Thus, the more we fear and the longer we stay silent, the greater are our changes of becoming weak, self-committed captives.

Paradise to Push—Buttons

The following article from the Muscoda Progressive appeared in the Wisconsin Conservation Bulletin:

A man had a cow, a horse and a few acres of land. He had a gun and a dog. When he wanted a pheasant or a rabbit he went out and shot it. He had a small stream flowing through his land where he could catch a trout if he wanted one. He thought he lived quite comfortably.

One rainy day he went to town. There he took himself a wife. He lived a little more comfortably now because he didn't have to carry the water, get his meals and occasionally wash his clothes.

Then one day his wife said she was through carrying water from the spring and she wanted a pump in the house. She also was tired of cooking over an open fire. She said other women had stoves they could put wood into and cook on top of and inside. The man finally got another cow so he could sell a little more milk, and when he did he bought his wife the stove and had the pump installed.

Things went along quite well but the stove took more wood and he had to buy a bigger saw and work a little harder. His wife said she needed pots and pans to cook properly on this new stove. Then she needed a cupboard to keep them in. To top it off his wife made the statement that they were to have an addition to the family. They needed baby clothes and there would be doctor bills.

So the man found he had to buy more cows to help produce more milk to pay more bills.

Soon he found he could not produce enough food to feed the cattle through the winter without another horse and some more machinery. With more machinery and horses he cleared more land for planting crops. Now he produced more, so he added more cows.

He was getting along quite comfortably now.

A few years passed and electricity came through the country. The wife wanted lights in the house. By now they had four children. They needed a bigger house. He would have to build on. The wife was tired of the wood stove. Other women had stoves you could turn buttons and cook on. They had hot and cold water that came out of a faucet. Yes, these things would all be nice.

More cows were bought. Then a milking machine. The horses were worn out and had to be replaced with a tractor.

As time passed the flat lowlands where the pheasants used to be were plowed fields. The once brushy wooded hillsides were now bare and scarred with deep ditches. Ridges could be seen around the hillsides caused by too many cattle walking. Overgrazing had left the steep slopes bare with nothing to break the fall of the raindrops. The once beautiful clear stream was now an ugly deep ditch that ran brown with muddy water after each rain.

One day the man was seen at his table writing a letter. It was to the State Conservation Department. A glance revealed part of the contents as follows: "I buy a hunting and fishing license every year and I think you guys should do more than you are doing to get good hunting and fishing. I can remember when. . ."

Same Frame—New Picture

A candid look at the nation today is provided in this article from the Industrial News-Review:

As the old adage tells us, "Nothing is constant but change". And, nowadays, changes of vast significance can and do take place in a remarkably brief period of time.

Not so very long ago, it will be remembered, the skies, in the view of most people, were bright. The economy was setting record after record. The federal government had effected tax reductions of substantial size and more were expected. Prices had been relatively stable for years, and no one seemed to fear any serious wave of inflation. There was even talk of a balanced federal budget in the foreseeable future. We were involved in Viet Nam, but only on a token scale, with a small number of U. S. advisors aiding the South Viet Nam military. And various people in influential positions were forecasting the war would be successfully concluded fairly soon.

It just isn't like that any more.

The economy, of course, is still booming along. But just about everything else has changed. Take, for example, the matter oxf taxes. The administration's budgt formally anticipates a deficit of only $1.8 billion. But no one now thinks that this is anything but an excessively rosey picture. Swelling domestic expenditures, plus the costs of the Viet Nam war, have totally altered the situation. And, we may have seen only the beginning of these costs. The President has just signed a bill authorizing a supplementary appropriation of $4.8 billion for military purposes, primarily in Viet Nam. More heavy increases of this nature seem certain. The level of U. S. troops in Viet Nam, according to General Westmoreland, the commander, may have to go to 400,000. This event, in the view of most authorities, will make tax increases inevitable.

Then there is inflation. Just about everyone is talking about it and fearing it. Next to Viet Nam, it seems to trouble more Americans than any other problem. "Local taxes, which have steadily risen just about everywhere, are also much in the public eye. A survey made by U. S. News & World Report and published in a recent issue of the magazine, finds that, "The mood of people in America today is one of unhappiness in the midst of prosperity." And it adds, "High prices are irking almost everybody in this nation. And a fear is growing that prices will go still higher—leading to inflation that will eat up savings."

In another recent issue, U. S. News interviewed 11 of the country's top economists to get their views on inflation. Most of them, it reports, expressed concern over the inflationary pressures. Many called for strong governmental action to stem the tide—such as tax increases and reductions in nondefense spending.

This attitude finds its reflection in Congress. More and more members are coming to the belief that such spending, particularly of a welfare nature, must be substantially reduced. Whether this will become a majority view remains to be seen—it isn't now. But the worries are there, and they constantly deepen. And there are worries about what the mood of the people will bring about in this year's congressional elections.

Can the war in Viet Nam be won in anything resembling an acceptable period of time? What will the price indicators show as the months and years wear on? What will the tax picture be like a few months from now? These are as yet unanswered questions.

Interesting Opinions . . .

" 'Negotiation' is a magic word to pacifists and those who openly or covertly support the communist cause. But negotiation is an infinite danger to the United States. The lesson must constantly be in mind that one can win no more at the conference table than he is able to win on the battlefield." —Chicago Tribune

"Care should be taken, not that the reader may understand if he will; but that he must understand, if he will or not." —Quintilian

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

Two members of a London club met in the smoking room. The first looked grave as he shook hands with his friend, who was very deaf.

"I was sorry," he said, "to hear of the death of your uncle."

"Eh? What's that?" asked the deaf one.

"I was sorry to hear you've buried your uncle."

"But I had to," came the unexpected reply. "Lead, you know."

The Library Corner

By Flora Allison

National Library Week is now completed and a look backward is a natural outgrowth of any campaign. Considering the week from the standpoint of accomplishment of its aims, it may have gotten its message across. Those who participated were genuinely interested, but their number was disappointingly small.

This is YOUR project, Mr. and Mrs. Public. It should be a matter of pride to all of you, that a municipality of this size offers the facilities available here at YOUR library. That it has maintained a growing, active library for over half a century, thru good times and bad, is tribute enough to the foresight and interest of its leaders. But to have undertaken the expansion and building program which sees a spacious new reading center near completion, with its numerous extra facilities, such as a film service and bookmobile in its over-all plan, is almost remarkable.

We will have something to be especially proud of when the new library is in operation: an ultra-modern building, a much more acceptable arrangement where space is not at a premium, as it is here in the old building; rooms for repair work, accessioning and the many steps necessary to ready the books for the shelves; adequate staff quartering with private rest room and kitchenette for their use; and many other advantages not now enjoyed by either the public or the staff.

When we consider that the suppression of knowledge is the strongest tool of the totalitarian state and its dissemination is one of our priceless freedoms which must be safeguarded at all costs, we realize the tremendous import of the public library system. Where men, women and children are fed carefully selected propaganda, private initiative suffers a mortal blow.

In many countries, fredom of expression and almost of thought is a crime against the state, and punishable by almost innumerable kinds of torture and retaliation. In contrast, where newspapers, periodicals and books are made available freely and without reservation, the choice being entirely up to the individual, freedom of choice is the prerogative of all of us. There is no stifling of thought where the state is the servant of the people rather than the man a tool of the state, and a public library is the place where these thoughts are given free reign and where reading matter of all types is available at the discretion of the reader.

What a priceless privilege is ours, if we but recognize it for what it is. What a blessing to have libraries where there is no censorship, no brainwashing, no required or restricted reading list; where the printed word, on both sides of the issues, is never supressed, but left on the shelves, and free to all.

All of this costs money, but what better investment is there than the preservation of our rights for those who will populate the world when we have gone? As the man who plants the tree may not live to enjoy it in the fulness of its maturity but plants it for the benefit of others who live beyond his span of years, so it is with laying the foundations for the continued keeping of the freedoms which we cherish. They are not ours to spend into bankruptcy but to preserve and maintain for future generations. They are for your children and mine, and for our grandchildren. Let us not lose sight of this. They are our monuments to faith in our system and in those who will succeed us and enjoy that system under which life is unfettered and our own private dreams attainable.

It is therefore with gratitude that we acknowledge the support and assistance given us during this Library Week, both the moral support and that of a material nature. And we issue another invitation to those who were unable to visit us this week to come in whenever the opportunity arises.

We need all shoulders to the wheel, and that means YOU. Show your pride in what the community has done and is doing to preserve your rights as a free individual. Support your library. Think about the void in your world which would be created if there were no place where you could find the answers to things which come up in your life, your work, your contacts with others; if the only information you could receive was via government-controlled radio or television or newspapers. And then be more active in matters concerning your library, where the thoughts you think and the opinions you form will be your own.

To all of you, again our thanks for your publicity, your help in promoting the aims of Library Week, and your assistance here at the library during our open house and otherwise. Your efforts were much appreciated.

State Records Information on Signs, Junkyards

Enormous and time-consuming job of cataloguing the 65,000 to 70,000 billboards and signs and the several hundred junkyards along Minnesota's highways system is almost complete, reports the maintenance section of the Minnesota highway department.

The counting and classifying was accomplished by teams of employees from the state's nine construction districts and were recorded in terms of location, zone classification, distance from the right of way, illumination, size, height, shape, material, condition and sign topic at the time of the inventory.

The survey will be completed before the April 18 deadline set by the bureau of public roads, and the information will be sent to Washington for filing and analysis by the department of commerce.

Inventories are being made in all 50 states and the information gathered will be used in setting final standards for the states in implementing the federal beautification Act.

Public hearings were held March 14, 15 and 16 at the state office building in St. Paul on the control of outdoor advertising and junkyards authorized by the state billboard laws enacted in 1965 and by the federal beautification act.

Servicemen May Take Advantage Of New Program

Servicement still on military duty may take advantage of the educational and loan guaranty programs of the new GI Bill, according to John R. Murphy, manager of the Veterans Administration center, St. Paul.

Servicemen must have at least two years service to be eligible. Participation in the GI loan program is available immediately. Educational programs cannot be started until June 1, 1966.

Under the GI education program, Murphy said, servicemen with more than two years of military service will be eligible for one month of college, vocational, business, high school or correspondence school courses for each month or fraction of a month they have been on active duty, with 36 months as the maximum period no matter how long their length of service.

Under the VA loan guaranty program they may negotiate for a home loan with a private lender, or, in areas where direct loans are permitted, they may negotiate directly with the Veterans administration, he said.

Further information can be obtained by contacting the VA center at Ft. Snelling.

Local Guardsmen Complete Arctic Training in Alaska

Several troopers of the Second Composite Company, 47th Infantry (Viking) division, headquartered in Thief River Falls, completed two weeks of Arctic warfare training at Fort Greely, Alaska April 8. They included Capt. Charles R. Richards, Thief River Falls, company commander; First Sergeant Harvey P. Hanson, Thief River Falls; Pvt. Orvis L. Lunke, Plummer; Pfc. John J. Kotrba, Goodridge; and Pfc. Howard R. Sjulestad, Goodridge.

Training was divided into classroom sessions and field duty. In the classroom the guardsmen received instruction in geography and climate, cold weather clothing and communications, waxing and fitting skis, and the principles of cross-country snowshoe and ski movements.

They put the instruction into practice in their second week of training while on a tent bivouac at Fort Greely's training sites 335 miles north of Anchorage. During the bivouac they were also trained in various types of military skiing and winter medical evacuations.

New Withholding Tax System Will Begin on May 1

Recent changes in income tax withholding rates were designed to bring the total amount withheld from wages closer to the actual tax liability, according to George O. Lethhert, district director of Internal revenue.

The present withholding rate is 14 per cent. New withholding rates effective on payrolls on and after May 1, range from 14 to 30 per cent.

"Married taxpayers will have less tax withheld than single persons," Lethert stated. "However, to qualify for the lower amount, married persons must file a new Form W-4 (Withholding Exemption Certificate) with their employer, otherwise employers must treat married persons as single, and withhold more tax from their pay."

Comparing the new rates, a single individual claiming his own exemption, and earning $100 a week now has $12.60 tax withheld. After May 1, the tax withheld will amount to $14.10. A married taxpayer, earning the same amount, and claiming two exemptions, now contributes $10.80 tax weekly. After May 1, the tax withholding will be $10.60.

Under the new income tax withholding system, Lethert declared, it is still possible for taxpayers who believe insufficient tax will be withheld to claim fewer exemptions, or arrange with their employers to have additional amounts withheld.

Landscape Arboretum Tests Many Projects

Progress in the continuing development of the University of Minnesota landscape arboretum has been evident this past year in the growing number of special projects and increased interest of the public. Mrs. Inga Geving of Thief River Falls is a member of the arboretum board.

Some 30,000 people visited the arboretum last year, studying plant materials in natural landscape groupings and observing the variety of plants available for landscaping.

Among the special projects either started or continued have been testing ground covers for highway slopes and landscaping; starting a hedge area; planting ornamental grasses; reorganizing the roads area; expanding the vine collection; and making new trails and roads.

Testing ground covers adapted to Minnesota conditions is on a fairly high priority list at the arboretum, according to L. C. Snyder, head of the University's department of horticultural science and superintendent of the arbortetum. "The need for good ground covers in this area is probably greater than for any other group of plant materials," he says. One hundred and eight metal-edged beds are now providing planting space for ground covers.

A listing and description of some of the ground covers that have been tested are included in the latest progress report of the arboretum, Agricultural Experiment Station Miscellaneous Report 69, University of Minnesota Landscape Arboretum. Single copies of the report are available from Bulle Room, Institute of Agricultural, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn. 55101.

Testing hedges adapted to Minnesota conditions is a current project at the arboretum. A hedge area, enclosed with a border of Black Hills spruce, will cover 1½ acres and include about 90 different hedge materials when the planting is complete, Snyder reports.

The rose area is being reorganized with a three-foot retaining wall surrounding it. A trellis will extend along one side of the wall for climbing roses. Groups of old-fashioned roses will be replanted in formal beds separated by grass pathways which will connect with the shrub and species roses.

Some 70 clematis and other vines have been planted in the trellis area. This coming spring and summer the clematis should make a showy display, Snyder says.

A network of trails now under construction will permit visitors to enjoy the arboretum with a minimum of interference from automobile traffic. Approximately a half mile of new trails was developed in one addition during the past year, and woodchip trails have been laid to connect the trellis area with the main parking lot.

Final grading operations and gravelling will be completed this spring on one and one-half miles of new road, making the total road system within the arboretum about three miles.

At the end of the 1965 growing season, the arboretum had over 8,000 cultivated plants representing more than 2,500 species and cultivars in the various plant collections. In addition, more than 400 native species are now growing in the arboretum. An important objective of the arboretum is to carry on research in testing and developing hardy ornamentals for home landscaping.

The arboretum is located two miles east of Victoria or four miles west of Chanhassen on state highway 5.

ELECTRIFYING NEWS #2

Increase the value of YOUR home with ELECTRIC
HOME HEATING

Some folks add a patio...some folks finish off the basement...both practical improvements that increase the value of a home. Others – planning well from the first doodle mark on the back of an envelope – incorporate Total-Electric Home Heating when they build a new home. It's one sure way of guaranteeing that your home value will increase as the years go by.

Not only that...but think what it means when you can eliminate fuel storage tanks, furnace, chimney, ducts and radiators! Then your building costs are less...your home is worth more...you're more comfortable...and Otter Tail offers you a Guaranteed Heating Cost Plan.

Otter Tail retail customers who build a new home in 1966 (or remodel their present home) will be given a $100.00 Wiring Allowance on a Total Electric Home or year-around lake cottage, and $50.00 on a "seasonal" lake cottage.

TOTAL ELECTRIC GOLD MEDALLION HOME LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

See your local electrical contractor soon...or get details from your local Otter Tail Service Representative. Even if you're not planning to build or remodel, you may find it worthwhile to convert your present home to electric heating. It'll be worth more in the years ahead, too!

put more PaZAZZ in your electric service
$2.59 per month gets the job done

Does your TV picture "shrink," lights dim, fuses blow? You need more PaZAZZ in your electric service...you need adequate Housepower.

Ask your local electrical contractor for help.

Maybe your present electric Service Entrance (the wires and main fuse box that bring electricity into your home) is not BIG enough for the job. During 1966 Otter Tail Power Company will finance the cost of a new Service Entrance — up to $200.00 if you install at least a 100-ampere entrance. YOU PAY NOTHING DOWN... ONLY $2.59 EACH MONTH, added to your regular electric service bill.

Everybody LOVES Electric Living

Get this Oster Thermo-Electric Coffeemaker
FREE
with the purchase of an Electric Range

Makes up to 10 cups automatically...keeps it hot without a cord! Beautiful Ceramic White design. Retails $24.95.

This New Oster Coffeemaker is yours – as a gift from Otter Tail Power Company – if you purchase either a new or used electric range between March 15 and May 15, 1966. You must be an Otter Tail retail customer to qualify, and the electric range you purchase must (1) be a replacement of an existing fuel-type range, or (2) be a supplement to an existing electric range, or (3) be a new installation – no previous range. It can be free-standing or built-in...but a built-in must include both oven and surface units. See Your Local Electric Appliance Dealer for Complete Details.

What's so Great About an Electric Range?
Better meals, for one thing, because of controlled heat. Less work, for another, because you can forget about "stove watching." A cleaner kitchen, for still another, because there's no flame, soot smoke or grime. Your electric appliance dealer can give you a couple dozen other reasons. Ask HIM!

LARGEST display of the 1966 Boy Scout exposition held Saturday in the city auditorium was arranged by Cub Pack 59 of Zion Lutheran church. This display, entitled "Back Yard U.S.A.", occupied the entire west end of the auditorium floor, and was a blue ribbon winner (third in four expositions for the pack). In addition to the scenery, the Cubs served lunch at their picnic table.

Charles Follett Elected Jaycee President Tuesday

Officers and directors for the coming year were elected by the Thief River Falls Jaycees Tuesday night at the Golf club. Elected were Charles Follett, president; Dr. Donald Goodrich, first vice president; Robert Ekeren, second vice president; Lt. Harold Shelby, secretary; Myron DeMers, treasurer; and Richard F. Contos, state director.

Elected as directors for a two-year term were Roger Person, Neil McEwen and Anthony Kozojed. James Wills and Howard Rokke were elected for a one-year term to fill the unexpired terms of Charles Follett and Arve Moser.

In other business annual dues were raised from $10 to $12 and from $5 to $6 for associate members. It was also voted to change the name of the organization from Junior Chamber of Commerce to Jaycees to conform with national and state changes.

Ralph Foster, a former Jaycee who exceeded the age limit but retained his associate membership, was presented with an "exhausted rooster" certificate and pin. A special presidential award was presented to Richard Bjorkman for his outstanding job as chairman of the State Outstanding Young Farmer convention held here in February.

Joint installation and awards banquet for Jaycees and Mrs. Jaycees is scheduled for May 4 at 6:30 p.m. at the American Legion club.

City Will Host Music Festival

Thief River Falls will host the annual state-area music festival this Friday and Saturday with an estimated 3,000 high school vocalists and instrumentalists expected to be in attendance during the two days.

Soloists and ensembles will compete Friday with the large groups such as bands, choirs and orchestras to compete on Saturday.

Quartet Is Booked By Concert Ass'n.

Arrangements have been completed for the opening concert of the Thief River Falls concert association in October according to Justus Larson, association president. Appearing here will be "The Revelers" quartet, four male vocalists with a varied repertoire appealing to all musical tastes.

In announcing the contract arrangements, Larson noted that admission to all concerts being planned by the association will be through season ticket only. A membership campaign will be conducted in the fall to give all area residents an opportunity to purchase membership in the association.

"We consider ourselves indeed fortunate to have secured such an excellent attraction for our first concert," Larson said. "Variety is a keynote in the quartet's repertoire, songs of Schubert, or enjoy the more relaxed style of folk songs, spirituals and sea chanteys, or live the sparkle of show tunes old and new, there is something in the program for you. Contagious good humor makes The Revelers good company on and off the stage."

In recent months The Revelers have filled an increasing number of engagements for convention and night club audiences on the East Coast, as well as featured summer engagements in Meredith Wilson's "The Music Man" with Darren McGavin and Gig Young.

Members of the quartet include Feodore Tedick, tenor; Thomas Edwards, tenor; Raymond Murcell, baritone; and Elliott Savage, bass. After a concert in Grand Forks by The Revelers, the Grand Forks Herald commented: "Their program included everything you could hope to hear a quartet sing, done just a little better than you have ever heard it sung."

Previously announced by the association was the appearance here during the first concert series of the Texas Boys Choir. Exact concert dates will be announced later when the schedule for the season is completed.

Hazard To Hold Rabies Clinic

Dr. F. W. Hazard, Thief River Falls veterinarian, will conduct a rabies vaccination clinic at his office on Oakland Park road Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. Persons who have pets they would like vaccinated are asked to note the clinic hours.

Jorgenson Heads VFW Buddy Poppy Sale This Year

Appointment of Roy A. Jorgenson as chairman of the Thief River Falls Veterans of Foreign Wars poppy sale was announced today by Farrell Harris, commander of VFW Post 2793. Mrs. R. G. Nelson is auxiliary chairman.

Members of the auxiliary will sell poppy cards this Saturday in the business district. Individual street sales will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 5, 6 and 7, by members of the post, auxiliary and junior auxiliary.

"With boys fighting in Viet Nam today, we are reminded of our obligation to help those who gave, and today are giving, so much on our nation's battlefields," Jorgenson said, noting that the VFW and auxiliary hope to make this year's sale of Buddy poppies the biggest in modern times.

"Continued high cost of living is placing an increased burden on our disabled and needy veterans and on those who are attempting to serve them," Jorgenson said. "Those who buy and wear Buddy poppies will make a substantial contribution to this worthy cause."

$249,917 Grant Given for Area Poverty Program

Announcement of a grant totaling nearly a quarter of a million dollars for area beautification projects in Pennington, Clearwater, Red Lake and and eastern Polk counties was made today by Senators Walter F. Mondale and Eugene McCarthy.

The grant of $249,917 from the Office of Economic Opportunity was made to the Inter-County Community Council, Inc., Oklee. It is designated for an anti-poverty project termed "Pretty-Up" in 18 towns in the four counties mentioned.

A telegram to the Times from the Minnesota senators noted that, "154 low-income elderly will work on community betterment projects such as improvement and beautification of village parks, renovation of community service centers, beautification of roadsides, streets, campsites and other recreation areas."

County 4-H Play, Share-the-Fun Contests Slated

Pennington county one-act play and share-the-fun festivals will be presented next week. All programs begin at 8 p.m., Daylight Saving Time.

The first elimination contest will be Thursday evening, May 3, at the Goodridge school. Clubs presenting plays include Mavie, Good Hope, Kratka and Star. Share-the-fun numbers will be given by Mavie, Good Hope, Kratka and Star.

Carl Concelman

Carl Concelman Joins Dow-Key Electronic Firm

Carl Concelman, formerly of Danbur, Conn. has been appointed vice president of engineering at the Dow-Key company in Thief River Falls, according to Gordon Dow, president. He appointment became effective April 1.

Concelman was formerly engineering product manager of Amphenol RF division and holds numerous patents on RF coaxial switches and connectors. Dow-Key is a major supplier of these components serving the military, commercial and amateur ham markets.

Concelman makes his home with his wife Helen at 317 West Third St., Thief River Falls.

Board Appointed for TRF Housing Authority

Mayor Orin J. Green appointed five men to the newly organized Thief River Falls Housing and Redevelopment Authority at the regular meeting of the city council Tuesday night in the city auditorium. The appointments were approved by the council.

Milton Reierson was appointed for a one-year term on the organization, Wallace Tunberg for a two-year term, Kenneth Onken for a three-year term, Randall Noper for a four-year term and Paul Roy for a five-year term.

The Housing and Redevelopment Authority is authorized to plan new housing projects, including urban renewal, and to apply for necessary governmental financial aid. In this function, the group will work independently of the council. But all requests for city funds must be acted upon by the council. City Clerk William Fahey stated that most applications made by the authority will be for federal grants.

Other business of the session consisted of a proposed assessment hearing for residents of Birch Lane drive, the portion of Markley avenue north of Third street, LaBree avenue from First street to Main avenue, Spruce avenue and the southwest area (south of the Great Northern tracks). The assessment was for black top surfacing and curb and gutter installation.

About 43 property owners were present to ask questions and present arguments regarding their assessments. Action by the council was postponed until May 10 to allow for adjustment of the assessment roll.

Two of the vocal solos will be medley numbers from "Sound of Music" and "West Side Story."

Traffic Accident Summary To Be Regular Feature

Extent of traffic accidents in Thief River Falls should be noted by local citizens, according to Capt. Alan Noreen of the Thief River Falls police department. This year the city has already had 88 accidents with 17 injuries and an estimated $18,203 in property damage.

"Estimates of property damage do not take into consideration the losses caused by accidents through hospital and medical expenses, lost work time and other factors," Capt. Noreen said, "but the property damage losses alone are extensive.

"It seems ridiculous that enough money has been wasted because of traffic accidents in the city in the first four months of the year to build a large, modern home, or to buy six new $3,000 automobiles. One moment of carelessness is the basic ingredient for a traffic mishap, and defensive driving could prevent many of these needless accidents from happening."

In cooperation with the local police department, the Times will publish current statistics on accidents to date in the city in each Wednesday edition throughout the year. Patrolman Irving Swanson will provide us with the figures each week from the accident summary which he maintains at the department. The first table of statistics is published below.

Accidents	90	88
Injured	19	17
Est. Damage	$16,741	18,203

Current figures above are compiled by the Thief River Falls police department.

Richard Stenberg

Richard Stenberg Named National Merit Scholar

It was announced today by John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship corporation, that Richard Stenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Stenberg of Thief River Falls and a senior at Lincoln high school, is among 2,250 students nationwide who have won 1966 Merit Scholarship awards.

Stenberg has won a Merit Scholarship to St. Olaf college, a liberal arts college of the American Lutheran church located in Northfield. The college serves 2,300 students, nearly all of whom live on campus, and more than half of whom receive financial aid under a program totaling more than $770,000.

Stenberg will begin his studies at St. Olaf this fall. His major is undecided at this time. While a student at Lincoln, he has been editor-in-chief of the school newspaper; a member of the Minnesota All-State band (1964-65 and 1965-66); vice president of the Trinity Senior Luther League (1963-64); president of the Luther League (1964-65); first place winner in the editorial contest at Bemidji State college's journalism conference (1965); and has been active in the high school band, orchestra and dramatics.

All Merit Scholars were chosen from among 14,000 finalists. Every finalist would be awarded a Merit Scholarship if funds were sufficient according to Stalnaker. The finalists are those who scored in about the upperhalf of one per cent of seniors in their state on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test, confirmed this performance on a second test and received the endorsement of their schools.

Celebration Marks 25th Anniversary For Palmer Holtes

Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Holte of Grygla were honored at the Grace Lutheran church at Grygla on Sunday, April 17, when a large number of relatives and friends gathered to help them celebrate. Upon their arrival, Mrs. Holte was presented with a corsage of red roses surrounded by white feathered carnations accented with silver, and Mr. Holte was given a white boutonniere. These floral tributes were from their children and their families, who were all present for the occasion. They were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Miller and Bobby of Goodridge, Mr. and Mrs. Galen Dahlen and Jackoline of Thief River Falls; Paul and Roger Holte of Minneapolis and Linda, Steven and Lee Ann, all at home in Grygla.

Also in attendance and presented with a corsage and boutonniere were Mrs. Holte's sister, Mrs. Sam Alvin, who were the attendants at the wedding 25 years ago.

A program was given prior to the reception with Francis Hack in charge. The Rev. S. J. Sigurgeirson gave the devotional meditation and prayer. Included in the program was a brief history of the life of the honored couple, written by Mrs. Juel Anse of Gatzke and read by Mrs. Henry Holte. Readings were given by LeAnn Holte and Linda Holte. Musical selections included a medley of three songs by a number of women, accompanied by Mrs. Byklum and a solo, "Bless This House" by Gerline Holte, accompanied by Elaine Askeland. The group participatedy by singing "O Perfect Love" and "How Wonderful Thou Art" with Gerline Holte playing the accompaniment. Gifts were presented to the honored couple by Mrs. Richard Miller and they responded with thanks

A reception followed in the church dining hall with Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Vigen as host and hostess. Centering the serving table was a four-tiered anniversary cake, iced in white and trimmed with yellow roses. The upper tier, topped with a 25th anniversary symbol, was later removed and together with silver candles served as the centerpiece of the head table where the honored guests, their family and attendants were seated.

Cutting and serving the cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Melvin Walberg of Grygla, were sisters of Mr. Holte, Mrs. Stanton Spicer of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Norman Hanson of Neillsville, Mrs. Harry Hanson, also of Neillsville, another sister of Mr. Holte, and Mrs. Luther Anderson of Grygla, a sister of Mrs. Holte, poured.

Mrs. Galen Dahlen and Mrs. Richard Miller were in charge of the gift table and registering the guests while Paul and Roger Holte served as ushers. Members of the Deborah circle assisted by serving the refreshments.

Guests attending were from Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Thief River Falls, Goodridge, Gatzke and Grygla.

The Mother's Ring

Twin bands of 14 Karat Gold symbolize Mother and Father—joined by lustrous synthetic stones of the month, one for each child in the family

Absolutely unique — and very sentimental! The Mother's Ring symbolizes her life, her marriage, her children, her happiness. She is the only one who may wear it. This beautifully-executed tribute created by fine jewelry craftsmen of solid 14K gold.

There is only one "Mother's Ring". It is so distinctive, so unique, that it has been awarded U. S. Patent #186,183. Ask for it by name, confirm it by its identifying tag.

Zehlian Group Hears Council and District Reports

Zehlian group of the Federation of Women's clubs met Thursday in the Civic and Commerce rooms at the local city auditorium.

President Mrs. Art Forsberg Jr., presided at the business session and reported on a recent executive board meeting of the Women's club council. She stated that the council had voted to send a delegate to the state convention May 9-11 at Mankato and that Mrs. George Mayer-Oakes, Mrs. Joe Distal and Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen had been appointed to meet with the library board to select a suitable gift to be presented to the new library. A progress report on the renovating of the Women's club room had been given and the announcement had been made of the Diamond Jubilee convention to be held in Chicago, Ill., June 5-10. Several names of local women had been submitted to the convention as jewels to be honored in recognition of outstanding service to the club and for the longest continuous membership in their respective clubs.

Mrs. James Disse gave the report on the Ninth district convention held at Stephen with 13 members from Thief River Falls attending. They were Geneva Overum and Mesdames Tom Aasland, James Disse, Joe Dostal, Harold Elofson, Holland McHam, S. S. Nelson, Leonard Hanson, J. Arthur Johnson, William Holmes, Ed Leyden, Millard Peterson and Ralph Ward.

In the every member art contest held in conjunction with the convention, Mrs. William Holmes won first prize on her painting, "Firebreak" and placed third on her painting, "Freeway". Mrs. James Disse was awarded third prize on her painting, "Out of Darkness". These painting will be entered at the state convention at Mankato.

Among those recognized during the service of remembrance conducted by members of the Newfolden Women's club was the late Mrs. Art M. Johnson. Winning door prizes were Mrs. Holland McHam, Mrs. Ed Leyden and Mrs. Ralph Ward.

Following the reports movies of Hawaii were shown by the Harold Rasmussens. A Hawaiian atmosphere was created by the many artifacts displayed throughout the room and by the Hawaiian decorations on the refreshment table.

Members attending were Mesdames Ray Kiland, Harold Rasmussen, James Disse, Harold Elofson, Rudolph Sagmoen, Art Forsberg, E. O. Peterson, Stan Mortenson, Paul Wendt and James Winjum, Jr.

Guests were Mrs. Kern Olson, Mrs. Walter Weigelt and Mrs. Douglas Stewart.

The final meeting of the current club year will be held May 5 with Mrs. Harold Elofson and Mrs. E. O. Peterson as hostesses.

Arthur B. Larsons Honored On Their 25th Anniversary

In observance of their 25th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur B. Larson were guests of honor at an open house Sunday afternoon at their home at 321 St. Paul Avenue South. Serving as hostesses were sisters and sisters-in-law of the couple, Mrs. Henry Brubakken, Crookston; Mrs. Carl Berman, Grand Forks, N. D.; and Mrs. Harvey Hanson and Mrs. Margaret Kellberg, both of Thief River Falls. They were assisted by Mrs. Orelin Billings, also of this city.

For the occasion, corsages and boutonnieres were presented to the honored couple and to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langevin of Thief River Falls. The Langevins attended the couple when they were married April 10, 1941 in this city by the Rev. E. L. Tungseth.

Special guests in attendance were Mrs. Larson's mother, Mrs. Emma Stromberg of this city, who was presented with a corsage, and the honored couple's two children, Charles and Becky Larson.

Helping to make the room festive was a large floral arrangement, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. George Mostue. Earlier that day, the arrangement had graced the altar at Zion Lutheran church where the couple had attended the morning worship service.

Refreshments were served throughout the afternoon to the 150 relatives and friends who came to greet the couple. Centering the table was an openbook anniversary cake decorated with bells and shaded pink roses and trimmed with touches of silver. The cake, baked and decorated by Mrs. Tom Fuller, was cut and served by Mrs. Margaret Kellberg. Mrs. Langevin poured.

Becky Larson registered the guests who were in attendance from Grand Forks, Hoople and Veseleyville, N. D., Crookston, Moorhead and surrounding areas.

The Larsons were the recipients of many congratulatory telephone calls, both locally and from a distance. Among the cards and letters received was a congratulatory message from Congressman Odin Langen.

Dolores Johnson Elected President Of BPW Group

Dolores Johnson was elected president of the Business and Professional Women's club of Thief River Falls at a dinner-meeting held at 6 p.m. Tuesday, April 19, at the Terrace room of the Rex Cafe. She will succeed president Anna Zinter, who was in charge of the meeting.

Other officers elected were Ardis Tunberg, second vice president; Ellen Spray, secretary and Mabel Leyden, treasurer. Gloria Bugge was reelected to the office of vice president. Nominating members submitting the slate of officers were past presidents, JoAnne Wedul, chairman, Clarice Collins and Ruth Wilson. Installation of officers will be held at the next regular meeting.

Genevieve Peterson, chairman of the BPW finance program, spoke to the group and told of her interesting work while she was Deputy Director and area manager for the United States Treasury. As the only woman holding that position, she told of the thorough investigation before being appointed to the task of selling and promoting U. S. Savings Bonds in 51 counties in Minnesota. Unequal to any other investments, she stressed the security of investing in Savings Bonds as they were baked, not only by gold and silver, but by the efforts of the people of the United States. She also challenged the group to help preserve American freedom. Since the women of today are controlling 75 and are holding key positions, she said, it was the duty of every woman to be interested in world affairs as well as local, state and national events.

Reports were heard from several committees and plans were made for the scholarship presentation to be made at the next regular meeting. Plans were also made for the special event, "Career Fashions" to be held May 24 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lincoln high school cafeteria. Honor guests will be the girls graduating this spring from Lincoln high school and the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical school. A feature of the event will be a style show by members of the Future Homemakers of America with Carol Ellingson in charge. Members of the BPW club will serve refreshments.

Invitations were received to attend the Weekend of Fun for BPW members June 24-26 at Sugar Lodge at Grand Rapids and the Ninth biennial conference of the Manitoba Provincial organization of BPW clubs at the Fort Gary hotel in Winnipeg April 30 - May 1.

Reminders were given to attend the District meeting, Sunday, April 24, at Crookston and the State convention May 20-22 at Hibbing. Delegates chosen to attend the convention were Anna Zinter and Dolores Johnson. It was announced that a chartered bus had been scheduled and those wanting to attend the state convention were to contact the president.

Preceding the candlelite dinner, Anna Zinter led the group in the table prayer and the reading of the collect. Special guest in attendance was the former second vice president of the club, Louise Anderson of Bemidji. For the dinner, gold candles in ornate candelabra graced the tables. Corresponding with the theme of the program, golden coins were scattered across the tables centered by a three-tiered fruit centerpiece. Favors from the Union State bank marked each place setting.

Legis Lative Letter

from ANDREW SKAAR
STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Governor Rolvaag has called a special legislative session to do a job which the legislature accomplished during the regular session. The bill passed during the regular Session was vetoed by the governor. Reapportionment of the state's legislative districts is required by the 1964 decision of the United States supreme court in its "one man - one vote" decision is a problem that must be resolved by all the states in the Union.

The extra session of the legislature was called to order by Secretary of State Joseph Donovan, at 10 a.m. on Monday, April 25. The first order of business was to elect a speaker and to adopt the permanent rules of the session. Lloyd Duxbury of Caledonia was elected Speaker of the House and Aubrey Dirlam chairman of the rules committee. The chairman of the rules committee is also majority leader. This same leadership served during the 1965 regular session.

The governor requested the legislature to limit the business of the session to reapportionment and related problems. There is a "gentlemen's agreement" between the governor and the leadership of the House and the Senate that the session be limited to reapportionment only.

In the adoption of the rules, both the House and the Senate voted to send all bills to the rules committee. This simply means that if other bills are introduced for political purposes they will be sent to the rules committee and receive no action at this session of the legislature.

The governor put off a decision on calling a special session for 10 months. His call for a special session is occurring just as the farmers are getting ready to go into the fields and businessmen are preparing for their spring and summer business. These two groups comprise about half the legislative membership. This special session could have been held two or three months ago at a time when it would have caused much less inconvenience to most of the legislators.

The governor addressed a joint session of the house and Senate at noon Monday. In his message he called for a short, inexpensive and fruitful session of the legislature. I agree. However, I will not be bulldozed into voting for a bill that will unduly discriminate against the rural areas. I believe that we should respect county lines and keep county units intact as much as possible. The lesser the percentage of deviation between districts, the more difficult it is to keep county units and communities of interest intact.

I am optimistic and hopeful that we can accomplish the task of reapportionment in a very short period of time.

Sollom, Brown to Attend Teachers Political Clinic

The "Sold Out" sign is hung over the registration desk of the political clinic for teachers that will be held Friday through Sunday at the Capp Towers motor hotel in Minneapolis. More than 300 delegates from 22 states plus the District of Columbia have pre-registered for the three-day workshop, during which will be discussed, among other topics, the changing attitudes of teachers regarding their participation in politics.

Among those attending will be Al Sollom of Thief River Falls, chairman of the PR-R committee and Dr. David M. Brown, Goodridge school superintendent, representing the Northern division of the Minnesota Education association.

Other states represented include Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Utah, Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Principal speaker will be Sen. Walter F. Mondale who will discuss "Practical Political Advice to Teachers and Teachers' Associations" at the clinic banquet Saturday. Speaking at the Saturday afternoon program will be George A. Farr, DFL state chairman, and George Thiss, Republican state chairman.

Other scheduled speakers include the keynoter, Theodore Bass, assistant field service executive of the California Teachers' association; Maxine Chapman, Arkansas Teacher and chairman of the sponsoring NEA citizenship committee; and Dr. Irvamae Applegate, dean of the St. Cloud State college education school and NEA president-elect.

Dean Honetschlager, Stillwater high school teacher and chairman of the MEA legislative commission, is clinic coordinator. Besides the NEA citizenship committee, the MEA and its local affiliates in Minneapolis and St. Paul, the clinic is sponsored by the state education associations in the Dakotas and Iowa.

HONORED by faculty members at Lincoln senior high school recently at an after-school reception was Miss Thora Skomedal, English teacher who will retire after this school term. Mrs. Jack Edmiston presided at the coffee service while Mrs. Pat Johnson of the faculty and Supt. M. R. Hankerson looked on. A specially-decorated cake depicted an open book and carried the inscription: "Gladly would I learn, and gladly teach. Good luck, Thora."

Announce Reseal Plans for Three Crops in Storage

Reseal has been announced for three farm-stored grains after 1966 maturity dates, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. The reseal program will enable farmers to continue price-support loans and earn storage payments on 1965 crops of wheat, barley and oats.

In addition, loans on 1964 crops of the three grains and on 1963 crops of wheat now under reseal may be extended for another year. Loans on 1962 crops of wheat and on 1963 crops of barley and oats now under reseal will no be extended.

Under the reseal program, price-support loans on farm-stored grains are extended beyond the maturity date. The loan maturity date for wheat was March 31, and farmers should notify the ASCS county office immediately if they wish to reseal. For barley and oats, loans will mature April 30.

Storage rates will be set later and will be available at the ASCS county office. If a farmer delivers or redeems his resealed grain before the end of the 1966-67 storage period his storage payment will be based on the number of months the grain is in storage. As in the past reseal loans are subject to call by the Commodity Credit corporation at any time.

Current reseal loans on 1962 crops of wheat and on 1963 crops of barley and oats will mature upon demand by CCC, but not later than the end of the 1965-66 storage period for each of the crops. As a normal practice in the reseal operation, the older crops are periodically dropped from the program to lessen the probability of deterioration and put the grain in position from movement into various outlets before loss or deterioration occurs.

Chairman Dahl points out that the reseal program facilitates the holding of stocks of grains on the farm feeding or shipment as demand developes without unnecessary handling or freight charges. It also is important to have some supplies available in such decentralized storage for disaster or defense resasons.

Price Support For 1966 Oats Set at 50 Cents

Price-support rate for 1966-crop oats in Marshall county will be 50 cents per bushel, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. This is the same as the 1965-crop level. County support rates are established on the basis of grade 3 oats.

Participation in the 1956 feed grain program is not a condition of eligibility for price support on oats.

Premiums and discounts which are applied for grade and quality to determine individual producer's support rates are unchanged from the 1965 program. Premiums are one cent per bushel for Grade No. 2 or better, one cent for heavy test weight, and two cents for extra heavy test weight. The discount for badly stained or materially weather No. 4 oats is seven cents per bushel.

For oats grading No. 4 on the factor of test weight only, the discount is three cents per bushel. Discount for garlicky oats is three cents per bushel. Price support for 1966-crop oats will be carried out through loans on oats shared on farms or in elevators, and by purchases.

AMONG the hobby booths entered in the 1966 Boy Scout exposition and hobby show Saturday at the city auditorium was this woodworking display arranged by Donald Lokken of Thief River Falls. A variety of articles made of rare wood, including several types of cactus, were included in the display. A total of 20 hobbyists participated in the exposition.

The chairman explained that operating procedures for loans on farm-stored grains, in use during the past two years, enable farmers to obtain their loans more promptly.

Taxpayer Ass'n. Cites Tax Levies In State's Cities

Total tax levies in 128 Minnesota cities and villages of more than 2,500 population climbed $21.2 million in the last year, pushing their average mill rate to an all-time record high of 266.80 mills, according to Charles P. Stone, executive director of the Minnesota taxpayers association.

Stone, citing a recent bulletin issued by the League of Minnesota Municipalities, said that 55 per cent of the increase is for local school district purposes, 31 per cent for state purposes, 16 per cent for municipal purposes, and 1.4 per cent for miscellaneous levies; county levies are down 3.8 per cent.

"Property taxes payable this year in these 128 cities and village total more than $405 million, an increase of 5.5 per cent over last year," Stone said.

"Taxable property values in these same municipalities increased only 2.3 per cent in this same period.

"Obviously, so long as tax levies increase at more than twice the percentage range of taxable values, individual properties will have to shoulder a contunly heavier burden.

"Owners of residential property in the homestead classification outside of Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, will find their taxes up more than the average because of a 1965 state law which ended the exemption of such property from the state levy for teachers' retirement purposes."

Stone said that property tax bills quite probably will continue to climb until there is legislative action on tax reforms that can relieve the burden on home owners, and encourage industrial and commercial development so that new tax-paying properties can be added to the rolls to share the load."

Students May Get Social Security

A student between 18 and 22 years of age and getting monthly social security benefits under the new student provision may receive benefits during summer vacation months, according to Clifford Kittelson, district manager for social security.

The Social Security administration has sent, or will soon send, a form to each student to complete showing dates of attendance this school year and when he intends to re-enter school again. The school completes one part of the form to verify school attendance.

The student is eligible for benefits during the summer months if he returns to full-time school attendance again within four months.

He will begin to lose benefits in months that he earns over $125 only if his total earnings in 1966 are over $1,500.

Each student should have this form completed and returned promptly, said Kittelson. The Security administration will have to stop benefits when the form is not returned within a reasonable time

Postal Savings Patrons Urged To Buy U.S. Bonds

James M. Roche, volunteer chairman for Pennington County in the U.S. savings bonds program today urged postal savings depositors to consider savings bonds as the ideal place to invest those funds.

President Johnson, late last month, signed legislation ending the postal savings system in the face of declining deposits. No new or additional deposits are to be accepted after April 27. Records of Congressional committees which considered the legislation reflected that deposits had declined from a one-time high in the billions to $303 million in January of 1966. A total of only 825,000 persons had funds on deposit in postal savings the first of this year.

"These funds have been drawing only two per cent interest," Roche said "whereas, due to recent action by the President and the treasury, savings bonds now earn 4.15 per cent, compounded semi-annually, when held to maturity. Savings bonds carry the full backing of the government and owners are protected against loss, theft or mutilation of their bonds.

Harry Stromlund Rites Held Mon. At Strathcona

Harry R. Stromlund, 54, of Greenbush and formerly of the Strathcona community, died Thursday evening at the Greenbush community hospital following a brief illness.

Funeral services for Harry R. Stromlund were held at 2 p.m. Monday at the Gustaf Adolph Lutheran church at Strathcona with the Rev. Duane Nelson officiating. Interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery at Strathcona with Moenzimek Post 88 of the American Legion in charge of Military rites. Funeral arrangements were by the Lorbiecki-Collins Funeral home of Greenbush.

Harry R. Stromlund, the son of Sam and Anna Stromlund, was born Feb. 24, 1912 at Strathcona, where he attended school and grew to manhood. He served with the U. S. Army during Wold War 11 and following his discharge returned to the Strathcona community where he engaged in farming until 1960. For the past six years he had made his home at Greenbush. He never married.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Anna Stromlund, and two brothers, Phillip and Edwin Stromlund, all of Greenbush; three sisters, Mrs. Ingvald (Gladys) Rud Greenbush; Mrs. Doris Johnson, Middle River and Mrs. Ray (Adeline) Johnson of Roseau and several nieces and nephews.

His father and one brother, Walter, preceded him in death.

Services Held For Accident Victim, Jonas Holmstrom

Funeral services for Jonas Holmstrom, 84, a resident of the Strandquist - Newfolden community who was killed Thursday in a pickup-truck collision at Newfolden, were held Monday at 1 p.m. at the Bethesda Lutheran church at Strandquist. The Rev. Harvey Jackson officiated and music was provided by Ellen Renstrom, organist and Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Hogberg. Interment was in the Mamrelund cemetery west of Strandquist. Green Funeral home, Thief River Falls, was in charge of funeral arrangements.

Pallbearers were Elmer Holmstrom, Wally Larson, Donald Holmstrom, Leonard Holmstrom, Alvin Holmstrom and Clifford Dahl.

Jonas Gustaf Holmstrom was born Oct. 8, 1881 in Vesterbotten, Sweden. At the age of six years he immigrated to America with his parents, settling in Wright township, Marshall county. There he grew to manhood and later was engaged in farming. He married Theresa Lindholm in 1908 and she preceded him in death in 1910.

Mr. Holmstrom was an active member of the Mamrelund Lutheran church and served for many years as a member of the Wright township board.

He is survived by nine grandchildren, James Kleinvachter, Sauk Center; Arlette Friedlander, St. Paul; Carol Sommers, El Paso, Texas; Dennis Kleinvachter, Sioux Falls, S. D.; Invaldelle Hoppe, Thief River Falls; Ronald Kleinvachter, St. Paul and Robert and Susan Kleinvachter, both of Thief River Falls; and 13 great grandchildren;

Also two brothers, John Holmstrm and Victor Holmstrom, both of Strandquist; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Ueland of Thief River Falls; Mrs. Clara Dahl of Newfolden and Mrs. Bertha Larson of Strandquist and several nieces and nephews.

In addition to his wife, he was preceded in death by one daughter, Gladys.

Maturity on CCC Loans Explained By ASCS Office

Farmers were reminded today that they should notify the ASCS county office immediately of the option selected under the price - support loan program for wheat.

Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, points out that notices have been sent to all farmers with wheat loans, informing them that the following options are available on loan maturity:

The grower may deliver his grain to the Commodity Credit corporation.

He may redeem his crop by paying off the loan and interest.

He may place his 1965 crop under reseal if the county committee approves.

He may elect to continue his 1964 and 1963 crops under reseal. Continuance of the reseal is subject to an inspection and approval by the county committee. Storage rates for the 1966-67 storage period will be announced later.

The chairman explained that, for a number of years, CCC has followed the policy of freshening stocks of grain stored on farms by dropping the oldest crops from the reseal program each year and adding the most recent crops for which price-support loans mature. While a current appraisal indicates that needs in the months ahead probably can be adequately met without calling on resealed stocks, the loans on crops under reseal may be called at any time that needs dictate such action.

Commodities to be placed or left under a reseal loan will be inspected as soon as possible after the grower indicates that he has elected this choice.

Late-Season Storm Hits Area Tuesday

Winter has not yet loosened its grip on the upper midwest, as is shown by the massive storm system that dropped varying amounts of snow from Montana to northern Minnesota. Hallock, in the water-plagued Red River Valley, received eight inches of snow, Baudette reported six inches and three inches fell at Thief River Falls.

Hazardous driving warnings are in effect this afternoon through tomorrow morning in this area. Plummer Musical Comedy Scheduled Friday, Saturday

Second annual music production by the Plummer high school music department will be presented Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Plummer school gymnasium. "Plenty of Money", a musical comedy by Mel Weiser, is the title of the 1966 production.

The musical opens with a scene at the Saginaw Citizens First National bank where Hubert G. Winthrop (Michael Pahlen), bank president, is speaking to several FBI agents (Gary Arlt, Robert Carlson, Milton Peterson, Robert Wichterman and Dean Hemly). The agents believe counterfeitors are operating in or through the bank. To complicate matters a band of gangsters in Saginaw City get blamed for the bogus bills. Gangsters are played by Chuck Simpson, Darrell Martell, Danny Vigstol and Patrick Wichterman.

Other main characters include Maud Baker (Arlene Malwitz) and her grandson Arnold (Arnold Scheldrup). Arnold has a difficult time trying to keep his job as vice president at the bank, keep up with grandma and also find time to marry his girl friend, Sally Winthrop (Roseanne Moser), the bank president's daughter.

Musical accompaniment for the presentation will be provided by a "pit band" consisting of members selected from the high school band. Admission prices are 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for students and 25 cents for children.

Yard 'n Garden

C. GUSTAV HARD ORRIN C. TURNQUIST
UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

Crabgrass is one of the most noticeable pests in the home lawn. Fortunately there are several chemicals available that can be applied to the turf to achieve almost complete eradication.

Effective weed control begins with good culture. If your turf seems to be thin and can't seem to compete with crabgrass or other weeds, that situation needs to be corrected fast. Bare spots or a thin lawn should be seeded early in the season, well ahead of the application date for crabgrass killers.

Some of the pre-emergent crabgrass chemicals are the arsenates, Dacthal and Zytron. Be sure to read the label carefully on the chemicals, follow the recommended dosages and cover the lawn uniformly. If you leave streaks or fail to turn on the spreader, you will have untreated areas which can be sources of infestation next season. That's why uniform coverage is extremely important.

Gardeners often ask if fertilizer and weed control material may be applied at the same time. The answer is that they can be, but the applications should be separate. In all cases when applying chemicals always follow the manufacturers' recommendations.

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

What's wrong with self-medication? Isn't it allright to take an aspirin when you have a pain Or vitamins? Or something for an upset stomach The answer is --not always.

Too often self-medication is not limited to an asprin for an occasional headache. The use of left-over pills from an old prescription, a "wonder drug" from the corner drug store, or a drug prescribed for someone else is all too common. The Minnesota State Medical association cites several reasons why self-medicaton, except for minor and temporary conditions, is not only illogical, but may be dangerous.

Modern medications are very complicated. Some cause undesirable side effects if not properly used. You and your best friend might react differently to the same drug. In fact your reaction to a drug could vary at different times and under different conditions. Therefore, all but the most simple drugs must be given with care and subject to medical judgment.

Pain is nature's warning system. Recurring symptoms, such as pain or insomnia, might be indications of a more serious ailment. Self-medication may relieve the symptom, but it could also delay discovery of the cause and permit the disease to develop to the danger point.

Furthermore, the same symptoms can arise from different causes. It isn't logical or effective to treat oneself for something when one doesn't know what it is. The pain that results when you smash your thumb with a hammer has a definite cause, but a constantly recurring headache is an entirely different matter.

The state medical association recommends that you use non-prescription drugs, if at all, with great care. If the source of pain or other distress is unknown, or if the ailment does not respond to simple medication or recurrs, consult your doctor. It may be more serious than you think.

Every year thousands of families experience the tragedy of a death from accidental poisoning. The culprits are many. Their hiding places are not so hidden. Many common household items are potential poisons although they are not labeled as such. Aspirin and other medicines, cosmetics, household cleaners and chemicals can all kill if they are not properly used.

The Minnesota State Medical association makes the following suggestions to keep your home safe from accidental poisining:

Keep all medincines and drugs locked away or in a cabinet which is otherwise inaccessible to children.

Don't store shampoos, cosmetics or other products with your medicines. When tired or ill, it would be easy to take the wrong bottle.

Keep medicines for internal use separate from those to be applied externally.

Never put a poison or toxic in a container designed to carry food.

Label everything. Don't depend on your memory, and be sure to read the labels carefully before using any potentially poisonous product.

Keep household and garden chemicals and cleaning products in a place that is inaccessible to children. Young children explore the world around them by mouthing and tasting everything.

Don't tell a child that a flavored aspirin or other medicine is candy. He may consider it as such whenever it is accessible.

Know where the local poison center is and how to get help in case of an emergency.

If you follow these simple suggestions, says the association, your home can be safe from accidental poisoning.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

by Charles B. Fahlberg
Field Representative

Q—What evidence do people get to show they hae signed up for medicare and are eligible for benefits under the medicare program that begins July 1, 1966?

A—People age 65 and over who sign up for Medicare before March 31, will be mailed a small wallet size card showing they are eligible for medicare benefits effective with July 1. Some of these cards have already been mailed out, and the rest of them will be mailed out before July 1.

Q—Does the March 31 deadline for signing up for medicare apply to those people who will become age 65 later this year?

A—No. People becoming 65 years of age in the future have the three month period preceding the month of their 65th birthday to apply for medicare. It will then become effective with the month they are 65. For example, a person who will be 65 in November, 1966, should apply for medicare in August, September oor October of 1966.

Q—Can people age 65 or over, who are receiving public assistance payments from the county come under the medicare program?

A—Yes they can, and without any cost to them. The county will either arrange to pay the $3 a month for them or add $3 a month to their monthly grant to pay for this, depending on the circumstances in the individual case. Welfare recipients age 65 or over who haven't yet applied for medicare should contact their welfare office or a social security representative by March 31.

Prowlers Win 5-0 In Season Opener

Coach Ralph Skay's beleaguered baseball Prowlers, plagued by miserable weather and playing conditions this spring, finally got their 1966 schedule under way on Friday afternoon. Playing on the Riverside Park diamond in Red Lake Falls, the Prowlers, by a 5 to 0 score, defeated coach Mike Hajostek's Eagles, the defending District 31 champions.

If weather conditions permit, the Prowlers will meet the Goodridge Huskies on the fairgrounds diamond here at 7:30 p.m. this evening, Wednesday. According to coach Skay, three hurlers will share the pitching duties against the Huskies. Burly Billy Dicken, a righthander, will get the starting assignment. Then Tommy Tunberg, a sophomore lefty, will be given a few innings work, and Nicky Dres, a sophomore righthander, will "wrap it up".

In Friday afternoon's opener at Red Lake Falls, the three Prowler hurlers--Tommy Cummings, who pitched the first three innings; Jon Looker, who pitched two innings; and Billy Poole, who hurled two innings--allowed but two hits in fashioning the shutout. Both of the Red Lake Falls Safeties were garnered off Poole's righthanded slants in the sixth and seventh innings.

The Prowlers were able to collect five hits off the pitching of the Eagles' Louis Toulouse and Scott Kleven. Wayne Smith, playing at First base in the absence of Keith Hendrickson who was out of the lineup because of illness, hammered out two hits, including a solid double. Tommy Cummings, Duane Morbe and Nicky Drees were the other Prowler bagsmen to enter the hit column.

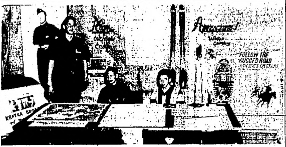
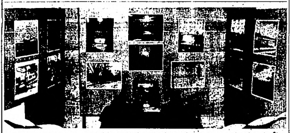
CANADIAN Cub Scouts from Winnipeg, numbering 22 from five groups (packs), added much color to the Boy Scout exposition held Saturday in the city auditorium. They set up a display in a triple booth and periodically demonstrated their games and songs. Leaders were Larry Cohen, Gwen Hobbs, Vic Savage, Mrs. Pat Savage, Robert Hearn, Don Torrance, Miss R. Alberts, Ernest Adolph and Morris Solomon. Also present was Harolds Hobbs, Seven Oaks district commissioner. The booth won a blue ribbon, and Mayor Orin J. Green gave honorary citizenship of Thief River Falls to the Canadian Cubs.



EXPLORERS were represented at the Boy Scout exposition by Post 46 of Thief River Falls, who constructed this booth showing by map and picture some of the routes taken by the Explorers in their expenditions of "High Adventure." On the table are maps of Lake of the Woods, the Quetico-Superior Wilderness Area and the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. At left is a rubber raft used in a float trip on the Red Lake River. Manning the booth are, from left, Douglas Knutson and Burton and Chris Prichard. The booth, which was awarded a yellow ribbon, was unmanned most of the time due to a conflict with an Explorer bowling tournament at which Arlan Larson of Post 46 won the high series with a 565.



COLOR photographs and articles of woodworking displayed by Orville Ellingson at the Boy Scout exposition and hobby show Saturday in the city auditorium was one of three blue ribbon-winning hobby booths. Most attention-getting were several enlarged color slide prints which appeared to be sunset scenes but in which the sun was still high in the sky. Ellington accomplished this effect with a narrow lens aperture setting and a fast exposure time.

Auto Seat Belts Should Be Used At All Times

During the "Buckle Up and Live" phase of Minnesota's Crusade for Safety, many persons are asking the question, "Who should wear a safety belt?" In reply, Minnesota highway department offers the following advice: On - the - job or off - the - job, use automobile safety belts always.

Whether a person is a passenger or the driver, before the car starts, he should always fasten his safety belt snugly.

Too many people still believe that seat belts are necessary only when driving and do not use them when riding in a car as a passenger, the department notes.

With regard to the driver, the safety belt is absolutely necessary if he is to have positive control of his driving at all times. It keeps him in proper position to use the brake or steering wheel effectively in an emergency. It keeps him comfortable on long trips—and protects him on short ones.

How about the passenger in the front seat? Popularly this right side is known as the death seat. More persons die in collisions as a passenger than as a driver since the driver has some support as he holds the wheel; but there is nothing to restrain the passenger from flying through the windshield. Nothing, that is, except a safety belt.

How about the rear seat? A safety belt will prevent ejection and protect passengers from being thrown around the interior of the car, with injuries resulting from forceful contact against hard, unyielding objects.

How about children? All should wear some restraining device because sudden stops are particularly dangerous to them. This restraint will also permit full attention of the driver to his task when alone with a youngster in the car.

How about compact cars? Everyone who occupies a moving car needs them, whether a driver or passenger, wherever he may sit, and no matter what the size or type of automobile. Everyone is safer buckled up in a safety belt, the department concludes.

Nelson, Gunstad In Navy Recruit Training in Calif.

Seaman Recruits Wesley Gaylord Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Nelson of rt. 1, Thief River Falls; and Robert Wayne Gunstad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Gunstad of rt. 1, St. Hilaire, are undergoing seven weeks of basic training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

Under the supervision of veteran Navy petty officers, they are receiving instructions in naval history and organization, customs and courtesies, ordnance and gunnery, seamanship, damage control, first aid, swimming and survival, shipboard drills and sentry duty.

Military drills are emphasized during recruit training, and with various inspections and a planned fitness program, keep the recruits mentally and physically alert.

Upon completion of recruit training, they will be assigned to a school shore station or ship, according to the results of their Navy classification tests, their own desires and the needs of the Navy.

No Panic Button

With only two weeks of the baseball season having passed by it's too early for the Minnesota Twins management to press the panic button. From these early season games, though, it is evident that the American League is in for a hotly-contested pennant race. And it's evident, too, that the Twins are not a solid club defensively. The pitching has been strong, the hitting fair to middling, but the ground coverage by the defense, particularly the infield, has been inadequate.

I've always been a pro-Harman Killebrew fan, admiring his attitude and his all-out efforts, but I will have to admit that he's no Unidentified Flying Object at third base. And the fact that he is at third base places an additional burden on shortstop Zoilo Versalles, for the sore-armed shortfielder knows that he has to increase his range to his right.

And Don Mincher at first base, while he is adequate as a fielder, his right to the bag is based on his hitting. Earl Battey, when physically fit, is one of the top catchers in the league, but the Twins need him, and his bat, in the lineup in every game. And the years appear to be catching up with Battey, unfortunately.

The Twins, when they return to the friendly confines of Met Stadium, will be able to make gains on the league leaders, but whether or not the 1966 Twins are pennant winners is a question. There are many fans around here who have their doubts.

About the only pleasant happening in the American League to date has been the hapless performance of the once-mighty New York Yankees. The Yanks front office must look like a Christmas tree, with all the executives pressing panic buttons! And while the local Yankee contingent—Bob Carlson, Red Hoppe, Russ Embury, Shorty Perkins, Garf Benson, and the others, including Plummer's Bill Malwitz—are taking these Yankee losses with a smile, it's a smile that's pretty sour. Break up the Yankees! Well, old age has apparently caught up with a number of the "name" players, and that has been the evener.

Coaching Changes

In addition to the resignation of Prowler football and tennis coach Bill Herzog, to accept a position in the Stillwater school system, and the resignation of Gerry Westby, Prowler assistant hockey coach and assistant football coach, to take over the varsity hockey coaching at East Grand Forks Central, there are some other changes in the area.

From a usually reliable source I have learned that Phil Beving the football coach of the Plummer Cardinals has signed a contract and will join the Wahpeton, N. D., high school faculty. And speaking of Wahpeton, it is rumered that Howie Emerson, head football coach of the Warren Ponies for the past several years, and who directed the Ponies to the Pine - to - Prairie conference title last fall, is to be athletic director at the North Dakota school.

On the subject of the Warren Ponies, there is considerable speculation as to where the Ponies' four-sport star, Peter Gilbert, will be getting his college education. Peter, who has been a bulwark on Warren football, basketball, baseball and track squads, and an able student, is eligible for scholarships. I know that the University of North Dakota officials are hopeful of getting Gilbert. And Minnesota, too, has expressed an interest in his football prowess.

Missed the Opener

For more years than I care to recall, I was forced to miss a Prowler baseball opener. Coach Ralph Skay's Prowlers opened their 1966 season on Friday afternoon, playing Red Lake Falls at Red Lake Falls, but on that date I was in hospital having a short bout with a pneumonia bug.

Following the directions as prescribed by my doctor and administered by the personnel of Northwestern hospital, I gained the decision and I'll perhaps to able to see coach Skay's chargers in their next outing.

Incidentally, I don't know where I made my connectons with the pneumonia bug; but I ams sure that watching all those lefthanded bowlers at the Family Bow lanes on Thursday night wasn't of any benefit. On alleys three and four the Mobil Leftys—Clyde Shumway, George Groslie, Audrey Johnson, Arnold Kelley and Farrell Harris, southpaws all—were bowling against the Ekeren Pharmacy. On the Pharmacy squad are such bona fide lefthanders as Nicky Carlson, Bob Craik and Art Langseth, who, although he bowls, bit tosses, the ball righthanded, has strong southpaw tendencies. The meeting between those two squads made quite a match.

Air Pollution Is Study Topic for TB Convention

Public concern over the harmful effects of air pollution upon human health is spurring substantially increased efforts to deal promptly and fully with this problem, according to Dr. Harry Heimann, who will address the joint meeting of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association and the Minnesota Thoracic society, Friday, May 6, in Minneapolis.

Dr. Heimann, senior-research associate Harvard university school of public health, Boston, Mass., and former administrator and researcher in the U. S. Public Health service's air pollution division, will speak on air pollution and what is being done about it.

Dr. David T. Carr, Mayo clinic, Rochester, will discuss the need for the Christmas Seal association to become increasingly involved in controlling respiratory diseases other than tuberculosis. Statistics show that tuberculosis cases and deaths have dropped drastically during the last 50 years, while other respiratory diseases such as chronic bronchitis, lung cancer and emphysema are increasing.

Dr. James Lillehei, University of Minnesota medical school, will tell what is being done in pulmonary disease education at the medical school. Dr. Edward L. Sterm, St. Paul, will speak on problems of treating and rehabilitating the asthmatic child.

Representatives of the state and local tuberculosis and health associations will report on what has been accomplished during the past year and what is planned for the coming year. Election of officers, executive board and members-at-large will precede general sessions.

Banquet Tonight For Trap Club

Annual banquet and awards program of the Thief River Falls Trap club will be held tonight (Wednesday) at the Thief River Golf club. Social hour will be held from 6 to 7 p.m. and dinner will be served at 7 p.m. The awards program and presentation of trophies will follow the meal. All club members are invited to attend.

May 2 Deadline For Tax Filing

Minnesota employers have an important tax deadline on Monday, May 2, according to George O. Lethert, district director of internal revenue.

That is the due date for reporting income taxes withheld and social security taxes deducted from wages paid during the calendar quarter ending March 31.

"We urge employers to use the preaddressed Form 941 for reporting this liability," Lethert said. "The business returns are processed electronically, and the use of these forms will assist in this processing."

Employees who receive tip income will be reporting their additional earnings for the January-March period for social security wage credits on this return for the first time, Lethert indicated. Liability attaches only where the tip income amounts to $20 or more during the months of January, February and March.

A "treefarm" is an area of privately-owned land dedicated to continuing growth of forest crops for man's use. To become eligible for tree farm recognition, a landowner must have demonstrated an outstanding ability in the management of his woodland.

Employment Increase Noted in Minnesota

A 6.6 per cent employment increase in manufacturing industries, amounting to 16,300 jobs, was the largest factor boosting the level of nonagricultural employment in Minnesota in March to 1,071,000, which was 50,000 jobs above the comparable level of a year ago.

At the same time unemployment in the state last month was estimated at 63,100, which was 11,800 less than a year ago. The 4.2 per cent of the work force unemployed last month was the lowest March rate since 1948; and the actual number unemployed was the lowest since 1952.

This information was contained in "Minnesota Employment Trends a manpower analysis released Saturday by the Minnesota department of employment security.

Commissioner Robert J. Brown said that manufacturing employment last month climbed 2,800 from February the second highest February - to - March gain in the past 20 years.

Over - the - year gains in manufacturing were concentrated heavily in fabricated metals (1,400) nonelectric machinery (5,300), and electrical machinery (3,300), which between them accounted for better than 10,000 of the 12,900 job gain in durable goods firms. Employment in firms producing nondurable goods increased by 3,400 over the year, Brown said.

Contributing to nonmanufacturing job increases since a year ago were construction (12.4 per cent), mining and quarrying (3.8 per cent transportation (2.9 per cent), public utilities (4 per cent), trade (3.6 per cent), service industries (3.6 per cent) and government (5.5 per cent).

The gain of 1,600 in government employment between February and March was almost entirely in local government, with federal government employment up 100 and state government employment showing no change. Approximately half of the local government increases resulted from more youth being employed on Neighborhood Youth Corps projects.

Brown said that if present trends continue as expected, the unemployment rate for Minnesota will average about 3.2 per cent for 1966. The lowest rate is expected in October, predicted for 2 per cent.

Brown reported that manufacturing production workers were paid an average of $116.01 per week in March, for an average of 41.6 hours of work at $2.79 per hour. All of these figures were up slightly from February when the averages were $114.31 per week, for 41.2 hours of work at $2.77 per hour. A year ago the corresponding data were $111.20, 40.9 and $2.72.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS: The annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, and organization chartered by the Congress, has been officially recognized and endorsed by the President of the United States and the Veterans Administration; and

WHEREAS: The proceeds of this worthy fund-raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans; and

WHEREAS: The basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the Veterans of Foreign Wars is eloquently reflected in the desire to "Honor The Dead By Helping The Living," therefore,

I, Orin Green, Mayor of the City of Thief River Falls, do hereby recognize the patriotic merits of this cause by urging the citizens of these community to contribute generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies, on the days set aside for the distribution of these symbols of loyalty in this city. I urge all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked their lives in defense of the freedoms which we continue to enjoy as American citizens.

Signed Orin Green

Adapted Fruit Varieties Only Should Be Planted

Not all fruits will do well in Minnesota, cautions Neil Miles, extension horticulturist at the University of Minnesota. For example, cultivated blueberries and blackberries, peaches and sweet cherries are not reommended for planting in this state because they are not winter hardy. Climbing strawberries are also a poor investment.

In recent years, interest in growing cultivated blueberries has increased considerably. But with Minnesota's severe winters, growing cultivated blueberries and blackberries cannot be recommended unless you are willing to give plants the necessary winter protection, Miles says. Even native Minnesota blueberries often kill back to the snow line.

Nevertheless, the number of fruits Minnesotans can grow is increasing, thanks to the efforts of University of Minnesota horticulturists in testing and developing adapted varieties. As a result of their fruit breeding projects, the first apricots were introduced to Minnesota several years ago. University horticulturists developed the hybrids Moongold and Sungold specifically for the Minnesota climate by combining some of the desirable characteristics of cultivated apricots, grown successfully only in more temperate regions, with some of the tree hardiness of the wild Manchurian species.

Among other fruits developed by the university that are suitable for backyard growing, Miles lists these apples--Oriole, Beacon, Haralson, Fireside, Regent; crabapples--Centennia, Chestnut; pears --Parker; hybrid plums—Redglow, Superior; cherry plums--Deep Purple; pie cherries--Northstar, Meteor; gooseberries--Welcome; red currants - Red Lake; raspberries—Latham, Itasca; strawberries -- Trumpeter; grapes Bluejay and Red Amber.

Minnesotans who would like to start a fruit planting this year will find helpful a University Agricultural Extension service publicaton, "Fruits for Minnesota, 1966", horticulture fact sheet number 3. This publication lists nearly a hundred varieties of fruit recommended for Minnesota, along with the areas of the state where they are adapted. Copies of the fact sheet are available free from Bulletin Room, Institute of Agriculture, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn. 55101, or from county extension offices.

Safety Restraints Recommended for Children in Cars

Protection of children in the family car should be a principal concern of parents, but apparently this is not the case, says safety education officer Obert Lillo of the Minnesota highway patrol.

About the most important device for protecting children in case the car is involved in a collision, or even in case of an emergency stop, is the safety belt or other safety restraining device, he said. But the majority of children just don't have the protection of these devices.

Children are the most vulnerable in a traffic collision, he pointed out. Even at speeds as low as 15 miles per hour, a child without a safety restraint can get killed in a collision. Also, too frequently young children riding in a car standing on the seats, in the best of all positions to go flying into or through the windshield should the car either collide with an object or stop suddenly.

In fact, he said, it would be worthwhile to have children wear safety belts or harnesses just to keep them from flying about in case of an emergency stop.

Safety restraints provide a high degree of protection from collision injuries, but there is a right type for the different age groups.

Infants should be placed in well-padded bassinets; and children from six months to three years should have protective harnesses; and those from three to six years should have either the harness or the adult-type safety belt. For children wearing the safety belt, a firm, cushion-type auxiliary seat may be used to give proper length for the belt and to permit the child to see out the window.

Parents have the obligation to protect the child from injury when traveling in the car, and the safety belt or harness is one of the best ways to provide that protection Officer Lillo said.

Ask Motorists to Watch For Road Crews at Work

Highway maintenance crews are presently out on the roadways repairing damages caused by spring thawing, warns the maintenance section of the Minnesota highway department.

Motorists are asked to be particularly watchful for these crews since reduced speed is required when approaching repair areas. Drivers are advised to look for the blaze orange vests of the flagmen who will be directing traffic at these locations and to obey their instructions.

Additional crews will be out picking up roadside litter as well, and these persons may not be guarded by flagmen as they will be spread out over long distances along trunk highway right of way. All are asked to keep an eye out for these crews cleaning up the litter left by motorists.

SOCIAL SECURITY Questions and Answers

by Charles B. Fahlberg
Field Representative

How much of a working man's social security taxes will be used to pay for Medicare?

A—The most any one working person can pay for Medicare out of his social security taxes in 1966 is $23.10. This is for the hospital insurance portion of Medicare and will be paid by a person who earns $6,600 or more this year. A person earning $4,000 would only pay social security tax of $14 in 1966 for this hospital insurance for people age 65 and over. The doctor bill insurance part of Medicare is paid for by $3 premiums from those who sign up for it together with a matching $3 from general U. S. Treasury funds.

Q—Will some people over the age of 72 soon be able to receive social security payments even though they've never worked under social security?

A—Yes, some people who are age 72 now or will be 72 before 1968 will be eligible to receive monthly social security checks even though they've never worked under social security. The first payments under this new provision will begin in October of 1966. People who are 72 now or will be by October can apply for these benefits anytime after July 1. Payments to a single person will be $35 per month. A husband and wife, both over 72, would receive a total of $52.50 per month. The cost of making these payments will be met from the general funds of the Treasury and not met from social security taxes.

Q- Has the deadline for signing up for Medicare been extended?

A--Yes, people over the age of 65 now have until May 31 to apply for Medicare coverage which will begin July 1.

Now you can use credit cards for parking fines, according to AAA. In New Albany, motorists can post a deposit of $5, for which they get a window sticker that notifies police to put a nickel in the parking meter if a violaton is showing. But the motorist can be fined up to $25 if he overdraws his account.

"Often one must forget what he happens to wish before he can become susceptible to what the situation itself requires . . . . This transition is one of the great moments in many genuine thought processes . . . . real thinkers forget about themselves in thinking." —Max Wertheimer

Package Quality?

An interesting question is raised by the East Grand Forks Record in regard to the proposed "truth in packaging" law being pushed by the federal administration. The editorial follows:

"A lump of coal and a diamond have the same basic ingredient—carbon; yet we Americans do not hesitate to invest hundreds or thousands in the diamond. And usually we make such a purchase on the basis of our respect for the integrity of the dealer. We don't look for labels or judge by the size of the jewel box.

"Similarly, it takes more than just standardized labels or packaging to make sure that the housewife gets the best buy for her money. Buying wisely, after all, involves more than pounds or ounces per dollar; it involves quality, something that even the Federal government (at the present time) is not proposing to standardize.

"The proposed Hart packaging bill would standardize dimensions of weight, composition, etc., on the label. It does not supply that intangible measure of quality and taste so important to the consumer.

"Isn't it just possible that the store you patronize offers the best products at the lowest prices, commensurate with the quality you desire? Competition at the marketplace demands it. Forced changes in packaging, which contribute nothing to the contents' value, will feed the fires of inflation in the food you buy."

Congressional Pay

The following editorial comes from the Grand Rapids Herald Review:

Is $30,000 a year enough pay for a United States Senator? Apparently it isn't enough to satisfy most Congressmen who depend upon speechmaking, writing, legal fees, gifts, personal resources or other sources of funds to keep them in the social swim in Washington.

Part of the problem is that the expenses the government pays does not include enough travel back to home districts. Nor do expense allowances cover the costs of entertaining constituents who sometimes expect at least a lunch when they visit the nation's capitol. And, of course, there are no government payments to cover the cost of political campaigns.

Some Senators say that by careful living, they can get by on their salaries, assuming that election campaign funds are provided from other sources. Others feel that in order to maintain the social positions they consider necessary to be most effective as a Senator, it is essential to obtain substantial amounts to supplement their salaries.

Senator Thomas Dodd, Democrat from Connecticut, is being attacked by columnist Drew Pearson for some of his money-raising efforts. It now appears that Dodd raised more than $100,000 in two dinners in 1961 and 1963 which he viewed as "personal gifts" to be used as he saw fit without payment of income taxes. Pearson charges that in raising these funds those for whom Dodd had done favors were systematically solicited. It is also charged that many donors felt they were contributing to campaign funds instead of personal funds.

While the public should be disturbed about the large personal fund-raising of Senator Dodd, there should be more concern over the situation in Washington which makes apparently well-paid Congressmen seek additional money from other sources. How can the general public interest compete with special interests who are willing to pay generously for the assistance of a Congressman?

We do not say that a member of Congress, or other government official, should not have income beyond his government pay. But he should be required to disclose the sources of that income, so that his colleagues and his constituents will know whether he is receiving support from sources which they might not like. And if careful study indicates pay is too low, it should be increased.

Another part of the problem is to provide some legal, ethical and effective method of raising political funds within reasonable limits. Present antiquated laws restrict the campaign expenditures of a candidate for the U. S. Senate to $25,000, and for the House of Representatives to $10,000. To get around these limits, many candidates have a number of "volunteer" committees which receive and pay out large sums without effective supervision. One Representative from New York had 34 such committees in 1964.

People generally should contribute to the campaign funds of candidates and parties they wish to encourage. But the amount to be given by any one person to a candidate should be limited. And there should be a public accounting for funds received and spent. Political contributions should be deductible in computing federal income taxes to a reasonable extent. Thus it should be possible to gradually reach a situation where candidates for Congress would obtain most of their campaign funds from large numbers of modest contributors rather than from a comparatively small number of large contributors.

Most of the efforts of a U. S. Senator or Representative should be devoted to seeking the best interests of the Nation and of representing the general concerns of the people of the area he represents. Today there is basis for belief that too many Congressmen must devote too much time and thought to satisfying the special interests of people and groups who provide them with funds for election and other expenses.

There are many members of Congress who are completely ethical in the conduct of their offices and their financial affairs. It is too bad that the actions of some Congressmen bring them all into question. It is high time Congress come to grips with the problem of pay, expenses, campaign funds and ethics so that confidence in the integrity of Congress can be restored.

A Successful Event

Sponsored by the agriculture committee of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, the first Farmer-Merchant Mixer in Thief River Falls Monday evening must be considered a successful event. Committee members were elated at the response with more than 150 farmers attending the session.

It must be generally agreed that there can be no better path to understanding than that which leads through friendly and frank discussion. With no business on the program Monday evening—and a welcome and response can scarcely be termed as business—there was ample opportunity for farmers and members of the local business fraternity to discuss diverse and mutual problems.

We believe that a word of special commendation is in order to Vernon Nelson, agriculture committee chairman, and his committee for arranging and completing the project. In view of the large turn-out of farmers and the many favorable comments received, it is highly probable that the mixer will be staged again next year. It would be excellent if the mixer becomes an annual event.

Too often the various segments of business in the rural community go their different ways, reluctant to admit their dependency on one another. Such should not be the case, for each of us is dependent on the other to some degree, and what benefits one person also is of benefit to the others.

Chamber of Commerce president Donovan Narverud included farmers when he welcomed all "businessmen to the mixer. It was an appropriate word choice, for a farmer must be a businessman in order to be a successful farmer.

There should be a mutual kinship between the business man on the street and the businessman in the field. All of us are in business to provide for our families, educate our children, gain satisfaction from living and provide for our later years. It really doesn't make any difference if we are pushing a pencil or pulling a plow—we must pull together to push our community.

Getting together is a big step toward working together. That is why we term the Farmer-Merchant Mixer an unqualified success.

Keep It Up, Congress

Congress' appropriations committee has acted on several items of concern to all the nation's citizens. It has retained the school milk and lunch programs, along with other agricultudal programs, while cutting back nonessential programs.

In discussing the action, Congressman Odin Langen notes the following:

"This puts the administration on notice that many in the Congress are not willing to sacrifice established and proven programs to finance new and untried spending schemes. It's an indication that we're going to put priorities on spending for the greatest good of the people."

Items included for restoration are the school milk and school lunch programs, agricultural resreach projects, experiments stations, conservation programs, soil and water planning and development, Land Grand college funds, extension service funds and meat and poultry inspection programs.

"The committee support of these programs recognizes that our achievements in agriculture rank with America's finest," Langen said. "The school milk and lunch programs reflect the Congressional concern for the health of all of our children, not just a few. The restoration of funds for all of our present experimental station and individual resreach projects recognizes the importance of such projects at the moment when world attention is being increasingly directed to a world food crisis.

"The money for the meat and poultry inspection programs guarantees continuing health protection to all Americans. The research in the fields of plant and animal diseases and pest control will enable areas of the nation such as Minnesota and the Midwest to control diseases in cattle and produce better grades of poultry, wheat, flax, sugar, soybeans and other commodities to guarantee an ample supply of high-quality foods for the nation."

State Costs Rising

State costs are on the financial escalator in a seemingly endless ride. The recent report by Stafford King, state auditor, as reported by Minnesota News Features, indicates the scope of spending.

"Cost of running the Minnesota state government mounted again during March, running $1,600,000 higher than the same month a year ago and $3,300,000 over March of 1964, according to the month report of State Auditor Stafford King.

"Operating costs for the month just ended totaled $22 million. For March, 1965, the figure was $20,400,000, and for the same month in 1964, $18,700,000.

"Bulk of the increases were in state employees' salaries. They were paid $13,200,000 for this March, an increase of $800,000 over those a year ago — $12,400,000 — and $2,800,000 over the March, 1964, salaries, which were $10,400,000.

"Acquisition of property, mostly land for highways, totaled $7,027,000 this March against $6,172,000 last year.

"Tax collections for March this year hit $86,786,000, a jump of $7,700,000 over the $79,065,000 collected March, 1965."

What to do about annoying sales calls

We've heard complaints from telephone customers about unwelcome and "pushy" telephone sales calls they've received at home.

People have said (1) there are too many of these calls, and (2) callers are often inconsiderate or offensive.

Telephone selling can serve a useful purpose in many instances. But we are concerned about those cases in which misuse causes annoyance to our customers.

We are trying to do something about "pushy" or offensive calls. We're pointing out to telephone canvassers that an offended or angry person isn't likely to buy anything. We're urging businessmen to call only bona fide prospects, not pick names at random ...to call at times convenient to you, avoiding mealtimes, early morning, etc. And we're suggesting that they identify themselves quickly and honestly, avoiding disguised or indirect approaches.

What Can You Do? The best remedy for the caller who won't accept your polite "no" is for you simply to hang up. You won't have to listen to his message, and he will surely get yours.

CHINCHILLAS

Demand for high quality chinchilla furs have exceeded all expectations. Our top pelts have sold for over $50 each.

You should investigate this new money making hobby or full time business. Safer than most crops as your investment is housed under cover from nature's destructive forces.

This year again because of lack of space, due to heavy production we have some very fine animals for sale. We are now using a Grand Show Champion and several other nationally known blood line males.

You are welcome to visit our ranch.

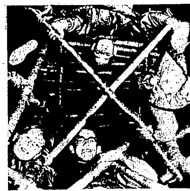
THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES
Volume Number Fifty-five — Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota — Wednesday, April 27, 1966 — Number Thirty-four



VIEW from the bottom of the lashed tower made by Scouts of Troop 57, Thief River Falls, during the Boy Scout exposition Saturday was photographed shortly after completion of the job. In various positions on the tower are Troop 57 Scouts (those on top of the platform are not visible except for one overhanging foot). At right is Leslie Matts, a local adult Scouter, who took up towerclimbing temporarily. Unlike some lashed equipment seen at expositions, this sturdy structure was made without the aid of nails. The troop won a red ribbon for its booth, arranged under the theme of "Pioneering."

Answer Questions On New Withholding Tax

These questions and answers on federal tax are provided by the office of the district director of Internal revenue, St. Paul.

Questions about the new income tax withholding system which becomes effective May 1 are answered below.

Q What will the new income tax withholding rates do to my take home pay?

A. Generally speaking, the new system will increase take home pay for those who have been overwithheld and reduce take home pay for those who have been underwithheld.

To find out the effect on your paycheck, ask your employer or the local IRS office for a copy of IRS Document 5642. Tables in this one-page fact sheet will enable you to compare the amounts withheld under both the new and the old system.

Q Who has to file a new withholding exemption certificate?

A. All married people must file a new Form W-4 if they want tax withheld at the rates from the table for married persons instead of table for single persons. The law says that unless an employee files a new W-4 withholding form with his employer indicating he is married, he will be considered single for tax withholding purposes.

Some widows and widowers also will be concerned with filing a new From W-4, and should see IRS Document 5642 for details.

Actually, all employees should review their withholding situation to see whether another W-4 should be filed.

Q How many different withholding rates are there under the new law?

A—There are now six rates ranging from 14 per cent to 30 per cent. They are included in two tables—one for single persons and one for married persons.

Q-I am married and my wife works, Can we each take advantage of the rates for married couples on our withholding?

A—Yes. owever, you may not claim your wife's exemption if she is taking it herself on her job.

Q. Can I still claim fewer exemptions than I am entitled to under the new withholding system?

A—Yes, you can still claim fewer exemptions than you are entitled to, but the graduated withholding rates are designed to bring withholding closer to actual tax liability and it may not be necessary for you to drop any of your exemptions.

Q- The new withholding system is going to give the government more revenue. Isn't that a tax increase?

A. No. The graduated withholding rates will only speed up collections, they will not change total yearly tax liabilities. The government will only be getting the amount of taxes it is entitled to at present rates but it will be getting it sooner.

Q. With the higher rates not enough will be withheld from my salary. Can I still have additional amounts taken out?

A—Yes. You can claim fewer exemptions for withholding purposes than you are entitled to claim or ask to have additional amounts withheld. Arrangements for this may be made with your employer, as they have been in the past.

Q—Can widows and widowers be considered married for withholding purposes?

A—For payroll purposes a widow or windower is considered married for the year of the spouse's death and for the two following years if he qualifies as a surviving spouse. Widowers or widows should claim their exemptions on line 2 of Form W-4. This is the line for married persons.

Q-I'm self-employed. Will the new withholding rates have any effect on me?

A—No. The rates will affect only those who receive wages subject to withholding. You will be required however, to include self-employment taxes in your Declaration of Estimated Tax, beginning Jan. 1, 1967.

Q—When will the new withholding rates be showing up in paychecks?

A—The law says they take effect for the first payment made by employers to their employees after April 30. Graduated withholding will thus be reflected in paychecks received on and after May 1.

Bike Accidents Can Be Stopped By Obeying Rules

More than half of all bicycle accidents occur during spring and the vacation months of June, July and August. Four out of five of those accidents involve violation of the rules of the road, according to the department of informatoin and agricultural journalism at the University of Minnesota.

Before youngsters take td the street or highway, parents should teach them basic traffic rules, states Charles Will, Pennington county agent. Reminding children to ride bikes carefully, courteously and thoughtfully will help to reduce possible bike accidents.

Many Minnesota 4-H club stress bicycle safety in their programs. The 10 4-H clubs in Minnesota cited for their outstanding work in the safety project emphasized bicycle safety during club meetings, in discussion groups and through poster safety. The seven 4-H'ers who attended National Safety congress participated in reflectorizing bikes for their local safety activity.

Here are some rules for bicycle riders:

Be sure your bike has adequate reflective tape and lights when riding at night. Wear light-colored clothes. Reflectors on the back of the bike should be seen from 300 feet and lights on the front of the bike from 500 feet.

Keep your bike in good repair.

Know the traffic rules and observe them at all times. When crossing a busy section, walk your bike. Do not ride on the sidewalks.

Use the proper hand signals at all times. Observe all traffic signs and signals.

Use care when passing other riders or standing vehicles.

Keep two hands on the handlebars. Clowing on a bike is dangerous to yourself and others. Use carriers or baskets for books and packages.

Do not hitch rides on cars and trucks. Your own pedal-power is safer.

Be alert.

Stay on the right side of the road.

Be courteous, cautious and keep bicycle under control at all times.

MINIATURE camping scene, showing a summer campsite at left and a winter camp at right, was constructed in this double booth by Scouts of Troop 59, of Zion Lutheran church. The display is part of the Boy Scout exposition held Saturday in the city auditorium. The lake in the center contained several live minnows. One adult Scouter reportedly tried his luck at fishing in the lake, but got "skunked." This booth won a red ribbon for the troop.

LATHE woodworking was the hobby displayed by Frank Kushinsky of Hallock at the Boy Scout exposition held Saturday at the city auditorium. Kushinsky had the distinction of being the only hobbyist from out of the Thief River Falls area to occupy a booth at the exposition.

Graduated Income Tax Withholding To Aid Taxpayers

New graduated income tax withholding system which is effective on May 1 will help many taxpayers who have owed federal taxes in filing their returns, according to George O. Lethert, district director of Internal Revenue.

"At the present time, the withholding rate for all employes, regardless of their income level, is a flat 14 per cent," Lethert said. "Single taxpayers whose earnings are $4,000 or more find the tax rate is 22 per cent; married taxpayers pay 19 per cent on this income. The new withholding rates range from a low of 14 per cent to a high of 30 per cent. More money will be withheld from paychecks each pay day, which will lessen the amount owing at filing time."

Lethert emphasized that income taxes have not been increased, but that the new system will result in tax withholding being closer to their actual tax liability. Under the new system, many taxpayers who had too much tax withheld will find their withholding reduced under the graduated rates, which will bring them closer to their final liability.

Before May 1, Lethert indicated, all married individuals should file a new Form W-4 indicating their status. The amount of tax withheld will depend in part on marital status, and to secure lower withholding, these taxpayers should file a new withholding exemption certificate.

Two Newfolden Men Enrolled at Crookston College

The office of admissions and records at the newly established University of Minnesota technical institute at Crookston announces the acceptances of the applications for admittance of Keith Myhrer and Rodger Anderson, both of Newfolden. They will be members of the first freshman class and will begin their studies at the institute this fall.

The technical institute, which will be located at the University's Northwest school of agriculture, will offer majors in various programs in business and agriculture. These programs will be two-year terminal educational programs and will offer an Associate Degree. A general education course of study will be offered to supplement the technical education.

Along with the development of the various academic programs, a full program of extra-curricular activities will be launched as well as the establishment of various student organizations and fraternities.

More information about the new technical college at Crookston may be had by writing: Office of Admissions, University of Minnesota Technical Institute, Crookston, Minnesota.

The Family That Prays Together...

Slogans have their place. But no slogan can really express the value of worship for a Christian family.

That those who pray together generally stay together is simply a statistical fact derived from someone's study of divorce and delinquency records.

What is important to the millions of American families who will attend church next Sunday is the spiritual foundation upon which they have chosen to build life. They are finding a way to meet and overcome the obstacles that so often frustrate the self-sufficient. They are seeking truth that endures.

Religion is not a gimmick that automatically insures happy marriage, well-behaved children or social well-being. But the family that prays together ultimately learns from God Himself the meaning of love, understanding and sacrifice. And these affect our homes . . . and our world.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mrs. Albert Aaknes, Trail

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Asselin of Brooks were brief callers at the Albert Aaknes home on Wednesday afternoon. The Asselins were on the way to South Milwaukee, Wis. to visit with their daughter and son, the Glen Aaknes's and with Kenny Asselin and with other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Harold Repulshe of Bemidji was a caller at the Paul Grover home on Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Aaknes, Paulette were visitors at the Lewie Hruby home at Thief River Falls on Sunday afternoon.

Funeral Rites Held For Vernon Halvorson

Funeral services with military rites were held on Thursday April 21st at the Sand Valley Lutheran church in Trail for Vernon Halvorson who died unexpectedly at Crosby, N. D. Saturday.

The Rev. Earl Martell of Gully officiated and the Carlin Funeral home was in charge of arrangements. The Trail VFW post conducted the military service.

Vernon Halvorson was born June 20, 1922 of parents Carl and Gunda Halvorson in Hill River township, Polk county. He was baptized in McIntosh and confirmed in the Sand Valley Lutheran church of Trail.

He entered the U. S. air force in Oct 1942 and served 28 months overseas duty, mostly in England.

Mr. Halvorson passed away unexpectedly. on April 16, 1966, at Crosby, N. D. where he was employed. He was 43 years old. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Gunda Halvorson of Trail, a sister, Mrs. John Evje of Fosston and two brothers Dennis of Trail and Wayne of Fosston, also a number of nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his father Carl Halvorson.

Those that came to wish Mrs. Norman Strand a happy birthday and have birthday cake with her were Mrs. Lloyd Erickson, Mrs. Elmer Jallem, Mrs. Agnes Humrey, Mrs. Jon Moy, Mrs. David Lillegard, Paulette Aaknes, Donovan Moy, on Friday afternoon.

The annual spring circuit meeting for the Northern Minnesota District of the Evangelical Lutheran May 1st at the Fosston Elementary school gym. The meeting will begin at 3 p.m. and the ladies of Rev. David Lillegard's Parish will serve dinner, beginning at 5:30 p.m. The guest speaker will be the Rev. Arnold Kuster of Madison, Wis. His topic will be "Lutheran Alive". The main object of his presentation will be to show confessional Lutherans how they can carry out an effective program of bringing the clear gospel message to the world. Pastor Kuster is noted for his interest in his area, and has often spoken before many different groups. Everyone is welcome and invited to attend this meeting.

Art Handy arrived here to spend two months before returning to Collins, Mont. where he has made his home for several years. In June he and Mrs. Handy will return to their farm home here to live.

Mrs. Christine Kolling returned home after spending a few days with her daughter Mrs. Miles Aakhus of Rochester. Mrs. Aakhus is a patient at St. Mary's hospital at Rochester. We wish her a speedy recovery. Mrs. Aakhus was formerly Dorothy Kolling.

The trail VFW held their annual meeting. The following officers were elected: Commander Oscar Flateland, Sr. Vice commander, Kenneth Hendrickson and Quartermaster Leonard Schmit.

THEME of the recent Future Farmers of America Week, "Agriculture Is More Than Farming," will be continued throughout the year with the help of the state departments of agriculture and conservation. Pictured at left is Russel Schwandt, state commissioner of agriculture, holding a carton of milk to portray the career opportunities in the state's dairy industry. At right is Wayne Olson, state commissioner of conservation, holding a mallard duck depicting the wild mallard program carried out by the FFA in cooperation with the conservation department and the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. State FFA President Errol Olson of Parkers Prairie is shown in the center.

Post-Filing Questions Are Answered by IRS

These questions most frequently asked by taxpayers on federal income tax matters with authoritative answers are provided by the office of the district director of Internal revenue, St. Paul.

Q - I filed my return on April 15. How long will my refund take?

A You should receive your refund in approximately eight weeks if your return is complete and accurate, and is not selected for audit examination before the refund is issued.

Q When do the new income tax withholding rates go into effect?

A Graduated withholding at rates from 14 per cent to 30 per cent will apply to salary and wage payments made by your employer on and after May 1. Married persons must file a new Form W-4 to obtain correct withholding under the new system. Single persons can help assure correct withholding on their wages by filing a new Form W-4 also.

Q—After filing my 1965 tax return, I discovered some deductions I was entitled to claim, but overlooked. Is there anything I can do about this oversight?

A - Yes. You may file an amended return for 1965. Take another Form 1040 for 1965 and mark it "amended return" on the top. Fill it in completely, showing all required information, as well as the omitted deductions. The "amended return" should be filed as soon as possible, although you have three years from the due date to file a claim.

Q One of the schedules prepared for my tax return was not attached. What should I do?

A Wait until you are contacted by our office. You will be requested to furnish any schedule or other information necessary to complete the processing of your return.

Q I get income from tips but some of this is paid to busboys who help with my tables. What amount should I report to my employer?

A You should report only the amount of tip income you keep. This should be reported monthly to your employer if it is $20 or more. Form 4070, "Employee's Report on Tips," should be used for these reports. Copies of this form are available at local Revenue Service offices.

Q - My neighbor filed his tax return 10 days later than I did, yet he has received his refund already. Why is my refund check being held up?

A - Your return may have been incomplete-lacking a Social Security number, Forms W-2, or your signature, and is in the process of being perfected. Some returns also are audited before the refund is issued, and your return may have been selected for prerefund examination. You should receive your refund check, or a letter about it, within eight weeks after you filed.

Q - I find that I failed to report some interest income I received in 1965. Should I report it on this year's return in 1967?

A - You should file an "Amended return" of Form 1040 and pay any additional tax owing as soon as possible. The "amended return" should contain all the information called for, and you should recompute your tax, and pay the difference. Interest is added to all deficiencies at the rate of 6 per cent per annum. This income should not be reported for 1966, because it was earned by you in 1965.

Q. I filed my return on time, but couldn't pay the additional tax owing. What Shall I do?

A - You will receive a billing from the Revenue Service. If you cannot pay at that time, you will be contacted by a Revenue Officer with whom you can discuss a specific payment program.

Worldwide expenditures of highways totaled $26.4 billion during 1965 as compared with $19.3 billion in 1960, reports the American Automobile association. The percentage gain in expenditures almost exactly equaled the increase in motor vehicle registrations, according to figures compiled by the International Road federation.

ACCEPTANCE of Northwestern hospital as an accredited hospital under the Medicare program was announced last week. A letter from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare was presented by Clifford Kittelson, center, director of the Social Security office in Grand Forks, to Norman Peterson, left, hospital administrator, and Hugh Carlson, chairman of the hospital board, Friday morning. The local hospital, in cooperation with Social Security, Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Pennington county welfare officials, will hold a one-day Medicare information clinic Wednesday, May 11, at Northwestern hospital. Details of the clinic—designed to provide information to persons 65 years of age and older—will be announced in the next two editions of the Times.

Old Paper Tells Story On Thief River Plans

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Water problems in the area northeast of Thief River Falls which has experienced extensive flooding of long duration this spring are not new to the area. The Thief river has never been really capable of carrying a large volume of water, and recent cleaning projects have helped but not nearly solved the problem of an ample outlet for farm drainage.

With flooding having been noted on both sides of the Thief river east of Holt and below the Agassiz National Wildlife refuge for nearly a month, a newspaper page from the Minneapolis Journal brought to the Times by Manvel Moe was particularly interesting. The page itself is not dated, but a current map printed on one side of the page places the origin of the paper at about 1909.

"Net-work of Ditches and Laterals Reclaims Vast Area in Thief River Valley" proclaimed a headline across the full width of the page. The story—which covered nearly both sides of the page—discussed drainage in the area as related to the Thief River Watershed and Judicial Ditch 11. The following paragraphs are quoted from the first portion of the Minneapolis Journal story:

"To open 650,000 acres of new, fertile Minnesota land for settlement, 5,500,000 cubic yards of earth will be removed in the Thief River valley and that river enlarged from its source to the point of entry into the Red Lake river. Contractors are on the ground and one of the greatest reclamation projects ever undertaken in Minnesota is about to start.

"To drain this land it will be necessary to take away as much earth as would provide loads that, in wagons each containing a cubic yard, would reach twenty-two times from Minneapolis to New York or one and a quarter times around the world. It is one of the biggest

Building Permits Issued in March Down from 1965

[illegible] permits having a valuation [illegible] were issued in Thief River Falls during March 1966 for new buildings and repairs and alterations. According to the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis, this was a decrease from $37,200 for five permits issued in March 1965. The cumulative total for the third month of 1966 shows that five permits valued at $45,500 were issued compared with five permits valued at $37,200 last year.

For Minnesota the March valuation increased from $31,487,169 in 1965 to $42,478,423 in 1966. The cumulative total for the third month of this year was $81,991,002 compared with $69,957,965 recorded during 1965.

Throughout the Ninth district, the total valuation of building permits issued for new buildings and repairs and alterations during March 1966 in 297 permit issuing centers was $58,125,612 for 3,386 permits. In March 1965 there were 2,260 permits issued with a valuation of $40,366,208. The report also stated that the cumulative total for the year showed an increase from $89,358,336 for 5,029 permits in 1965 to $109,528,247 for 6,492 permits in 1966.

Theatre Group To Meet Wednesday

Members of the Thief River Falls Community Theatre group will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium to review results of the first play. All persons interested in the theatre group are invited to attend.

Mrs. Johnson Is Renamed to Head Retarded Ass'n.

Mrs. Oscar Johnson was reelected president of the Pennington - Red Lake Association for Retarded Children at the annual meeting of the association held recently in the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Mrs. Alta Larson was elected secretary to succeed Mrs. Elgin Loeffler who was named publicity chairman, and Mrs. Stan Cockrell was reelected treasurer. Elected to the board of directors were Mrs. Morris Odegaard, Mr. Melvin Mellin, Mrs. Loeffler and Mrs. Clarence Bottem.

Announced as members of a specialy-appointed activity center board were Dr. Arnold Berg, Mrs. James Carlson, S. E Sinding, R. F. Coates, Kenneth Swenson, Phil Kays, Mr. Richard Mosbeck and Oscar Johnson.

Announcement was also made of a public affairs meeting to be held May 17 in Thief River Falls. Further details will be announced later.

Incumbents File At Newfolden

Filing for candidacy for the board of education in Independent School District 441 at Newfolden closed on Tuesday. Wallace M. Johnson, clerk of the board, reported that the two incumbents, Lawrence Bjorsness and Lester Elseth, had filed for the two three year terms to succeed themselves.

Annual school election will be held on Tuesday, May 17, in the cafeteria of the Newfolden school. The board has set poll hours from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

ASCS Deadline Dates Announced

Final date for producers to sign requests to participate in the 1966 cropland adjustment program is May 13 and the final date to sign CAP agreements is June 10, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee.

Farmers who are interested in diverting acreage under a long-term rather than an annual agreement are urged to file their CAP request before the final date, May 13.

Future Farmers Recognized for MISCCA Service

Recognition to the Future Farmers of America for outstanding service to the handicapped through their 'Corn Drives for Camp Courage" was given at the F.F.A. state convention which opened Monday.

W. B. Schoenbohm, executive director of the Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults (MISCCA), presented the awards in the North Star ballroom student center of the Saint Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

Receiving an award for the "Highest Proceeds Per Member" are chapters from Fairmont, Albert Lea, Alden, Glenville and Freeborn. Albert Lea will also receive the award for 'Highest Total Amount Raised' ($1,018) and a 'distinguished Service Award" (for having sent over 100 children to Camp Courage).

An "Achievement Award" (for having sent over 40 children to Camp Courage, a cumulative total of $2,500) will be given to chapters from Annandale, Cambridge and Watertown, and a "Ten-Year Distinguished Service Award" to Gaylord and Ashby.

Burglars Hit Two Places in Brooks

Red Lake County Sheriff Gerald Hinze is searching for two thieves who broke into the school a Brooks last week. Taken from the school cafeteria and storage room were 50 pounds of hamburger, 10 30-ounce cans of beef, three bulk packages of potato chips, two cases of soup, a 30-pound block of cheese, five dozen eggs, two quarts of pickles, a case of pudding and gelatin and a half case of napkins.

Entry was made through a window in the west side of the school. The school shop was also entered and robbed of two hammers, three pliers, two screw-drivers and one electric drill. No vandalism was reported. The theft was discovered by a school cook Monday morning.

Also entered at Brooks was the Farmers Union Oil company where tires and tools were taken.

Legion Auxiliary To Elect Officers

Election of officers is on the agenda for the meetings of the American Legion auxiliary, tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. and the Legion post meeting Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. All members are urged to "get out and vote."

Kathy Jensen left Sunday for O'Hare Air field in Chicago, Ill., where she will begin a stewardess training course with United Air lines.

Red Lake Tribal Council Election Scheduled May 25

Competition for all offices on the Red Lake Tribal council are assured with two or more candidates filing for all expiring positions, according to a notice filed by Royce E. Graves, council secretary.

Tribal election will be held May 25 to select three officers for a term of four years and four district representatives, one each from the Red Lake, Redby, Little Rock and Ponemah districts, for four-year terms.

All incumbents have filed for office. Roger A. Jourdain, chairman, is opposed by Louis F. Stately and Leon F. Cook. Secretary Graves is opposed by Edward Perkins and Tom Cain and Treasurer Dan Needham Sr. is opposed by Francis Brun.

From the Red Lake district, incumbent James Brun is opposed by Kenneth Stately, Charles F. White and John Hanson Sr. In the Redby district, Edward Holenday, incumbent, is opposed by Paul Prentice Jr., Leonard Stately and Joseph Clark.

Simon Sumner, incumbent in the Little Rock district, had opposition from John Henry Barrett, while incumbent Andrew Sigana of the Ponemah district is opposed by Dan Raincloud Jr.

Voting will be from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. as follows: Red Lake district, recreation hall; Redby district, Episcopal guild hall; Little Rock district, Mary Strong home; and Ponemah district, school auditorium stage. Any enrolled member of the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians who is 21 years of age or older is eligible to vote.

County 4-H Play, Share-the-Fun Contests Slated

One-act play and share-the-fun contests will be held by Pennington county 4-H clubs this week, according to Charles Will, county agricultural agent and Miss Beverly Tvelto, home agent. All contests will be held at 8 p.m. DST.

Several omissions were made in the information supplied to the Times by the county extension office last week. A complete schedule of activities in the program is as follows:

Tuesday—At the Gooridge school gymnasium, plays will be presented by Mavie, Good Hope, Kratka and Star 4-H clubs, each of which will also have share-the-fun numbers.

Wednesday—In the Lincoln high school auditorium, Deer Park, Silverton and New Solum clubs will present plays and Deer Park, Silverton, New Solum, Pennington Quads, and Rocksbury will present share-the-fun acts.

Thursday—St. Hilaire school will be the site for plays presented by Happy Acres, Black River and St. Hilaire clubs with share-the-fun numbers by the St. Hilaire and Black River clubs.

Friday—Eliminations will be held at the Lincoln high school auditorium for share-the-fun numbers from Smiley, City View, Steiner and Sanders clubs, and plays by Smiley, City View and Steiner clubs.

Final contest will be held Monday, May 9, in the Lincoln high school auditorium. One play and two share-the-fun numbers from each elimination contest will be selected to participate in the final event.

Co. Population Down 555 from April, 1960

BASS DRUM may not be a card table, but it can serve as such, as is shown by these three resourceful members of the Ada high school band. Left to right, the card-sharps are Mark Jennings, Paul Ogard and Peter Torgerson. The photo was taken while the band was warming up for Event No. 4 in the state-area music festival held Friday and Saturday at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. The Ada band "played its cards right" and garnered an "A" rating in the event. Approximately 60 high school bands and choruses participated in the festival.

Pennington county's population as of July 1, 1965, is estimated at 11,911 by the Minnesota department of health a decrease of 55 or 4.5 per cent from April 1, 1960. Statistics were released recently by the health department's section of vital statistics.

Population estimates for other counties in this area for July 1, 1965, include the following: Beltrami, 23,318, down 0.5 per cent; Kittson, 7,477, down 10.4 per cent; Lake of the Woods, 3,565, down 17.2 per cent; Marshall, 14,429, up 1.12 per cent; Norman, 11,426, up 1.5 per cent; Polk, 35,486, down 1.9 per cent; Red Lake, 6,533, up 12.1 per cent; and Roseau, 11,182, down 8 per cent.

Estimates of population in Pennington county included 12,468 in 1962; 12,325 in 1963; 12,039 in 1964; and 11,911 in 1965.

Red Lake county's, estimates included 5,830 in 1960, 6,191 in 1962, 6,416 in 1962, 6,244 in 1963, 6,437 in 1964 and 6,533 in 1965. Marshal county's estimates included 14,262 in 1960, 14,283 in 1961, 14,413 in 1962, 14,438 in 1963, 14,370 in 1964 and 14,429 in 1965.

Minnesota's estimated population as of July 1, 1965, was 3,555,000. Estimates for 1965 represent an increase of 141,136 (4.1 per cent) over 1960 census data. The new figure is the same as that of the U. S. Bureau of the Census, for the same date.

Although the national population increase for 1960-1965, was 8.1 per cent compared to the Minnesota increase of 4.1 per cent, the Minnesota growth rate is only slightly less than that of the 12 North Central states (4.7 per cent).

Percentage - wise, Minnesota ranks seventh in terms of population growth, 1960-1965, in the 12-state area. In rank order, the per cent increase in these states was: Ohio (5.6 per cent), Ilinois (5.6 per cent), Michigan (5.1 per cent) Wisconsin (4.9 per cent), Indiana (4.8 per cent), Nebraska (4.7 per cent), Minnesota (4.1 per cent), Missouri (4.1 per cent), South Dakota (3.3 per cent), North Dakota, (3.1 per cent), Kansas (2.5 per cent), Iowa (0.1 per cent).

[illegible] U. S. Bureau of Census estimates indicate that the western states have grown much more rapidly than the nation as a whole and the southern states slightly more rapidly than the nation. The northern states are growing at a lesser rate.

In particular, the north central area (which includes Minnesota) has the lowest growth rate and the highest rate of out-migration. This pattern of growth among the states is in line with that of the last half of the 1950 decade, except that the growth rate of the North Central region is even lower than it was in the 1950's.

Estimated population of the seven-county metropolitan area is 1,668,394, representing a gain of over 143,000 persons since 1960, which is 9.4 per cent or more than twice the rate of increse for the state as a whole.

Altogether, 40 Minnesota counties have lost population since 1960, 22 counties have gained population at a rate lower than the state average of 4.1 per cent, and 25 counties have gained populatin at a

One Injured Seriously, Five Escape, From Two-Car Crash

One man is in serious condition and five others miraculously escaped serious injury as a result of an auto accident about 6:15 p.m. Sunday on highway 59 about eight miles south of Thief River Falls. The two-car crash happened at the intersection of highway 59 and the River Valley bridge road (Pennington County Road, 3).

Listed in serious condition in Northwestern hospital is Robert Vacura, 26, Badger, a passenager in one of the cars. He sustained several fractured ribs, internal injuries and head injuries.

According to the Minnesota highway patrol which investigated the mishap, a car driven by K. Russell Anderson of Thief River Falls was traveling west on the River Valley bridge road and failed to stop for the stop sign protecting highway 59. The Anderson car collided with a north-bound car driven on highway 59 by Allan Walsh, Badger. The impact sheared the front end of the Anderson car completely off, and the Walsh vehicle suffered extensive damage to the right side before crashing into the ditch containing more than a foot of water.

Mrs. Anderson, who sustained bruises and a scalp laceration, was held overnight for observation at the hospital but Anderson and the couple's three-year-old son were not injured. Vacura was a passenger in the Walsh car. Walsh was treated and released and his 16-month-old daughter LeAnn received only scalp lacerations.

At a high nuptial Mas held recently at St. John's church at Beacon, N. Y. Mis Rita Marie DiMattia of Beacon, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso DiMattia who lived at Summit Hill, Pa., became the bride of Sp-4 James M. Langevin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Langevin of Thief River officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Anthony DiMattia, wore a daytime length gown of white Italian lace and chiffon, fashioned with a scoop neckline, long sleeves and an A-line skirt. Her white satin headbow held a face veil of Italian lace and she carried a prayerbook with a white orchid.

Miss Madeline DiMattia attended her sister as maid of honor and Richard Langevin served his brother as best man. Miss DiMattia wore an orchid satin dress with scoop neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a full daytime length skirt. Her lace headpiece was trimmed with veiling and she carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The bride, employed by the De Laval Separator company at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., was graduated from the Philip Ginter Grammer school, Summit Hill and the Summit Hill high school.

The groom is currently serving in the U. S. Army at Fort Benning, Ga. He graduated from St. Bernard's Grammer school and Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, and studied mechanics at the Thief River Falls area vocational - technical school.

They are at home at North Avenue, Beacon, N. Y.

DeCor Members Hear Convention Reports

Members of the DeCor club met recently at the home of Mrs. Ralph Hauswirth and it was noted that eight of its members had attended the District Convention held at Stephen April 16. Reports were given of the program, the luncheon and the activities of the day with much emphasis made of the hospitality of the members of the Stephen clubs.

It was also reported that two members, Mrs. Tom Aasland and Mrs. Ralph Ward, had assisted at the public library by serving coffee on Tuesday during National Library week.

Members attending were Mrs. Tom Aasland, Mrs. Ralph Ward, Mrs. Joe Dostal Mrs. Millard Peterson, Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Ed Liden and Geneva Overum.

Scholarship Given At East Marshall Homemaker's Day

A large crowd attended the annual East Marshall county Achievement program at the Holt school Friday evening, April 15, and witnessed the presentation of the homemakers scholarship to Saundra Hoper of Stephen. The presentation was made by Mrs. Alfred Solem and Mrs. Virgil Erickson and accepted by Mrs. Henry S. Hoper, in behalf of her daughter who is a junior at Concordia college and was unable to attend.

The program began with Mrs. Virgil Erickson, president of the East Valley Homemakers, welcoming the group and [illegible] of rural Thief River Falls showing slides and giving a commentary of his recent trip to the Orient. Musical numbers included a duet by Glenyce and Sandra Bakken of Grygla and three selections by "The Premieres", a group composed of Darrald Rodahl, Richard Ness, Steven Anderson, Daryl Augustine and David Rodahl.

Another feature of the program was a Hoky-poky dance by a group of East Valley homemakers.

An Oriental theme was carried out in decorations, dress and refreshments and several interesting achievements were on display. A social hour followed the program.

WSCS Northwest District Meeting To Be Held May 5

The annual meeting of the Northwest District Women's Society of Christian Service will be held Thursday at the First Methodist church at Crookston. An attendance of about 300 women from the 52 churches in the district is expected. Registration for the meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m.

The theme for the day is "Behold I Have Set Before You an Open Door," based on Revelations 3:8. Mrs. Herbert Halvorsen of Fergus Falls will preside. The principal address for the day will be given by the Rev. J. Claggert Taylor who is in the United States on a year's furlough from mission service in Rhodesia. Mrs. Roscoe Haining of Alexandria, vice president of the Minnesota Conference, will also address the group.

Included in the program will be the "Completed Pattern", given by the district officers, the Pledge service and installation of officers. Mrs. Alfred Gedde, district treasurer, will conduct the Pledge service with each W.S.C.S. treasurer participating by presenting her respective society's annual pledge for mission work. Mrs. Clarence Richardson, conference president will install the officers.

Women from the Community Methodist church of Thief River Falls who desire to attend may call Mrs. Irvin Wilson or Mrs. Orville Kruschke.

Vaarblomsten Lodge 455 Notes 55th Anniversary

Members of Vaarblomsten lodge 455, Sons of Norway, celebrated the 55th anniversary of the organization on Thursday, April 21, with a banquet in the Terrace room of the Rex Cafe. Fifty members were in attendance.

Following the banquet the group assembled at the Odd Fellows hall for a brief program and a social hours.

The history of the lodge was given by the lodge historian and it was noted that Mrs. Emma Johnson of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho was the only living charter member. It was also noted that Vaarblomsten members had taken part in several celebrations in this city and that it was the first organization to make a donation to the Northwestern hospital. The donation was in the amount of $500.

[illegible] Evarum was present and showed slides of her recent trip to Norway and Denmark. To conclude the festivities of the evening, refreshments, featuring a decorated anniversary cake, were served to members and their guests.

Margaret Race To Serve on MNA District Committee

Mrs. Margaret Race of Thief River Falls was appointed as a member of the District Career committee at the District One meeting of the Minnesota Nurses association held Thursday evening, April 21, at the Fosston high school cafeteria. The purpose of this committee is to aid local schools in counseling students who wish to enter a nursing school.

Other members appointed to serve on this committee are Mrs. Mildred Dahlgren, chairman; Mrs. Mernie Gredvig and Mr. Annette Cameron, all of Crokston and Mrs. Helen Evans of Fosston.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Dr. Robert L. Williams, psychologist from the Northwestern Mental Health center at Crookston. His topic was the positive approach to mental health. Sister Digna O. S.B. of Crookston spoke briefly on Medicare.

District president, Mrs. Joy Suldahl of Crookston, presided at the business session. She announced that Mrs. Blanche Gustafson of Crookston has been chosen to be a Minnesota delegate to the National convention of the American Nurses association to be held this June in San Francisco, Calif. She also announced that a cancer conference, sponsored jointly by Districts I, VII and XI of MNA and the Cancer Society will be held in Crookston early in October.

A committee was named to work with representatives of the Licensed Practical nurses association. Their function will be to assist licensed practical nurses in this area by drawing guide lines for the practice of home nursing. Named to this committee were Mrs. Lilja Snyder, chairman, Mrs. Eva Anderson, and Sister Enrica, all of Crookston; Mrs. Gloria Kaste and Mrs. Deanne Klemmetson of Fosston and Mrs. Ila Flesche of St. Hilaire.

Commemorative Stamp To Honor Women's Clubs

Members of the Tuesday club who met Monday, April 25, at the home of Mrs. Harold Buck were informed by their secretary treasurer, Mrs. Carl Hovie, that a five-cent commemorative stamp honoring the Diamond Jubilee of the General Federation of Women's clubs had been approved by the Postmaster General, L. F. O'Brian. The letter from Sen. Eugene McCarthy came as a response to several letters from the Tuesday club. The Diamond Jubilee convention will be held in Chicago, Ill., in June.

Officers for the coming year were elected with Mrs. Claude Davidson chosen as president to succeed Mrs. Harold Buck. Mrs. Leonard Hanson will serve as secretary-treasurer in place of Mrs. Carl Hovie.

The meeting took the form of a "Welcome Home" party for several members who had been absent from the city for several weeks or months. The hostess, Mrs. Buck, had just returned from New Orleans, La., where the family had been visiting a son in service.

Others back for the first time since last fall included Mrs. Frank Bond, who returned the previous Sunday from a five-month vacation in California and Arizona; Mrs. James Walker, who had been visiting several weeks with a daughter near Washington, D. C., and Mrs. G. L. Biddick who, since Christmas, had been visiting relatives in Texas, California, Arizona and British Columbia.

Returning recently from Peoria, Ill., was Mrs. Jack McKechnie who spent several weeks there visiting her sister.

The making of feather roses was the major project of the group.

Members attending included the hostess, Mrs. Harold Buck, Mrs. Carl Hovie, Mrs. Jake O'Hara, Mrs. Leonard Hanson, Mrs. G. L. Biddick, Mrs. J. McKechnie, Mrs. G. H. Mayer-Oakes, Mrs. Emil Farmes, Mrs. Robert Brooten, Mrs. Fred Mittelstadt, Mrs. Claude Davidson and Mrs. James Walker.

The next meeting of the Tuesday club will be held May 9 with Mr. Robert Brooten as hostess.

Auto Checks in May to Emphasize Safety Belt Use

During the month of May traffic safety promotion agencies in Minnesota will devote their efforts to encouraging car owners to have their vehicles safety checked, reports safety education officer Obert Lillo of the Minnesota highway patrol.

In many parts of the state local organizations, safety councils and civic clubs will be conducting free safety checks, he said. Equipment to be inspected includes breaks, lights, exhaust system, steering, tires, windshield wipers, all glass, turn signals, horn and mirrors.

And this year an extra emphasis will be placed on a special piece of equipment—the safety belt, he said.

Safety belts save lives and reduce injuries. If every person in Minnesota traveling in a car would always wear a safety belt, it is estimated that 100 or more lives would be saved every year. With every person in the nation wearing the safety belt at all times, it is estimated it would save 5,000 lives annually.

During May, have your vehicle safety-checked for the coming summer months, Officer Lillo advised. And when you have it done, he added, consider the value of the safety belt to you and your family. Make sure there is a safety belt for every occupant of your car and make sure you buckle-up every time you get into the car.

Safety belts help protect car passengers in both major and minor accidents. In collisions, they help keep passengers from being thrown out, and they reduce the force of impact of the body against any part of the car's interior.

This year, and next year, buckle-up and live.

Women's Fly-in To Washington Held Last Week

Evidence that the farmer's price makes up only a small portion of the retail cost of food was presented to virtually every member of the U. S. House and Senate this week by 101 Minnesota women participating in the Minnesota Farmers Union "Legislative Fly-In". Several area women participated in the trip.

Since the farmer's share of the retail cost is so moderate, fair farm prices do not have an inflationary effect, the women said on their lobbying calls.

The Minnesota women, divided into teams of three, visited at more than 525 of the 535 House and Senate offices and visited with either the Senator or Representative himself or with a top administrative aid.

The campaigners left at each office a tabulation showing that the farm value of the ingredients in a typical breakfast comes only to six cents, the ingredients of a typical lunch have a farm value of only 12 cents and the ingredients of a typical dinner have a farm value of only 17 cents.

Besides stressing the need for an immediate improvement in farm income, the fly-in ladies emphasized six other issues in their calls. These were Food-for-freedom, a permanent school lunch program with adequate funds, agricultural conservation, farm housing credit, truth-in-lending and truth-in-packaging.

Time to Plant Lawns Is Here

If planning to seed a new lawn this spring, do it between April 15 and May 10. Gus Hard, University of Minnesota extension horticulturist, says late seeding can mean excessive weed competition.

For sunny lawns and heavy soils seed 60 to 80 per cent Kentucky bluegrass, such as Park variety. Use fescue grasses for the rest of the mixture.

For shady lawns and sandy soils, seed only 30 to 40 per cent Kentucky bluegrass and 60 to 70 per cent of creeping red fescue. Hard says new lawn is tender, so use it sparingly and begin mowing when the grass is about three inches tall.

Home Economics Scholarships Are Offered 4H'ers

A total of nine 4-H home economics scholarships valued at $6,300 will be awarded again this year on a national selection basis by four firms. The scholarships are specifically for present or former 4-H club members who will be college juniors in the fall of 1966, and who plan to major in home economics.

Candidates should make application before October 1 through the county or state 4-H Club office. They must submit an account of their 4-H activities and their freshman and sophomore scholastic records. Only one girl per state can be considered for these scholarships, according to the cooprative extension service which selects the finalists.

Girls in need of such a scholarship should contact the county extension office or write directly to their state 4-H club leader for the special 4-H scholarship fund application blank.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

MRS. RONALD JOHNSON

If this cold, miserable weather is making you discouraged and "out-of-sorts" why not plan to do something unusual? For instance, make a pan of these bars and call on someone new in the neighborhood, a shut-in or someone who has recently returned from the hospital. Half of the enjoyment of trying new recipes is sharing the results, good or bad, with someone else. (It is surprising the number of good recipes that can be added to the recipe collection that way.)

OATMEAL BARS

1 and one-third cups boiling water.
1 cup oatmeal
½ cup shortening
1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 and one-third cup flour

Method: Pour boiling water over oatmeal and let cool for 20 minutes. Add other ingredients in order given and bake in a greased 9 x 13 inch pan for 30-35 minutes in a 350 degree oven

FROSTING

6 teaspoons melted butter
½ cup brown sugar
¼ cup evaporated milk
1 cup flaked coconut

Mix together and frost bars while hot. To add variety, place under a hot broiled for a few minutes. Nuts may be added to either the bars or frosting or to both.

When Mrs. Ronald Johnson was contacted for a recipe, she had just finished giving someone this recipe for bars. She stated that whenever she serves these bars, someone invariably calls to request the recipe.

The Johnsons are fairly new residents to this city, having moved here 14 months ago from Lake Park. They recently purchased their home at 240 Markley Avenue North. Mrs. Johnson said that now she will have to learn something about flower gardening as there are a large variety of flowers around the yard. Her favorite pastime is sewing for herself and their two children, Jenelle, 10 and Jeffrey, eight.

As a family they attend Trinity Lutheran church. Mr. Johnson is a field representative for Farmers Union.

14 Local FFA'ers At St. Paul for State Convention

Fourteen members of the Thief River Falls chapter of Future Farmers of America, together with two vocational agriculture instructors, left Sunday for the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota to take part in the 1966 FFA state convention and leadership training program. Nearly 2,500 FFA members from throughout the state are expected to attend the convention, which will conclude Tuesday.

At an awards luncheon today (Monday), two local FFA'ers will receive the coveted State Farmer award. They are Homer Grinde, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Grinde, and Roger Sorenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sorenson, both of rural Thief River Falls. Grinde will also receive the District Star Farmer award.

Members will be taking part in competitive judging of livestock, crops and dairy, and also in farm mechanics. The livestock judging team is composed of Peter and Kermit Solem and James Nelson. Judging dairy cattle will be Gary Sande, Wesley Skibicki and Richard Stenseth. Crops will be judged by Don Rondorf, Bruce Steiger and Robin Naplin. Entered in farm mechanics are Richard Grandbois and Roger Sorenson.

Two local members, Harlan Braaten and Richard Habedank, will participate in the State FFA band. Official delegates to the convention are Gary Sande and Bruce Steiger. New chapter officers will attend training sessions. Accompanying the members are Peter Probasco and Verne Spengler.

Theme for this year's event is 'Agriculture Is More Than Farming.' Principal speakers at the 30th annual convention banquet tonight in Aldrich arena will be Governor Karl Rolvaag, Mayor Vavoulis of St. Paul and Joseph Detrixhe of Ames, Kan., national FFA student secretary.

An annual highlight is the hand milking contest between the State Star Dairy Farmer and Minnesota's Princess Kay of the Milky Way. This unique event will take place on the athletic field near the St. Paul campus gym Tuesday at 8:45 p.m.

Boy to Man Film Will Be Shown to Young TRF Boys

Showing of the film 'Boy to Man" will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Franklin junior high school gymnasium, under sponsorship of the Thief River Falls public schools. The showing is open to all boys in grades 4 through 9 in any of the city's schools, but all boys must be accompanied by one or both parents or guardians.

The film, which depicts the development of the human male from boy to adult, was previewed by a large number of parents a short time ago, and this group gave unanimous approval to the showing to boys. A doctor will show the film and answer questions, and two clergymen will also give comments at the session.

Improved Pasture Pays for Itself

Cattle will soon be on pasure for the summer, James Justin, University of Minnesota extension agronomist, says permanent pasture with quite a few weeds and short grass probably won't produce much meat or milk.

A few dollars per acre spent to fertilize pasture is a good investment, Justin says an improved pasture raises milk and meat output and more than pays for the fertilier cost.

He also says many pasture weeds can be easily controlled with 2, 4-D or other herbicides recommended in Extension Folder 212, "Cultural and Chemical Weed Control In field Crops, 1966." Get a copy from your county agent or write to the Bulletin Room, University of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn. 55101.

License Required For Crop Sprayers

Custom spraying and dusting operators were reminded today by Commissioner Russel G. Schwandt that a new law became effective January 1, requiring that they be licensed.

The law specifically requires that any person who receives payment for his services for spraying or dusting of pesticides must have a license. The law further provides that a test be taken at the time the application is submitted. During 1966 this is an open book test and several references are included with the application form.

In reviewing this matter, Commissioner Schwandt commented, "This law gives protection to customers and to the food consuming public. It also assures that custom operators awarded licenses are knowledgeable and aware of the proper use of agricultural chemicals. The law will assist custom applicators in providing the general public with more adequate protection.

Applications for such a license may be obtained by contacting the county agricultural inspector, the county agent, or by writing to the Minnesota Department of Agriculture, Division of Agronomy Services, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101.

ELECTED Tuesday night by the Thief River Falls Jaycees was this slate of officers for the coming year. The annual election was held at the Golf club. Left to right are Myron DeMers, treasurer; Roger Person, and Neil McEwen, directors; Lt. Harold Shelby, secretary; Charles Follet, president; Anthony Kozojed, director; Dr. Donald Goodrich, first vice president; Howard Rokke, director; and Robert Ekeren, second vice president. Richard Contos, outgoing president and new state director, was not available for the photo, and James Wills, who was elected a director, was standing behind the camera.

DAIRY NIGHT at the Met, Minnesota's official June Dairy Month kickoff event scheduled for June 1, might call for a "butterball" pitch. At least that's what second baseman Bernie Allen (left) jokingly tells pitcher Camilo Pascual as the two Twins teammates get together with Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Mary Ann Titrud of Clarissa, on preliminary plans. She obliged by finding the recipe readily in the new American Dairy Association cookbook. Some 2,000 dairy industry people from all over the state are expected to attend the Twins "Dairy Night" game against Detroit which will be preceded by a 7:30 p.m. fun program. An all-state dairy picnic will be held from 2:30 to 6 p.m. the same day at Minnehaha Falls in South Minneapolis. Arrangements, including ticket reservations, are being made by American Dairy Association of Minnesota, 2239 Carter Ave., St. Paul 55108.

Income Tax Questions Are Answered by IRS

Q—My employer tells me that I have to file a new Form W-4 withholding statement by May 1. Is this correct?

A—The law requires that all married persons must file a new Form W-4, Witholding Exemption Certificate, to be eligible for the withholding rates applicable to married individuals. If you do not file a new Form W-4, your employer must withhold tax as if the employee is a single person. Single taxpayers may wish to file a new Form W-4 to correct the number of withholding exemptions they claim, and prevent incorrect withholding after May 1.

Q—I just received my Social Security account number. It was not reported on my tax return. Should I report this number to your office at once?

A—No. When your return is processed, omission of a Social Security number will be noticed. We will write requesting this account number. Submit this information at that time to complete your 1965 tax return.

Q—I filed a declaration of estimated tax on April 15. When is the second installment due?

A—If you elected to pay the estimated tax in quarterly installments, the next payment should be made on or before June 15. You should receive a billing from our office calling for this payment before June 15.

Q—We filed our tax return early, but have not received the tax refund. Within a few weeks, we will be moving. What should we do to get the refund check?

A—Notify our office of your new address. Be sure to include your old address and your Social Security number for identification purposes. You should also file a change of address card with your postmaster.

Q—When I filed my return for last year, there was quite a bit of additional tax owing. Will this same thing happen next year?

A—The new income tax withholding system effective May 1, with the graduated withholding rates should reduce the amount of any additional tax owing. The purpose of this new system is to make the withholding tax come closer to the actual tax due. You may reduce also any tax owing by filing a declaration of estimated tax for 1966, by decreasing the number of withholding exemptions you claim, or by having your employer withhold additional amounts from your regular paycheck.

Q—We just put my father in a rest home. Can we still claim him as an exemption since we are paying the bills for his care?

A—As long as you continue to provide more than one-half of the amount required for his support, you are entitled to continue to claim him as a dependent.

Q—I discover I omitted to enclose one of the Schedules with my tax return. Should I mail it to your office?

A—No. Please hold it until you are notified to send it in. Any Schedule or additional information necessary to process your return will be requested by our office. You may forward this information when requested to do so.

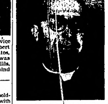
Rev. Raebel Will Serve Parish at Red Lake Falls



Rev. Roger Raebel

Rev. Roger E. Raebel was installed as pastor of St. John Lutheran church of Red Lake Falls Sunday evening. Rev. Paul R. Biegner, pastor of St. John church of Thief River Falls and Redeemer church in Plummer, served as officiant, and delivered the sermon. A reception for Rev. Raebel and his family was held in the social hall following the service. In charge of the arrangements were Mrs. Albert Harbott, Mrs. LaVerne Schultz and Mrs. Henry Wieland.

Rev. Raebel is a native of Minnesota, born in Montevideo and reared in Granite Falls. He received his elementary education in Granite Falls and completed his high school training at Concordia academy in St. Paul. After graduating from Concordia college in St. Paul in 1949, he entered Concordia seminary in St. Louis, Mo., graduating in 1954.

From 1954 to 1957 Rev. Raebel served a multiple parish in Dow City-Buck Grove, Iowa. From 1957 to 1960 he served a parish at Amenia and Grandin, N. D. From 1960 to the present he served as pastor of Grace Lutheran church in El Dorado, Kan.

Rev. Raebel is married to Phyllis Luebken of Sioux City, Iowa. Their children include a daughter, Cynthia Ann, 10; three sons, David, 8; Jared Mark, 6 and Stephen, 1; also a foster-son, David Johnson, 19, who is in the armed forces at Hawaii awaiting transfer to Viet Nam.

Local FFA Chapter Elects Officers

Thief River Falls chapter of Future Farmers of America elected officers at its April 19 meeting. Elected were Bruce Steiger, president; Wesley Skibicki, vice president; Les Nordhagen, secretary; Kermit Solem, treasurer; Richard Stenseth, reporter; and Dale Koop, sentinel.

Gary Sande received the Dekalb award that had not arrived in time for the awards banquet. In other business, it was decided that the chapter would undertake part in the expenses for members going to the State FFA convention.

Old Paper Tells Drainage Story Of Thief River

drainage plans ever put into operation in the central northwest.

"Under the supervision of the state drainage engineer, preliminary work begain last fall, and now that spring is here and the opportunity is presented for an early start, no time will be lost in getting under way and the work will go forward through the summer.

"The contract for this system was let March 1 to the Northwestern Drainage company of Grand Rapids, Wis., and is under the engineering supervision of W. R. Hoag of Minneapolis.

"The system provides for 497 miles of ditches and the same number of miles of highways to be so located that each of the 2,000 quarter sections of land has a ditch and a road along at least one of its half-mile sides. No such complete system of drainage has been attempted in this state to cover any considerable area.

"Considering the rate at which the contractor must dig to complete the work in two years, calling six months a working year and eight hours a day, he will be required to move twenty-one cubic yards a minute or about ten cubic feet a second. To haul away this dirt as rapidly as dub would require seven lines of teams abreast carrying a cubic yard each.

"Thief river is to be enlarged from its source, in Thief lake, to a point a few miles above Thief River Falls, where it enters the Red Lake river. This will cost about $125,000 and will be divided among three sub-drainage districts in the ratio of their use of the river as an outlet for each sub-system. These sub-systems are known as state system No. 83 comprising about one-tenth of the area, and situated mostly on the west side of the river near its headwaters.

"The second sub-system of this area is known as county ditch No. 25. It comprises about two-tenths of the watershed and is located on the east side of the river, along the southern boundary of the Thief river area, and is in charge of Engineer Hamre of Crookston. Work was begun on this system last fall, and about two years will be required for its completion.

The remaining seven-tenths, or about 700 square miles, comprises the central, northern and eastern portions of the Thief river area and is known as judicial ditch No. 11.

"This section of the state is fully alive to the importance of the work and what the reclamation of this land will mean for the development of the northwestern part of Minnesota. An active campaign has begun to interest farmers and draw them to the fertile soil that will be ready for occupancy with the completion of the drainage canals."

The area has a natural topographic problem which is essentially the same now as it was in the early 1900's. W. R. Hoag, civil engineer from Minneapolis who supervised the drainage project, was quoted in the article as follows:

"Thief river, with it tributaries, Mud and Moose rivers, provides the only natural drainage for about 1,000 square miles situated in the eastern part of Marshall and the western part of Beltrami county. It is a tract about twenty-five miles wide and forty miles long. Grygla is situated near the center and Thief River Falls in its southeast corner.

"This area of about 650,000 acres, which is smaller by only two townships than the state of Rhode Island, has an average slope from northeast to southwest of nearly two feet a mile. A fall entirely sufficient to provide ample drainage for it, had nature been but reasonably judicious in its distribution.

"River channels are made and maintained wholly by the erosive action of running water. The slope necessry to create the velocity which measures its securing effect and abi'ty to maintain an open channel differs widely, depending somewhat upon the subsoil conditions but largely upon the volume of water at flood stage.

"The Thief river, for about twenty miles, has about six inches fall to the mile. The Red river for a hundred miles along the state's western boundary maintains its channel and has a fall of about two inches to the mile, while stretches of the lower Mississippi river have but a half inch to the mile.

"Small streams must have from three to eight feet fall a mile to overcome the obstructing effects of sedimentation and vegetation. The Thief river watershed has ample fall in the general direction of slope to maintain good sized rivers, capable of removing all excess storm water in the usual time—thus insuring safe cultivation on adjacent lands but it has no cross valley lines of sufficient slope to collect the storm water into small streams and conduct it quickly to a central channel or river.

". . .As proof of this, there is a tract within that covered by the drainage system known as judicial ditch No. 11, which contains 300 square miles, yet within this area there are less than ten miles of continuous open river channel, and this single stretch of river is where the storm water from about 200 square miles has been compelled by reason of some small cross ridges to get together and make a river, resulting in a river channel of a size increasing from twenty feet wide and four feet deep at the upper end to forty feet wide and eight feet deep at the lower end.

"Here, however, it meets a broad march about three miles across with practically no fall. Coming to this level area the waters part and spread out over whole townships, but are collected again ten miles to the west in Mud lake. The general route between these points is scattered over with pieces of rivers, sometimes connected, although crooked and poorly put together, while at other places they are wholly disconnected.

"To remove the excess storm water from this area in time to insure the ordinary planting season and properly to guard against lands at harvest time, this outlet should be about sixty feet wide and eight feet deep, capable of passing 1,600 cubic feet of water a second. But nature has here provided only a crookes stream about thirty feet wide and five feet deep, and given such a small slope that it can deliver only about four hundred cubic feet a second. Thus, the usual time for the safe delivery of storm water, commonly placed at from two to three weeks, is here lengthened into two to three months.

"A large part of the Thief river watershed is thus kept wet by reason of its peculiar topography, that is, having its slope all in one direction rendering impossible the usual and natural processes of river-making. . ."

Hoag also noted that the entire area is underlaid with "a stratum of impervious clay, extending from two to four feet below the surface to an unknown depth." This prevents water from seeping into the subsoil.

Residents who have lived in the drainage area for a number of years believe that part of the problems today stem from what was not done, as well as what was done in the drainage project.

In dredging the river channel, the dredge was to have made two cuts in the river bottom. With water covering the cuts, it is said that only one cut was made in some cases, permitting the dredges to move faster than if two cuts were made. Half the channel remained clogged in these places, halting some of the water flow from the deeper channel.

Additionally, the flow of water carried to the Thief river by the system of drainage ditches is too large for the river channel to handle. Field drainage of recent years in the upper reaches of the watershed also speed the flow of water into the lower part of the river.

The situation is a magnification of pouring water into a funnel from many sources. There is ample room for water to enter the funnel but too small an outlet for it. It would seem that an extremely large project would be required to enlarge the outlet to a sufficient size.

Co. Population Down 555 from 1960 Estimate

rate higher than the state average.

The method of estimation used for the 1965 estimates is the same "composite" method used for the 1964 estimates. With this method various "indicators' are used to derive estimate for various age groups separately which are then summed to secure a total for all ages. This total is then adjusted to sum to the estimate of total state population released by the U. S. Census Bureau.

The "indicators' used for the different age group were; resident deaths for the age group 45 years and over, resident births for the age groups 0-4 years and 15-44 years of age, and school census data for the age group 5-14 years of age.

County estimates released in previous years have been revised to conform to the most recent revisions of total state populatin released by the U. S. census bureau.

Two Mishaps, Two Thefts Reported By Police Dept.

Two automobile accidents and two larcenies were reported today by the Thief River Falls police department. Wednesday at 11:50 a.m. a car driven by Henry Hovet, Goodridge, stopped for the stop sign on Horace avenue at Third street facing south. After yielding to traffic on Third, Hovet proceeded into the intersection and was struck in the right front fender by a vehicle driven by Floyd Sunsdal, also of Goodridge, which was going east on Third. Damage was estimated at $120 to the Hovet car and $100 to the Sunsdal vehicle.

At 2:45 p.m. Thursday a car driven by Alma Lindquist, city, was traveling east on Second street and at the intersection with Knight avenue collided with a vehicle driven by Orlie Rux, city, which was going north on Knight. Damage was estimated at $250 to the Lindquist car and $300 to the Rux vehicle.

On Sunday, April 24, it was reported that a small metal box containing a small amount of currency was taken from a car parked on a downtown street. A juvenile boy, aged 15, has admitted the theft. The case is under investigation.

Sunday it was reported that on April 24 a black rain-or-shine overcoat valued at $20 was taken from a car parked on Third Street.

Nancy Newton Is Delegate at SMEA Assembly

Nancy Newton of Thief River Falls, a student at Concordia college, was among 150 delegates who attended the second annual Student Minnesota Education association (SMEA) delegate assembly April 22 and 23 at Winona State college. SMEA is the college student affiliate of the Minnesota Education association (MEA).

Speakers included Dr. Irvamae Applegate, dean of the St. Cloud State college school of education and president-elect of the National Education association (NEA); Dr. Matthew Stark, assistant professor and coordinator, human relations programs, student activities bureau, office of the dean of students, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis; and Lane Hotchkiss, senior at Ball State University, Muncie, Ind. and president of the Student National Education association (SNEA).

Dr. Applegate pointed out that many of the challenges that are facing the world must be solved in the school. Teachers, she said, especially those coming into the profession must face such challenges as the social revolution, the population and knowledge explosions, and international relations.

IN THE WORLD SERIES LAST FALL, they operated from opposing dugouts — now they both go to bat for bicycle safety in Minnesota! Jerry Kindall (center), one-time University of Minnesota baseball star and currently a second baseman for the Twins, and Maury Wills, record-breaking base-stealer and sparkling shortstop for the Los Angeles Dodgers, take time out to coach Dale Mischke, eight, of Saint Paul, on the need for learning and following the "rules of the road" when riding a bike. Pleased with their pitch is Dr. A. B. Rosenfield (left), Director of Special Services for the Minnesota Department of Health, which this week is furnishing "10 Little Bike Riders", a new and colorful cartoon-and-rhyme folder to all public, parochial and private school pupils in the second, third and fourth grades. Under the auspices of the Minnesota Jaycees, the massive statewide distribution effort is being handled by the Saint Paul Jaycees, except for Hennepin County where the folders are being packaged and delivered by the Minneapolis Jaycee community safety committee. Statistically, there are generally more bicycle accidents in Minnesota during the first few weeks of spring, when the children start riding again after a long winter's lapse. The program is timed to offer them a special safety reminder just ahead of Easter vacation.

Peggy Keifenheim Of Grand Forks, Dies Unexpectedly

Margaret M. (Peggy) Keifenheim, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern C. Keifenheim of 2911 Chestnut Street, Grand Forks, N. D., and a freshman student at Mankato State college, died there unexpectedly Tuesday evening.

Funeral services for Margaret Keifenheim were held Friday at 10 a.m. at the Holy Family Catholic church at Grand Forks with the Rev. John Axtman officiating. Interment was made in the Calvary cemetery.

Margaret Keifenheim was born Aug. 12, 1947 at Thief River Falls. From 1950 to 1952 she resided at Roseau with her family. She moved to Grand Forks, N. D., in 1952 where she attended St. Michael's grade school and was graduated from St. James high school in June 1965.

While attending St. James, she had been a member of the National Honor Society and of the Grand Forks Ballet company. She entered Mankato State in Septem- speech and minoring in physical ber 1965, majoring in drama and education. She had been employed part time in the college library.

An expert swimmer who had received her senior life saving certificate, she was a member of the Dolphins Swim club and the Orchesis society at Mankato State.

She was a member of the Holy Family Parish and was church organist.

She is survived by her parents; a twin sister and brother, Jill and Jack and another sister, Kathy, all at home; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Keifenheim of Red Lake Falls and Mrs. Winifred Troumbly of Mankato.

Matt Gerardy, Once of Plummer, Dies At Fairfax

Matt Fred Gerardy, 72, a former tax assessor of Red Lake County and a long time resident of the Plummer community, died Thursday, April 21, of a heart attack while doing carpenter work on a farm near Fairfax.

Funeral services for Matt Gerardy were held Monday, April 25, at St. Andrew's Catholic church in Fairfax with the Rev. Felix Fasching officiating. Interment was in the church cemetery.

Pallbearers were Peter Smith, Sr., Elmer Jenson, Everett Schmid, Robert Gerardy, Ronald Gerardy and Thomas Gerardy. Honorary pallbearers were Dr. Glenn Nelson, Oscar Olson, Fred Moldenhauer, Donald Sell, William Peichel, Marcus Jones and Harold Palmer.

Matt Gerardy was born May 13, 1893 in Carlo township, Renville county, a son of Peter and Mary Bovy Gerardy. On Sept. 17, 1917 he married Christine Reiff at St. Andrew's church at Fairfax. They farmed for two years in the Fairfax area and 28 years in Red Lake county where he served as tax assessor for a number of years.

He returned to Fairfax where he was active in the carpenter and building trade until his retirement seven years ago.

He was a member of St. Andrew's church, the Knights of Columbus and of the board of directors at the Fairfax Nursing home in which capacity he played a very important part in the building and operation at the home.

He is survived by his wife, Christine; one son, Gerald Gerardy of San Diego, Calif., two daughters, Mrs. Lynn Keifenheim of Red Lake Falls and Mrs. Cyril (Louella) Chaplewski of Bloomington; 17 grandchildren and eight brothers and sisters, including Pete Gerardy of Plummer and Mrs. Agnes Bruggeman of Red Lake Falls.

Two children, Walter and Florence, preceded him in death.

Attending the services from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Pete Gerardy of Plummer, Mrs. Agnes Bruggeman of Red Lake Falls and Ronald Gerardy and the Ray Rausch family of Thief River Falls.

Services Held At Hallock for Mrs. Lager's Brother

Funeral services for Arthur Vik, brother of Mrs. Carrie Lager of Thief River Falls, were held Friday at 2 p.m. at the Larson - Hoenke Funeral home at Hallock. Burial was made in the Lake Bronson cemetery. Mr. Vik died unexpectedly Monday at Detroit, Mich., where he had made his home for the past 15 years. Death was due to a heart attack.

Arthur Vik was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Vik and worked in Lake Bronson about 20 years ago. He was a World War II veteran.

He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Arthur (Roberta) Larson and a son, Charles; one brother, John Vik of Minneapolis and three sisters, Mrs. Carrie Lager, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Bert (Ellen) Warnes of Karlstad, and Mrs. Earl (Mildred) Olson of Hallock.

Rites Here Today For Albert Haase, Once of Mavie

Albert Haase, 82, a former resident of the Mavie Community, died Wednesday at the Clarkfield Nursing home, Clarkfield, where he had resided for the past eight years.

Funeral services for Albert Haase will be held today (Monday) at 2 p.m. at the St. John Lutheran church in this city. The Rev. Paul Biegner will officiate. Mrs. Sherman Idso will serve as organist and soloist and the congregation will sing a hymn.

Pallbearers will be George Zachar, Stanley Hruby, Henry Klockman, Dale Kainz, James Philipp and Kermit Maldment. Interment will be in the Grand Plain cemetery in Grand Plain township, Marshall county. Singing's Funeral chapel is in charge of funeral arrangements.

Albert Hase was born Aug. 28, he moved with his parents from New York to the Odessa area where he received his elementary education and grew to manhood. In 1917 he came with his brother, William, to the Mavie area. A farmer, he also was engaged as a general laborer and during several intervals was employed in Montana and the Dakotas. Eight years after the death of his brother, he left the Mavie community and became a resident of a nursing home at Clarkfield. He never married.

His only survivors are nine nieces and nephews. His parents, two brothers and one sister preceded him in death.

QUESTIONS Answered for VETERANS

Q—I am contemplating converting my GI term insurance to ordinary life insurance. Will yearly dividends continue to be paid on the converted insurance?

A—Yes, insurance dividends will be paid on the converted ordinary life insurance.

Q—Are there any income limitations for dependent parents of a son who was killed in action in World War II?

A—There are no income limitations on veterans or widows receiving service-connected compensation from the Veterans Administration. However, since parents of a veteran who died from service-connected causes must prove that they would be dependent on the veteran were he still alive, there is an income limitation on their case.

Q—My son expects to enlist in the Army soon. Will he be entitled to "GI" insurance? What must he do to be sure he is covered while in service?

A—All persons who enter active service for 31 years or more automatically insured for $10,000 under "Servicemen's Group Life Insurance." Your son need do nothing to obtain this protection. Action is required of an individual only if he does not desire the insurance or wants $5,000 coverage instead of $10,000. In such a case he will be required to sign a statement to that effect. The cost of the insurance is $2.00 per month for $10,000 or $1.00 for $5,000. The Army will deduct the cost from your son's monthly service pay.

Mrs. Gary Johnson
Rt. 1, Goodridge, 681-[illegible]

The Kratka Homemakers club met at the Julian C. Lendobeja home Monday afternoon. They had their Achievement Day and each brought something which they had made during the winter. Members present were Mrs. Raymond Parnow, Mrs. Henry Wauk, Mrs. Sig Sigurdson, Mrs. Carl Lindbloom, Mrs. Alvin Burstad, Mrs. Henry Anenson, Mrs. Julian C. Lendobeja, Mrs. Archie Lendobeja, Mrs. Mary Koglin, Mrs. Elwood Tieman and Susie, Mrs. Wallace Tieman and Mrs. Sidney Wilson. Mrs. W. Tieman and Mrs. Wilson served lunch.

NORDEN . . .

Mrs. Daryl Lewis and Todd and Mrs. L. E. Dyrdal were among those who were luncheon guests at the Ervin Melvie home at Viking Monday afternoon.

We are sorry to report that Mrs. Ardell Liden was taken to the hospital by ambulance Monday morning suffering from a slipped disc in her back. Sincere wishes are extended for her speedy recovery. The two youngest Liden children are at this writing staying with their grandparents, the Harold Matzkes.

Luncheon was served following regular afternoon services Sunday at Norden church in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Rogness and their new baby.

The American Tree Farm system of private timberland management had its inception in Washington state on June 12, 1941, when a company dedicated a 120,000 acre tract of second-growth timber as the "Clemons Tree Farm." The company launched the program to demonstrate to the public that trees can be grown and harvested as a perpetual crop and to focus attention on the need for forest fire prevention.

Sports Schedule In TRF Filled-If Weather Permits

The Prowlers' four spring sports squads — baseball, track, tennis, and golf—after "enjoying" a week's recess because of snow, wind, cold weather, wet grounds, etc., etc., will attempt to get back into their schedules this week.

Coach Ralph Skay's baseball squad, with a 5 to 0 win over Red Lake Falls in its lone game to date, are scheduled to play the Ada Vikings here this evening, Monday, with game time at 7:30 p.m. On Wednesday, May 4, with game time at 7:30 p.m., the Karlstad Rabbits of District 32 are to play here. On Thursday, May 5, the Goodridge Huskies will play here in a 4:30 p.m. game. And on Friday, May 6, with game time at Bemidji at 4:30 p.m., the Prowlers will meet coach Chuck Grillo's defending Region Eight champion Lumberjacks.

Coach Roger Solheim's Prowler track squad will participate in the Dragon Relays at Moorhead State college on Saturday, with starting time slated for 1 p.m.

Coach Bill Herzog's tennis squad is scheduled for a pair of dual matches. On Tuesday, May 3, at 4 p.m., the Prowlers will play the Moorhead Spuds at Moorhead. And on Wednesday, May 4, the Bemidji Lumberjacks will meet the Prowlers on the Lincoln high school courts, with starting time at 4 p.m.

And coach Jack Boyer's Prowler golf squad will play a pair of matches. On Wednesday, May 4, the Roseau Rams will play the locals on the course here. And on Friday, May 6, the Prowlers will journey to Bemidji for a match against the Lumberjacks.

Of course this slate of Prowler atletic activities for the week can be postponed or changed because of weather and playing conditions.

Announce New Rules for Gill Net Fishermen

Hjalmer O. Swenson, supervisor of the section of fisheries, division of game and fish last week announced the 1966 regulations governing commercial fishing in Lake of the Woods. Five changes have been made, all aimed at lessening the commercial fisherman's interference with the sport fishery. They are as follows:

1. Gill net fishermen will have the option of operating 4,000 feet of gill net, instead of 3,000 feet, if they do no gill net fishing prior to June 20. This will tend to reduce the take of walleyes and increase the take of tullibees. Tullibee fishing from late June through July is important to the area's mink industry.

2. The area closed to commercial fishing at Pine Island and Morris Gap will be extended. The closed area will be within two miles of the mouth of the Rainy River, designated as the point on the international boundary east of the eastern extremity of Oak Point and within two miles of the outside of Pine Island, measured from the section line between Sections 10 and 11, Township 162 North, Range 32 West.

3. Opening of the following area to gill net fishing will be delayed until June 20: That portion of Muskeg Bay described as the area south and west of a line from the international boundary on the south side of Buffalo Point between Sections 25 and 26, Township 161 North, Range 36 West, to Willow Creek in Section 35, Township 163 North, Range 35 West. This area is heavily used by sport fishermen early in the season.

4. No gill net or submerged trap net shall be set in the Northwest Angle Inlet from the area at Magnuson Island west to the Canadian border. This area is not well suited for gill net operations and is heavily used for sport fishing.

5. The monthly reports licensed commercial fishermen are required to make will be submitted to the nearest game warden by the 10th of the following month. Previously the fishermen had 30 days in which to submit monthly reports to St. Paul.

Bjorkman Attends Clothing Market

Cliff Bjorkman of Bjorkman's in Thief River Falls met with 225 other men's wear retailers who are members of N. W. Buyers & Jobbers, Inc., and who individually are known also as the Allied Clothiers, to view the new styles, fabrics and colors for the coming fall and holiday season. The fall market was held at Hotel Dyckman in Minneapolis on April 24, 25 and 26.

Independent men's wear merchants from the Upper Midwest states examined and purchased from 75 wholesalers' and manufacturers' lines that were on exhibit at this buying session.

Wild Rice Crop Last Year Half Of State Average

Minnesota wild rice production last year was less than one-half that of an average year, the conservation department reported today.

Average annual production during the period 1954 to 1963 was about 2.4 million pounds. Because of high water, production in 1964 was 1,285,000 pounds or about one-half the average annual production of the preceding 10 years.

Figures are still incomplete for 1965 but to date only 1,086,000 pounds have been reported and game and fish research officials believe the final total will not exceed this figure by much. High water was the enemy again.

The largest harvests were 3.9 million pounds in 1956 and 3.2 million pounds in 1958. Minnesota grows the vast bulk of all wild rice produced in the world. Its closest competitor is Ontario which has an average annual production of only 300,000 pounds.

WATER SKI SAFETY

The safety of any water skier is dependent to a great extent on the good sense of the tow boat driver. If your driver is careless or reckless, change his ways or change drivers. Here are a few commandments of safe water skiing from the Mercury outboard people: a) insist that there be an observer in the boat at all times; b) always wear a life saving device; c) make sure your foot binders fit properly and all ski equipment is free of protruding sharp screws, rough edges etc.; d) ski lines and handles should be free of complicated hooks, eyes and other devices as well as unnecessary loops that might entangle, catch or cut a skier; e) try to fall backward when you feel you're about to take a spill; f) don't ski at night or in waters which are unfamiliar to you.

Postal Savings Program To End, Postmaster Says

Postmaster R. J. Dryden today urged depositors with postal savings certificates to withdraw their accounts from post offices as soon as possible or as soon as the anniversary dates on their certificates are reached.

The postal saving system was abolished March 27, with the signing of Public Law 89-377 by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Postmastre R. J. Dryden pointed out that as of April 28, no deposits can be accepted and no new accounts can be opened. He said that interst will end on the anniversary date of each certificate.

The postmaster said that for convenience all certificates held by a depositor may be cashed at the same time and interests will be paid for each full month they have been outstanding beyond three months from the interest date.

The postal savings system was established Jan. 1, 1911, to get money out of hiding and to attract savings of a large number of immigrants who were accustomed to saving at post offices in their own country. It also served as a safe depository for people who had lost confidence in private banks. Today, however, with the growth of banking facilities paying much higher interest rates than the two per cent interest per annum paid on postal savings, the System has out-lived its usefulness for the American people.

The postmaster noted that as of June 30, 1965, there were 997,029 depositors holding certificates in 3,130 post offices throughout the nation. The number of depositors had been declining, he said, at a rate of about 6,500 per month.

Dryden said that unpaid deposits remaining in the post office beyond June 30, 1967, would be transferred to the Treasury department in a trust fund and would be available for payment without time limitation whenever proper claims are received.

Wardens Issue Warning Against Illegal Fishing

Minnestoa conservation department reported today that the spring weather has brought on the annual fish spawning run and brought out the usual number of persons who cannot resist the temptation of illegally taking fish during their most vulnerable period.

Two Cohasset men were arrested by state game wardens April 17 in the act of taking northern pike out of season. They were taken to Deer River where they were found guilty and offered a choice of 90 days in jail or $100 fines.

Names of the two men are Leslie Serfling and Gerald Snell. Game wardens confiscated the nine fish the men had taken.

According to Chief Game Warden F. W. Johnson, the case is typical of many encountered by wardens during the spring. "Taking northerns and other protected game fish before they have a chance to spawn, reflects a selfish and short-sighted attitude toward wildlife," he declared.

TILT PIN ADJUSTMENT

The outboard motor is designed to push a boat straight ahead with minimum effort and resistance. Incorrect tilting in either direction changes the angle of hull attack with a resultant loss of efficiency. Improper tilt angle can reduce boat speed by as much as one-quarter to one-half, say the Mercury outboard experts. When the tilt pin is set too far back, the outboard motor's thrust tends to push the stern down and the bow up. Often the bow will then interfere with the operator's vision. The stern digs into the water, wasting your power, and the windage drag on the hull is increased enormously, which also wastes power. Because the anti-cavitation plate is being dragged at an angle through the water, unnecessary underwater drag and wave action also result. When the tilt pin is too far forward, the bow tends to dig in and the stern rides high. Large bow and stern wakes result. The boat begins to plow through the water instead of planing over it.

Minnesota Deer Sent to Finland Show Increase

Seven Minnesota white-tailed deer shipped to Finland in 1934 have grown to a herd of 4,000, the conservation department reported today.

Chief Game Warden F. W. Johnson received a letter from former Finnish counsul E. A. Aaltio saying the deer were thriving in their new environment.

Aaltio was consul in Duluth when the deer were transported to Finland under an agreement with the state game and fish division. He is now an attorney at Sotavolta, Lampaala, Finland.

Aaltio said the deer were present in good numbers near the city of Tampere and that the Ministry of Agriculture has had an open season on the animals in recent years.

Last fall 400 were taken by hunters and Aaltio said the deer are fast becoming the best hunting game in the country.

Urge Driver Care To Save Pheasants

Minnesota game and fish division today urged motorists in southern and western Minnesota to be extra cautious during the next few months to avoid killing pheasants.

Game experts say that the birds are highly active during the spring mating and nesting period and are likely to wander onto roadways.

Ted Shields, state game and fish director, pointed out that every hen pheasant that is killed can be expected to subtract about three or four birds from the fall hunting population.

"If the pheasant population is to recover from its present low level" said Shields, "it is imperative that birds which survived the winter be permitted to produce a hatch of young."

Multiple use of the forest is the cardinal principle of the American tree farm system. Although the growing of wood for the nation's needs is the primary purpose of tree farming, the added benefits of soil stabilization, watershed protection, wildlife habitat, water conservation and outdoor recreation are the natural results of well managed forest lands.

Appointments to the Academy

Announcements were made last week of the appointment of a couple of Region Eight athletes to the West Point Military academy. John Roberts of Warroad, the son of Marcia and Dick Roberts, and who was a sturdy defenseman for coach John Hopkins Warriors this past season, received notice last week of his admission to West Point. Congressman Odin Langen was notified by the West Point staff that Roberts had been selected as an Additional Appointee by the United States Military Academy. And Congressman Langen notified, and congratulated, John by letter of his appointment.

And Bob Johnson, a three-sport star at Bemidji—football, basketball and baseball—also received notification of his appointment to the Military Academy at West Point.

The two boys should make fine cadets, and they should also prove to be assets to the Army athletic squads. They are both solid competitors. Roberts should be a promising candidate for the Cadets' hockey squad, and Johnson, who is capable at all his lettering sports at Bemidji, will probably be a strong candidate for the Army football squad.

Apologies to Bill

Before I am the recipient of letters from Plummer sports fans correcting me in my statement that Bill Malwitz is a Yankee fan, I will make the correction and state that it is Emil Malwitz who is the rabid Yankee fan in the Plummer area. Emil and Bill are brothers.

And I suppose Bill figures that it was approaching libel to say that he was a Yankee fan, and an associate of such Yankee rooters as Russ Embury, Bob Carlson, Shorty Perkins and others. And it could be at that.

Quite a few of the Yankee fans are reconciled to the fact the club won't be in the pennant chase this season. They will be satisfied if the Yankees can finish in first division, and that will be quite an accomplishment.

Russ, though, is a bit stubborn about the prospects of the Yankees, and so is Bob Carlson. But said Russ: "That is surely a low blow when the Yankees have to have a Peterson on the pitching staff." End of quote.

In No Hurry

Larry Ross, the hockey coach of the state champion Broncos, is apparently in no hurry to leave International Falls. A report out of Colorado Springs on Friday stated that Larry was to coach hockey at Colorado college; but that report was in error and corrected on Saturday, with Ross stating that he is remaining at the Falls.

The Broncos, who have had to travel across the river to play their hockey games and engage in practice drills, on the Fort Francis ice, will have their own arena in a year or so. And Larry hopes to be at International Falls when this rink is opened.

Ross isn't in any hurry to get into college coaching. But I imagine if the Minnesota coaching position became available, Ross, who is a former Gopher goalie, would give such a bid careful consideraton.

It's Certain

With the weather conditions as they have been for the past week or ten days, the only sports activity that is on this week's schedule, and which is a certainity of being held, is the annual meeting and awards banquet of the men's bowling association. The banquet will be held at the Elks Club on Wednesday, May 4.

Fishermen should not wade rock-bottomed streams with plain rubber-soled boots. Felt soles or leather soles with hobnails, make the difference between slipping and sliding or staying firmly upright.

Seven from City Score in Police Shooting Match

Red River Valley Peace Officers' Association held its pistol shoot and quarterly meeting Thursday at Red Lake Falls. The shoot, a Camp Perry event, was held at the Sportsmen club range with seven Thief River Falls men representing three law enforcement agencies participating.

Despite the extremely inclement weather, 30 men participated in the shoot. The shooters were divided into five classes, along with a group of unclassified shooters. The Camp Perry event consists of five-shot strings fired at a bull's-eye target at a range of 25 yards. The whole shooting match is divided into three events: slow fire (10 shots in five minutes), timed fire (five shots in 20 seconds) and rapid fire (five shots in 10 seconds). All shooting was done with standard service revolvers.

Winners in the five classes, with the aggregate of their scores in the three firing events, are as follows: Class "A"—Joe Christensen, Grand Forks, Northern Pacific rail--Lloyd Nilson, Grand Forks, Borrond investigator, 546; Class "B" Schroeder, East Grand Forks, Police 502; Class "D"—Wally Johnson; Grand Forks, police, 433; der patrol, 518; Class "C"—John Class "E"—Robert Corbett, Grand Forks, police, 387; and "Unclassified"- Ken Christian, Thief River Falls, state bureau of criminal apprehension, 513. Merchandise prizes were awarded to the winners.

Shooters from the Thief River Falls police department, with their scores, are as follows: Wallace Heaton, 464; Alan Noreen, 481; Harold Blazek, 418; Tony Kozojed, 378; and Irving Swanson, 425. Cliff Mattson of the Thief River Falls highway patrol station scored 397.

The quarterly meeting hosted by Red Lake County Sheriff Gerald Hinze, was held in the American Legion club. The afternoon porgram was presented by the Crookston mental health clinic, and was followed by a social hour and banquet.

Attending from Thief River Falls, along with the shooters, were Charles Richards, sheriff; Arthur Rambeck, former sheriff; Mrs. Patricia Thompson, clerk of court; Joe Books, parole officer; and Capt. Ralph Potvin and Sgt. John Oven of the highway patrol. The next association shoot will be a medal shoot to be held in Moorhead in July.

MVMA Gives Warning On Danger of Rabies

Parents should tell their children to keep away from any wild animal which shows signs of becoming unnaturally friendly or aggressive toward people. This easily recognizable symptom is stressed by the Minnesota Veterinary Medical association in its continuing campaign against the spread of rabies.

The MVMA warning comes during 'Be Kind To Animals Week,' May 1-7, which is a reminder that the natural tendency of children to be overly affectionate toward wild animals can be extremely dangerous.

"Every year we have scare cases involving some youngster who has been bitten by a wild animal", advised Dr. D. S. Fleming, M.D., director, division of disease prevention and control, Minnesota department of public health. "The animal is often impossible to locate. The result is the child must be subjected to costly and painful rabies vaccination procedures to certain his life is not in jeopardy," Dr. Fleming said.

Each year, many domestic animals contact rabies due to contact with rabid wild animals—skunks being the chief cause of spreading the disease. Hunting dogs in particular are exposed to this hazard.

All dogs and cats should be vaccinated against rabies, according to Dr. J. G. Flint, executive officer of the Minnesota Livestock Sanitary board.

"There were 4,784 cases of animal rabies reported in the U. S. during 1964, the most recent year Minnesota reached a peak of 461 animal rabies cases in 1958, a figure which was reduced to 193 reported cases in 1965.

In the first three months of 1966 there have already been 22 cases of bonvine rabies, a particular danger due to the proximity of farm animals to humans.

"The disease seems to peak in four year cycles," Dr. Anderson said. "Animal owners become alarmed, have their animals vaccinated and the incidence diminshes. A few years later, they forget about rabie, fail to have animals vaccinated and the disease increases again."

There are simple rules of safety which everyone should obersive, the Minnesota Veterinary Medical association points out.

1. Be alert for signs of abnormal behavior in wild animals—either aggressiveness or lack of normal fear.

2. Call your veterinarian if a pet or domestic animal has been bitten or shows signs of abnormal behavior.

3. Call a physician at once if a member of your family has been bitten by any animal—including bats and rats.

4. Follow the instruction of your physician or local health officer. He may ask you to capture and hold the biting animal, if possible, to determine whether it had rabies.

5. On the farm, watch for symptoms of unusual behavior in livestock: hoarse bellowing, salivation and partial paralysis.

6. Have your dogs and cats vaccinated as recommended by your veterinarian for protection against the skunks and wildlife that are an ever present hazard in all areas of Minnesota.

Note Increase in State Diversion Of Feed Grains

According to the latest reports 93,317 farmers in Minnesota have signed up in the Voluntary feed grain diversion program to take 2,576,407 acres out of feed grain production this year, according to Ben Wichterman, chairman of the Minnesota Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. The current sign up for the program ended April 15.

Through April 15, farmers signed up to divert 1,303,003 acres of feed grains for payment, including 1,150,718 acres of corn, 150,885 acres of barley and 1,400 acres of grain sorghum in Minnesota; 30,423 farms were signed up in the voluntary wheat diversion program. The latter will earn domestic marketing certificates, valued at the difference between the national average price support loan rate and parity as of July 1, 1966.

"Objectives of these programs are to strengthen income for farmers, particularly those who make full use of the programs," Wichterman said. "Another objective is to help keep feed grain and wheat production in balance with consumption and at the same time to hold down government stocks.

"In 1961 the voluntary diversion programs for feed grain offset the increased yield trend so that excessive new feed grain producton was avoided. A start was made thatyear on cutting down the large supply that was already on hand. Most of this surplus, 85 to 90 per cent, went into government stocks. At the start of the 1965 harvest season carryover was down to about 56 million tons. This was much closer to the desirable carryover level of about 45 million tons needed for insurance against emergencies," the state ASCS chairman added.

"In 1965 a new national high in feed grain yields showed an 18 per cent increase over 1964 yields. Just imagine what an increase of feed grains we would have had if the feed grain program diversion acreage had been used for production off feed grains during last year," he said.

"These voluntary diversion programs must depend for success on a large signup of farmers. Feed grain stocks remain more than sufficient for emergency needs. It would have been a mistake if our feed grain farmers had thought this problem was solved. They made wise decisions and this has been reflected in the heavy signup in Minnesota," Wichterman concluded.

Gunder Hanson Has School Post In Detroit Lakes

Gunder Hanson of Perham, son of Mrs. Gilbert Hanson of Thief River Falls and a 1944 graduate of Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, has been appointed coordinator of agricultural services for the Detroit Lakes area vocational-technical school. Hanson had been at Perham since 1955 and will begin his new duties on July 1.

Duties will include the organizing of new courses and coordinating the agricultural education programs with various schools for further developing programs in farm management, farm machinery repair, agricultural sales and services, advanced agriculture for high school graduates and a record analysis center for farmers in the area.

Hanson received his bachelor's degree from North Dakota State university in Fargo in 1953 and taught for two years at Hazen, N. D., before moving to Perham. He served with the navy from 1944 to 1946, is married to the former Delores Ketterling of Napoleon, N.D., and has four children, Linda, 10; Greg, 8; Jeffrey 6; and Timothy, 3.

Homer Grinde Is FFA Star Farmer

Homer Grinde of Thief River Falls district star farmer of Future Farmers of America, is among 100 young Minnesotans from 75 FFA chapters throughout the state recently named winners of some $28,000 in FFA awards.

They will be honored at a noon luncheon on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota today (Monday) and Tuesday during the state FFA convention.

Explains USDA Ruling on Use of Aldrin, Dieldrin

Considerable confusion has been created by misleading releases to newspapers and radio stations about the U. S. Department of Agriculture's cancellation of certain uses of aldrin and dieldrin.

John Lofgren, University of Minnesota extension entomologist, says the USDA ruling cancels use of aldrin and dieldrin as foliar applications or postemergence sprays for grasshopper, cutworm and army worm control on corn, soybeans and small grains.

Aldrin can still be used as a soil treatment to control soil insects in corn, and aldrin and dieldrin can be used as a seed treatment on vegetables, grains and forages. Dieldrin may still be used on tree fruits, such as apples and plums.

On January 31, the pesticide regulation diversion of USDA's agricultural research service announced the cancellation of certain uses of aldrin and dieldrin on a number of field and vegetable crops. The ruling was effective about March 1.

USDA officials said some uses of these insecticides were cancelled because more sensitive residue detection procedures indicated aldrin and dieldrin can produce illegal residues on certain crops and in milk of cows fed these crops.

According to USDA, the ruling cancelled use of aldrin as a foliage treatment on corn and all uses of aldrin other than seed treatment on crops that included alfalfa, birdsfoot trefoil, clover, grass, millet, milo, pasture grass, small grains (barley, oats, rye and wheat), soybeans and sugar beets.

Use of dieldrin, other than seed treatment, was cancelled for such crops as corn, grass, millet, milo, pasture grass, small grains (barley, oats, rye and wheat), soybeans and sorghum.

New Drug Will Prevent Legume Bloat in Cattle

A new drug to prevent legume bloat in cattle has been developed by Erle E. Bartley, dairy scientist at Kansas State university. The drug is called "poloxalene" and, if used correctly, is said to be 100 per cent effective in preventing cattle bloat. The drug is dry and can be spread over grain as a topdressing.

Raymond B. Solac, extension veterinarian at the University of Minnesota, says, the bloat preventive could easily be given to dairy cattle getting a daily grain ration, but giving the drug to pasture cattle would be more difficult.

To prevent bloat, the drug must be fed to cattle a few minutes before they are pastured or fed freshly cut legumes. And it must be fed daily—10 grams for animals weighing less than 1,000 pounds and 20 grams for larger animals.

Cattle bloat causes nearly $100 million in losses annually for United States livestock producers, and losses from bloat are even more serious in New Zealand, Australia and South America.

Child Labor Law Reminder Issued

Farmers and growers are reminded that, although the fair labor standards act permits children minded that, although the fair laof any age to work on farms after school and during vacation, it sets a 16-year age minimum for work during school hours.

This reminder came from Earl E. Halverson, regional director of the U. S. Labor department's wage and hour and public contracts division, the agency which administers the act.

Halverson said that the child-labor provisions of the law apply to local youngsters and children of migratory workers alike. The only exception to the law is the child working exclusively for his parents or guardian on their own farm.

Child-labor provisions apply to farmers whose crops go either directly or indirectly into interstate or foreign commerce. Halverson said that a farmer must observe the law if he has reason to believe that his crops—either in thier original form or processed—will eventually cross State lines.

"If state and federal laws on the employment of children differ," he added, "the higher standards must be observed."

Flaxseed Support Rate Announced

Prices for the 1966 crop of flaxseed will be supported at a national average of $2.90 per bushel for grade No. 1 flaxseed, according to Marcel Dahl, chairman of the Marshall County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. This is the same level as for the 1965 crop.

Terminal and county support rates, with adjustments for grade and quality differences, will be announced later.

Price support for 1966 will again be made available through warehouse and farm-stored loans and by purchases. The simplified procedure for handling grain loans, in use during the past two years, enables farmers to obtain their loans more promptly. Producers will not have to pay a delivery charge in connection with 1966-crop loans if they redeem their crops instead of delivering them to the Commodity Credit corporation.

Full particulars regarding operating provisions for the 1966 price-support program for flaxseed will be available at the ASCS county office.

Dairy Month Kickoff Set for Met Stadium

"Dairy Night at the Met," the official kickoff event for Minnesota's 30th annual observance of June Dairy Month, will be observed at Metropolitan Stadium in Bloomington on June 1.

The Minnesota Twins are dedicating their game against Detroit as the team's salute to the dairy industry of Minnesota which includes some 65,000 dairy farm families and hundreds of dairy processors.

Between 2,000 and 4,000 dairy people are expected from out-state for the game which will be preceded by a special Dairy Night fun program starting at 7:30 p.m.

One feature of the pre-game program will be a cow-milking contest involving Twin players. Another will be the first appearance of Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Mary Ann Titrud, in a dress fashioned from several hundred Minnesota butter cartons.

An "All-Minnesota Dairy picnic" will be held at Minnehaha Falls in South Minneapolis from 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. the same day. American Dairy association of Minnesota, coordinating agency for all June Dairy Month events, will provide free milk and ice cream for all attending the picnic.

The public as well as dairy people are invited to participate in both the picnic and Dairy Night events on a "dutch treat" basis, according to ADA of Minnesota.

Reserve seat tickets for the special dairy section at the ball game are available at $2.50 each from the ADA state office, 2239 Carter Ave., St. Paul 55108. Deadline for guaranteed seating with the special group is May 10. Late orders will be filled catch-as-catch-can in the same area.

Tickets for a catered picnic supper to be served between 4:30 and 6 p.m. also are available at the ADA state office. Price is $1.25 each.

An ADA spokesman said initial success of both picnic and Dairy night events last year prompted their being rescheduled for the 1966 June Dairy Month kickoff.

June Dairy Month in Minnesota traditionally includes scores of parades, festivals, dairy days, pageants, dairy princess contests and other special dairy promotions throughout the state. Among these is Northwest Dairy Day in Thief River Falls.

"Modern capitalism encourages innovation and it has prospered because it caters to change and seeks out new and better ways to achieve its end. Capitalism can adjust itself to regulation when necessary and still remain a viable, productive system."

—Henry C. Nolen

The Breaking Point

When he was President of the United States, the late John F. Kennedy made a statement which caught the imagination of the nation. "Ask not what your country can do for you," he said, "but what you can do for your country." It was a "catchy" statement and has been repeated many times.

Since succeeding JFK in the nation's highest office, President Lyndon B. Johnson has also been doing a lot of asking. He asked the country's business to curb inflation by holding the line against price increases. He has asked for legislation which would restrict the normal increase in business and make it extremely difficult for new business to begin.

Now he is asking busines to find room in its work force for almost two million high school and college graduates moving into the labor force when schools close in June. The latter request is being circulated by a number of federal departments, bureaus and agencies in letters and pamphlets mailed to the nation's businessmen.

A brochure from the U. S. Department of Commerce states: "President Johnson is asking employers to create at least a million extra jobs for these young people by giving them meaningful work or training opportunities in a way that will be good for them and good business for everyone. At the height of our prosperity you can insure its continuance by adding one extra trainee to your business this summer."

A letter from the Small Business administration notes: "The President has asked again that federal, state and local governments and private employers join forces this summer in an investment program in our most valuable natural resource —the youth of the nation."

We would like to ask something of the President. "How do you propose that business shall pay for bonus labor in the face of high taxes on all levels, increasing business costs, higher labor costs and declining profits without raising prices which add to inflation?"

There simply has to be a breaking point for business, and we are approaching it more rapidly each day. We can not keep pouring water into the business balloon without inflating it, and any balloon will hold just so much water before it breaks and all the contents are lost.

It is one thing to keep asking for assistance, and quite another thing to be able to provide it. Employees must produce value at least equal to their wages or business can not exist. Unsold production has no value. In spite of the willingness of business to cooperate and work for the future of the nation and its youth, there is a breaking point.

Perhaps President Johnson should remind himself of his predecessor's statement and ask not what the country can do for him, but what he can do for his country.

Cost to Rear a Child

Not too long ago we printed an editorial with statistics similar to the one following. With federal income tax payments still fresh in our mind, however, it seems an appropriate time to reprint this editorial from the Union County (N.M.) Leader:

Hey, Uncle, how much does it cost to rear a child?

You allow us taxpaying parents only $600 a year to feed, cloth, house and train a youngster. In your Federal Government Job Corps you spent $7,000 a year!

Now, which is the correct figure? Either we're allowing you too much or you're not allowing us enough.

You allow taxpaying parents a $600 deduction for the care and feeding of each child. . .

Yet under the Cuban refugee program you assume minimal upkeep requires $1,200 a year—and if the Cuban boy or girl is attending school—an extra $1,000 a year.

How come you shortchange the homefolks?

In the austere environs of a federal prison, you have discovered that it costs—to maintain one person, with no frills, no luxuries, and no borrowing Dad's car—$2,800 per year!

By what rule-of-thumb do you estimate that Mom and Dad can do it for one-fourth that amount?

Under Social Security, you will pay $168 a month to maintain the elderly. What makes you think we can maintain our young'uns on $50 a month?

And, Uncle, your VISTA Program (Volunteers in Service to America) spent $8.1 million this last fiscal year to turn out 202 trainees. That indicates that the cost of maintaining and training one youth for one year is more than $15,000.

Then how come we taxpaying parents get an exemption of only $600 to maintain and train one youth for one year?

Or let's see how much you spend upkeeping one youngster in military uniform. House $55.20 a month. Food, $30.27 a month. Clothing upkeep, $4.20 a month. That comes to $1,076.04 a year.

How in the world do you expect parents to provide all these things, plus clothes, recreation, books, medicine. . for $600 a year? With your own figures, you admit it can't be done.

It is possible, Uncle, that you epxect us parents to mange more efficiently than you, because we usually do.

With all our expenses, we American individuals have more than enough savings to offset our debts; you don't.

With all our prosperity, you, Uncle, are still spending per year $2.9 billion more for relief than during the depths of the Depression. So it may be that you are uncommonly extravagant.

But however we try to rationalize and explain you and excuse you, it is still a hurtful affront, when you allow us hard-working, dues-paying homefolks only $600 a year to rear a legitimate child.

While you under ADC will pay more than $800 a year to unkeep an illegitimate one.

People Cause Accidents

The following editorial is from the Waseca Herald:

There is an old saying that one should find the cause before he applies the remedy.

It is not 100 per cent applicable to the present situation concerning the terrific accident toll in the United States but it does seem that politicians like Senator Walter Mondale are speaking more for political purposes than they are at getting at the source of the cause of motor vehicle accidents.

We talked with an adjuster recently and he stated that in all his years as an adjuster he had never run into a case where a mechanical defect by the manufacturer had been the cause. There was one accident in which a 12 year old car had brought about an accident because it was worn out.

Human error causes most of the accidents and the others are brought on by hazardous conditions of the highways, usually as the result of inclement weather.

But the politicians will never blame the people—they constitute the votes. It is better to blame the manufacturers, they can not amass more than a handful of votes. So in this election year we will have to go on listening to this harangue, forced to say nothing for who can oppose even the most feeble attempt to make the highways a trifle safer.

Shall We Cheer?

Wednesday morning we received a telegram from Washington which noted that the Inter-County Community council at Oklee has been awarded a grant of $249,917 from the Office of Economic Opportunity. That figure is mighty close to a quarter of a million dollars. Go ahead and cheer.

According to the telegram from Senators McCarthy and Mondale, the money is to be used in employing 154 low-income elderly on community betterment projects such as improvement and beautification of village parks, renovation of community service centers, beautification of roadsides, streets, campsites and other recreation areas. Cheer again.

That quarter million dollars dropped in this less than four-county area is one chip off the big block of federal spending for similar make-work programs across the nation. Hundreds of millions of dollars are being scattered around the country—dollars taken by the government from the worked-for and hard-earned income of the nation's taxpayers. Cheer once more.

Doesn't it give you a great feeling to know that those dollars you never become acquainted with because of withholding—or that you have to borrow to meet your internal revenue obligation—are being put to such a worthwhile use? Aren't you glad you are one of President Johnson's favorite "haves" instead of one of the depressed and unfortunate "have nots"? Doesn't the very thought of "Project Pretty-Up" (yes, that's what they call it) send a thrilling sensation up your spine? Go ahead, cheer.

Personally, that spine-thrilling sensation becomes a pain near the lower spinal extremity, and the cheer tends to be more like a cry of anguish and despair. We are compelled to stifle an urge to see the $249,917 taken in one dollar bills and stuffed down the throats—literally—of the political nuts that hold the wheel of fortune.

Some way to show your appreciation, you say. We finally get some of our money back from Uncle Sam and you knock it, you say. Everybody else is getting federal funds so why shouldn't we, you say. There goes that idiot editor spouting off again, you say.

Clap your hands and cheer.

And when you are through clapping your hands, put one of them in your hip pocket and fish out that bulky wallet. Tell yourself you don't care if the bulk comes from your driver's license, vehicle registration, social security card, credit cards, hunting and fishing license, selective service card and tax statements or receipts rather than money.

Remind yourself that you are paying taxes to serve humanity—like helping retired millionaires with their hospital bills, subsidizing illegitimate children, landscaping along highways where you whiz by at 70 miles per hour and perpetuating political office holders. Ah, yes, it's great to be a sustaining member of the American fraternity.

Uncle Sam gave us a quarter of a million bucks; three cheers for Uncle Sam. We're waiting. . . .

Interesting Opinions . . .

"More than words, the migration to Australia speaks of protest against the Great Society and politicians. . .Fifty years ago, it would have been unthinkable that as many as 4,000 citizens would be fleeing from America to make a new home. It's happening today. . .Freedom from the bureaucrats and from oppressive big government is getting harder to find, backed now into a corner of the Pacific." —Nashville, Ark., News

BUILDING OR REMODELING?
Otter Tail Offers You a Hundred Bucks Wiring Allowance on Total Electric Homes
There are a lot of things you'll like about your Gold Medallion home. You'll like the room-by-room temperature control, for example, and the even distribution of heat. You'll like how clean and uncluttered your home is . . . no soot, no smoke, no furnace, no storage tank, no chimney, no ducts or radiators. It's flameless. And . . . on a financial note . . . you'll like the fact that your home increases in value as time goes on — because you'll be modern when others are not!
To encourage you to "go electric," Otter Tail offers you a special $100 Wiring Allowance . . . and an all-new Guaranteed Heating Cost Plan. You can find out more about all of this from your local electrical contractor or from any Otter Tail Service Representative. We hope you will . . . soon.
What's Your HOUSEPOWER RATING?
Many homes today are "underpowered" right at the Service Entrance. (That's what we call those wires and the main fuse box.)
If lights dim and your TV picture "shrinks" when you operate electric appliances, you probably are not getting full use of the electricity you're buying. Ask your local electrical contractor to check your home. If you need a bigger Service Entrance, Otter Tail will finance the cost of a new entrance — 100 ampere or larger — up to $200. PAY NOTHING DOWN . . . ONLY $2.59 EACH MONTH, added to your regular electric service bill.
It's still FREE if you hurry!

The Library Corner

By Flora Allison

Catering to a wide range of interests is the library's function. The increasing use of and interest in the non-fiction section is a true indicator of the public awareness of this fact. Have you taken time to examine the wonderful array of magnificent books on the racks with the new Westerns and mysteries? Let's look at some of the material offered there.

"The Field Notes of Captain Wm. Clark" of the Lewis and Clark expedition, are in many cases reproduced as written, with photographs of the actual manuscript as Clark set it down Explanations and printed clarifications are included, as the script is sometimes difficult to read. There's something just a little out of the ordinary in seeing, in an explorer's own handwriting his thoughts as he recorded them, his fears, and his anxieties as he turned his face toward the unknown and plodded, hacked, swam, forded and portaged his way westward.

"The Continent We Live On" by Ivan T. Sanderson highlights the scenic spots to be found in this land which we so proudly call HOME. The photographic effects are tributes to the skil of the photographers and their superb equipment, their clairty and depth outstanding. Accompanying commentaries are absorbing and enlightening. The sweep of America's deserts, awesomeness of its canyons, surge of its water, grandeur of its mountains and divergence of its wildlife are pictured and written about in magnificent style, a tribute to the land we sing of as ". . .the Beautiful'.

The American Heritage series contains also many other valuable works, such as "The American Heritage History of World War I." For those who lived it and those of us who only study about it, the drama, the carnage, the heroism, the strategy and studies of the men who fought the battles on both sides, and the statesmen who were the architects of the struggle, are laid out in realistic fashion and pictured in like manner. A gem of information. Make use of it.

"The American Heritage History of the Great West-by Men Who Were There" contains first-time publicans of many early photographs, of paintings by men who were commissioned to make maps and drawings, and military and naval artists. Also included are beautiful color shot of the modern-day West, together with authentic accounts of the early periods of its history.

"American Heritage Book of Natural Wonders" surpasses many of the others in the spectacular beauty of its color shots, many of which will leave the readers breathless. Black and white pictures of the wonders of our land, from coast to coast and border to border, are also beautifully done. There's a world of educational opportunity in the narratives and in the sparkling descriptions of the places featured. It will make you appreciate even more the attractions of this wonderful land to which we have luckily fallen heir.

"The Horizon History of Christianity" is a dedicated, vivid appraisal of the religious heritage in which most of us find our roots of belief. Intended as a layman's guide primarily, it is of value to the theologian and scholar as well. Depicted is the growth of Christianity and its survival and increased strength in the face of repeated persecution. The impact of religous art on the world is explored at length by the author, Roland H. Bainton, an authority on ecclesiastical history, and it spans twenty centuries of the Christian concept. Many great churches of the world are shown in beautiful color, ancient houses of worship famed for their artistic excellence of design as well as for the spectacular quality of their interiors, *along with many of the new, mod*ern structures which are radical departures from the traditional in church design.

"Ancient Greece," "The Age of Napoleon," "Astronomy," "World Travelog" and "Pioneers of American History" are among others in this grouping. Take one to the table and enjoy it from cover to cover. You'll wonder why you haven't discovered these treasure-houses of beauty and information before this.

Among popular favorites of the juvenile crowd are historical figures, the greats such as "John Smith, a World Explorer by Charles P. Graves; 'Cortes and the Aztecs' is rich in color and adventure, the two ingredients which make them popular fare with this age group. The latter is by the editors of Horizon magazine. "World Beneath the Oceans, a Study of Oceanography" is by the Nature and Science Laboratory, and holds the older boy and his dad in fascination. A childhood delight is "Laughable Limericks" by David Lavine. An early introduction to the mechanics of government is to be found in "What Does a Congressman Do?" Simply done, it is a pleasantly painless way to absorb a bit of history.

A book without a word in it, appealing as only a very small, very droll gray poodle can make it is "What Whiskers Did." Kids will revel in the adventures and misadventures of this inquisitive, friendly little pup. It's done by Ruth Carroll.

"What did you Dream?", an idyll of the dream-world of a small boy, is set among the fields and wild flowers that provide the perfect climate for such happy diversion on a late-summer's day, where the sky curves and clouds drift and peace permeates all. Parents will like this one, and perhaps want to read it aloud to their appreciative audience who people the world of this story. It's here for your spring and summer reading pleasure. Now that library week has passed and many of you realize as perhaps never before the pleasure that reading can afford, don't let the lesson go to waste. Read. For the information you want the escape you need at times, the wider horizons your life can have, the imagination you want to sharpen, the dreams you want to indulge in, or just for the sheer pleasure of it. But read!

Yard 'n Garden

C. GUSTAV HARD — HAROLD C. TORONDEN?
UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA
AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION SERVICE

The tomato is one of the most popular vegetable in Minnesota gardens. It is a warm-season crop, requiring a longer frost-free growing season than most vegetables.

Selection of good varieties is an important step to success in growing tomatoes. In northern Minnesota and Fireball variety and Hybrid EE are exceptionally good. In fact, you can sow seed of these varieties directly into the garden in early May for a crop of canning tomatoes. Both are bush type and do not lend themselves to pruning and staking. When grown in central and southern Minnesota, they produce a very early crop, but soon the plants tend to dry up and become unproductive.

For good staking tomatoes try Hybrid M, Moreton Hybrid or Big Boy. These are dependable hybrids for good production of high-quality fruit. Recent introductions with crack resistance are Cardinal Hybrid, Glamour and Heinze 1350.

Some gardeners still prefer low-acid varieties like Ponderosa, Beefsteak and Oxheart. These pink-fruited types often grow very large and misshapen because of poor pollination and severe blossom drop early in the season.

Wait until Memorial Day before transplanting tomatoes to the garden. Set plants 18-24 inches apart in 3-foot rows. If they are to be pruned and staked. If plenty of room is available, set them 3-4 feet apart and don't prune or stake them.

Use a good starter solution of liquid fertilizer at the time of transplanting. Use ½ cup of any complete fertilizer in each gallon of water and apply ½ cup of this solution per plant.

Since it is very easy to prune off roots by cultivating, avoid root pruning by applying a mulch in late June. Clean straw, sawdust or ground corncobs make a good mulch which will help prevent blossom-end rot.

DREDGE purchased by the city of Thief River Falls for river cleaning arrived on a Soo Line flat car Tuesday afternoon and was unloaded onto a truck with the aid of two draglines. The huge machine was hauled to Nelson Point, just west of the swimming beach, where it is being assembled. The portable dredge is expected to be launched into the river early next week. It is not known at this time where the silt removal project will begin.

County Awards Contract in Construction of Ditch 77

Awarding of contracts for construction of a new ditch and approval of the plat of a subdivision took place at the monthly meeting of the Pennington county board of commissioners Tuesday at the county courthouse in Thief River Falls.

Clifford Hedeen of Thief River Falls was the lowest of three bidders for construction of a new county ditch—County Ditch 77—in Silverton and Smiley townships. His bid of $28,420.72 on the four and one-half miles of [illegible] was accepted by the board and construction is expected to be completed this summer.

Approval subject to approval by the county attorney was given by the board to a plat filed by Joel Rosengren. The plat covers land owned by Rosengren in the area of Oakland Park Nursing home in Rocksbury township and is known as Riverwood subdivision. Property is divided into lots for sale for residential construction.

C. L. Charlson, Pennington county attorney, was instructed to proceed with right-of-way acquisition for an improvement project on County State Aid highway (CSAH) 15 and County Ditch 68 west of Thief River Falls. The improvement had previously been approved at an earlier meeting of the commissioners.

Appropriations were made in the amount of $25 to the Goodridge Lions club and $100 to the Veterans of Foreign War Post 2793 in Thief River Falls for Memorial Day services this year. The local appropriaton is made on alternate years to the American Legion and the VFW.

In other action Tuesday, the board authorized C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor, to invest state funds received in advance of their need. The funds will be placed on short-term investment in anticipation of the date for which they are committed to permit the county to receive interest payment on the money. About $130,000 is to be invested in total with the amount divided into two different dates of maturity.

Talent Contest Set at Grygla

Postponed from last Friday, the annual talent contest for Goodridge, Gatzke and Grygla schools will be held this Friday at 8 p.m. in the Grygla school gymnasium, according to Kenneth Rusten, principal at the Grygla school.

Approximately 30 talent numbers will be presented by students from the three schools who won local elimination events. There will be three classes of competition: Grades 1, 2 and 3; Grades 4, 5 and 6; and Grades 7 and 8.

Head Start Grant Made for Area

Congressman Odin Langen was informed recently by the Office of Economic Opportunity that a Head Start grant has been awarded the Inter-County Community Council, Inc., Oklee, in the amount of $26,967.

Langen said the funds are for an eight-week summer Head Start program and will involve 126 preschool children from low income families.

Crippled Children Clinic Set May 10

Thief River Falls will be a host town for a state Crippled Children services clinic, sponsored by Zehlian Group, Thief River Falls Women's club, to be held on May 10, at Northwestern hospital according to Mrs. Joe Dostal, chairman.

Appointment chairman is Mrs. Harold Buck, who can be contacted at 235 North Kendall, Thief River Falls. Her telephone number is 681-2652.

Minnesota children under 21 years of age with mental retardation, heart lesions, convulsions, cystic fibrosis, club feet, scoliosis and other physical handicaps may be examined. Children needing periodic follow-up and whose parents cannot provide the necessary care may return to the clinic. A physician's written referral and summary is requested on each new patient.

Each child is examined by a pediatrician and an orthopedist, and a report of their findings is sent to the family physician. A public health nurse discusses the child's health with the parents, and helps them work out plans to follow the medical recommendations of the physicians. A medical social worker helps the parents with any emotional, social or financial problems that must be solved.

Appointments should have been made two weeks before the clinic comes to town.

During 1965, 53 field clinics were held in 29 Minnesota towns, with 2,033 children examined. A considerably higher total is in prospect for 1966, since additional clinics are being scheduled.

Groups working with Crippled Children services are: Minnesota State Medical association, Northwestern Medical association, Northwestern Pediatric society, Minnesota-Dakota-Manitoba Orthopedic Society, local and county medical societies, Minnesota Department of Health, public health nurses, state section of special educaion, state division of vocational rehabilitation, county welfare agencies and Gillette State hospital.

Voluntary groups include Minnesota Society for Crippled Children and Adults, National Cystic Fibrosis Research foundation, United Cerebral Palsy of Minnesota, Muscular Dystrophy association, Minnesota Heart association and Society for Retarded Children and the Association for Retarded Children.

Safety Council Discusses Safety Problems Monday

Several items of business and discussion were on the agenda for the Pennington County Safety council at its regular meeting Monday evening at the Rex cafe in Thief River Falls.

The council voted purchase of three billboard signs to be erected by a Grand Forks company on donated rental billboard space near the city this summer. Discussion was held on the theme for the booth sponsored by the council each year at the Pennington county fair.

Motor scooters and motor bikes were again conversation topics. Council members noted that signal lights which are being manufactured and installed on some of the scooters and bikes do not meet Minnesota requirements. Hand signals are the only recognized signals for bike riders in the state.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793 was voted a latter of commendation for its project of erecting signs warning of unsafe ice on the rivers in Thief River Falls.

A question was also raised regarding the suitability of the river for swimming this season in consideration of dredging which is to begin this year. The council also agreed that added emphasis should be given to the city's 12-month dog ordinance.

District Court Adds Jurors for Final Civil Case

Pennington county district court moved into its last case for jury trial yesterday and is continuing today, according to miss Ardith Johnson, Pennington county clerk of court. An unusual development resulted from the final case as so many jurors were dismissed from serving that the jury list was exhausted and eight "talle-men" or supplemental jurors had to be appointed by the Pennington county sheriff.

The case now being tried before Judge Harley G. Swenson is that of Bert Vigen vs. Bray Mutual Fire Insurance company, Pat Culkins and Edgar A. Naplin. It is one of several civil cases on the court calendar for the spring term.

Several other cases have been disposed of in the court. The case of Elton C. Cummings and Evelyn C. Cummings vs. Charles W. Emanuel, doing business as Paint and Glass supply, was tried April 26 and 27. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant in the personal injury suit.

In the criminal case tried April 28 and 29, the jury found Keith Johnson not guilty of possession of stolen property. Johnson had previously pleaded guilty to the charge and was sentenced in Thief River Falls municipal court. His plea was changed for district court trial. Cases on the same charge against Gary Berard, Duane L. Sheets, Dean Kaushagen and Dennis Bowman have ben dismissed. The cases resulted from a widespread shoplifting investigation by the Thief River Falls police department earlier this year.

In a civil case completed Tuesday, involving the Union State bank vs. Ted Kusmak, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. The case was dispute on guarantee.

Lincoln Concert Band To Present Spring Program

Annual spring concert by the Lincoln senior high school band will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. The band will be under the direction of John Moum, instrumental music instructor in the Thief River Falls public schools.

Numbers to be presented include "Finale from New World Symphony" by Dvorak; "Marche Sarcastique" by Shastakovich; "Tijuana Brass"; "Chorale and Capriccio," the contest number which gained top ratings for the band in district and state-area competition; "American in Paris" by George Gershwin; and "Second Symphory" by Frank Erickson.

The spring concert—only the second of the senior high school band exclusively—is the climax of band appearances during the school year, Moum said. Nancy Quam is student director and president of the band with William Weigelt as assistant student director.

During the past year the band played for six football games, eight hockey games, eight basketball games, six wrestling matches, twice at the district basketball tournament, twice at the regional tournament and three nights at the sub-district basketball tournament held in Thief River Falls as well as several concert and competition appearances.

Moum noted that he is now auditioning 39 freshmen on a try-out basis to complete the 56-piece band for next year. There is no admission to Tuesday night's concert.

Rev. Gordon Fox, Mrs. Fox and Ralph Rundell will judge the finalists in the civic oration contest on May 6 at 2 p.m. in Grygla. The theme of this year's contest is "Investment In Learning."

Kenneth Rustan announced that the three judges will use the point system in rating the finalists, with 100 points the highest possible score. The following distribution of points will be made: 50 for subject matter; 10 for length of speech (3-5 minutes); 20 for delivery and poise, and 20 for diction and enunciation.

First and second place winners will each receive a trophy. Five additional gold pin awards will be made. Presentation of individual awards will be made by Mrs. Norman Newton. The permanent school trophy will be engraved with the winner's name and current date.

TRF Gains 11 Top Ratings In Music Fest

32 Schools Receive Starred Ratings at Festival Last Week

A total of 32 northwestern Minnesota schools won one or more starred (A) ratings in the annual state-area music festival held Friday and Saturday at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls. Local school entries won 11 top ratings in the festival.

Soloists, ensembles, bands, choruses and orchestras were entered in the event. Judges included Michael Polovitz, Robert Van Voorhis and James T. Fudge of the University of North Dakota music department; Jack Harris of Detroit Lakes; H. D. Harmon, Dr. J. A. Sundet and Dwayne L. Jorgenson of Moorhead State college; and Roy D. Johnson and Robert Godwin of North Dakota State university.

Ada heads the list of "A" winners with a total of 21, closely followed by Roseau, Fosston and Crookston with 19. Other "A" winners include Fertile and Bemidji, 12; Thief River Falls, Park Rapids and East Grand Forks, 11; Bagley, 9; Red Lake Falls 7; Stephen, 6; Gary, 5; Halstad, Greenbush, Newfolden and Walker, 4; Strandquist, Argyle and Baudette, 3; Waubun, Hendrum, Blackduck, Clearbrook, Twin Valley and Mahnomen, 2; and Humboldt, Hallock, Climax, LaPorte and Lake Bronson, 1.

The Thief River Falls band and orchestra both won starred ratings, as did a clarinet and flute duet composed of Richard Stenberg and Linda Reeve and a flute and violin duet composed of Linda Reeve and David Swenson. Swenson also won a starred rating with a violin solo.

Two vocal solos with Jodi Martin singing alto and Bruce Parnham singing baritone also won "A" ratings, as did a girl's sextet composed of Emily Hiel, Elaine Mortenson, Janet Flom, Bonnie VeVea, Tami Steen and Mary Kraemer, accompanied by Becky Berg.

The highly-rated band will appear in concert at the Lincoln school auditorium Tuesday at 8 p. m.

Proposed Grygla Home to Be Aired At Meeting Thurs.

A special meeting for all persons interested in establishing a senior citizens' home in Grygla will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Mar Bell hall at Grygla. The meeting has been called by the Grygla Steering Committee for a Senior Citizens' home.

Representatives from various governmental agencies will be present to explain how such homes are constructed and qualifications for obtaining them. Information on the senior citizens' home in Oklee, similar to the one proposed for Grygla, will be available at the meeting.

Set Information Clinic On Medicare May 11th

Persons in the area who are 65 years of age or older, or who will be 65 on their next birthday, are encouraged to participate in an information clinic to be held Wednesday at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls. The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to noon, 1 to 4:30 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m., according to Norman Peterson, hospital administrator.

Participating in the session, designed to answer individual questions on medicare and a number of related problems, will be representatives of the Social Security administration, Pennington county welfare department, Blue Cross, Blue Shield, local clinics and Northwestern hospital.

"Throughout the country hospitals are preparing for a new era which begins on July 1 with the advent of the medicare program," Peterson said. "Since the program is new and there are so many diverse factors of its provisions, we are sure there are many unanswered questions. The information clinic Wednesday will give persons affected an opportunity to bring their personal questions to authorities who should be able to provide the answers.

"The hospital's role in implementation of this new program is a major one. Medicare simply finances this health care for the aged—hospitals must provide the care". Northwestern hospital was recently designated as an accepted medicare hospital—the 17th of more than 200 in the state be named.

Persons attending the session are asked to enter the hospital by the north entrance on First street and register in the new lobby. Members of the hospital auxiliary will serve coffee and assist those attending in getting to speak to the agency representative who can provide assistance with individual questions.

The medicare health insurance program falls into two parts. Part "A" is designed to help pay hospital and nursing home bills and applies to almost everyone over 65. Part "B" is insurance to help pay doctors' bills and other medical expenses. This coverage is available only to those who apply for it.

Some experts estimate that medicare will pay only about 60 per cent or even less of the average older person's expenses. All Blue Cross plans and some commercial insurance companies are offering special new policies designed to "fill the gaps" in medicare's coverage—to take care of those bills that the government insurance does not pay.

"You might want to see if one of those policies suits your particular needs and your budget," Peterson noted, in suggesting that as many people as possible in the area attend the information clinic. "And if you cannot afford such insurance and cannot meet your medical expenses, the county welfare office may be able to provide assistance."

Participating in the Wednesday sessions will be Roger Slaskerud, assistant district manager of the Social Security office in Grand Forks; Chester Neece, Minneapolis, and Carl Lindell, Crookston, representatives of Blue Shield; James Roginer, St. Paul and Don Youngquist, Crookston, representing Blue Cross; Ronald Mooers, director of the Pennington county welfare department; Merle Lindberg, business manager of Falls-Starekow clinic; Miss Muriel Peterson, office manager of Thief River clinic; and Norman Peterson, administrator of Northwestern hospital.

Schools Receive Federal Funds

Thief River Falls schools have received a total of $5,015 in federal funds for library services under Title II of Public Law 8910, according to Supt. M. R. Hankerson. The funds are administered by the Minnesota department of education.

Of the total funds received, $2,800 will be used by the four public elementary schools, $315 by St. Bernard's parochial school, $650 by Lincoln senior high school and $1,250 by Franklin junior high school.

L. H. Thorstenson New Commander Of District VFW

L. H. Thorstenson of Thief River Falls was elected Ninth district Commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Sunday at the district convention held in Detroit Lakes. Lester DeBriyn, also of this city, was named judge advocate.

Other officers elected at the Sunday business session were Max Voss, Ogema, senior vice commander; Donald Noissen, Moorhead, junior vice commander; James Murphy, Ada, quartermaster; Richard Weber, Ada, Surgeon; James Shimek, Detroit Lakes, chaplain; Floyd Hoveland, Ada, club committeeman; and Arnold Gerjets, Detroit Lakes, trustee.

A Loyalty Day parade at 2:30 p.m. Saturday opened the convention with a memorial program at the armory following the parade. In spite of the cold weather, a large crowd watched the parade in the downtown business area and attended the memorial service. A dance was held in the VFW club rooms Saturday evening.

Representing the Minnesota department of the VFW at the convention was Robert Pierce, Pine City, senior vice commander. He complimented the district on exceeding its quota in membership before May 1. A number of awards were presented to posts in the district.

Attending the convention from Thief River Falls were Roy A. Jorgenson, Harold Anderson, Bennie Johnson, Earl Gjernes, Robert Anderson, George Groslie, Richard Peterson, Burton Lane, Lloyd Peterson, DeBriyn and Thorstensen.

Next district meeting will be held in Barnesville in September. The state VFW convention will be held in Mankato in June.

Thorstenseon has been active in Post 2793 for a number of years, holding several offices and serving on many committees. He is employed by Northland Chemical company in Thief River Falls.

Soo Line Train Derailed Sunday Near Alexandria

Eight cars of a 148-car Soo Line freight train, enroute from Thief River Falls to Glenwood, derailed Sunday between Parkers Prairie and Miltona. The derailed cars tore up about 300 feet of track but there was no injury.

Melvin Ernst of Thief River Falls, conductor on the train, told the Associated Press that Train 126 was traveling at about 30 miles per hour when the derailment occurred. Cause was not determined.

Two of the eight derailed cars were propane tank cars, both loaded, but neither was punctured. The other derailed cars were demolished. The crash scene was said to be about 17 miles north of Alexandria.

Celebration Marks 25th Anniversary For L. Lubitzes

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lubitz were honored at the Silver Creek Lutheran church, rural Thief River Falls, on Sunday afternoon, April 17, in observance of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Upon arrival Mrs. Lubitz was presented a corsage composed of a pink orchid and carnations and Mr. Lubitz received a white hyacinth boutonniere as did Mrs. Russell Nelson and Marlan Augustine, who were their attendants at their wedding on April 17, 1941 at Holt. Dr. T. C. Hanson, now of Moorhead, was the officiating pastor.

Present for the event were their children, LuAnn of Grand Forks, N. D. Linda, John and Terry, who are at home. They also wore corsages and boutonnieres as did Mrs. Lubitz's father, John Augustine.

A program was given before the reception with Robert Hillyer in charge. As Connie Hillyer, at the organ played "The Wedding March" for the processional the honored couple entered followed by the attendants and children. Miss Hillyer also presided at the organ for the recessional.

Included on the program was the devotional meditation and prayer by the Rev. Kenneth Kramer, hymns sung by over 200 assembled relatives and friends and readings by Eldon Augustine and the Mesdames, Dale Svendsgaard, Henry Williams, Lloyd Nelson and Edwin Anderson. Vocal selections were "Bless This House" by Daryl Augustine and "The Sunshine of Your Smile" by Marvin Sandberg, accompanied by Mrs. David Schwartz of Goodridge. Presenting a few highlights on the life of the couple were Marlan Augustine and Mrs. Adolph Steinhauer, brother and sister, respectively, of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Lubitz responded with thanks.

Refreshments were served by the ladies fo the ALCW. Centering the serving table was a five-tiered anniversary cake, which was baked by Mrs. Lubitz. It was trimmed with pink roses, blue forget-me-nots, white lilac buds and topped with three satin bells and flowers. On either side of the cake were silver candle holders with pink spiral candles and white bud vases with pink roses and ferns.

Cutting and serving the cake were nieces of the couple, Mrs. Ronald Moo and Drs. Dale Svendsgaard, Mrs. Adolph Steinhauer, sister of Mr. Lubitz and Mrs. Marlan Augustine, sister-in-law of the couple, poured. Shirley Kuller registered the guests and Mrs. Robert Hillyer and Mrs. Lon Inman were in charge of the gifts. These women were presented with corsages composed of an engraved silver nut-spoon, pink flowers and ribbons, gifts from the family.

Relatives and friends attending were from Grand Forks, N. D., Thief River Falls, Stephen, Minneapolis, Goodridge, Kelliher, Argyle Newfolden, Middle River, Holt Grygla, St. Hilaire and Goodhue.

Dianne Peterson Guest Of Honor At Bridal Shower

Miss Dianne Peterson of Milwaukee, Wis., daughter of Hartley Peterson of Holt, was honored at a bridal shower Monday evening, April 25, at the Nazareth Lutheran church at Holt. Upon her arrival she was presented with a corsage of small kitchen articles.

A program with Mrs. Gerald Johnson of Thief River Falls in charge, preceded the social hour. The guests participated by singing a hymn, Mrs. Clarence Ness of Thief River Falls led in devotions; readings were given by Mrs. Byron Sagmoen of Thief River Falls and Joan Sorum of Holt and Mrs. Morkrid played the piano accompaniment for her daughters, Debbie and Karen Lindemann of Oslo, as they sang a duet.

Games and contests provided entertainment during the social hour. After which, the honored guest opened her gifts and responded with words of appreciation. Assisting Miss Peterson in opening her gifts was her siste, Mrs. Ray Wagner of Thief River Falls. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Donovan Peterson and Mrs. Ray Wagner.

Miss Peterson was married the following Saturday to Dennis Jasperson, also of Milwaukee, Wis.

Heidi Dahl Of Moorhead Feted At Baby Shower

Heidi Dahl, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dahl of Moorhead, was honor guest at a baby shower Saturday evening at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stenberg in this city. A pot-luck supper, brought by the self-invited guests, preceded an evening of sociability and the opening of the gifts by Mrs. Wayne Dahl, mother of the honored guest.

Included among the guests were the child's grandmothers, Mrs. Morris Stenberg and Mrs. Engvald Dahl and her great-grandmother, Mrs. Fred Bucholz of Grygla.

Others attending were Laurel Rude, Mrs. Esther Hope and Mrs. Harvy Ness and Julie of Grygla; Mrs. Thora Nelson, Mrs. Carl Green, Mr. George Gunderson, Mrs. Alfred Hagenbeek, Mrs. Harold Sabo, Mrs. David Bakke, Mrs. Albert Swanson, Mrs. Frank Heinze, Mrs. Adolph Wagner, Mrs. Percy Hagen, Mrs. Algot Eriksson, Mrs. Wilma Olson and Mrs. Robert Bakke;

Also Janice Messersmith, Jean Travis, Evelyn Prigge, Jean Stenberg and Sandy Dahl.

HEIH To Hold Meeting At Verne Spenglers

Members of the Northwestern Minnesota HEIH club will meet at the home of Mrs. Vern Spengler at 301 Maple Avenue South in this city on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

FIFTY years of marriage were observed by Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Tonder of Gatzke and Pierz on Sunday, April 24, when a large number of relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at their home and at the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Art Tonder at Pierz. Their three children and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tonder, Thief River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd (Audrey) Hoffman, Sauk Centre and Mr. and Mrs. Art Tonder of Pierz, were present as were six of their seven grandchildren. Wedding cake and coffee were served throughout the afternoon and a buffet supper was the event of the evening. The Tonders live in Pierz during the winter months and return to their farm near Gatzke for the summer.

Falls Squares Host 37 Squares At Spring Swing

Forty towns in the United States and Canada were represented as 37 squares formed to participate in the Falls Squares annual Spring Swing Festival on Sunday at the local city auditorium. Ed DeLap called the tips until the arrival of guest caller, Joe Johannson of Transcona, Man., Canada. Johannson was accompanied by his wife, Shirley.

Decorations were in the spring motif with daisies and spring flowers in abundance. Chris Saustad, who was chairman of the event, was also in charge of decorations. He was assisted by Danny Inman and Jim Parkins.

Entertainment during intermission was provided by two local groups. They were "The Brairwood Singers", composed of Nel Jensen, Lyndon Minske, Mary Jo Walker and Sharyn Knudtson, and "Whistler and His Brother", who were Randall Noper and Malcolm Magnuson. The Johannsons also demonstrated a new round dance.

As the dancers arrived, they were greeted and registered by Mr. and Mr. Chris Saustad, Mr. and Mrs. Danny Knman, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Baudrin and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hartje.

To conclude the festivitites, a supper was served to all the dancers. Highlighting the serving table was a large square cake, inscribed with the words, "Welcome Square Dancers" and topped with a group of miniature square dancers. The cake and casserole hot dish were contributions from the Randall Nopers while the rest of the meal was furnished by members of the Square dance club. Phyllis Peterson, chairman of the food committee, was assisted in serving the meal by the 21 couples in attendance from Thief River Falls.

Hans Antons Honored On Thier 25th Anniversary

In observance of their 25th wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Hans Anton of rural Thief River Falls were guests of honor at an open house celebration Sunday afternoon at the fellowship hall at St. John Luthran church. Serving as host and hostess were Mr. and Mr. Clarence Semanko, nephew and niece of the couple. Mrs. Elmer Andersen was dining room hostess.

To mark the event corsages and boutonnieres were worn by the honored couple and their attendants at their wedding 25 years ago, Robert Anton, nephew of Mr. Anton and Mrs. Clifford Vigness, sister of Mrs. Anton. A boutonniere was also worn by the couple's only son, Jon. Those who assisted with the various duties during the open house wore corsages of roses or red feathered carnations, gifts from the couple.

For the refreshments served throughout the afternoon, a white net skirt decorated with spring flowers encircled the serving table. Centering the table was an oblong, tiered anniversary cake flanked by varigated pink and white candles. Trimmed with shaded pink roses, the upper tiers of the cake resembled an open book and was inscribed with the couple's names and the 25th anniversary symbol. Mrs. Thomas Fuller, who baked and decorated the cake, also cut and served it while Mrs. Robert Anton and Mrs. W. Lloyd Spray poured.

A bouquet of long-stemmed red roses, a gift frm neighbors and friends, was on a stand by the table where the guests were registered by Arlys Anton. At the table were Linda Anton was in charge of serving the punch, was a large arrangement of peach gladioli and white mums which the Antons had placed on the Altar that morning as a thanksgiving offering for their 25 years of marriage.

Centering the gift table was a silver tree centerpiece decorated Mrs. Louchlin Cameron. To form the leaves on the tree all monetary gifts were clipped to the branches by Miss Sharon Vigness, niece of Mrs. Anton, who was in charge of opening and displaying the gifts.

The large number of relatives and friends who called to extend congratulations to the couple came from East Grand Forks, Red Lake Falls, Goodridge, Holt and surrounding area as well as from Thief River Falls. For their refreshments they were seated at tables graced with floral decorations.

Greetings were also received step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson of Comstock, Mich.; Mr. Anton's sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank LaFlex of Gilman Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Benke of Morris.

Members of the Elizabeth circle, of which Mrs. Anton is a member, assisted with the serving. They were Mrs. Fred Koop, Mrs. Emma Zinter, Mrs. Joe Panek and Mathilda Koop.

Enroute home, they attended the afternoon session of the Luther League Spring rally at the Hegland Lutheran church of the Newfolden parish. The Rev Marius Haakenstad of Thief River Falls was guest speaker and the choir from Our Saviors Lutheran church of this city provided several selections.

Public Meeting On Retarded Set In City May 17

A public meeting on "How Government Serves the Mentally Retarded" will be conducted by the Pennington-Red Lake Association for Retarded Children (ARC) on Tuesday, May 17 in Thief River Falls. The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the city auditorium community room.

Raymond W. Doyle, Rochester, president of the Minnesota Association for Retarded children, will be the main speaker. He will discuss unmet needs of the mentally retarded in Minnesota, size of the problem of retardation and how the retarded are now being served.

Similar governmental affairs meetings are being conducted by other associations for retarded children throughout Minnesota during May, according to Mrs. Oscar Johnson, president of the Pennington-Red Lake ARC.

Purpose of the meeting is to acquaint the public with the needs of the retarded in Minnesota and the role government plays in serving those needs, Mrs. Johnson said.

Meetings are open to the public without charge. Special invitations to attend the meeting in Thief River Falls have been sent to area legislators; county commissioners and other county officials; county welfare board members; mayors of towns and villages; members of the public health, mental health and day activity center boards; school board members and superintendents; and civic, fraternal, church and service organizations.

Dr. Martin on Medical Ass'n. Reference Group

Dr. George B. Martin, Thief River Falls, is a member of the reference committee of the house of delegates, the governing body of the Minnesota State Medical association, and will attend the association's 113th annual meeting May 16 and 17, at the Saint Paul hotel.

The reference committee will study the reports and resolutions of the association's regular committees and other health-related organizations and recommend action to the house of delegates.

In addition to the business meetings, physicians attending the annual meeting will have an opportunity to learn about the latest developments in medicine from noted specialists from throughout the United Sates.

Among the featured topics at this year's meeting are computer medicine, the respiratory distress syndrome in the newborn, the use of isotopes as a diagnostic tool, knee injuries in the athlete, and juvenile diabetes. Round table luncheons and breakfast meetings will give doctors a further opportunity to discuss topics of special interest in greater depth.

Kathy Cameron Receives Student Nursing Cap

Kathryn Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louchlin Cameron of rural Thief River Falls, received her student nursing cap at a ceremony today (Wednesday) at Hennepin county general hospital.

Maureen Sampson, president of the freshman calss, and Judith Hall a feshman student, were principal speakers. The student nurses' chorus, under the direction of Robert Mantzke, sang several selections. Preceding the ceremony was an open house in Harrington hall, the student residence. A reception by the Hennepin county general hospital service league for the invited guests was held in he lounge of Harrington Hall following the ceremony.

In June the students will have completed the first year of the three-year nursing program.

Guidance Study Under Way in Two Area Schools

Newfolden and Goodridge high schools have been selected as two of 85 Minnesota schools to participate in the first known study of its kind in the nation of high school guidance programs. The project is being conducted by Dr. A. W. Tamminen of the University of Duluth, director; and G. Dean Miller, state department of education guidance consultant.

Filed workers associated with the project visited the two schools Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week to collect data on the guidance programs of the schools. Cooperating in the study were Supt. John P. Halvorson and Wayne Ulferts, principal and counselor of the Newfolden school; and Dr. John M. Luke, senior high principal, and Larry Zenner, counselor, of the Goodridge school.

Purpose of the state department of education study, according to Dr. Tamminen is to find out how the various aspects of guidance programs in the state are related to outcomes that such programs are intended to produce. "The results," said Dr. Tamminen, "will we hope, help shape future policy decisions regarding guidance, and will point the way to further research."

"The high school student wants to live in such a way that he can follow his interests, utilize his skills and talents, and achieve satisfaction and reward in so doing. Guidance programs are designed to assist him in reaching these goals; it is, therefore important to find out how well guidance is reaching these goals. Unless we carry out this type of research, we are forced to rely pretty much on faith that the money expended on guidance is actually producing the hoped-for results."

The research is being sponsored under a grant from the U. S. office of education and is scheduled to be completed by August of 1967.

Increase Efforts In Dealing with Offensive Calls

Northwestern Bell Telephone company is increasing its efforts to deal effectively with the growing problem of obscene and other kinds of offensive telephone calls, according to T. R. Perrier, manager.

"We are concerned about the inconvenience, irritation and fear that often results from such calls, and we want to do everything we can to put a stop to them," he explained.

The company is working in close collaboration with police on the apprehension and prosecution of annoyance callers, and has underway a customer informative campaign giving suggestions for discouraging such calls.

Northwestern Bell believes that the over-all problem would be minimized considerably if everyone followed this advice:

- Hang up if the caller doesn't say anything or merely breathes heavily into the phone.
- Hang up at the first obscene word or improper personal question, or if the caller doesn't identify himself to your satisfaction.

"We advise not talking to the caller. What he really wants is an audience—don't be that audience," Perrier said.

Some other suggestions: Don't answer the question, "what number is this?" Instead, ask the caller what number he is dialing, and to whom he wants to speak. Also instruct children and babysitters not to give out information indiscriminately. Have them get the caller's name and say you will call back.

Northwestern Bell asks customers to call the company's business office if offensive call persists. Specially trained telephone people will counsel customers receiving anonymous calls, suggest defensive measures and work closely with police in tracking down the callers.

The telephone company uses several kinds of call tracing procedures and equipment. For example, one method can identify numbers called from a suspect's phone and the time calls were made. Other procedures may indicate the source of calls to a selected telephone. Information of this kind can often help the police obtain enough evidence for an arrest.

Perrier pointed out that use of these methods in identifying sources of offensive telephone calls is not an invasion of an individual's privacy because use of the equipment must be requested by the person receiving the calls.

He also emphasized that cooperation of the person receiving the calls is essential to the program. This cooperation may require the customer to keep a log of calls, because this information forms a pattern that in many cases points to a suspect.

Sunshine Arrives; Expected to Last Through Thursday

Skies have cleared over northern Minnesota after two weeks of mostly cloudy, cool and wet weather as a high-pressure area has become centered over the region. The inch of snow which fell Sunday was the latest in the spring that snow has fallen since a half-inch fell May 19 1963. Much warmer weather is in the forecast, however.

Forecast calls for mostly fair today through tomorrow with a chance of scattered showers in the northwest portion of the state later this afternoon and tonight. It will be warmer today, turning a little cooler tomorrow. Highs today will range from 58 to 72; lows tonight from 35 to 45.

Temperature and precipitation readings recorded at the municipal airport during the past week are as follows: 38, 27 and three inches of snow containing .51 inch of water on Wednesday; 34, 26 and an inch of snow containing .09 inch of water on Thursday; 35 and 24 on Friday; 33 and 23 on Saturday; 42, 21 and an inch of snow containing .16 inch of water on Sunday; 43, 21 and .03 inch on Monday; 54 and 26 on Tuesday; and a low this morning of 38.

PUBLIC OPINION

Times' Editor:

The letters from the troops in Viet Nam say that they have a job to do and that the least people at home can do is to help by backing them up. It is time for some of these politicians to use their top stories for something more than to grow hair on.

Where does Senator Morse get the idea that President Johnson will face opposition from his own party for renomination in 1968? LBJ has some of the best educated politicians, both Republican and Democrats, and they believe in God and what the Bible tells them. So this politician will agree with President Johnson as to what is best for this country.

The Democratic party has never been proven wrong. People are well informed they known more about the politicians than the politicians think they do. The people will never vote for a politican who imagines himself to have power and greatness, and that he can keep us out of war with the communists. Such a politician is building a brilliant future for himself.

People who vote will know it isn't votes he needs—what he needs is psychiatric treatment. The people know such a man must be a cross between a crackpot and a genius.

I would like to say thanks to the people—both the Republicans and the Democrats—for the way they voted in 1960 and 1964. It proves they are well informed.

New GI Bill To Offer Benefits For Education

Application blanks for educational benefits under the new GI bill are Administration center, Ft. Snelling, and other educational institutions.

John R. Murphy, manager of the VA center, St. Paul, said that information pamphlets and personal assistance in filling out the applications can also be obtained at the VA center and at most educational institutions. The law does not permit payment for courses prior to June 1. Each month payment will be made for the previous month's study. There will be ample time for those who expect to enter the summer session to complete the necessary paperwork before the June 1 date, Murphy said.

A normal summer school enrollment is expected, according to Murphy, with the big rush for enrollment coming in September for the fall semester.

This post-Korean educational program will be open to all veterans with more than 181 days active duty service, any part of which occurred on or after Feb. 1, 1955. The veteran must have a discharge that is other than dishonorable or if less than 181 days, he must have been discharged or released for a service-connected disability.

These veterans will be eligible for one month of education for each month or fraction of a month that they were on active duty, Murphy said. Courses may be taken at approved colleges and universities, vocational schools, correspondence schools and at high school level. Approval of the institution will be made by state approving agencies. Foreign course approvals will be by VA.

The VA will pay $100 a month to those veterans with no dependents who take full-time courses. Veterans with one dependent will receive $125 a month while those with more than one dependent will receive $150 a month. Proportionate rates will be paid those taking part-time courses. Earned income Earned income of the veteran will not affect his monthly VA payment. Maximum education will be 36 months.

Murphy said there is no deadline as to when a veteran must enter upon his education. However, VA payment will be mainly to the eighth annual anniversary of his discharge from active duty with the exception, that all veterans will be able to participate in the program until May 31, 1974, regardless of their discharge date, he said.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear mother, Minnie Jablinske, on this Mother's day, who passed away 2 years ago April 8, 1964.

Gone from our home,
Oh, how we miss her,
Loving her dearly,
Her memory will keep,
Nor 'til life ends,
Shall we forget her,
Sacred in the place,
Where she is asleep.

Sadly missed by her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. 1t39c

Red Lake Indians Approve Fishing

Area fishermen who enjoy fishing the Red Lake river at the outlet from Lower Red lake or inland lakes on the Red Lake Indian reservation may do so again this year, according to a resolution adopted recently by the tribal council of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians. The resolution is signed by Roger Jourdain, chairman, and Royce Graves, secretary.

Fishing will be permitted on the Red Lake river below the dam to the reservation line and on Bass lake, Big lake, Shell lake, Fourth lake, Chain of Lakes, Shemogan lake, Sunday, Bigstone Lake, Morrison lake, Thunder's lake, Fuller's lake, Birth lake, Morin lake, Dicken's lake and Island lake on the reservation.

Fishing permits must be purchased from the tribal council or its agents and are now available, according to Dan Needham, treasurer. Daily permit fee is $2.50 with weekly permits available for $5.50 and season permits for $10.50. Needham also offered the following information regarding non-resident permits as stated in the council resolution.

Each permittee must employ a Red Lake Indian licensed guide and must be accompanied by the guide while fishing. Only members of the Red Lake Band 14 years of age and over shall act as guides and must register and secure permits from the council office.

Permittees may launch or use their private boats if there are no boats available for rent at the landings on the lakes or designated rivers.

Only members of the Red Lake Band shall be allowed to have boats for rent on the aforementioned lakes and river with exception of Red Lake river, a permittee may launch his own boat for a fee of $1.

Permittees will not be allowed to hunt, or have firearms in a boat. If a guide accompanies his fisherman in a boat, he too, shall not be allowed to have firearms in a boat. Any permittee who violates the provisions of the resolution shall cause his or her permit to be revoked by the tribal council and other reservation authorities.

Members may sell only shiner and sucker minnows to permittees and there shall be a limit of three dozen to each fisherman. Members of the Red Lake Band may take minnows from the Clearwater river and the Red Lake river below the dam.

Non-resident permittees shall not be allowed to bring live minnows onto the reservation but must purchase minnows from members of the Red Lake Band. Live minnows may not be used on Island lake. Purpose of the latter portions of the resolution, Needham said, is to prevent introduction of rough fish into the lakes on the reservation which have been cleared of rough fish and stocked with trout.

Anyone not possessing a valid permit and found fishing in the areas mentioned shall be deemed to be trespassing on the reservation and will be ordered off the reservation or charged with trespassing as the case may require, the resolution states. Permit agents are council officers, Joe W. Johnson, James Brun, James Kelley, Rufus Johnson and Mrs. Arnold Bailey.

ENJOY YOUR STATE PARKS

Follow the call of the wild or watch the exciting past come alive! Explore, hike, fish or just sit around a campfire and forget busy schedules and jangling telephones! Minnesota's parks are yours to enjoy. Get your money's worth this year!

OUTDOOR FUN FOR THE FAMILY—
LAKE BRONSON AND OLD MILL STATE PARK

In the middle of northwestern Minnesota open farm land you'll find Lake Bronson. A beautiful lake covering 894 acres, Lake Bronson was created for family fun by impounding a south branch of two rivers. Here, your family can picnic, fish, hike, boat or camp.

And in the same area at the Old Mill State Park, you can show your children the remnants of an old water-power operated flour mill, constructed in 1898. In fact, the original grindstones, shipped from France and hauled to the site by ox carts are still preserved in the park. Old Mill State Park, located 17 miles northeast of Warren, has a bathhouse, beach, foot trails, stream fishing, picnic and camping facilities.

OTHER STATE PARK ATTRACTIONS
ITASCA—the source of the mighty Mississippi
GOOSEBERRY FALLS—thundering rapids and two roaring waterfalls
TOWER-SOUDAN—Minnesota's deepest and oldest underground iron mine

Bit and Bridle Club Plans Trip

Plans for attendance at the races at Assiniboia Downs in Winnipeg were made at a meeting of the Bit and Bridle Saddle club of Goodridge Sunday at the Elvon Hamilton home. The club will attend the races on June 17 and 18 and conduct an overnight camp-out at one of Winnipeg's camping areas.

Golden Passport Offered to Visit Federal Areas

Federal government's new $7 annual "Golden Passport" will be valid for entry to 22 federal recreation areas in Minnesota in the ensuing year, it was announced today. Persons who do not choose to purchase the $7 annual permit may buy an annual permit or one-day permit at any of the listed federal areas.

The 22 Minnesota areas include all camping, picnicking and other federal recreation sites where entrance fees are charged under provision of the land and water conservation fund.

Valid from April 1, 1966, through March 31, 1967, the $7 annual permit will admit its purchaser and all the occupants of a private automobile to 7,000 federal parks, monuments, wildlife refuges and other federal recreation areas in all 50 states.

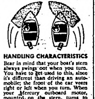
In addition, the annual permit will admit the purchaser alone while traveling on a commercial bus or walking into federal recreation areas, or when walking into monuments or other historic buildings that charge entrance fees.

The $7 "Golden Passport" does not cover special service charges, such as fees for elevators, guides, firewood, bathhouses, or rental of boats.

Most of the money from sales of the annual permit goes to the states and their cities and counties to acquire and develop more needed outdoor recreation areas and facilities through appropriations from the land and water conservation fund. Congress appropriated $95 million from the fund for use by the states in the 1965 and 1966 fiscal years.

Following is a list of designated areas in Minnesota where the $7 "Golden Passport" is valid or where other entrance fees are charged. All are open on either one-day or annual permit. Areas include: Clubhouse lake, Deer lake, East Seelye bay, Mosomo point, North Star, Norway beach, Ojibway, Plug Hat point, South Pike bay, Stony point, Tamarack point, West Seelye bay and Williams narrow in the Chippewa National forest and Crescent lake, Eastern Bearskin lake, Fall lake, Flour lake, Sawbill lake, South Kawishiwa river, Trails End, Two Island lake and Whiteface river reservoir in the Superior National forest.

Boating Tips...



HANDLING CHARACTERISTICS

Bear in mind that your boat's stern always swings out when you turn. You have to get used to this, since it's different than driving an automobile; the front of the car veers right or left when you turn. When your Mercury outboard motor, mounted on the stern, turns to either side, propeller thrust is no longer parallel to the boat's centerline and the stern swings wide. Take this into consideration, or you will clip or bump moored boats, scrape against pilings, and otherwise get into difficulties. To check the boat handling characteristics on turns, pilot it past a marker at different speeds, beginning turns as you pass. Make fairly gentle turns before trying sharper ones to be sure you're acquainted with the boat. While you're "feeling out" the boat, make runs at full speed past the buoy. Cut the throttle as you come abreast of the marker and observe how little distance you need to come to a dead stop.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Couldn't Have Been Closer

When the emcee at this evening's, Wednesday, bowling banquet at the Elks Club, makes the announcement and presentation of the high over-all average bowler for the 1965-66 season, it will be Chuck Krause of the Eagles who will advance to the podium and receive the trophy.

Chuck, one of the veterans of the city bowling, and always able to carry a fine average, just barely won the season's high average title, edging out Larry "Shorty" Perkins of the Schmidt's Beer team. And it was necessary to carry out the averages into the decimals to determine the winner.

Krause, who had his high average while bowling with the Eagles team on Monday nights, racked up 14,874 pins in 81 lines, which figures out at an average of 183.58. Shorty, who bowled on Thursday nights with the Schmidt's, had a total of 13,761 in 75 games, which carries out to an average of 183.48. Close enough.

And speaking of bowling, I must mention that it was George Glum, who won the singles honors in the month-long bowling classic that was conducted by the Family Bowl lanes. George, bowling in the final weekend of the tourney, came in with an aggregate of 843 pins. And this total withstood the efforts of the contingent of high-average bowlers from Grand Forks, incuding such "names" as Ray Krueger, Don Triske and others.

George, on Friday nights, bowls with the Thief River Realty team, and I was wondering if he was aware, when he signed the contract to bowl with Jerry and Red and Mel and Chuck, that in the fine, fine print was a proviso that all monies won by the team members should be entered into a common fund and then equally shared. I am sure that George overlooked this paragraph, and anyway, I believe it is unconstitutional for several of these team members wouldn't get into the money by any other means!

More Coaching Changes

Several more coaches in this area are making changes. Dennis Anderson, who directed the Ada Vikings to the Region Eight title this past season, will leave Ada to take over the coaching duties at Fergus Falls. And John Matchefts, who has been coaching high school hockey at his home town of Eveleth, and who coached the Prowlers here for three seasons, from 1957 through 1959, will coach the Colorado College hockey squad.

Anderson, a native of Moorhead, moved to Ada from Hendrum, and in his three years at the Viking school he has had Ada in the Region Eight tourney every year. This year the Vikings won the title, defeating the Prowlers, 50 to 45, in the tourney finals. Ada defeated Bemidji, 65 to 62, in a first-round game. Dennis will face quite a challenge at Fergus Falls, but he would also have faced quite a challenge had he remained at Ada as the Vikings will lose eight of their 12 tournament players through graduation. These include the entire starting unit.

Matchefts, who gained all-state honors while with the Eveleth high school Golden Bears during the late 1940's and who later played a starring role with Michigan when the Wolverines won the NCAA title, will be replacing Bob Johnson as Colorado College mentor. Johnson, who is well known up here as a baseball pitcher, and hocky coach at Warroad, will coach the Wisconsin University hockey squad.

Will Have to play Doubleheaders

Said Coach Ralph Skay of the baseball Prowlers as he contemplated the snowdrifts and water puddles at the fairgrounds: "The only way for the boys to learn baseball is to play baseball, and with the piling up of the postponed games I'll have to arrange a series of doubleheaders."

And that perhaps is the solution. The Fairgrounds diamond, being equipped with lights, could be the scene of a number of twi-night games by the Prowlers. With daylight saving time in vogue, games could be started at 5:30 p.m. and then the second game could be billed for 7:30 p.m.

Doubleheaders would be a test for a high school pitching staff but the Prowlers are well-stocked with hurlers, having Tommy Cummings, Billy Poole, Billy Dicken, Jon Looker, Nicky Drees; Tommy Tunberg and others available for mound duties. All the Prowlers and their coaches want is a chance to play ball. And there is hope that the unseasonable weather that has been as a plague will moderate.

A Blank Weekend

For the city's dyed-in-the-wool trout fishermen, fellows like Al Berge, Jack Houfek, Dr. Jim Disse, Martin Gulbranson and several others, the opening of the brook trout season last weekend was pretty much of a blank. With the temperatures in the 20's, side roads just about impassable, and with heavy snows continuing to linger in the woods, these fishermen stayed home and watched the telecasts of baseball and hockey.

The only water that would have been encouraging would have been the Clearwater river, but the cold temperatures kept the trout from moving. Some of the boys intend to give it a try this week.

And the trout lakes in the Red Lake Indian reservation and there are several good ones that have been stocked with rainbows, were iced over last weekend.

And where are the redhorse? That's what Cliff Squire, Overum, the Vets director of fish-smoking operations, wants to know. Squire has the salt brine solution ready, has the smoke-house all primed for the match, and the pungent bark on hand, but Harlan Huseth and Mouse Efteland haven't brought in a redhorse.

For the Golfers

Announcement was made that the local golf course may be open for play this weekend. Weather conditions, which have turned favorable will be the deciding factor in opening the course. The river level, which is subject to change, is down, but the low spots on the course are water-logged, and several of the greens may be played on a temporary basis.

But it's good news for the golfers that the "upland" holes will be playable. Bob Craik wants his golf-playing friends to be sure and bring dimes and nickels.

Traffic Volumes Rise on Rural Trunk Highways

Traffic volumes on the state's rural trunk highways during March were 18.9 per cent greater than for the same month a year ago, according to the Minnesota highway department. Traffic volumes for the first quarter of 1966 were up 13.9 per cent.

These figures were arrived at by tabulating readings from automatic traffic recorder stations throughout the state and comparing them with corresponding readings from last year.

Kem Temple Will Hold Ceremonial

Kem Temple A.A.O.N.M.S. has scheduled its spring ceremonial Saturday, May 14, in Grand Forks, N.D. Candidates may register beginning at 8:30 CST, and a parade will move through the streets of Grand Forks and East Grand Forks at 11 a.m.

Memorial service is scheduled for 1:15 p.m. CST, followed by the Grand entry at 1:30 p.m. CST. Ceremonial banquet for nobles and their ladies will be at 7:30 p.m. CST at the Grand Forks auditorium. There will be special entertainment followed by dancing to conclude the ceremonial festivities.

A ladies luncheon is planned for 1 p.m. CST with special entertainment.

Saturday is the most dangerous day to drive. Nearly 22 per cent of all fatal traffic accidents occurred on that day in 1965.

Langen Protests Farm Policy of Administration

"Rural America is up in arms over the administration's barzen attempts to lower farm prices," states Congressman Odin Langen, "and I have joined others in Congress in conveying this mood to the President."

Langen said he has been deluged by calls and letters from farm people in his district, urging him to make their concerns known at the White House. "They rightfully want the President to know of their displeasure with continuing actions that threaten to force even more of our food producers out of business. And they want to know why this administration has wrongfully blamed the farmer for increases in the cost of living when the farmer's share of the food and fiber dollar constitutes such a small part of the prices charged over the counter."

Congressman Langen cited a number of instances where administration policies have worked against the best interest of the farmer. "The Coincil of Economic Advisors has actually admitted that Commodity Credit corporation stock of grains have been used by the department of agriculture to lower farm prices. Our dairy farmers and sugarbeet growers are threatened by recent orders to take the lid off foreign imports. At the same time, our own exports of cattle hides were restricted to lower the price of leather, but the cost of a pair of shoes went up anyway. Butter and pork have been taken off the mess tables of our fighting men in the armed forces. And if Congress hadn't acted promptly, milk would have disappeared from our schools and valuable agricultural research would have been halted.

"While the administration clamps a lid on farm prices, the production costs on the farm continue to rise," said Langen, "which further limits and restricts farm income.

"It's time that the farmer cease being the whipping boy for an administration that finds itself caught in the tightening web of its own unwise inflationary policies. It's a dangerous policy that threatens this naton's future food supply."

Rules Committee Approves Bill on Railroad Boxcars

Congressman Odin Langen expressed pleasure with recent House rules committee action that clears the railroad boxcar bill for consideration by the entire House of Representatives. The bill, already passed by the Senate, would give the Interstate Commerce commission additional rate setting powers.

"It is now hoped that the House will take favorable action so that this bill can be promptly rendied for the President's signature," Langen said. "The I.C.C. needs the additional authority to establish reasonable per diem rental rates on boxcars as an incentive to encourage the construction of badly-needed boxcars by all the of nation's railroads."

Congressman Langen noted the year-round nature of the boxcar shortage. "It used to be a harvest-time occurrence but in recent years it has been a problem every month, as evidenced by the troubles experienced early this spring when boxcars were needed to move grain from flood-threatened areas of the Midwest. The I.C.C. and the railroads responded in commendable fashion to our request to provide cars on an emergency basis but only at the expense of other areas of the country where shortages also existed.

"The only permanent solution," Langen said, "is an increased supply of boxcars, rather than the current decrease of over 2,000 cars a month. The Interstae Commerce commission will be in a much better position to help remedy the situation if this bill becomes law."

Golfers caught in the open during a lightning storm should get clear of metal golf clubs and lie on the ground, preferably in a depression.

2 Million Dollars In "Safer Road" Jobs Scheduled

Almost $2 million has been specifically ear-marked by the Minnesota highway department for "safer road" jobs during the fiscal year which will begin July 1, according to Commissioner John R. Jamieson. These will be part of a spot safety improvement program directed toward the removal of hazardous highway locations and conditions.

"Although this is a sizeable sum", Jamieson said, "it does not include the additional driving safety brought by the many regular construction projects which will be put under contract all of which when built will increase the safety margin for motorists who will use these highways."

In the special "safety" jobs scheduled for the coming year are 98 projects for the improvement of existing situations on the highways which may contribute to accidents.

The projects include such improvements as channelization to facilitate left turns at intersections, installation of traffic and railroad signals shoulder widening and construction of right turn lanes, construction of median islands and other items to promote the safe flow of traffic.

Ice Breakup On Minnesota Lakes Hard to Predict

When will the ice go out of your favorite fishing lake? A 26 year record of ice-out dates on Lake Itasca in Itasca state park show such predictions are hard to make.

The earliest date recorded during the last 26 years was April 9. That was in 1945. The latest ice-out date during the period was May 18 in 1950.

About the only thing the figures show is that during the 26 year period, the ice had gone out of Lake Itasca in April with the exception of five years when the ice broke up in May.

Moderate swimming takes about as much energy and makes about the same demands on heart and lungs as running.

Larry Anderson Completes Marine Combat Training

Marine Private First Class Larry A. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton J. Anderson of route 2, Grygla has completed individual combat training at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The four-week course included over 200 hours of instruction under simulated combat conditions, covering squad tactics; guerrilla warfare, day and night combat, patrolling and the use of infantry weapons.

His next stop is four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field. Marines to be assigned to infantry units will be taught infantry sub-specialties, such as the machine gun, grenade launcher, rifle or mortar. Marines to be assigned to highly technical specialties will be sent to military technical schools for their specialist training.

Leathernecks bound for the Pacific will receive more training when they report to the Staging Battalion at Camp Pendleton, California. This training will emphasize jungle warfare, patrolling and civic action based on experience gained in Vietnam.

New Role for Farmers

From the Hutchinson Leader comes the following editorial:

The picture seems to be coming into clear focus for the farmers these days, and it's not likely that he's happy with what he sees.

What the picture shows is that the farmer is the forgotten man in the Great Society.

Rural population has dwindled as the grinding forces of technological and economic change have forced consolidation of many small farming operations into fewer big ones. That means the farmer no longer swings a big stick at the ballot box, so the Johnson administration apparently no longer feels it has to make any pretext of being the farmer's friend.

Consider these facts shown by the Department of Agriculture's March index of farm prices and expenses, using a ratio based on 1957-59 as 100:

—Parity down to 82;

—Prices paid by farmers for wages up to 127;

—Prices paid by farmers for taxes up to 165;

—Prices paid by farmers for interest up to 232;

—Feeder livestock up to 116;

—Family living costs up to 110;

In the face of farm problems of that nature, what does the Administration do ?

It continues to encourage inflation with grandiose? spending plans that will help drive up the prices of everything the farmer must buy.

It continues to push for the higher minimum wage law wanted by union bosses, a wage law that far exceeds the Administration's own guidelines for wage and price increases and will again increase prices of everything the farmer buys.

It raises excise taxes and talks about increasing income taxes as a means of fighting inflation, when all it would have to do would be to cut out some of its pie-in-the-sky spending schemes.

Its secretary of agriculture, whom some of us naively thought was supposed to be working for the farmer, is reported after a press conference to be "elated" about falling farm prices.

It imposes export quotas on animal hides and requires export licenses in order to force down prices on leather, a farm product.

It dumps Commodity Credit Corporation grain to depress market prices.

It tells all of us to stop spending money for the farmers' meat, while dreaming up new plans of its own for spending money.

It blames the farmer for higher food prices, while the government pursues policies that steadily raise the costs of processing, distributing and retailing food so that the farmer's share of the food dollar gets smaller.

Come to think of it, the farmer isn't really forgotten; it's just that his role has changed.

With the union bosses delivering their votes to the President in exchange for his many favors, the Administration figures it doesn't need the farmer's vote so much as it needs someone to pay for its inflationary policies.

So now the farmer's new role is that of whipping boy.

The Learning Process

Citizens of Moorhead are going through the learning process on Urban Renewal and are gaining the knowledge that all that glitters sometimes tarnishes. At present the golden glow of something-for-something is being blurred by the inevitable-control-for-everything.

The Red River Scene in Moorhead notes that a building application by R. S. Kvamme, contractor, to erect a steel building for two Moorhead firms, has become entangled in red tape. The plan met the building code, was approved by the city building inspector and given approval by the planning commission. But the construction can't start yet.

The Scene editorial states:

"Under the current complicated 'second' or 'adjacent' Urban Renewal format, the plans must also come before the city council for their approval and then finally, the Housing and Redevelopment authority.

"The Scene asked at the planning commission session if this wasn't the same problem that Art Borstad had run into a few weeks earlier in seeking permission to build an apartment complex north of Fairmont Foods where HRA wants to put the 150 public housing units.

" 'No,' we were told, 'this is much simpler. Now the contractors and owners need no longer appear. Neset (building inspector) can make the presentation for them if the project meets codes.'

"But the fact remains—under our current Urban Renewal regulations, isn't Moorhead officialdom hampering efforts of those who seek to add to Moorhead's tax base through commercial construction? How many prospective projects do you suppose have been discarded before they were even started because backers learned of complicatons involved?

"Isn't it a mite ridiculous to ask a reputable contractor such as Kvamme. . .or a businessman of long-standing such as Pierce . . .to have his plans paraded before three distinctly separate governmental agencies before they can be approved. . .when the city's building inspector is satisfied that all requirements are met?"

Yes, it is a mite ridiculous, but this sort of thing must be expected. With each heralded government handout comes a handclasp that doesn't let go. Every community accepting federal funds gives in return a portion of its freedom to operate independently. Gradually the community—or any agency accepting such funds—becomes a little more dependent on Big Brother. Complications and red tape make simple tasks involved and tedious, and soon no one really realizes how much freedom has been lost.

Aside from the fact that Urban Renewal is wasteful, an open invitation to corruption and often harmful to the communities it is supposed to help it can also impede progress as it has done in Moorhead.

Thief River Falls city council has made application for this city to be included in the Urban Renewal program. We wouldn't be disappointed if our community is left off the list; we could stand to lose more than we would gain.

Don't Plant Corn— Plant Corn

Minnesota News Features has provided a hint on how some of Minnesota's farmers can gain back some of the income which Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman has conspired to take from them. MNF quotes a letter from an Ohio farmer which appeared in the Wellington (Ohio) Enterprise:

"Dear Editor: The boys at the office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. . .say there's too much corn in the country, so they'll give me $1,170 to not plant 30½ acres of it.

"But they don't want me to not grow too much corn so if I'll plant the other 30½ acres of my allotment they'll give me another $860 or $2,030 for growing 30½ acres and not growing 30½ acres. $585 of this is cash on the barrel head as soon as I'll sign on the dotted line. The balance I'll have to wait for until I get my 30½ acres grown and my 30½ acres not grown.

"It doesn't take much work to not grow 30½ acres of corn so I can get me a job and work long enough to get laid off. Then I can get paid for not working and for not growing corn and I can spend my time writing letters to the editor."

The Open Door

Each day the major news services in the country carry stories of secret meetings or secret correspondence conducted by our federal government. It has become administrative practice to provide reporters with information which the government wants them to have and to withhold information to which the public has a right but which may be uncomplimentary to the administration.

This practice is not new, but it is being implemented to a greater degree on federal, state and local levels. This newspaper agrees with the following editorial from the Welling (Ohio) Enterprise:

What makes good reporters so hard-nosed about open meetings

Few sights are more distressing to public officials than the reporter who comes into a public meeting, takes ou pad and pencil, and takes voluminous notes—particularly notes about "controversial" matters. If the discussion gets particularly hot and heavy, the chairman may exercise a great deal of ingenuity and force to terminate the discussion.

He may say, "We want this off the record." The reporter, if he is a good one and has been properly trained, will then stand up and remind the chairman that there is no magic spigot which—during a public meeting—can turn public information off and on. He may say that his newspaper doesn't recognize the validity of the phrase "off the record" when uttered by officials at public meetings.

The chairman may decide to "go into executive session." Again, the cantankerous reporter will rise to object, reminding the chairman that an executive session cannot be regarded as a haven of safety for any and all controversial discussion and that he intends to sit in on the meeting and to use his own good judgment about printing what goes on.

The inventive chairman may move for a "study session," "brainstorming session," or a "committee of the whole" to consider the matter later, in private. The tax-paid attorney may even come up with a legal opinion that such committee meetings are not technically "public meetings, " that no formal action is to be taken, and therefore the press and the public can be excluded. But again, the reporter shows up at the door, declaring that where public business is being discussed, he has a right to be with his pad and pencil.

There's no doubt about it: Newspapers cause problems for public officials. It's been that way ever since the English newspaper publisher, John Wilkes, in 1771 won his battle for the right of printers to carry full proceedings of the House of Commons. It was cantankerous printers in the Colonies, such as Benjamin Harris and James Franklin, who went ahead and printed the truth, insisting that they had a right to do this without previous "clearing" by government censors. Indeed, the American Revolution was largely brought about by talented and out-spoken printers and pamphleteers.

Where does the cantankerous reporter get the idea he has a right to cover public meetings

It comes straight out of the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, guaranteeing ?a free press, and from the essential nature of our political system. In many states, it also comes from "open meeting" and "open record" statutes, although some newspapermen regard such statutes as unnecessary because of the First Amendment's guarantee of free speech and press. It also comes from our common law—the body of unwritten traditions which form the well-spring of our written laws. Editors know that the easiest way—at least on the local level—to open up "secret" meetings is simply to report that secret meetings occurred, perhaps with appropriate editorial comment.

Looking Backward

1896—SEVENTY YEARS AGO

With the hundreds of farmers out on the reservation by June, Thief River Falls will have a patronage to back her that is unexcelled by any other village.—A total of 807 passengers left Crookston for Thief River Falls via the Great Northern Wednesday. — A boat livery would pay well here, especially on Sundays. — Seven large sturgeon, weighing from 40 to 100 pounds each, were netted in the river at Crookston last week. --The village had a butter famine last week. Owing to bad roads, few farmers were able to get in to town to market their butter.

1906—SIXTY YEARS AGO

Thief River Falls won another round in the county seat fight when the state supreme court overruled an appeal made by Red Lake Falls attorneys. The appeal was against an order by Judge Watts compelling the county board to meet and consider a petition to move the county seat to this city. —Harry Ives of the St. Hilaire Spectator was married in Minneapolis dressed in overalls and a flannel shirt after some of his friends relieved him of his wedding clothes.

1916—FIFTY YEARS AGO

Per Stromme, editor of "Normaden," will speak at the Norwegian Independence Day celebration in this city May 17.—City Clerk A. H. Fasel was informed by E. E. Collins, president of the Gas and Electric company of Minneapolis, that the firm may soon request a natural gas franchise for this city. —British-dominated Ireland is in a state of revolt, Liberty Hall has been captured, Dublin is under martial law, and four leaders of the revolt have been court-martialed and shot.

1926—FORTY YEARS AGO

Louis Hanson, partner in the Hanson & Barzen Milling Co. since 1897 died May 3 after a long illness.—The LHS girls' glee club, directed by Maude L. Johnson, won first place in the district music contest.—O. A. Naplin, local attorney, was endorsed by the Farmer-Labor party as a candidate for state senator.

1936—THIRTY YEARS AGO

Donald Chalmers was elected president of the PTA, succeeding A. M. Senstad.—This city now has 10 members of the Ninth District Legion band.—Milton Larson was one of 24 Roycraft dealers in Minnesota and Wisconsin to win a trip to Havana on the liner, "Monarch of Bermuda."

1946—TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Zion church congregation has purchased a site on Main av. at Fifth st. for its projected new edifice.—Dale McMahon, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey McMahon, was drowned May 8 in the Red Lake River while playing with companions in a boat near the Soo Line bridge.—Lights are being installed in the tourist park in an effort to halt vandalism there.—Arthur Christianson took over his duties as president of the Jaycees.—The local park board is setting out 4,000 pine and spruce trees obtained from the nursery on the Red Lake Indian reservation.

1956—TEN YEARS AGO

The Jaycees will sponsor a teenage road-e-o here May 26.—Ellsworth Jorgenson was elected commander of the local American Legion club succeeding Harlin Elseth.—Elmer Bratsch, vice president and cashier of the Union State Bank, was elected president of the Northwest unit of the Minnesota Bankers' association.—Anderson Bros. Inc. of Houston, Tex. is preparing to lay a pipeline from Plummer to Viking.

What to do about obscene or other offensive phone calls

We are very much concerned about these calls. Should you happen to receive any, the following simple guidelines provide an effective way for you to stop them:

1. Hang up—if the caller does not say anything.
   —at the first obscene word or improper personal question.
   —if the caller does not identify himself to your satisfaction.
2. Don't keep talking to the caller—what he really wants is an audience. Don't be that audience.

Remember, you are in control of your phone. You can end any conversation simply by hanging up.

By following these guidelines, you can usually discourage someone from continuing to call you. If the calls do persist, call the Telephone Business Office. We want to help in investigating and apprehending those callers.

Report on Viking News of the Week

Mrs. Gene Halvorson Viking, 523-2472

The Sarah Circle of the Zion LCW met at the church on Wednesday, April 20. Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Arne Samuelson. The program opened with a hymn song, followed by devotions which was given by Mrs. Arne Samuelson. The Bible study was led by Mrs. Oscar Hjelle and Mrs. Oscar Gustafson reported on Education. During the business meeting it was decided that the circle would sponsor a white elephant sale and bake sale on Friday, May 6. Anyone wishing to donate any articles to this cause, should contact a Sarah circle member. The meeting closed with the singing of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus", praying the Lord's Prayer and singing of the Table Grace. The hostess served a delicious lunch at the close of the meeting. Guests present included: Mrs. Carl Gustafson, Mrs. Chwialkowski, Mrs. Art Grandstrand, and Mrs. Manda Zoefold.

Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gustafson a week ago Sunday were Glenn and Agnes Halvorson. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Bill Halvorson of Middle River stopped by for a visit and were also luncheon guests at the Gustafson home.

Pre-School Roundup Scheduled

The annual pre-school roundup for children entering first grade in the fall, will be held at the Viking school on Wednesday, May 11. The Marshall County health nurse, Mrs. Viola Rud will be present to check eyes and hearing and handout health and dental records. The afternoon will be spent getting acquainted with students and mothers. PTA board members are in charge of the arrangements for the event. Those who will be enrolled in first grade in the fall are the following: Jeffrey Anderson, Tammy Carpenter, Craig Dahlrud, Tammie Halvorson, Marjorie Krohn Glorian Kvamme, Rodney Hal Knutson, David Lubarski, Ione Oberg, Vance Peters, Jeffrey Shern, Pat Yutrzenka, and Todd Swenson. A luncheon will be served to the mothers and boys and girls at the close of the afternoon's activity.

Zion Mission Sunday, May 8

Sunday, May 8, has been set as the date to observe the annual Mission Sunday at the local Zion Lutheran church. Miss Jeanette Engesather, missionary to Cameroune, Africa, has accepted the invitation to be the guest speaker for the event. Miss Engesether is a native of Petersburg, N. D. She was one of the confirmands of Rev. T. J. Weltzin, when he served in that area. She is a graduate of St. Olaf College and has served on the nursing staff for Crippled children's hospital in N. D. She is now home on leave from her mission post in Cameroun, Africa, having completed one term of service there. During the Sunday morning worship service she will bring a message. There will also be special music provided by the ladies aid. A fellowship dinner will be served by the Zion ladies aid at noon. The afternoon missionary service will begin at 2 p.m. with the ladies aid in charge. The Sunday school will bring the musical selections during the afternoon and Miss Engesather will speak on her missionary work and show articles from Africa. A coffee hour will be served at the close of the afternoon session. The evening service will begin at 8 p.m. with the Luther League in charge. Slides on the Cameroun mission work will be shown by Miss Engesather. It is hoped that a good attendance will be present to observe this special emphasis on Mission work. The invitation is extended to area residents to attend these services.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Gusatfson were entertained for Sunday dinner at the alvin Gulbranson home in East Grand Forks.

A goal attained: $100,000,000 in assets

A goal toward which Thorp has long been moving and working — $100,000,000 in assets — has been reached within the first 120 days of our current fiscal year. This achievement is a direct result of our stated policy of considered but aggressive expansion; a program which effected the opening of seventeen new offices.

Thorp Life Insurance Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary is also now in operation. Although the company was organized late in the year, considerable life insurance has already been written, and continues to be sold at an increasing rate.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THORP PROGRESS

	1965*	1964
Income after deducting taxes and expenses	$ 2,039,308	$ 1,727,878

National Guard Joins Blood Donor Program

Major General Chester J. Moeglein, Adjutant General of Minnesota announced that the National Guard, in cooperation with the American Red Cross and the Department of Defense, has launched a massive blood donor recruitment program involving over 450,000 National Guardsmen nation wide.

Army and Air Naional Guard units across the nation will seek 250,000 units of blood from their members, all of it earmarked for defense use. It is expected that the local National Guard unit will participate in the program.

The program will extend through the summer into the fall months and will be nationally coordinated to insure a steady but manageable flow of blood into Red Cross processing facilities.

Minnesota's part of the "Blood for Defense" program, as it has been tabbed, is being sponsored by the Adjutant General and will involve some 12,000 Air and Army National Guardsmen in the state.

General Moeglein said, "We regard this program as a direct and practical method of contributing to United States military operations in Southeast Asia and to the well-being of our comrads in uniform of the active services who are fighting there."

In expersaing appreciaton to the Minnesota National Guard for its support of the defense blood program, W. W. Boardman, chairman of the St. Paul Regional Red Cross program, said all blood donated by National Guardsmen for military use would be transformed into vital blood derivatives which are being used in increasing amounts by U. S. fighting men in South Viet Nam.

Between now and June 15, National Guardsmen and members of their families will be encouraged to sign individual pledge cards to donate a pint of blood for defense use. Then, schedules will be worked out between National Guard and Red Cross officials and bloodmobiles will start making collection visits at unit armories.

National Guard donations will be made through the 56 Red Cross Regional blood centers and U. S. licensed community blood banks working in coopration with the American Red Cross. Arrangements for collections will be made between the Red Cross centers and the adjutant Generals of the 50 states, District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

The defense department, for whom the Red Cross coordinates the collection and fractionation of blood for military use, recently increased the quantity to be provided and extended its collection agreement with the Red Cross through June 30, 1967.

Whole blood needed by the U.S. forces in Southeast Asia is obtained from Far East sources, a spokesman for the department of defense states, to reduce time lost through shipping. He pointed out, however, that certain blood fractions or derivatives, have been found through experience to be effective in combating certain threats to health.

Gamma globulin, for instance, is given servicemen where infectius hepatitis is a major threat. Serum albumin, another component of blood, is highly effective in countering the often fatal effects of shock in wound and injury cases.

According to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, there is no immediate shortage of the important blood derivatives but defense stockpiles, under the pressure of larger forces and intensfied combat in Viet Nam are dwindling.

"We must replenish our stocks of these derivatives to insure an ample backup for emergency use, and the ational Guard program should go a long way toward accomplishing that objective," McNamaran said.

The American Red Cross traditionally serves as the blood collection agent for the Department of Defense. In World Warr II, more than 13,000,000 pints were collected. Most of it was reduced to dried plasma and shipped overseas for military use. Korean incident collection amounted to more than 7,000,000 units, Community blood banks cooperating with the Red Cross provided 992,000 of that amount.

The Red Cross is now collecting more than 2,775,000 units a year and community blood banks are producing additional large amounts to meet total U. S. needs. More than 2,500 hospitals obtain their entire supply of blood from Red Cross sources and an additional 1,800 use the Red Cross as a supplementary source.

GOVERNOR Karl F. Rolvaag has proclaimed the period of May 8 to May 15 to be Vacation Planning Week in Minnesota. The proclamation mentions specifically that Minnesota itself offers vacationers "a wealth of scenic and recreational attractions." Jeanne Ruth, Miss Minnesota, urges the residents of the state to plan their vacations "early and carefully" and with the governor she points out that "People Have Fun In . . . Minnesota".

MARINE Private Larry Anderson has completed combat training at Camp Pendleton, Calif. See story on front page, Second Section, of today's Times.

Governor Urges Minnesotans To Vacation Here

Governor Karl F. Rolvaag has proclaimed the period of May 8 to May 15 to be Vacation Planning Week in Minnesota.

Urging the residents of Minnesota to plan their vacations "early and carefully", the governor termed the annual vacation "an exciting and rewarding family institution contributing substantially to the health and happiness of all concerned."

The proclamation mentioned specifically that Minnesota itself offers vacationers "a wealth of scenic and recreational attractions" and has excellent services and facilities available to the traveling public.

In calling upon individuals businesses and civic organizations to give support to the observance of Vacation Planning Week, Governor Rolvaag pointed out that the expenditures made by tourists within the state for goods and services represent a substantial annual contribution to the economic strength of Minnesota and its citizens.

89 Bears Killed In State in '65

There were only 89 bears killed in Minnesota in 1965, according to calculations made by Minnesota game officials. The figure was based on hunter report card returns and is the lowest kill reported since 1960. In 1964 hunters took 223 bear.

Game officials said the reason for the low kill in 1965 was the cold weather during the deer season which found many bears being denned up earlier than usual.

Most of the bears taken in Minnesota are shot by deer hunters during the regular season.

Rescue techniques in drowning situations can be remembered by the phrase, "Row-throw-go." Row, if a boat is available; throw a floating object or rope; swim to the rescue only as a last resort.

The majority of back troubles result from unsafe lifting acts. Men should not lift over 75 pounds, or half their weight, whichever is less, and women should not lift over 35 pounds without help.

Garry Johnsrud, 7 year old son of the LeRoy Johnsruds, had the misfortune Monday evening of falling on the open blade of a pocket knife and cutting his eye. His folks rushed him to a Thief River Falls doctor who sent him to an eye specialist in Grand Forks. Surgery was performed on Larry's eye Tuesday morning and 11 stitches were necessary to repair it. Larry was a patient at St. Michael's hospital until Friday. Tests on his eye at that time showed that the vision of the eye was not harmed. Everyone was very thankful to hear this and wish for Larry's continous improvement. He is now recuperating at his home.

MOTHER'S Day
and MOTHER'S DAY

Our artist is not experimenting with his brush! There is a profound difference between these two days . . .

MOTHER'S Day — with the accent on Mother — is the second Sunday in May, when we honor Motherhood, and express our deep affection for Mother. Mother's DAY — with the accent on Day — is every day of the year. It is Mother's unending labor of love. It is Monday's wash and Tuesday's ironing, the meals to be cooked and the beds to be made, the bruises to be healed and the prayers to be heard.

And at the close of her DAY, Mother has prayers of her own—for her little ones, her husband and herself.

God is answering many of those prayers through the Church. With its effective program of religious education and worship the Church can supply the spiritual needs in Mother's DAY . . . and in your DAY also!

ENJOY YOUR STATE PARKS
Follow the call of the wild or watch the exciting past come alive! Explore, hike, fish or just sit around a campfire and forget busy schedules and jangling telephones! Minnesota's parks are yours to enjoy. Get your money's worth this year!
Step across the mighty Mississippi at
ITASCA STATE PARK
Here in 1832, Henry Schoolcraft ended a great saga of exploration—the search for the source of the mighty Mississippi! This 29,125 acre area between Bemidji and Park Rapids comprises our largest park—Itasca. Here, you can step across the Mississippi or go hiking, fishing, boating, canoeing, picnicking and camping around the 157 lakes in the park. Here, too, you can see a natural home for deer and other animals and birds native to the great northwoods. The possibilities for fun at Itasca State Park are almost limitless, so be sure to bring the children! Itasca has swimming facilities, launch excursions, naturalist conducted lectures, hikes, tours, a museum, look-out towers, bathing beaches, a trading post and the Douglas Lodge (a comfortable hotel and cabin complex).

How's Your Health?

(Prepared in the public interest by the Minnesota Medical Ass'n)

How much do you know about cancer? According to the Minnesota State Medical Association, there are two main types of cancer. The cancer which arises in muscles, bones, tendons, cartilage, fat, blood vessels, or lymphoid and connective tissue is called sarcoma. A cancer originating from surface cells of the skin or cells which line the interal organs is called carcinoma.

Cancers cause death by spreading. They first invade the surrounding tissue. Then in a process called metastasis, they travel through the lymphatic (tissue-fluid circulation) or blood vessel systems to other parts of the body where they take root and destroy normal tissue.

Some cancers grow extremely fast, doubling in size in as few as thirty days. Others grow slowly, taking many months or years to spread beyond their starting points.

Cancers are most readily curable when they are treated while still confined to the original sites. They are less easily curable when they have invaded nearby tissue and least curable when they have traveled farther or Metastasized. Thus, the key to cancer cure is early detection and treatment, says the Medical Association.

Mrs. Clarence Borsvold arrived home by train from California last Tuesday morning after a 5 week stay at the Charles Bakke Jr. home in Duarti. Mrs. Bakke and baby are getting along as well as can be expected. While there Mrs. Borsvold and the Bakke family visited many of their relatives. One Sunday they were guests for a 2 o'clock dinner at the home of Mrs. Mabel Wikstrom and her daughter, Ida in Las Angelos. Other guests there were her other daughters and their families, the Ed Sims, the the Jim Monfredies and the Gordon Hollenbecks. Mrs. Hollenbeck entertained with her mother.

Easter Sunday the same group enjoyed a 3 o'clock dinner with the Ed Sims, including Mrs. Wikstrom and Ida and a son, Philip Wikstrom and his family. All the ladies there presented Dorothy Bakke with some nice practical gifts for her new baby son. The Thursday after, Mrs. Borsvold, Mr. Bakken and 3 of the children, Mrs. Ed Wikstrom and daughter enjoyed a 12 o'clock dinner with Mrs. Jim Monfredi. A few of Mrs. Monfredi's neighbor ladies were also there. All dinners were scrumptious and deliciously prepared and every one had a wonderful time. It was a very nice way for Dorothy to get acquainted with all her cousins. Mrs. Borsvold and Dorthy also drove out to Covina one Sunday where they enjoyed luncheon with another cousin and his family, the Dallas Wikstroms. California had lots of rain this season, so everything was so green and pretty. Flowers were blooming everywhere. Fruit trees were beginning to ripen so Mrs. Borsvold says it was a change coming back to colder weather and snow again, but the train ride was long and tiring and she was glad to be home again.

the one and only herbicide that gives positive control of wild buckwheat!

The one wild Buckwheat control that works!

If you'd rather control wild buckwheat than cuss at it, use Banvel herbicide. Put it on while your wheat and oats are in the two to five leaf stage. You'll get positive control, without question. Harvesting will be faster and easier, yields higher, and dockage lower—even if you had only a light infestation last year. Get Banvel now. Your dealer has Banvel D for wild buckwheat alone, and Banvel M, which also kills mustard and other annual weeds. Banvel is worth looking into because it really works!

Employment Service Issues Job Outlook

Copies of "Occupational Outlook", the survey of skills in the Twin Cities area recently published by the Minnesota Department of Employment Security, are now being distributed to educators, guidance counselors, libraries and others in northwest Minnesota who are concerned in advising youth, according to R. S. Eldevik, manager of the Thief River Falls local office of the Minnesota State Employment service.

"Many graduates of local schools migrate to the Twin Cities after high school to seek work or to continue their education," Eldevik said. "While we feel strongly that we must do something, including providing employment opportunities, to encourage our young people to remain in the area and contribute their talents to their home towns, the hard fact is that there just are not enough local career opportunities for all of them to develop their potentials.

"This publication can be of tremendous assistance to anyone involved in advising those students who are already making plans for exploring job openings in the Twin Cities area," the office manager said.

The book depicts the interweaving of the agricultural heritage of the Upper Midwest region with the fast industrializing metropolitan area. We need the employment opportunities of the Twin Cities area for our young people just as the expanding industries of the Twin Cities need an ever-increasing labor force, and the book points this out.

The book also describes the jobs which are most important numerically, and lists the types of training beyond high school which are needed for certain positions.

The survey is an endeavor to present an accurate statistical tabulation and analysis of the present employment and future labor needs of employers of the five-county Twin Cities Metropolitan area.

Included in the survey were Dakota, Ramsey, Hennepin, Washington and Anoka counties.

One of the things the book shows is the occupations and industries in which the major accelerations in employment are taking place. While employment in the 10-year period ending with 1960 increased 22 per cent, some fields grew much faster than others.

Several emerging occupational patterns are shown by the study, especially the growth of occupations in the technical fields. Technicians are fast becoming "second pairs of hands" to engineers, doctors and other professional and highly skilled workers, and the demand is steadily increasing.

Another trend that is evident, Eldevik said is, the proportionate decrease in domestic workers. In 1940 approximately 30 per cent of service workers were in the domestic field; in 1960 this proportion had decreased to 16 per cent. Employment in service occupations is expected to expand, he added, but will be in occupations in the medical, recreational, personal, protective and food service fields.

"From the book, it is evident that general introduction of automated equipment has already made inroads into the demand for unskilled workers," Eldevik added, "and it will cut into the number of semiskilled workers needed. It is of great importance for the young person deciding on training for his future job to be competently advised as to what occupations will be in demand when he is ready to enter the job market."

The report was developed in the occupational information unit of the Minnesota Department of Employment Security's research and planning section in St. Paul.

Information Clinic To Emphasize Medicare

With emphasis being placed on registration for the medicare program which will begin July 1, all persons 65 years of age or older, or who will be 65 on their next birthday anniversary, are invited to attend a medicare information clinic Wednesday. The program on medicare, social security, welfare programs and supplemental insurance will be held at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls.

Clinic hours have been set from 9 a.m. to noon, 1 to 4:30 and 7 to 9 p.m., according to Norman P. Peterson, hospital administrator. Members of the Northwestern Hospital auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Fred Sorenson, will assist with registration, provide referral assistance to persons attending and serve coffee during the clinic hours.

All persons attending the clinic, for which there is no charge, are asked to use the north entrance to the new addition on First street. Registration will take place in the lobby of the rehabilitation unit. Representatives of various agencies will be in attendance at the clinic to offer specific questions which persons may have about their individual situations.

"Northwestern hospital is one institution among thousands preparing for a new alliance for health—and medical care program for the aged known as medicare," Peterson said. "Our information clinic Wednesday coincides with the national observance of Hospital Week.

"A program as large and complex as medicare is bound to have some problems, but it is not going to change the day-to-day operation of the hospital. The over-65 group on the average occupies less than one-fourth of the beds at our hospital. What the program is intended to do is ease the burden of hospital expense for medicare patients," Peterson said.

Participating in the clinic on Wednesday will be the following people: Roger Slaskerud, assistant office, Grand Forks, N. D.; Ronald Mooers, director, Pennington county welfare department; Chester Neece, manager of professional relations, Minneapolis, and Carl Lindell, Crookston, representing Blue

Red Lake Falls Band in Concert Thursday Night

Red Lake Falls high school band will present its spring band concert Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Lafayette high school gymnasium.

The Lafayette Concert Band, a superior-rated band in both district and state area contests, will play various selections including "Pharos Concert March" and "Scandinavian Fantasy". These were the pieces used in contest this year.

Jane Hendrix will play a flute solo. Other solos include a bass solo by Alan Walker and a tympani solo by Debbie Miller. The Lafayette stage band and junior band will also perform.

Herman A. Kjos

Kjos Is Honored For Service to Christmas Seals

In recognition of his many years of volunteer service in the Christmas Seal organization, Judge Herman A. Kjos of Thief River Falls received one of the seven regional awards given at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association at the Curtis Hotel, Minneapolis, Friday.

Judge Kjos, who received an award pin, was cited for his volunteer activities in the Northwest Regional council of the state Tuberculosis and Health association in which Pennington adn 14 other counties are members.

Judge Kjos has not only headed his county Tuberculosis and Health council for many years, but has also been chairman of the Pennington County Red Cross chapter for 15 years, and an officer of the County Polio chapter for 10 years.

He has been judge of Pennington county probate and juvenile court since Jan. 1, 1941, and has never had any opposition since first elected in 1940.

For the last 17 years, he has been a member of the Sunnyrest Sanitorium commission, in addition to being president of many fraternal, professional and civic groups.

The Christmas Seal organization owes much of its success in controlling tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases to Judge Kjos and thousands of other volunteers throughout the state, said Josiah G. Neal, managing director of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association.

NFO Will Meet Thursday Night

Monthly meeting of the Pennington county chapter of the National Farmers organization will be held Thursday at 9 p.m. in the Highlanding hall. All members are urged to attend.

ARC President To Speak in City

Raymond W. Doyle, Rochester, president of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children (ARC), will speak Tuesday, May 17, in Thief River Falls at a public governmental affairs meeting of the Pennington-Red Lake ARC.

The meeting is aimed at increasing public understanding of the needs of the retarded and support of programs to meet those needs, said Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Pennington-Red Lake ARC president. It will be held at 8 p.m. in the community room in the city auditorium.

Doyle's topic will be "Minnesota On The March". He will describe needs of the retarded in Minnesota and the role government plays in serving those needs. He also will outline goals of the Minnesota ARC for 1967 legislative action.

The meeting will be open to the public without charge. Special invitations have been sent to area legislators, educators, civic officials and various community organizations.

Doyle has served as president of the 4,500-member Minnesota ARC since last June. He has been a member of the association's board of directors since 1960 and has served as second vice president and first vice president.

In Rochester, he has been active for many years in the Olmsted County ARC and on the board of the Olmsted day activity center. He is a member of the Governor's commission on employment of handicapped persons and of the advisory council on mental retardation facilities construction, another group appointed by the governor.

4-H Play and Share-the-Fun Finals Tonight

Kratka, Deer Park, Happy Acres and City View Win Preliminary

Four one-act plays and eight share-the-fun numbers advanced to county final competition in Pennington county 4-H play and share-the-fun contests held last week. Final competitin will be held tonight (Monday) at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln senior high school auditorium. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

"Paul Wrecks the Car" was the winning play at Goodridge Tuesday, with Kratka 4-H club members in the cast including Jon Wilson, Wayne Tieman, Angela Mickelson, Paul Lendobeja, Barbara Anenson, Julie Erickson, JoEllen Erickson, Curtis Lindblom and Beattie Mickelson. Coaches were Mrs. Rufus Olson and Mrs. Carl Lindblom. Best actress was Lan Ellingson of Good Hope and best actor was Paul Lendobeja of Kratka.

Share-the-fun winners were a pantomime by Vernon Anenson and Bobby Larson of Kratka and a dialogue by James Prestebak and Mark Bernhardson of Good Hope.

At Thief River Falls Wednesday the Deer Park play "A Pair of Lunatics", won first place. Michael and Regene Radniecki were in the cast and coached by Mrs. Roman Radniecki and Deborah Radniecki. Regene Radniecki was named best actress and Ross Hanson of Silverton was named best actor.

A hillbilly band from Pennington Quads and a reading by Michael Radniecki of Deer Park won the Share-the-fun contest.

At St. Hilaire Thursday the Happy Acres club presented "Scrambled Eggs" for the winning play. Cast members were Ward Johnson, Jerry Parnham, Barbara Breiland, Kathy Breiland, Rosann Tripp and Les Nordhagen. Coaches were Mrs. Bill Holmes and Mrs. Abner Johnson. Best actress was Kathleen Hawkinson of Black River and best actor was Ward Johnson of Happy Acres.

Black River and St. Hilaire numbers won share-the-fun competition.

At Thief River Falls Friday night, City View presented "Buddy Pays the Mortgage" to win the play contest. Cast members were Gary Sande, Lynnell Sande, Valerie Scholin, Mitch Kezar, Kayle Brandt, Steven Furuseth, Eddie Furuseth, Gail Sande, Renne Wysoski and Renee Engen. Coaches were Mrs. Paul Furuseth and Mrs. Rolland Sande. Best actress was Renee Engen of City View and Best actor was Kermit Solem of Steiner.

City View swept both share-the-fun positions with one group composed of Michael Engen, Susan Wysoski, Rayne Brandt, Myrna Dagen, Carol Sande, Susan Adamson and Suzanne and Roxanne Bruggemah. The second group included Dianne Timm, Mitchel and Joel Kezar and Eddie and David Furuseth.

CORRECTION

To clarify a portion of the municipal court report published in the Wednesday Times, the court has noted that Emil Hageman, 18, who was cited by the sheriff's department for having an open bottle in a motor vehicle, lives at 1204 Arnold av. N. in Thief River Falls.

Visitation Slated At Kindergarten Here Thursday

Visitation day for children who will start kindergarten in Thief River Falls schools next fall has been set for Thursday at all four public elementary schools, according to Kenneth Swenson and William Desrocher, principals.

Kindergarten students in the schools this year will not attend classes on Thursday, the principals said. Cards have been sent to parents of children who will attend kindergarten next year notifying them of the time they are to be present for the visitation session.

Parents of children eligible for kindergarten attendance next year who have not been contacted should call any of the school offices.

Lyda Batten Home Damaged by Fire Friday Afternoon

Two fires, one in Thief River Falls and the other in Rocksbury township, occurred late last week. The local fire whistle blew shortly after 2 p.m. Friday when smoke was noticed in the upper story of the Lyda Batten home at 220 Arnold ave. N.

The fire started in some bedding located in an upstairs bedroom of the house. Miss Batten reported that she had noticed a burned spot on a mattress and took steps to extinguish the smouldering. The fire rekindled shortly afterward and spread to the walls and ceiling of the room.

Upon arriving at the scene, firemen hosed the area through an upstairs window, then entered the room, threw the burning bedding out and battled the blaze with hose and axes. Most of the inner wall, consisting of old lumber, had to be removed, along with cardboard and insulation. Flames were confined to one room, but intense heat and smoke caused extensive damage to other rooms on the floor. Damage to the downstairs portion was caused by water which dripped through the ceiling from upstairs.

The fire is being investigated by Fire Chief Roy Langevin and Fire Marshal Pat Barry. Arson, however, is not considered a possibility, Langevin said.

Firemen also answered a call to the Henry Sorenson farm located 5½ miles south of Thief River Falls at 11:47 a.m. Thursday. A woodshed was burning so close to the farmhouse that windows in the house were cracked by the heat. The firemen were able to save the house from further damage. Cause of this fire is also unknown.

Tires Slashed at Goodridge Sat.

Pennington county sheriff's department reported this morning that four tires on the car owned by Coach Glenn Peters of Goodridge were slashed late Saturday evening or early Sunday morning while the car was parked near the Goodridge school during a school function. The vandalism is under investigation.

500 ATTEND FILM AT FRANKLIN JHS

Approximately 500 boys and parents attended the "Boy to Man" film showing Wednesday evening at Franklin junior high school, according to Kenneth Swenson, elementary school principal at Knox and Mark Twain schools. Plans are being made to show the film again early next fall.

FIREMEN were called to the home of Miss Lyda Batten at 220 Arnold av. N. at about 2 p.m. Friday to extinguish a blaze that had broken out in an upstairs bedroom. The fire started in some bedding and spread to the walls of the room. The bedroom was gutted, and intense heat and smoke caused extensive damage to the entire upper story. Damage to the downstairs portion was apparently confined to water damage. Cause of the blaze is undetermined, and is being investigated by the fire department.

Youth Killed, Three Hurt in Two Crashes

One Thief River Falls youth was killed and another injured in a one-car accident early Saturday evening on highway 32 about one mile south of St. Hilaire. Two elderly people were injured Sunday morning in another accident in the St. Hilaire area when two cars collided on a county road.

Robert (Butch) Manning, 19, died at 9:10 p.m. at Northwestern hospital Saturday evening as a result of injuries sustained in the one-car mishap. The car which he was driving went out of control and overturned while traveling north on highway 32, according to the Minnesota highway patrol which investigated the accident. The youth was reportedly thrown from the car and struck his head.

Injured in the mishap was Edward Joseph Wold, 15, Thief River Falls, who escaped with bruises and lacerations. He is being held at Northwestern hospital in this city. The accident happened shortly after 6 p.m., and the car was extensively damaged in the mishap. It was the first Pennington county highway fatality of 1966.

About 11:20 a.m. Sunday a car driven by Henry Melin, rural Red Lake Falls, entered CAR 54 from a farm driveway and collided with a car driven east on CAR 54 by Douglas W. Steiger, rural Red Lake Falls. Melin, 72, is hospitalized here with forehead lacerations and his wife, a passenger in the car, is hospitalized with fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

According to the Pennington county sheriff's department, the Melin car was traveling north out of the driveway at the Axel Naplin farm about nine miles west and two miles south of St. Hilaire. As the car attempted a left turn onto the county road, it collided with the Steiger car. Steiger was uninjured and damage was estimated at $500 to the Melin car and $600 to the Steiger vehicle. The accident is under investigation by the sheriff's department.

Funeral services for Robert Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence (Bud) Manning, will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Leland Steen officiating. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

The body will lie in state from Monday evening until noon Wednesday and at the church for one hour prior to services. Green Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Another Grant Given to Area Poverty Program

Another grant has been received by the Inter-County Community Council, Inc., Oklee, from the Office of Economic opportunity in Washington, D. C. The council operates in East Polk, Red Lake, Pennington and Clearwater counties with Edwin Bilek as director.

The grant of $168,721 is to finance the following four programs: A school psychological service program; school social service program; a therapy activity program; and renewal of the Inter-County Community Council. Announcement of the grant was made jointly by Senators Walter Mondale and Eugene McCarthy.

Employment Service Issues Job Outlook

Copies of "Occupational Outlook", the survey of skills in the Twin Cities area recently published by the Minnesota Department of Employment Security, are now being distributed to educators, guidance counselors, libraries and others in northwest Minnesota who are concerned in advising youth, according to R. S. Eldevik, manager of the Thief River Falls local office of the Minnesota State Employment service.

"Many graduates of local schools migrate to the Twin Cities after high school to seek work or to continue their education," Eldevik said. "While we feel strongly that we must do something, including providing employment opportunities, to encourage our young people to remain in the area and contribute their talents to their home towns, the hard fact is that there just are not enough local career opportunities for all of them to develop their potentials.

"This publication can be of tremendous assistance to anyone involved in advising those students who are already making plans for exploring job openings in the Twin Cities area," the office manager said.

The book depicts the interweaving of the agricultural heritage of the Upper Midwest region with the fast industrializing metropolitan area. We need the employment opportunities of the Twin Cities area for our young people just as the expanding industries of the Twin Cities need an ever-increasing labor force, and the book points this out.

The book also describes the jobs which are most important numerically, and lists the types of training beyond high school which are needed for certain positions.

The survey is an endeavor to present an accurate statistical tabulation and analysis of the present employment and future labor needs of employers of the five-county Twin Cities Metropolitan area. Included in the survey were Dakota, Ramsey, Hennepin, Washington and Anoka counties.

One of the things the book shows is the occupations and industries in which the major accelerations in employment—are taking place. While employment in the 10-year period ending with 1960 increased 22 per cent, some fields grow much faster than others.

Several emerging occupational patterns are shown by the study, especially the growth of occupations in the technical fields. Technicians are fast becoming "second pairs of hands" to engineers, doctors and other professional and highly skilled workers, and the demand is steadily increasing.

Another trend that is evident, Eldevik said is the proportionate decrease in domestic workers. In 1940 approximately 30 per cent of service workers were in the domestic field; in 1960 this proportion had decreased to 16 per cent. Employment in service occupations is expected to expand, he added, but will be in occupations in the medical, recreational, personal, protective and food service fields.

"From the book, it is evident that general introduction of automated equipment has already made inroads into the demand for unskilled workers," Eldevik added, "and it will cut into the number of semiskilled workers needed. It is of great importance for the young person deciding on training for his future job to be competently advised as to what occupations will be in demand when he is ready to enter the job market."

The report was developed in the occupational information unit of the Minnesota Department of Employment Security's research and planning section in St. Paul.

Information Clinic To Emphasize Medicare

With emphasis being placed on registration for the medicare program which will begin July 1, all persons 65 years of age or older, or who will be 65 on their next birthday anniversary, are invited to attend a medicare information clinic Wednesday. The program on medicare, social security, welfare programs and supplemental insurance will be held at Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls.

Clinic hours have been set from 9 a.m. to noon, 1 to 4:30 and 7 to 9 p.m., according to Norman P. Peterson, hospital administrator. Members of the Northwestern Hospital auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Fred Sorenson, will assist with registration, provide referral assistance to persons attending and serve coffee during the clinic hours.

All persons attending the clinic, for which there is no charge, are asked to use the north entrance to the new addition on First street. Registration will take place in the lobby of the rehabilitation unit. Representatives of various agencies will be in attendance at the clinic to offer specific questions which persons may have about their individual situations.

"Northwestern hospital is one institution among thousands preparing for a new alliance for health—and medical care program for the aged known as medicare," Peterson said. "Our information clinic Wednesday coincides with the national observance of Hospital Week.

"A program as large and complex as medicare is bound to have some problems, but it is not going to change the day-to-day operation of the hospital. The over-65 group on the average occupies less than one-fourth of the beds at our hospital. What the program is intended to do is ease the burden of hospital expense for medicare patients," Peterson said.

Participating in the clinic on Wednesday will be the following people: Roger Slaskerud, assistant office, Grand Forks, N. D.; Ronald Mooers, director, Pennington county welfare department; Chester Neece, manager of professional relations, Minneapolis, and Carl Lindell, Crookston, representing Blue

Red Lake Falls high school band will present its spring band concert Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Lafayette high school gymnasium.

The Lafayette Concert Band, a superior-rated band in both district and state area contests, will play various selections including "Pharos Concert March" and "Scandinavian Fantasy". These were the pieces used in contest this year.

Jane Hendrix will play a flute solo. Other solos include a bass solo by Alan Walker and a tympani solo by Debbie Miller. The Lafayette stage band and junior band will also perform.

Herman A. Kjos

Kjos Is Honored For Service to Christmas Seals

In recognition of his many years of volunteer service in the Christmas Seal organization, Judge Herman A. Kjos of Thief River Falls received one of the seven regional awards given at the annual meeting of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association at the Curtis Hotel, Minneapolis, Friday.

Judge Kjos, who received an award pin, was cited for his volunteer activities in the Northwest Regional council of the state Tuberculosis and Health association in which Pennington adn 14 other counties are members.

Judge Kjos has not only headed his county Tuberculosis and Health council for many years, but has also been chairman of the Pennington County Red Cross chapter for 15 years, and an officer of the County Polio chapter for 10 years.

He has been judge of Pennington county probate and juvenile court since Jan. 1, 1941, and has never had any opposition since first elected in 1940.

For the last 17 years, he has been a member of the Sunnyrest Sanitorium commission, in addition to being president of many fraternal, professional and civic groups.

The Christmas Seal organization owes much of its success in controlling tuberculosis and other respiratory diseases to Judge Kjos and thousands of other volunteers throughout the state, said Josiah G. Neal, managing director of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association.

NFO Will Meet Thursday Night

Monthly meeting of the Pennington county chapter of the National Farmers organization will be held Thursday at 9 p.m. in the Highlanding hall. All members are urged to attend.

ARC President To Speak in City

Raymond W. Doyle, Rochester, president of the Minnesota Association for Retarded Children (ARC), will speak Tuesday, May 17, in Thief River Falls at a public governmental affairs meeting of the Pennington-Red Lake ARC.

The meeting is aimed at increasing public understanding of the needs of the retarded and support of programs to meet those needs, said Mrs. Oscar Johnson, Pennington-Red Lake ARC president. It will be held at 8 p.m. in the community room in the city auditorium.

Doyle's topic will be "Minnesota On The March". He will describe needs of the retarded in Minnesota and the role government plays in serving those needs. He also will outline goals of the Minnesota ARC for 1967 legislative action.

The meeting will be open to the public without charge. Special invitations have been sent to area legislators, educators, civic officials and various community organizations.

Doyle has served as president of the 4,500-member Minnesota ARC since last June. He has been a member of the association's board of directors since 1960 and has served as second vice president and first vice president.

In Rochester, he has been active for many years in the Olmsted County ARC and on the board of the Olmsted day activity center. He is a member of the Governor's commission on employment of handicapped persons and of the advisory council on mental retardation facilities construction, another group appointed by the governor.

CORRECTION

To clarify a portion of the municipal court report published in the Wednesday Times, the court has noted that Emil Hageman, 18, who was cited by the sheriff's department for having an open bottle in a motor vehicle, lives at 1204 Arnold av. N. in Thief River Falls.

Visitation Slated At Kindergarten Here Thursday

Visitation day for children who will start kindergarten in Thief River Falls schools next fall has been set for Thursday at all four public elementary schools, according to Kenneth Swenson and William Desrocher, principals.

Kindergarten students in the schools this year will not attend classes on Thursday, the principals said. Cards have been sent to parents of children who will attend kindergarten next year notifying them of the time they are to be present for the visitation session.

Parents of children eligible for kindergarten attendance next year who have not been contacted should call any of the school offices.

Lyda Batten Home Damaged by Fire Friday Afternoon

Two fires, one in Thief River Falls and the other in Rocksbury township, occurred late last week. The local fire whistle blew shortly after 2 p.m. Friday when smoke was noticed in the upper story of the Lyda Batten home at 220 Arnold ave. N.

The fire started in some bedding located in an upstairs bedroom of the house. Miss Batten reported that she had noticed a burned spot on a mattress and took steps to extinguish the smouldering. The fire rekindled shortly afterward and spread to the walls and ceiling of the room.

Upon arriving at the scene, firemen hosed the area through an upstairs window, then entered the room, threw the burning bedding out and battled the blaze with hose and axes. Most of the inner wall, consisting of old lumber, had to be removed, along with cardboard and insulation. Flames were confined to one room, but intense heat and smoke caused extensive damage to other rooms on the floor. Damage to the downstairs portion was caused by water which dripped through the ceiling from upstairs.

The fire is being investigated by Fire Chief Roy Langevin and Fire Marshal Pat Barry. Arson, however, is not considered a possibility, Langevin said.

Firemen also answered a call to the Henry Sorenson farm located 5½ miles south of Thief River Falls at 11:47 a.m. Thursday. A woodshed was burning so close to the farmhouse that windows in the house were cracked by the heat. The firemen were able to save the house from further damage. Cause of this fire is also unknown.

Tires Slashed at Goodridge Sat.

Pennington county sheriff's department reported this morning that four tires on the car owned by Coach Glenn Peters of Goodridge were slashed late Saturday evening or early Sunday morning while the car was parked near the Goodridge school during a school function. The vandalism is under investigation.

500 ATTEND FILM AT FRANKLIN JHS

Approximately 500 boys and parents attended the "Boy to Man" film showing Wednesday evening at Franklin junior high school, according to Kenneth Swenson, elementary school principal at Knox and Mark Twain schools. Plans are being made to show the film again early next fall.

FIREMEN were called to the home of Miss Lyda Batten at 220 Arnold av. N. at about 2 p.m. Friday to extinguish a blaze that had broken out in an upstairs bedroom. The fire started in some bedding and spread to the walls of the room. The bedroom was gutted, and intense heat and smoke caused extensive damage to the entire upper story. Damage to the downstairs portion was apparently confined to water damage. Cause of the blaze is undetermined, and is being investigated by the fire department.

Youth Killed, Three Hurt in Two Crashes

One Thief River Falls youth was killed and another injured in a one-car accident early Saturday evening on highway 32 about one mile south of St. Hilaire. Two elderly people were injured Sunday morning in another accident in the St. Hilaire area when two cars collided on a county road.

Robert (Butch) Manning, 19, died at 9:10 p.m. at Northwestern hospital Saturday evening as a result of injuries sustained in the one-car mishap. The car which he was driving went out of control and overturned while traveling north on highway 32, according to the Minnesota highway patrol which investigated the accident. The youth was reportedly thrown from the car and struck his head.

Injured in the mishap was Edward Joseph Wold, 16, Thief River Falls, who escaped with bruises and lacerations. He is being held at Northwestern hospital in this city. The accident happened shortly after 6 p.m., and the car was extensively damaged in the mishap. It was the first Pennington county highway fatality of 1966.

About 11:20 a.m. Sunday a car driven by Henry Melin, rural Red Lake Falls, entered CAR 54 from a farm driveway and collided with a car driven east on CAR 54 by Douglas W. Steiger, rural Red Lake Falls. Melin, 72, is hospitalized here with forehead lacerations and his wife, a passenger in the car, is hospitalized with fractured ribs and possible internal injuries.

According to the Pennington county sheriff's department, the Melin car was traveling north out of the driveway at the Axel Naplin farm about nine miles west and two miles south of St. Hilaire. As the car attempted a left turn onto the county road, it collided with the Steiger car. Steiger was uninjured and damage was estimated at $500 to the Melin car and $600 to the Steiger vehicle. The accident is under investigation by the sheriff's department.

Funeral services for Robert Manning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence (Bud) Manning, will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. from Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls with Rev. Leland Steen officiating. Interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

The body will lie in-state from Monday evening until noon Wednesday and at the church for one hour prior to services. Green Funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Another Grant Given to Area Poverty Program

Another grant has been received by the Inter-County Community Council, Inc., Oklee, from the Office of Economic opportunity in Washington, D. C. The council operates in East Polk, Red Lake, Pennington and Clearwater counties with Edwin Bilek as director.

The grant of $168,721 is to finance the following four programs: A school psychological service program; school social service program; a therapy activity program; and renewal of the Inter-County Community Council. Announcement of the grant was made jointly by Senators Walter Mondale and Eugene McCarthy.

Haugen and Sweet Vows Spoken At St. Hilaire

Miss Gloria Haugen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Haugen of St. Hilaire, and Stuart Sweet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sweet, also of St. Hilaire, exchanged marriage vows recently at the Calvary Lutheran church at St. Hilaire. The Rev. Lawrence Winter officiated at the double ring ceremony. Wendy Sweet, sister of the groom, who presided at the organ, played the traditional nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Harry Sjulson as she sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Benediction."

Two baskets of white gladioli and red roses, accented with pink carnations, graced the chancel for the evening wedding.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor-length lace gowned fashioned with a scoop neckline, long sleeves that tapered to a point over the wrists and a slim lace skirt featuring a detachable lace overskirt with a bouffant train. Her veil of silk illusion flowed from a queen's crown of pearls and sequins and she carried a cascade arrangement of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Roger Zahl of Winger attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Wanda Tramer and Sharon Jorde of Thief River Falls. They wore floor length gowns in empire fashion with bodices and elbow length sleeves of rose colored lace. Their pink crepe skirts were enhanced in back with a rose colored bow featuring streamers flowing to the floor. Each wore a floral rose colored headpiece and carried rose and white carnations in cascade design.

The flower girl, Robin Zahl of Winger, a niece of the bride, was attired in a white satin floor-length gown, also in empire fashion. Bruce Brink of St. Hilaire, newpew of the groom, was ring bearer.

The groom chose his cousin, Ward Brink of St. Hilaire, as best man. Groomsmen were Keith Krause of St. Hilaire and Lance Peterson of Thief River Falls. Serving as ushers were Ted Haugen of this city and Roger Zahl of Winger, brother and brother-in-law, respectively, of the bride. The ring bearer and the men of the wedding party wore white dinner jackets, black trousers and pink carnation boutonnires.

The mother of the bride wore a bluegreen design with black accessories. The groom's mother was attired in a two-piece dress of turquoise-blue, also with black accessories. Both wore identical corsages of red roses and white carnations.

Special guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Haugen, and Martin Honas, grandparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Brink, grandparents of the groom.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony with 200 guests in attendance. Mrs. Lester Honas and Mrs. Arne Cords served as hostesses. The wedding cake was composed of two three-tiered cakes, joined by an arched bridge, and featuring a miniature wedding party crossing the bridge to the miniature church on the other cake.

Mrs. Melvin Honas and Mrs. Ray Ranum cut and served the cake and Mrs. Ray Haugen and Mrs. Clifford Anderson poured. Marilyn Haugen and Lyla Yonke served the groom's cake while Debra Haugen, sister of the bride, registered the guests and Mrs. Ted Haugen, sister-in-law of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Waitresses were Gwendolyn Haugen, Judy Honas and Coleen Ranum. Those in charge of opening and arranging the gifts were Mrs. David Anderson, Mrs. Darrell Merell and Connie Cords.

Guests attending the wedding from out-of-town were from Fordville N. D., Winger, East Grand Forks, Erskine, Crookston, Stephen, and Hibbing.

For the wedding trip to Detroit Lakes, the bride wore a turquoise two-piece suit. The newly-weds are graduates of Lincoln high school and are both employed in this city. The bride is employed at Parkins Corner Drug and the groom is an employee at Arctic Enterprises Inc. They are at home at Route one, Thief River Falls. Photo — Jim's Studio, Fosston.

Janice Jensen Is Bride Of Herbert Vettleson Jr.

Miss Janice Marie Jenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max J. Jensen of Goodridge, became the bride of Herbert T. Vettleson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert T. Vettleson of Oklee, on Saturday, April 23, at the Eklund Lutheran church at Goodridge. The Rev. A. B. Helme officiated at the eight o'clock double ring ceremony in the presence of 160 relatives and friends. The organist Mrs. Richard Marquis, provided the traditional nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Arnold Hammer as she sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a floor length gown of lace over satin. The gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice and long sleeves that tapered to lily points over the wrists. Sequins enhanced the scalloped neckline and outlined the design encircling the edge of the skirt. Her headpiece, was hand-made by Mrs. Orvin Anderson. It was enhanced by teardrops and dainty hearts, outlined with seed pearls, and was complemented by an elbow length veil of silk tulle. She carried an arrangement of red roses and white carnations on a white Bible.

The bride chose her sister, Karen Jensen of Goodridge, as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Linda Jensen of Thief River Falls, cousin of the bride, and Rosemary Howard of Oklee, cousin of the groom. Their blue brocade floor length gowns were worn with matching veiled headpieces and white shoes. Each carried an arrangement of long-stemmed red roses.

Dressed similar to the other attendants, was the flowergirl, JoAnl Jensen, sister of the bride. Alan Vettleson, brother of the groom was ring bearer.

The groom was attended by his friend, Andy Peterson of Trail as best man. Groomsmen were Glen Jensen and Louis Vettleson, brothers of the bride and groom, respectively. Ushering the guests to their seats were Loren Vettleson, brother of the groom and Donnie Jensen, brother of the bride. They were attired in dark trousers and white dinner jackets with blue carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jensen wore a two-piece blue suit, fashioned by the bride. The mother of the groom was attired in a blue figured dress. Both wore white accessories and corsages of white feathered carnations to complete their attire.

Honor guests at the wedding were Mrs Tilda Vettleson, grandmother of the groom and Lloyd Crown, grandfather of the bride.

A reception in the church dining hall was given by the parents of the bride with Mrs. Harry Solberg as hostess and Frances Hanson, cousin of the bride, registering the guests.

The square, four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with hearts, centered with red roses. Topped by a miniature bride and groom, wedding bells and doves the cake was decorated by Mrs. Henry Waalo and cut and served by aunts of the groom, Mrs. Walter Vettleson and Mrs. Myrl Vettleson. Mrs. Roy Jensen, aunt of the bride, poured. Friends of the bride, Virginia Johnson of Minneapolis and Audrey Vad of Goodridge, served as waitresses and Edytho Peters of Moorhead and Teresa Sanders of Minneapolis, assisted by opening and arranging the gifts.

Guests attending the wedding were from Madison, Wis., Minneapolis, Thief River Falls, Warren, Plummer, Oklee, Trail and Goodridge.

For traveling on the wedding trip to the Iron Range area, the bride wore a two piece red suit with white accessories.

The bride is a graduate of the Goodridge high school. The groom, a graduate of the Oklee high school, is engaged in farming near Goodridge, where the couple will make their home.

Eleventh annual mother and daughter banquet of the BPO Does will be held Tuesday at the Elks club in Thief River Falls. Serving will begin at 6:30 p.m. Entertainment will be provided. There will be a $1.50 charge for each Doe. All daughters will be admitted free.

Trophies Awarded At TRF Women's Bowling Banquet

The annual banquet of the Thief River Falls Women's Bowling association was held Wednesday, April 27, at the VFW club room with Patti Dicken presiding. As has been the custom in past years, Jane Buen, senior member of the Nite Hawk bowling league, gave the invocation.

A brief business meeting of the association was held with the nominating chairman presenting the slate of officers. Election followed with Patti Dicken chosen as president, Ruth Onka, vice president; Linda Johnson, secretary and Bess Lang as treasurer.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of the individual and team trophies. Ruby Huseth, president of the Nite Hawk league, presented the first place trophy to the Northern Motors team and second place to Elaine's. The sponsorship award was given to Robert Dondelinger.

Teams receiving first and second place awards, respectively, in the Coffee Cup leagues were Poppler's and The Fountain. Making the presentation was president of the league, Betty Fitzgerald.

President Erma Shumway presided at the awarding of the Moonbeam trophies with Bea's Food Market placing first, Farmers Union, second and Bridgemans, third.

The special awards were presented by Bess Lang. Receiving recognition for highs in all three leagues were Roberta Pederson with a high game of 244, Mary Washnesky with a high average of 161 and Teen Berg with a high series of 590.

Decorations for the banquet were in the Polynesian theme, thus helping to set the mood for the intermission entertainment. Preceding the presentation of the awards, Teen Berg took the group on an imaginary cruise to the Hawaiian Islands. As the boat sailed the seas, the group participated in a song fest and upon arriving at the Islands, a native, (Ruth Onkka) entertained the group with a Hawaiian dance.

KITCHEN KARNIVAL

Features from the Kitchen of

MRS. PETER SORTER

With the appearance of the crinkley rhubarb leaves, homemakers will soon be busy exchanging recipes for the various methods of preparing those tart rhubarb stocks while they are in the peak of their flavor.

According to Mrs. Peter Sorter, who contributed the recipe for today, a slight variation in ingredients or methods of preparation can make such a big difference in the final results. This jam is especially good on hot toast or fresh home-made buns or bread.

ORANGE SLICE RHUBARB JAM

7 cups rhubarb
1 package orange slices (about one pound)
5 cups sugar
1 package of powdered pectin

Method: Wash rhubarb stocks, cut up fine and measure. Place in a large heavy kettle over low heat and stir until juice forms. Add diced orange slices and sugar and boil until rhubarb is soft, but not mushy. Add pectin and boil a couple of minutes. Pour in clean, sterilized jars and seal. Makes about nine glasses.

The Peter Sorters have resided in Thief River Falls for almost 10 years. Before that time, they farmed in the Ringbo community where they still attend the Immanuel Lutheran church.

In addition to cooking and baking, Mrs. Sorter enjoys raising flowers, both indoors and out. With the assistance of her husband, who is a carpenter they also have a large vegetable garden.

When questioned regarding her family, Mrs. Sorter replied that she had a "one family—one husband, one child (Mrs. Orville Gillespie), one son-in-law and one grandchild (Neil Gillespie) who all live in Thief River Falls."

April Snow Showers Bring Long Hours—No Flowers

by Jim Wills
Times Reporter

April is generally thought of as a month of spring—the month when "showers bring May flowers." Flowers don't thrive on frozen water, however, so most of the moisture that fell during April of 1966 had to melt before it could become an aid to horticulture. Precipitation during the month totaled 1.17 inches, or .76 inch below the normal April total of 1.93. The precipitation came in the form of snow on five of the seven days in which it was measurable.

Precipitation consisted only of traces of melting snow until April 19. An inch of snow fell on that date, and on six days thereafter. Showers, as such, occurred only on April 23 and 24, which show rainfall figures of .23 and .03 inch respectively. On only six days of April was the low temperature above freezing, but only on one day did the high fail to climb above 32 degrees.

Temperatures were generally cool, in fact sometimes wintry. During two warm spells, highs were in the 50's on several days, but more daily highs were in the 30's. Lows were mostly in the 20's and low 30's. Mean temperature for the month was 36.2, or 2.9 degrees below the normal April mean of 39.1. Highest temperature recorded during the month was 62 on April 16 and 22; lowest was 17 on the 20th.

Any way you cut it, April of 1966 was a cold and snowy month, but it had the redeeming feature of being less extreme in various respects than April of past years. April of 1961 was colder with a mean temperature of 35.3. April of 1964 was snowier with a snowfall total of 13 inches. April of 1965 was considerably wetter with a total precipitation figure of 3.92 inches.

Appearing below is a list of daily temperature and precipitation figures observed by North Central Airlines personnel at the municipal airport, from which all previously-quoted totals and averages are compiled.

Bond Sales Total 30.3 Per Cent of 1966 County Goal

E and H savings bond sales in Pennington county in March amounted to $15,229, according to J. M. Roche, county chairman. This brings the three-month total to $46,443 or 30.3 per cent of the county's goal for 1966 of $153,000.

Savings bond sales during March in Minnesota amounted to $5,264,369 bringing the total sales to date to $16,266,933 or 22.8 per cent of the 1966 goal of $71,300,000.

Nationally savings bond holdings gained $91 million in March. The cash value of E and H bonds outstanding was $49,405 million. E and H bond sales were the highest for any March since 1956, while E bond sales were the highest for any March since 1949.

Rollin O. Bishop, chairman, Minnesota volunteer savings bonds committee, again calls attention to the new rate. All bonds purchased since Dec. 1, 1965 pay the new higher rate of 4.15 per cent, held to maturity. All older bonds will earn .4 of 1 per cent more for the remaining period to next maturity, starting with the first interest period of five months or more which begins on or after Dec. 1, 1965.

April 28 was Kickoff Day for the State of Minnesota payroll savings campaign to signup state employees to purchase U. S. savings bonds regularly the convenient automatic way.

Carnegie Library Staff Attends District Meeting

Attending the district library meeting at Detroit Lakes May 3 were Miss Bertha Hasted, Mrs. Flora Allison and Miss Pat Rustad, all of the local library staff, and Mrs. Hans Chommie, a member of the public library board. A total of more than 60 persons were at the meeting, which was held at the Detroit Lakes public library.

Hannis Smith, director of Minnesota libraries, spoke on the new trends in library construction, and Miss Emily Mayne, supervisor of extension libraries presented "What's New in Library Development."

A Spotlight on the Far East" was the topic chosen by R. Dietrich, a professor of Far East history at Moorhead state college. He stressed the growing importance in world affairs of that part of the world, and its impact on the present and future welfare of our nation.

"What's New in Children's Books and Services in the Public Library" was presented also, along with a report on the expanded development in the part played by trustees in the library field, and a report on the retirement program for librarians.

Mary Bennes Ties For UMD Office

Marry Bennes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bennes of Thief River Falls, and a senior at the University of Minnesota, Duluth, ran a dead heat with Mike Dean of Hibbing in the race for senior class president in an election April 27. Each picked up 92 votes. A decision run-off is anticipated.

POSTERS made by local students in observance of the American Legion auxiliary's "Poppy Days" scheduled May 26-27 were judged Monday, May 2. In the front row are the winners in Class 1, the elementary division. Left to right are Candy Martinson, first place; Laurie Langlie, third place; and Madelene Vaudrin, second place. Class 3 winners (senior high division) are in the back row. From left, they are James Bren, third place; Steve Waale, first place; and Rodney Helgenset, second place. There were no qualifying entries in Class 2, the junior high division.

Social problems come in for much discussion and cause knotting of parental and law-enforcement men's brows. They have been with us through the ages and undoubtedly will plague mankind as long as he exists. In our time, the problems of, and with, teenagers are daily in the headlines. "Teenage Tyranny" by Grace and Fred Hechinger approaches the problem from both the adults' and teenagers' points of view.

Among chapter headings, which give a good insight into the book's contents, are "Learning to be Teenagers; Hothouse Bodies in a Cool Culture (teenage dating rituals in a society which has made a fetish of matchmaking); Sex: Little Old Technicians; Teenage Maturity Symbols: Smoking, Drinking, Cars; Mass-Media: Assembly-line Idols; Goals: Indigestion Through Affluence; What Today's Teenagers Want from Life and the Future; Conclusions: the responsibilities, both of American parents and educators and some unique but practical suggestions."

Another in a similar vein is "War Against Want," by Senator McGovern, who discusses the humanitarian aspects for the food for peace program along with other of its aims. "The Shook-up Generation" by Harrison Salisbury is highly readable, absorbing and provocative. It should be read widely and also widely discussed, and would make a fine discussion project for church and educational groups, among others.

The KKK makes repeated headlines. David M. Chalmers in "Hooded Americanism," literally strips the hoods off the organization which is called "The Oldest American Society for Organized Mayhem." Its aim is to attempt to enforce the concept that the white man must rule in America. Chalmers, who was part of a mob at the age of eight, is no stranger to mob psychology, having witnessed riots also in Paris, Tokyo, and elsewhere.

He had interviews with Klansmen for over eight years, and was a Fulbright professor in Ceylon, India. He traces in everyday language the whole century's activities of the clan and explains its organization, methods and the power and scope of its tentacles which have reached such proportions that they encircle the nation.

But it's springtime, and amid all the tension and the turmoil there's the miracle of nature's renewal on all sides. The recurring phenomenon has provoked a rich harvest of literature on young things—like "A Fawn in the Woods," a timely and irrestible picture story book. By Irmengarde Eberle, the aithor of 43 books for children, and enriched with photos by Lilo Hess, it is the sort of thing your smallest children will enjoy to look at and the children in the lower grades will devour with eyes and minds, and want more. In fact, everyone who loves young animals, and who doesn't, will enjoy the warmth and beauty of this book.

Gardening ideas are taking shape in the brains of all greenthumbers along about this time of year, and the dust is being blown off the ideas dormant during the long and brutal winter. To help you become a horticulturist instead of what I like to call a "Morticulturalist," which is what I dub myself for my lack of ability in the gardening line, there are a number of references that will be helpful.

"Better Home and Gardens," "The Flower Grower", and other periodicals can be found in the files for your study. "Plant Propogation in Pictures" is a gardener's "how-to" bible, with numerous illustrations on division, grafting, cuttings, sowing seeds, greenhouses, building, and cold frames, and other gardening ideas.

And when you're planning those showers, lawn parties and other functions, and later on, when you want to show off your skill in gardening and as a decorator, there's a marvelous book "The American Book of Flower Arrangements and Table Settings" that can make your efforts shine with the glow of professionalism and things of gracious beauty.

Star-gazing becomes more popular as the nights grow balmy. And the pastime challenges the imagination. Did you know that in our galaxy alone there are about a billion stars? That in all of space, grouped in galaxies, are untold billions of stars? That it has been estimated that there are as many stars in the universe as there are grains of sand on all the beaches of all the oceans of the world? (Did you blink at these disclosures, and wonder where they are found?)

James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer at the Amelcan Museum at Hayden Planetarium, answers these and myraid other questions about astronomy in his book "1001 Questions Answered About Astronomy."

Also answered are such astounding things about the sun—such as whether the sunlight falling on the earth has any weight—and whether the moon has a day and a night, and the appearance of satellites when they are visible. Pickering weaves heavenly fascination in his book. In the 500's section of the library, this and other books on the subject are worth a good, long, searching look.

Hal Borland's "Beyond Your Doorstep" is a practical nature guide to help you to new awareness of the world of the country, the space just beyond the porch. There await you many things to feel, hear, smell, se, enjoy and appreciate in the world you live in and yet may pass by. One chapter, "You Need Not Go Hungry", tells of berries and other numerous products of the countryside which, although not cultivated, are there to enjoy and eat.

Others may seem palatable but are highly poisonous or more mildly so. Borland will help you know the difference. "Out of This Nettle, Danger" tells of poisonous leaves, vines, etc., and the ways to identify and usually avoid them.

Other enemies such as poisonous snakes, black bears, etc., are exposed for the vicious things they are. Month by month, the year's changes are portrayed, nature's drama unfolded and the movement and color of life's cycles are shown with appreciative awareness and perception. The interdependence of living things one upon another is explained also. Borland's always enjoyable. This time is no exception.

Alliances are common practices, and while some of them fail, others work. When a highly improbable merger of two families, one with ten children, and the other with eight, adds up to a harmonious whole, the formula that makes it "take" is good reading. In "Who Gets the Drumstick?", Helen Beardsley, the wife, and the heart behind this successful integration effort, tells how it all came about.

Her initial fears of its outcome, and the eventual working out of formulas, social and economic, which insured its success, are told in a narrative that is sometimes amusing, always amazing, and generally down-to-earth. Its pleasing style will delight the reader. You'll want to include this in your light reading. It's here at the library, naturally. Just one more inducement to drop around, and to read, read, read!

Bennes, Mandt on UMD Dean's List

A total of 376 students were placed on the dean's list, based on a 3.25 grade point average or better while carrying a full load of college work, at the University of Minnesota, Duluth. Among those were Mary Bennes of Thief River Falls and David C. Mandt of Brooks.

Police Report Several Mishaps And Small Thefts

Several traffic accidents and two larcenies were reported during the past several days to the Thief River Falls police department. Minor injury to a driver in one of the mishaps was noted on the police report.

Most extensive damage of the accidents reported occurred about 10:10 p.m. Friday when a car driven east on First street by Lyle Mandt, Oklee, struck a parked car owned by Leonard Thramer, International Falls. The car was parked near the First street intersection with Merriam avenue. Damage was estimated at $800 to the Mandt car and $1,000 to the Thramer vehicle. Mandt received minor facial injuries and was treated and released at Northwestern hospital.

On Thursday it was reported by A. V. Brodin, Rt. 4, that his car had been struck by an unidentified vehicle while parked near Franklin Junior high school Wednesday evening. Damage was estimated at $35.

At about 10 p.m. Thursday a motorcycle driven by Steven Waale was traveling north on highway 32 and attempting a left turn on Duluth avenue when it hit loose gravel and slid. Waale received a cut on his left foot and abrasions on the left leg while a passenger, James Bren, received minor scratches.

At about 12:15 p.m. Saturday a truck owned by Falls Concrete and driven by Elmer Green was traveling east on Eighth Street. At the corner of Horace avenue it collided with a car driven south on Horace by Donald Gustafson, city, which had stopped for the stop sign and proceeded onto Eighth street. Damage wase estimated at $20 to the truck and $500 to the car. The mishap is under investigation.

On Friday David Erickson reported the theft of a windshield and brackets for a motorbike and on Saturday Jerry Melgaard, city, reported the theft of a battery from his car parked in the garage. The windshield and brackets were valued at $35 and the battery at $25. Cables were cut to remove the battery.

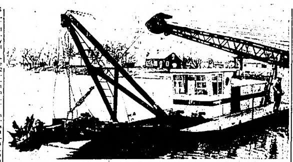
Honor Olson for Insurance Sales

Wendell W. Olson, Thief River Falls, led all agents in the New York Life Insurance company's Fargo general office during April.

Olson has been the New York Life representative in Thief River Falls for the past eight years.

He also qualified to attend the Dudley Dowell May 26-28 at the Royal Orleans hotel in New Orleans, La.



LAUNCHING of the city's new portable river dredge was accomplished at about 11 a.m. Saturday at Nelson's point, across the river straight west of the Tindolph park swimming beach. Dredging is expected to start in about a week and a half, after arrival of additional equipment. Plans are to start the dredging project at the approximate point of launching. The Ammco dredge was purchased February 23 from the Road Machinery & Supply company, together with floating pipe, at a cost of $55,631.

NMEA Workshop Attended by TRF School Teachers

Northern Division MEA held its annual Spring Drive-in recently at Goodridge and at Park Rapids. Attending the workshops this year were the newly-elected local association presidents and membership chairmen. Evelyn Hietala, chairman NMEA Field services presided at the meeting.

Representatives of the NMEA, MEA and NEA spoke about their specific associations programs and how they can help the local association in the coming year. John Schulling, executive secretary, and Betty Johnson, NMEA vice president, represented the Northern division.

Milt Will, chairman of the Million Dollar fund, explained this program to the group. A. J. Kramer, MEA vice president and candidate for MEA president, and Barney Palmer, MEA staff member explained the coming dues increase and the extra benefits to the members that will be made possible because of this increase. Erwin Mittelholtz, spoke in behalf of the NEA.

Attending from this area were Orall Johnson, Art Welter and Elmer Porteg, Thief River Falls; Gene Connor, Curtis Gruhl, Tom Miller and Elaine Steele, Goodridge.

Vehicle Safety Checks Promoted In Month of May

The Minnesota Jaycees and state highway department are cooperating during May to promote vehicle safety-checks to reduce accidents, the department reports. May is vehicle safety-check month and is promoted through the department's quarterly "Blueprint for Safety."

The Jaycees plan to place emphasis on safe vehicles prior to the Memorial Day weekend.

Throughout Minnesota local organizations, safety councils, civic clubs, car dealers, 4-H, Future Farmers of America and other groups will be conducting safety check lanes where vehicles will be inspected for 10 points of safe operation.

These points include, brakes, lights, exhaust systems, glass, steering, etc., and this year will include another very important safety element the safety belt.

National safety experts estimate that 5,000 lives could been have saved, and many thousands of persons spared severe injuries, had they been wearing safety belts at the time of an accident.

Spring Showers May Bring Rust Spores to Wheat

Showers are said to bring flowers, but in the North Central States, which include Minnesota, spring showers may also carry fungus spores that start rust infections in spring wheat.

USDA scientists at the University of Minnesota Agricultural Experiment station have studied rust spores and spring rains for three seasons. They found spores of both leaf and stem rusts in the rain samples.

Observation showed that susceptible wheat developed rust infections when the spores were washed from the air by rain. The scientists say dection of rust spores in early spring rains may help to forecast wheat rust epidemics.

Jehovah Witness Convention Held

To better equip themselves for an expanded service to the community, Jehovah's Witnesses received instruction during their three-day convention recently at Walker, where the peak attendance reached 623.

Throughout the three-day program talks, discussions, interviews and staged dramatizations were held to emphasize the plans for progress during the next six months.

By its ministry during the next six months, the Thief River Falls congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses hopes to demonstrate to the community what E. E. Knickmeyer, district supervisor of the Watchtower Bible and Tract society, said during the public talk at Walker.

the earth a constant influence is being exerted on all persons to give in to materialistic viewpoints, to believe only what they can see. Faith in God and in the Bible are on the decline. Increasing numbers feel that Bible principles are not practical for the 20th century. Yet history abounds with evidence of God's influence and so does this 20th century."

Rural Areas, Arise!

The following editorial appeared in a recent edition of the Morris Sun:

A short time ago the U. S. Senate rejected the Dirksen amendment to the constitution which would return to the people of each state the right to decide the basis of representation in one branch of the state which got a majority vote in the senate but not the necessary two-thirds majority for submitting a constitutional amendment, is an outgrowth of the Supreme Court decision that both houses of all state legislatures must be apportioned purely on a population basis.

The Dirksen amendment would not disturb this decision so far as one house of each state legislature is concerned, but it would permit the people of each state to decide for themselves the basis of representation in the other house. Obviously they could, as Minnesota has done, decide that both houses should be on a populaton basis. Or they could decide otherwise, but it would be their decision.

The Congress of the United States has two branches. The House of Representatives is apportioned on a population basis. A few of the more populous states have substantial voices in the affairs of government in the house. On the other hand, each state, regardless of size or population has two members of the United States Senate. This gives each state an equal voice in the Senate.

As a result a handful of populous states cannot indiscriminately impose their will on the entire country. Through the years the system has seemed to work well and it is not surprising therefore that many states patterned their state legislatures after the federal program.

With the governor of the state and both houses of the legislature elected purely on a popular basis, complete control of state government easily passes to the urban areas. There remains nothing but a feeble voice to speak out in behalf of the problems of rural America.

With county representation or some similar arrangement in effect in one house of the legislature, one of the three voices could speak out for those of us who live on the farms and in the rural communities of the state. While this has not been a major problem in Minnesota in the past, increasing urbanization will concentrate political power in the major cities in the very near future. Time is running out for rural Minnesotans to get behind the Dirksen amendment and not a similar amendment to our state constitution.

Spare That Tree

Highway safety is certainly a growing problem in Minnesota and throughout the nation and nearly everyone agrees that every effort should be made to employ whatever safety methods are possible to reduce the needless toll of death and injury. The Minnesota highway department apparently believes that cutting trees will help solve the problem.

A short time ago we received a public opinion letter which was printed for wide distribution over the signature of Arthur Nelson, chairman of the Save Minnesota Trees committee. We don't publish form letters in our public opinion column, but this letter raised several pertinent questions.

Nelson states that cutting of trees along state highways began last February following a fatal car accident. That accident happened in January, and in it two college students were killed when their car went out of control near Elk River and sheared off a one-foot-diameter tree at a point 10 feet above the ground. The highway department has now implemented a program to cut trees along highway right-of-way within 30 feet of the edge of the roadway.

We agree with Nelson's letter, which states: "Although there may be an occasional tree which should be removed, this order is far too sweeping. Power poles, bridge abutments, embankments, ditches and culverts would still of necessity remain. This reminds us that it is still the driver's responsibility to remain sober and exercise reasonable caution.

"Why destroy so many beautiful trees on the slight chance that a reckless driver may at some time collide with one. It is better for such a driver to be stopped by a tree in the divider area than to (cross the divider and) plunge wildly into an oncoming car."

We would bet that Lady Bird Johnson's pet program of highway beautification does not include a system of stumps for Minnesota. Stumps can be much more dangerous than trees themselves, and stump removal of all trees within 30 feet of the roadway entails quite a project.

It made us just a little bit ill to see the large trees being cut on the divider area between Anoka and St. Cloud in February. Next to the scenery in the Motley area, we considered this portion of the highway one of the more attractive spots on the Twin Cities drive.

"Appeals to those who initiated this program have fallen on deaf ears," Nelson writes. "No hearings have been held to give the people a chance to voice their opinions. Soon this tree cutting program will reach your part of the state. Do you approve? If not, act at once to let these men and your elected representatives know how you feel. Remember that it takes many, many years to grow a tree of stately size. Is our state so short of leadship that we must become a leader in the destruction of natural beauty?"

The highway department has explained its position as one of promoting safety, and as such its stand can be commended. There is ample room for question, however, as to how much the program will do to promote safety and as to whether or not at least some discretion should be used. Arthur Nelson's letter provides several points well taken.

This Is Tourism?

Economic Development administration of the U. S. Department of Commerce has approved a public works grant of $83,000 for Cass Lake to "expand its tourism industry". The grant is to be matched by the village of Cass Lake.

Now, get a load of the work to be done to aid tourism: storm sewer system, curb, gutter, sidewalk and bituminous surfacing of business district streets. According to EDA, "the village says the public works projects will make it more attractive to tourists who visit northcentral Minnesota".

Ain't that tourism something

Growing Pains

Pains of growth are being felt at several points in the national anatomy these days, but perhaps nowhere else with the severity as in the area of federal government. The following editorial appeared in the Waseca Herald:

A little over a year ago a new agency was started in the Department of Agriculture. Purpose was to alert rural taxpayers to the places where government money is and tell them how they can get more of it.

Why it should be started we do not know unless it was a sop to Thatcher of Farmers Union Grain Terminal fame. At least the Washington editor of the National Farmers Union news letter was named to head the eight employees and its $99,000 budget.

But how that body grew in 13 months. It is today asking for 2,492 employees and a budget of $3,468,000.

Chairman Jamie L. Whitten, Mississippi Democrat, of the House Appropriations subcommittee on agriculture, blasted the enlargement of the agency without congressional approval.

Whitten said that it was the first time in his memory that a secretary of agriculture had directed an agency to "hire particular people by name," and attempt to have the record show they were just regular personnel assigned to a particular job.

"Mr. Chairman, there was no intention here of either violating the budget or no intention here of violating our good working relationships with the committee," said Baker, assistant Secretary of Agriculture.

"Well, I need not charge any wrongful intent," replied Whitten. "The act speaks for itself, when one does not follow the regular course, but goes around the house, crawls in under it, and comes out at the doorstep as has been done here. The way it was done speaks for itself, Mr. Baker."

Words of Lincoln

These are days when so-called "civil disobedience" is growing throughout the nation and when those individuals with selfish interests or ill-conceived martyr complexes consider it their "duty" to protest against whatever laws may be considered restrictive or unfair. The bulk of these protesters led and more easily confounded and confused.

Professors in the nation's colleges encourage the partially-educated to "champion the cause of civil disobedience", speaking out in college classroom under the overworked and threadbare guise of "academic freedom". Many of these instructors would not admit it, but their teachings have touched off a number of riots, demonstrations and group protests which have done our country not only a disservice but incalulable harm.

It is time our nation turned once again to the words of Abraham Lincoln—a real believer in America and Americanism—who said:

"Let every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his prosperity, swear by the blood of the Revolution, never to violate in the least particular, the laws of the country. . .Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father and to tear the character of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother, to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap—let it be taught in schools, in seminaries and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books, and the Almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls, enforced in courts of justice. . .Let it become the political religion of the nation; and let the old and young, rich and poor, the grave and gay, of all sexes, tongues and colors and conditions, sacrifice unceasingly upon its altars."

Borrowed Nonsense . . .

And then there is the one about the drunk weaving down the sidewalk. Two little nuns seeing him on their collision path quietly moved apart and passed him one on each side. He staggered in a few more pases, stopped, took off his hat, looked back, and gasped: "Shay, how in the heck did she do that!"

WINNING pitcher in the Prowlers' 9-1 conquest of Bemidji on Friday afternoon at Bemidji was Billy Poole, a veteran of the local's staff. Poole, in four innings, pitched no-run ball, giving up but two hits.

Prowlers Topple Lumberjacks 9-1

The baseball Prowlers extended their early-season winning streak to four games on Friday afternoon when, in a game played on the Bemidji diamond, they defeated the Lumberjacks, 9-1. Coach Chuck Grillo's Bemidji squad, the defending Region Eight champions, will play a return game against the Prowlers on the Fairgrounds diamond on Friday evening, May 13, at 7:30 p.m. The Prowlers will meet Fosston here on Tuesday evening, and the Roseau Rams will play here on Wednesday evening.

The Prowlers tallied four runs in the first inning of Friday's game, and then added a pair in the second inning to take a commanding lead.

Rocky Wilson led off with a walk; Tommy Cummings laid down a sacrifice bunt, but was safe on pitcher Jerry Fruetel's wide throw to first; and a wide pitch moved Wilson and Cummings to third and second, respectively. Wayne Smith drew a walk to load the bases. Keith Hendrickson topped a pitch and, the ball trickled in front of the plate, and catcher John Boyer made a force play at home, retiring Wilson. A wild pitch scored Cummings. Duane Morben grounded out, short to Ernst. Karl Poppenhagen gained first when, on a strike out, the ball eluded catcher Boyer. Dale Erickson slapped a singled into center field, scoring Smith and Hendrickson, and sending Poppenhagen to third. Poppenhagen scored moments later on a passed ball.

Righthanders Billy Poole and Cummings combined to limit the 'Jacks to four hits and one unearned run. Poole, who hurled four innings, gave up a pair of hits, with Jeff Glime and Fred VanBrunt getting singles in the third inning. Cummings, who hurled the final three innings, was touched for a pair of singles and an unearned run in the sixth inning. Tom Hill and John Melhus notched singles, with Hill's single scoring Andree with the 'Jacks lone tally.

The Prowlers supported the four-hit pitching of Poole and Cummings by fine defensive play, committing but two errors. Bob Brodin at third base handled six chances faultlessly, and Dale Erickson at second base came up with a pair of ground balls to snuff out potential Bemidji rallies.

STEINER . . .

Among those who attended the open house at the Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire Sunday afternoon in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Yonke, parents of Mrs. Richard Jorde of this community, were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jorde, Linda and Sharon, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hillyer and Connie, Mrs. Gilfred Sannes, Mrs. Gene Sannes and her sister, Brenda Olson, Mrs. Curtis Bottem, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lubitz, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yonke and family and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jorde who were host and hostess for the open house celebration. Mrs. Gene Sannes was a soloist with Connie Hillyer accompanying her at the piano. Connie also played for other numbers. Others who assisted with the reception were Mrs. Clifford Jorde, Linda and Sharon, Mrs. Bottem, Mrs. Lubitz, Mrs. Hillyer and Mrs. Yonke.

Sunday afternoon and supper guests at the L. A. Meyer home were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halder of Thief River Falls who had recently returned from a trip to Washington, Oregon and California to visit relatives and friends.

Isolated buildings are in more danger of lightning damage than city houses because multiple points tend to disperse the destructive force. The same "safety in numbers" principle makes dense forests acceptable shelter.

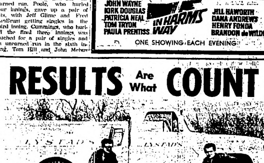
RESULTS Are What COUNT



If You Need Pest Extermination — Call
LYSTADS, Inc.
Phone 681-4463 Jerry Adams, Mgr. 724 N. Horace Ave.
Pictured above are Jerry Adams and Ron Ebbinghausen with over 300 rats poisoned in just one day at the Thief River Falls city dump grounds. Extermination ingredients will remain active for about 2 weeks and Lystad's anticipate the total kill to be 2 to 3 times greater. If you have an pest problem you can be sure of results when you call Lystad's.

Baseball Prowlers Whip Karlstad and Goodridge

The baseball Prowlers opened their home schedule on the fairgrounds diamond here last week by scoring a pair of wins. On Wednesday night coach Ralph Skay's squad defeated coach Leon Olstad's Karlstad Rabbits, 9-1; and on Thursday afternoon the Prowlers bested the Goodridge Huskies, 8-2.

On Tuesday night, May 10, the Prowlers will meet the Fosston Greyhounds in a 7:30 p.m. game on the fairgrounds diamond. And on Wednesday night, May 11, coach Ray Kavanagh will bring his highly-rated Roseau Rams here for a 7:30 p.m. game at the fairgrounds. On Friday night, May 13, the defending Region Eight champion Bemidji Lumberjacks will play the Prowlers here, with game time at 7:30 p.m. And the week's schedule will be closed out with a Saturday night game, 7:30 against the Fertile Falcons on the fairgrounds diamond.

In Wednesday evening's game against Karlstad it was an extra-base power of the Prowlers that proved the deciding factor. In the last half of the first winning with the walking Rocky Wilson on base, southpaw-swinging Wayne Smith drove a home run over the right-field fence. And in the second inning, with Wilson on base on a walk, Karl Poppenhagen on base as a result of being hit by a pitched ball, and Smith on base on a walk, Keith Hendrickson drilled a long home run over the center-field fence, connecting for a "grand slam" and giving the Prowlers a 7-0 lead.

Billy Poole, Tommy Cummings, Tommy Tunberg and Bob Brodin shared the hurling duties for the locals, Southpaw Tunberg, pitching the fifth and sixth innings, gave up the lone run.

On Thursday afternoon the Prowlers notched an 8-2 win over coach Glen Peters' Goodridge Huskies. A single by Tom Cummings, a sliced double by Wayne Smith, a walk to Hendrickson, and a Goodridge throwing error gave the locals three runs in the first inning.

The Prowlers added a pair of tallies in the fifth on a single by Cummings, walks to Smith and Hendrickson and a Husky miscue. And in the sixth the Prowlers marked up a three-run cluster.

Billy Dicken, Nicky Drees and John Looker pitched for coach Skay's Prowlers. Dicken hurled no-hit no-run ball for two innings, whiffing five batsmen; and Drees pitched no-hit and no-run ball for three innings, striking out four hitters. Looker gave up a double to LeRoy Vigen in the sixth, and was tagged for a single by Walberg and a double by Paulson in the seventh, when the Huskies scored a pair.

Trap Shooters Invited to Join Practice Round

League trap shooting for the 1966 season will begin Wednesday, May 18, and the traps will be open this Wednesday at 5 p.m. for practice rounds and novelty events. All league shooters or those interested in joining a league team are invited to shoot.

Women who are interested in trap shooting this season are asked to call Mrs. Stan Wilson. The team comprised entirely of women in last year's league made a creditable showing, finishing above standings.

Men interested in league shooting but unable to attend this Wednesday's warmup session are asked to contact Stan Wilson.

Ping Pong Event Set Wednesday

Table tennis players in the community are invited to participate in a ping pong doubles tournament to be held Wednesday at 9 p.m. in the Elks club rooms in Thief River Falls. Entry fee is $1, prizes will be awarded in first, second and third events, and each team is assured of playing at least three games.

Local "Cooties" Elected to Area Offices April 24

Three Thief River Falls men were elected to area offices in the area VFW "Cootie" convention held April 24 in Bemidji. They are Selmer Dimmen, area commander; Lloyd Peterson, junior vice commander; and Louis Stenseth, quartermaster.

Willard McGinty of Bemidji was elected senior vice commander. The balance of the officers are appointed by the commander.

7th Dist. DFL Convention Set

Seventh district DFL convention will be held Sunday, May 22, at Detroit Lakes high school with the business session to begin at 1 p.m. An Art Carlson appreciation dinner will precede the meeting at 7 p.m. Saturday; cost is $10 per plate. The dinner will be held at the Fireside Supper club at Detroit Lakes. Carlson has served as district treasurer for many years.

FORCED out at the plate in this first-inning baseball action at Bemidji on Friday is the Prowler's leadoff batter Rocky Wilson. With the bases loaded in the first, Keith Hendrickson bounced a dribbler in front of the plate and Bemidji's catcher John Boyer hustled out and fielded the ball and then tagged home plate to gain the decision of umpire Rollie Johnson. The Prowlers won the game by a 9-1 score.

Calling all Softballers

A call has been issued for the team managers, and prospective team members, of the city softball league to be in attendance at the basement meeting room in the auditorium on Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m.

At a preliminary meeting held last week, it appeared that the league will operate this season with five teams. Hamm's Beer did not have a representative at this preliminary meeting, and the team has not indicated that they will participate this season.

Wednesday evening's meeting will complete plans for the 1966 season, and if a five-team league is arranged it is probable that the schedule will be a three-round affair. According to present plans, Ben's Market, the Vets, Schmidt's Beer, Bridgeman's and Hartz Stores will enter teams in this season's play. The games will be played on the fairgrounds diamond.

Bob Carlson, one of the "elder statesmen" of the city softball, said that a pair of wheelchairs will be available at Wednesday evening's meeting, for the convenience of several of the out-of-shape Vets team members.

Incidentally, Wylie Bogie, who has been a colorful member of the Bea's Market team the past couple of seasons, and one of the better pitchers in the city league, has returned to Glenwood, his home town. Wylie is employed by the Soo Line, and he was stationed here for a couple of years, but now he is able to work out of Glenwood.

Merely Academic

That pencil work that several of us did the other day to determine the city's high-average bowler for the season, extending the figures into the decimals to learn that Chuck Krause of the Eagles had edged out Shorty Perkins of the Schmidt's, was merely academic. The city's high-average bowler for the 1965-66 season, and no pencil work was necessary, was lefty Freddy Jensen of the Elaine's and Mobil Lefty's teams.

While the stylish southpaw with the wide-sweeping hook was in and out of town most of the season, Fred did bowl 51 games with the Elaine's team, and in these 51 games he bowled at an average of 185. And that pin mark was a couple better than the averages of Chuck and Shorty. Freddy, employed with the L & S Company, is now living in St. Louis Park, and it's doubtful if he will be around here to defend his high-average title next season. That will give Shorty a chance. It appeared that Shorty was just a "year away" this season.

So it was Freddy Jensen that won the high-average trophy, and there weren't any complaints about Fred's right to the title.

Fair Warning

Accustomed as the Times' trapshooting squad is to winning the league trapshooting honors—and the boys showed poise when they accepted their trophies for the 1965 season at the banquet the other evening—the squad had better not become smug and complacent.

According to rumors that are being circulated, and they apparently have foundation, the Hartz Wholesale is to enter a squad in this season's league shooting. The boys are being tested in "blindfold" examinations, and the results of these tests will determine the roster of the Hartz squad. It appears that such all-round sportsmen as Curtis Bottem, Dennis Torkelson, Lloyd Samuelson and Don Harbott will be in the lineup. You can wager that these boys will be bringing their three-inch magnums out to the trapshooting club, and with shells that are loaded with bb's or buckshot. They will learn.

If the squad could persuade Helmer Ness to act as captain and coach of the team there would be a prospect that the boys could finish in the first division. Not that Helmer Ole is a trapshooting expert, but he has the ability to deliver a fine "pep talk," and conceive strategic moves. Wouldn't be surprised if Ole could "get" to the trap boys and have them load the traps with "crumbly" birds when the Hartz squad was on the line!

This is just a fair warning to the other teams to be on the alert for the Hartz Wholesale "masked marvels".

DAV Regulations Prohibit Sales Door-to-Door

Denvel D. Adams, national adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans, today cautioned American housewives against buying magazine subscriptions, tickets or any type of merchandise from door-to-door salesmen posing as DAV representatives.

Adams said the springtime influx of salesmen invariably turns up a few who deliberately misrepresent the facts in their sales pitch. He stated that regulations of the Disabled American Veterans specifically prohibit door-to-door solicitations of any kind.

The veterans organization spokesman urged homeowners to report any violations of the DAV regulation to local officials of the Disabled American Veterans or to DAV national headquarters at 1425 East McMillan street, Cincinnati, Ohio. Adams emphasized that the DAV will immediately investigate and take corrective measures to prevent further abuses by an individual or group conducting door-to-door selling under the name of the Disabled American Veterans.

To Make Counts On Pheasants and Ruffed Grouse

Minnesota game and fish division reported today that the annual spring census of the pheasant breeding population and the ruffed grouse drumming count are now underway in the state.

Each spring division field personnel drive over selected routes in the primary pheasant range and record the number of pheasants sighted. Results of the count give a good indication of the size of the breeding population.

Another pheasant census is made in August to determine the probable size of the pheasant crop to be available for the fall hunting season.

In the forested grouse country, game personnel are driving over back roads and recording the number of drummings heard at predetermined stops. Drumming is the method used by the male ruffed grouse to attract the attention of the female and provides a clue to the number of grouse which survived the winter.

Success of the hatch of young grouse and pheasants will depend on the weather during the nesting season and losses incured through various other factors.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TIMES

Volume Number Fifty-five Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota Monday, May 9, 1966 Number Thirty-seven

Weather Holds Key To Fishing This Weekend

Weather during the next few days will determine the condition of Lake of the Woods for fishermen hoping to troll, drift or anchor in quest of walleyes in the boundary waters. In view of the cold spring this year, none of the resorters contacted by the Times would predict that the ice will be completely out by opening day.

Cal Marvin of Warroad told the Times in a special telephone interview on Friday that the ice was about one and one-half miles out and that pilots flying over the lake reported that the ice was quite black—an indication that final break-up would be coming soon.

Lake of the Woods has experienced heavy winds which contribute to the break-up, but cold temperatures have retarded the annual event. A few warm days early this week—or a warm rain shower—would virtually guarantee an ice-free lake for the opening on Saturday.

Year in and year out, Marvin said, the ice is out by May 8. This year, the experts predict that final break-up will be only several days later. Only several times in the past 15 years has the ice not been out by the opening of fishing season.

The owner of Cal's Motel said that reservations at area resorts have been good in spite of the weather, but that the southern Minnesota and North Dakota farmers who usually make the opening weekend on the lake an annual affair are behind schedule on their field work and may miss the opening this season.

Winter angling was said to have been generally good, although movement on the lake was restricted by heavy snow. As usual, optimism is the word among fishermen with opening day only a few days away.

Rainy River Area Will Be Ready For Opening Day

Anglers who prefer the Rainy river area of Lake of the Woods should have little difficulty from ice in reaching the favorite spots on the opening weekend, although weather will determine the ice break-up and just how far boats will be able to move out on the lake.

Tony Wiersma of Wheeler's Point resort, Baudette, told the Times Friday that ice had been out of the Rainy river for several weeks and that Four-Mile bay was open, as well as the gap by Morris point and Pine Island.

Although the spring has been cold and wet—with considerable amounts of late snow in the Lake of the Woods area—many of the resorts are said to be nearly filled for opening day.

Wiersma noted that the weather made it difficult for resorters to prepare for the spring and summer influx of anglers and vacationers, but that progress had been made in spite of the difficulty. Painting, preparation of cabins and boat maintenance—in fact, nearly all outdoor activity—will have to be rushed into the final week before opening day.

And if the weather on Saturday and Sunday happens to be cold and windy—just as it has been most of the rest of the spring—the Rainy river offers angling opportunity without the hazards of open water on Lake of the Woods itself.

Open House for State Parks Will Be Held May 22

All Minnesota state parks will hold open house on Sunday afternoon, May 22, to show area residents, local officials and legislators the new facilities available and plans for future development.

"Many persons who have not been in a state park in recent years don't realize the vast improvements that have taken place under the stimulus of the 1963 Natural Resources Program" said chairman of the Minnesota Council of State Parks.

"With the added funds made available under this program and with increased emphasis given to state park development in recent years, the change in our parks has been truly remarkable," he said.

Today we have new campgrounds, swimming beaches, boat trails, as well as many new buildings and modern toilet and sewage disposal facilities, Morgan said.

"I think many persons would like to see what they are getting for their money and this will give them a chance."

Baseball Prowlers Whip Karlstad and Goodridge

The baseball Prowlers opened their home schedule on the fairgrounds diamond here last week by scoring a pair of wins. On Wednesday night coach Ralph Skay's squad defeated coach Leon Oistad's Karlstad Rabbits, 9-1; and on Thursday afternoon the Prowlers bested the Goodridge Huskies, 8-2.

On Tuesday night, May 10, the Prowlers will meet the Fosston Greyhounds in a 7:30 p.m. game on the fairgrounds diamond. And on Wednesday night, May 11, coach Ray Kavanagh will bring his highly-rated Roseau Rams here for a 7:30 p.m. game at the fairgrounds. On Friday night, May 13, the defending Region Eight champion Bemidji Lumberjacks will play the Prowlers here, with game time at 7:30 p.m. And the week's schedule will be closed out with a Saturday night game, 7:30 against the Fertile Falcons on the fairgrounds diamond.

In Wednesday evening's game against Karlstad it was an extra-base power of the Prowlers that proved the deciding factor. In the last half of the first winning with the walking Rocky Wilson on base, southpaw-swinging Wayne Smith drove a home run over the right-field fence. And in the second inning, with Wilson on base on a walk, Karl Poppenhagen on base as a result of being hit by a pitched ball, and Smith on base on a walk, Keith Hendrickson drilled a long home run over the center-field fence, connecting for a "grand slam" and giving the Prowlers a 7-0 lead.

Billy Poole, Tommy Cummings, Tommy Tunberg and Bob Brodin shared the hurling duties for the locals. Southpaw Tunberg, pitching the fifth and sixth innings, gave up the lone run.

On Thursday afternoon the Prowlers notched an 8-2 win over coach Glen Peters' Goodridge Huskies. A single by Tom Cummings, a sliced double by Wayne Smith, a walk to Hendrickson, and a Goodridge throwing error gave the locals three runs in the first inning.

The Prowlers added a pair of tallies in the fifth on a single by Cummings, walks to Smith and Hendrickson and a Husky miscue. And in the sixth the Prowlers marked up a three-run cluster.

Billy Dicken, Nicky Drees and John Looker pitched for coach Skay's Prowlers. Dicken hurled no-hit no-run ball for two innings, whiffing five batsmen; and Drees pitched no-hit and no-run ball for three innings, striking out four hitters. Looker gave up a double to LeRoy Vigen in the sixth, and was tagged for a single by Walberg and a double by Paulson in the seventh, when the Huskies scored a pair.

The line scores:

SEED BARLEY

"Larker" "Conquest"

All of our Larker Barley will be pre-tested for Smut, and we will try to have our seed below 3% of Smut, all of our Seed will be bright with high plump and test weight

We will also have a new Blue Barley "Conquest" a Canadian release. We feel that this is the finest Barley, which we have had in a long time. It has straw strength comparable to our Wheats. We feel that this will replace Parkland as a Blue Barley, with better yielding and more disease resistance. This Barley is absolutly resistant to Smut.

Trap Shooters Invited to Join Practice Round

League trap shooting for the 1966 season will begin Wednesday, May 18, and the traps will be open this Wednesday at 5 p.m. for practice rounds and novelty events. All league shooters or those interested in joining a league team are invited to shoot.

Women who are interested in trap shooting this season are asked to call Mrs. Stan Wilson. The team comprised entirely of women in last year's league made a creditable showing, finishing above standings.

Men interested in league shooting but unable to attend this Wednesday's warmup session are asked to contact Stan Wilson.

Ping Pong Event Set Wednesday

Table tennis players in the community are invited to participate in a ping pong doubles tournament to be held Wednesday at 9 p.m. in the Elks club rooms in Thief River Falls. Entry fee is $1, prizes will be awarded in first, second and third events, and each team is assured of playing at least three games.

Local "Cooties" Elected to Area Offices April 24

Three Thief River Falls men were elected to area offices in the area VFW "Cootie" convention held April 24 in Bemidji. They are Selmer Dimmen, area commander; Lloyd Peterson, junior vice commander; and Louis Stenseth, quartermaster.

Willard McGinty of Bemidji was elected senior vice commander. The balance of the officers are appointed by the commander.

7th Dist. DFL Convention Set

Seventh district DFL convention will be held Sunday, May 22, at Detroit Lakes high school with the business session to begin at 1 p.m. An Art Carlson appreciation dinner will precede the meeting at 7 p.m. Saturday; cost is $10 per plate. The dinner will be held at the Fireside Supper club at Detroit Lakes. Carlson has served as district treasurer for many years.

Calling all Softballers

A call has been issued for the team managers, and prospective team members, of the city softball league to be in attendance at the basement meeting room in the auditorium on Wednesday night at 7:30 p.m.

At a preliminary meeting held last week, it appeared that the league will operate this season with five teams. Hamm's Beer did not have a representative at this preliminary meeting, and the team has not indicated that they will participate this season.

Wednesday evening's meeting will complete plans for the 1966 season, and if a five-team league is arranged it is probable that the schedule will be a three-round affair. According to present plans, Bea's Market, the Vets, Schmidt's Beer, Bridgeman's and Hartz Stores will enter teams in this season's play. The games will be played on the fairgrounds diamond.

Bob Carlson, one of the "elder statesmen" of the city softball, said that a pair of wheelchairs will be available at Wednesday evening's meeting, for the convenience of several of the out-of-shape Vets team members.

Incidentally, Wylie Bogie, who has been a colorful member of the Bea's Market team the past couple of seasons, and one of the better pitchers in the city league, has returned to Glenwood, his home town. Wylie is employed by the Soo Line, and he was stationed here for a couple of years, but now he is able to work out of Glenwood.

Merely Academic

That pencil work that several of us did the other day to determine the city's high-average bowler for the season, extending the figures into the decimals to learn that Chuck Krause of the Eagles had edged out Shorty Perkins of the Schmidt's, was merely academic. The city's high-average bowler for the 1965-66 season, and no pencil work was necessary, was lefty Freddy Jensen of the Elaine's and Mobil Lefty's teams.

While the stylish southpaw with the wide-sweeping hook was in and out of town most of the season, Fred did bowl 51 games with the Elaine's team, and in these 51 games he bowled at an average of 185. And that pin mark was a couple better than the averages of Chuck and Shorty. Freddy, employed with the L & S Company, is now living in St. Louis Park, and it's doubtful if he will be around here to defend his high-average title next season. That will give Shorty a chance. It appeared that Shorty was just a "year away" this season.

So it was Freddy Jensen that won the high-average trophy, and there weren't any complaints about Fred's right to the title.

Fair Warning

Accustomed as the Times' trapshooting squad is to winning the league trapshooting honors—and the boys showed poise when they accepted their trophies for the 1965 season at the banquet the other evening—the squad had better not become smug and complacent.

According to rumers that are being circulated, and they apparently have foundation, the Hartz Wholesale is to enter a squad in this season's league shooting. The boys are being tested in "blindfold" examinations, and the results of these tests will determine the roster of the Hartz squad. It appears that such all-round sportsmen as Curtis Bottem, Dennis Torkelson, Lloyd Samuelson and Don Harbott will be in the lineup. You can wager that these boys will be bringing their three-inch magnums out to the trapshooting club, and with shells that are loaded with bb's or buckshot. They will learn.

If the squad could persuade Helmer Ness to act as captain and coach of the team there would be a prospect that the boys could finish in the first division. Not that Helmer Ole is a trapshooting expert, but he has the ability to deliver a fine "pep talk," and conceive strategic moves. Wouldn't be surprised if Ole could "get" to the trap boys and have them load the traps with "crumbly" birds when the Hartz squad was on the line!

This is just a fair warning to the other teams to be on the alert for the Hartz Hholesale "masked marvels".

DAV Regulations Prohibit Sales Door-to-Door

Denvel D. Adams, national adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans, today cautioned American housewives against buying magazine subscriptions, tickets or any type of merchandise from door-to-door salesmen posing as DAV representatives.

Adams said the springtime influx of salesmen invariably turns up a few who deliberately misrepresent the facts in their sales pitch. He stated that regulations of the Disabled American Veterans specifically prohibit door-to-door solicitations of any kind.

The veterans organization spokesman urged homeowners to report any violations of the DAV regulation to local officials of the Disabled American Veterans or to DAV national headquarters at 1425 East McMillan street, Cincinnati, Ohio. Adams emphasized that the DAV will immediately investigate and take corrective measures to prevent further abuses by an individual or group conducting door-to-door selling under the name of the Disabled American Veterans.

To Make Counts On Pheasants and Ruffed Grouse

Minnesota game and fish division reported today that the annual spring census of the pheasant breeding population and the ruffed grouse drumming count are now underway in the state.

Each spring division field personnel drive over selected routes in the primary pheasant range and record the number of pheasants sighted. Results of the count give a good indication of the size of the breeding population.

Another pheasant census is made in August to determine the probable size of the pheasant crop to be available for the fall hunting season.

In the forested grouse country, game personnel are driving over back roads and recording the number of drummings heard at pre-determined stops. Drumming is the method used by the male ruffed grouse to attract the attention of the female and provides a clue to the number of grouse which survived the winter.

Success of the hatch of young grouse and pheasants will depend on the weather during the nesting season and losses incured through various other factors.

Weather Holds Key To Fishing This Weekend

Weather during the next few days will determine the condition of Lake of the Woods for fishermen hoping to troll, drift or anchor in quest of walleyes in the boundary waters. In view of the cold spring this year, none of the resorters contacted by the Times would predict that the ice will be completely out by opening day.

Cal Marvin of Warroad told the Times in a special telephone interview on Friday that the ice was about one and one-half miles out and that pilots flying over the lake reported that the ice was quite black—an indication that final break-up would be coming soon.

Lake of the Woods has experienced heavy winds which contribute to the break-up, but cold temperatures have retarded the annual event. A few warm days early this week—or a warm rain shower—would virtually guarantee an ice-free lake for the opening on Saturday.

Year in and year out, Marvin said, the ice is out by May 8. This year, the experts predict that final break-up will be only several days later. Only several times in the past 15 years has the ice not been out by the opening of fishing season.

The owner of Cal's Motel, said that reservations at area resorts have been good in spite of the weather, but that the southern Minnesota and North Dakota farmers who usually make the opening weekend on the lake an annual affair are behind schedule on their field work and may miss the opening this season.

Winter angling was said to have been generally good, although movement on the lake was restricted by heavy snow. As usual, optimism is the word among fishermen with opening day only a few days away.

Rainy River Area Will Be Ready For Opening Day

Anglers who prefer the Rainy river area of Lake of the Woods should have little difficulty from ice in reaching the favorite spots on the opening weekend, although weather will determine the ice break-up and just how far boats will be able to move out on the lake.

Tony Wiersma of Wheeler's Point resort, Baudette, told the Times Friday that ice had been out of the Rainy river for several weeks and that Four-Mile bay was open, as well as the gap by Morris point and Pine Island.

Although the spring has been cold and wet—with considerable amounts of late snow in the Lake of the Woods area—many of the resorts are said to be nearly filled for opening day.

Wiersma noted that the weather made it difficult for resorters to prepare for the spring and summer influx of anglers and vacationers, but that progress had been made in spite of the difficulty. Painting, preparation of cabins and boat maintenance—in fact, nearly all outdoor activity—will have to be rushed into the final week before opening day.

And if the weather on Saturday and Sunday happens to be cold and windy—just as it has been most of the rest of the spring—the Rainy river offers angling opportunity without the hazards of open water on Lake of the Woods itself.

Open House for State Parks Will Be Held May 22

All Minnesota state parks will hold open house on Sunday afternoon, May 22, to show area residents, local officials and legislators the new facilities available and plans for future development.

"Many persons who have not been in a state park in recent years don't realize the vast improvements that have taken place under the stimulus of the 1963 Natural Resources Program" said chairman of the Minnesota Council of State Parks.

"With the added funds made available under this program and with increased emphasis given to state park development in recent years, the change in our parks has been truly remarkable," he said.

Today we have new campgrounds, swimming beaches, boat trails, as well as many new buildings and modern toilet and sewage disposal facilities, Morgan said.

"I think many persons would like to see what they are getting for their money and this will give them a chance."

Most Fish Will Finish Spawning By Opening Day

Despite a late and cold spring, the Saturday fishing opening should find fish in most lakes having completed spawning, according to Hjalmar Swenson, state fisheries supervisor.

Reports from conservation department fisheries managers in northern Minnesota indicate that there may be some lakes where walleyes will still be concentrated near spawning grounds.

Swenson said the exact spawning time varies considerably from lake to lake. In those lakes that have tributary streams, walleyes will have entered and spawned even before the ice goes out.

On other lakes walleyes will spawn along gravel and rock beaches immediately after the ice goes out or even while it is still in the process of breaking up.

Walleyes, northerns and muskellunge will all be targets for fishermen when the summer fishing season gets underway Saturday. Daily and possession limits are six for walleyes, three for northerns and one muskie.

Large and small mouth bass will also be legal in the Minnesota-Canada boundary waters and in the waters north and east of highway 53 from Duluth to International Falls and in Ash and Pelican lakes in St.Louis county.

Swenson urged fishermen to cooperate in the program to keep lakes, streams and all public and private lands free of litter and trash.

"A lake littered with floating papers and garbage and with its bottom covered with bottles, cans and other trash has little appeal for fishermen or anyone else," he said.

Careful Planning Packs More Fun Into Vacations

Want to have more fun on your vacation this year then last year? Then plan it carefully. That's the word from J. S. Leonard, chairman of the Minnesota Petroleum council, commenting on the action of Governor Karl F. Rolvaag in proclaiming the period of May 8 to May 15 as Vacation Planning Week.

"There's sound logic to carefully planning your vacation in advance," Leonard said. "After all, most of us have only one real vacation a year and we should make the most of it."

Good vacation planning, he pointed out, starts with selecting the destination--the spot that all the family wants to visit. The next step is to spend a few evenings studying the maps selecting the most scenic and historically interesting routes and noting the opportunities they offer for attractive and rewarding side trips. Finally, he said, the daily travel schedule should be worked out carefully including plans for overnight accommodations.

Leonard warned against overcrowding the daily travel schedule, saying this defeats the whole purpose of a vacation. "Covering too many miles in a day or trying to crowd in too many side trips," he said, "gives you the feeling of being on a merry-go-round, moving fast but not seeing anything very well."

According to Leonard, the experienced traveler starts his day bright and early, stops at the most interesting places and enjoys them leisurely, and calls it a day by stopping well before sundown.

He noted that many companies offer free travel service to help the vacationer in planning his trip and that, along the route, hotels, motels, service stations and chambers of commerce are always happy to supply information about highways and local and regional attractions.

Itasca Park to Be Open May 14

Conservaton department officials announced today atht the campground at Itasca state park will be open for use at the start of the summer fishing season, May 14. Park Manager Waino Kontola said Douglas Lodge will be ready to receive guests beginning the weekend of May 27.

Campers and fishermen who wish to rent boats at Itasca during the opening weekend of the fishing season were advised that the boats will also be ready for use by the May 14.

State parks director U. W. Hella suggested that persons who wish to find out if water facilities are in operation at other state parks should contact state park headquarters in the Centennial Building, St. Paul.

36 Campgrounds In State Forests Open This Year

Minnesota Conservation department's forestry division reported today that 36 campgrounds will be available for use in state forests this summer. The camping areas are more primitive than those found in state parks and are designed for those who are willing to forego the convenience of running water and flush toilets.

Most of the tent sites are secluded from each other. A cleared space is provided for the tent, a table and a fireplace. Some campgrounds have a well with a hand pump, while in others water is obtained from a spring, stream or lake.

There is no electricity in the campgrounds and they ar generally unsited for trailer camping. Most of the campgrounds are adjacent to a lake or stream, many have boat launching sites and some have a swimming beach.

At some campgrounds a camping fee of 50 cents per night is charged. This is collected on the honor system by dropping the money in a steel box since none of the camping areas have full-time attendants.

Most of the camping areas are located in the northeastern part of the state. A list of the campgrounds giving their location and directions on how to drive to them is available at forestry stations and from the Minnesota Conservation Department, Bureau of Information, 350 Centennial Building, St. Paul, Minnesota.

St. Paul Papers Promote Largest Fishing Contest

More than 290 prizes, including a weekly muskie prize, are scheduled this year in the world's largest fishing contest. The contest, which opens May 14 and continues for 17 weeks, is sponsored by the St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press newspapers.

This year, in the 14th annual event, the St. Paul newspapers will present the top 450 anglers in Minnesota and western Wisconsin with personalized hand-lettered champion's award certificates bordered in gold, suitable for framing.

Featured among the coveted prizes are Aluma Craft fishing boats and canoes. Mercury Fishin' Six outboard motors will be included in the weekly sweepstakes prizes as well as the grand prizes at the end of the contest for the largest muskie, northern, walleye, crappie, sunfish and black bass of the season.

Among the weekly sweepstakes prizes which any size fish can win, are weekend fishing trips for two aboard Pete's Cabin Boats on Basswood Lake near Ely, four Spartan boat trailers and additional Mercury Fishin' Six outboards.

First, second and third pirzes each week in each classification (just one weekly prize in the muskie division) will feature such famous names as True Temper rods and reels and Johnson rods and reels.

An Aluma Craft-Aplex 15-foot, Fiberglas, MerCruiser - powered camping trailer from South St. Paul Trailer sales are two of the featured Super Sweepstakes prizes awarded at the contest's end, drawn from all the entries, regardless of size of fish, in the entire 17 weeks of the contest.

To be eligible, fish must be legally caught in Minnesota. Its boundary waters or any of the 23 Western Wisconsin counties listed on the back of official entry blanks. Entries must be filled in completely and rules require that the weighing and measuring of the fish be attested to by two witnesses.

Entry blanks are available at resorts, sporting goods stores, bait shops, boat landings and other fishermen's headquarters.

1966 FISHING SEASON

Some of the finest fishing in Minnesota is to be found in the Red Lake river and inland lakes on the Red Lake Reservation. Early fishing for northerns should be very good this year — and there are big fish awaiting your plugs, spoons and minnows. Our camping and recreation area will open about June 1. Plan to come and bring the family to fish, swim and picinic. Lights are being installed at the outlet for fisherman who wish to fish at night. No live minnows may be brought on the reservation to protect our trout lakes.

Fishing Season Opens May 14th

Somewhere in your favorite lake or river lurks the big fish you have been seeking for years. Waiting just inside the next weed bed, off the next sand bar or rocky point, or behind a sunken log, the grand-daddy of the species is ready to strike your lure. This is the hope of all fishermen who yield to the excitement of opening day.

Not all fishermen will find the big fish they have been seeking, but a few will be rewarded with good catches. More important, however, all will have the opportunity to get away from the daily routine, to breathe some fresh air and to forget the problems and perplexities of the day.

In this section the fisherman will find many ideas to make his annual opening week-end trip more comfortable and enjoyable. Local merchants offer a huge array of sporting goods and equipment — from common hooks to outboard motors, sinkers to bobbers and sunburn lotion to water-proof rain suits. A number of resorts also invite you to make use of the accommodations they have to offer.

When you take to the water on Saturday, we hope your fishing trip will be a successful one. The fisherman is (fortunately) an incurable optimist, and that granddaddy walleye or northern may be yours after the very next cast.

Safety First Is Word of Caution To Eager Anglers

There may be as many as one million fishermen on Minnesota lakes and rivers when the summer fishing gets into high gear Saturday, May 14, and some may not be coming back.

Carl Moen, conservation department information chief and chairman of the hunting and water safety section of the Minnesota Safety council, said the large number of fishermen, possible weather conditions and other factors combine to make the opening weekend of fishing a potentially big contributor to the annual drowning statistics.

"Fishermen have been looking forward all year to the opening of the season, and some may be so anxious to get out on the lake that they will overlook such things as high waves, overloaded boats and threatening weather," said Moen.

These are ingredients that contribute to drowning statistics, he said. Other factors that go to make the opening particularly hazardous for fishermen are the heavy clothing usually required because of the chill weather and the low temperature of the water.

If a fisherman capsizes his boat or falls out of it he is likely to find himself dragged under by the weight of water soaked clothing or lose consciousness from exposure before he can be rescued.

Moen urged fishermen to observe the principles of common sense and water safety during the opening. "If the water is rough or the weather threatening, stay off the lake. Remember that there will be many other days in which to go fishing, provided you survive the first two days."

City View, Happy Acres Win 4-H County Finals

City View 4-H club swept share-the-fun festival honors and Happy Acres won the one-act play championship at the annual Pennington County 4-H Play and Share-the-fun festival Monday evening at Lincoln senior high school in Thief River Falls.

Winning share-the-fun numbers were two musicals, "Seven Little Girls", and "Ballad of the Green Beret". Participating in the first number were Michael Engen, Susan Wysoski, Rayne Brandt, Myrna Dagen, Carol Sande, Susan Adamson, Suzanne and Roxanne Bruggeman. "The Country Cousins", including Dianne Timm, Mitchel and Joe Kezar and Eddie and David Furuseth, presented the second number.

"Scrambled Eggs" was the title of the winning play presented by the Happy Acres club. Cast members included Ward Johnson, Jerry Parham, Barbara Brelland, Kathy Brelland, Rosann Tripp and Les Nordhagen with Mrs. Bill Holmes and Mrs. Abner Johnson as coaches and Gary Oen as stage assistant.

Kathy Brelland, who played the role of Lucretia in the champion play, was selected by the judges as the outstanding actress. Named best actor was Mitchel Kezar who played the role of Buddy Rutledge in the City View play, "Buddy Pays the Mortgage."

The two winning share-the-fun numbers will be submitted to the state 4-H department, with one to be selected for participation in the district share-the-fun festival to be held July 20 at Crookston. There is no further competition for the winning play.

Entered in the play contest were Happy Acres, City View, Kratka and Deer Park. Participating in share-the-fun finals were the winning City View acts, Kratka, Pennington Quads, Black River, Good Hope, St. Hilaire and Deer Park.

JUDGED best actor and actress in the 4-H Play and Share-the-Fun contest were Mitch Kezar, who played the part of Buddy Rutledge in the City View play, "Buddy Pays the Mortgage," and Kathy Brelland, who played the role of Lucretia in the Happy Acres play, "Scrambled Eggs."

LHS Speech Team Wins Top Honors In Region Tourney

Lincoln high school speech contestants won the Region 8 first place trophy in the regional tournament April 10 in Fosston. Rosemary Dahlen and Richard Stenberg won "A" ratings in discussion; Dave Swenson was awarded a "B" rating in original oratory; Emily Hoel, an alternate, garnered an "A" in memorized oratory; and Greg Larson won a "B" in humorous interpretation.

Miss Dahlen also received an "A" and the first place trophy in discussion at the state tournament April 23 in St. Paul. The Lincoln speech team is coached by Miss Thora Skomedal.

Newfolden School Election Tuesday

Annual election of the Independent School District No. 441, Newfolden, will be held Tuesday in the cafeteria with the polls open from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. The terms of Lawrence Bjorsness and Lester Elseth expire on June 30, and they are the only candidates who have filed for the offices.

Express Optimism On Pelleting Plant

School Elections To Be Held in County Schools

School elections in Thief River Falls, Goodridge and St. Hilaire will be held Tuesday in the respective schools. Annual elections are also scheduled the same day in other districts in the area.

Theif River Falls will have its election Tuesday from 4 to 9 p.m. with polls open at Lincoln high school. Candidates for the three positions on the board are Rufus Olson and Harry Oen, incumbents, Bernard Myers, Maynard Wedul and Dr. H. R. Achenbach. Oen was appointed to fill the unexpired term of John Burtness recently. Lloyd Howick, veteran board member and past chairman of the board, has declined to seek re-election.

Polls at Goodridge will be open from 7 to 9 p.m. in the agriculture room of the school with Truman Hemmestvedt and Donald Hornchek having filed for positions on the board.

At St. Hilaire the polls will be open at the school from 7 to 9 p.m. with two board members to be elected. Filing for the positions were Earl H. Peterson, incumbent, W. A. Corbett, Kenneth Schroeder and Harry Sjulson. Frank Sweet did not file for reelection.

Optimism concerning the production of alfalfa and operation of the Northwest Pellet association plant at Thief River Falls was expressed at a meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon at the Rex cafe. Gene Beito, chairman of Jobs, Inc., which serves as the industrial development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting.

Speakers for the session were C. A. Sande, vice president of Agsco in Grand Forks, and Art Ramage, former manager of the pellet plant at West Fargo. Sande outlined the advantages to farmers in alfalfa production and Ramage noted that there is tremendous market potential for alfalfa pellets.

Comments were also made by Art Stenberg, chairman of the board of directors of the Northwest Pellet association, a cooperative which is nearing completion of a pellet plant north of this city. The plant is expected to be ready for operation in about three weeks and will process sun-cured alfalfa hay.

Hay will be purchased on the basis of protein content and moisture. Brokers have stated that there is increasing foreign demand for pelletized alfalfa and are interested in local production. There is also domestic demand for alfalfa pellets.

A loan of $172,500 was obtained through the Farmers Home administration to construct the plant, with payments to begin in 1968 and extend over 30 years. Working capital will be secured through the sale of preferred stock bearing interest of five per cent. The board of directors intends to redeem this stock over the next five years as profits permit.

The plant will be capable of processing about 100 tons of hay in a 24-hour day. Employment will be provided for an estimated 20

Alfalfa Practice Requested Given Federal Approval

Andrew Strandquist, office manager of the Marshall County ASCS, announces that the special project that was requested for new seeding of alfalfa has been approved by Washington and the state office.

"We will be accepting requests in our office at any time. We have also had a revision in the tree practice so that anyone that would like to sign up for shelterbelts or farmstead windbreaks should come into our office now," Strandquist said.

"The new practice is an improvement over the old tree practice. Requests for the wildlife practice, establishing vegetative cover for wildlife for food and cover, has been extended indefinitely so that anybody that would like to sign up for this practice, can come into our office and make their request," the office manager concluded.

Trinity To Host Former Prisoner Of Communists

Professor Richard Wurmbrand, recently released from Communist Roumania, will speak at Trinity Lutheran church Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Wurmbrand is on tour in the United States, sent here by the American Community in Oslo, Norway, which felt that he must be heard by political leaders, students, church leaders and congregations.

Rev. Myrus Knutson of the American Lutheran church in Oslo writes the following concerning him

"Professor Richard Wurmbrand has been in the free world approximately three months. For fourteen years he was imprisoned by the Communist regime in Roumania. Three years were spent in solitary confinement. The suffering of these years was unimaginable. Eighteen deep, large holes in his body from beatings and hot pokers are horrible evidence. For a period he was given one hundred grams of bread per week (about one slice). He endured the torture of being brainwashed for a whole year but, as he said, the communists could not wash his soul. For over two years he was in the "death" ward with tuberculosis of both lungs. Physicians in Norway said there was no medical reason why he should be alive.

"Amnesty for many political prisoners was negotiated by the United States last year. Communists, generally, are anti-semitic. The only reason he could get out of Roumania was the fact that he was born a Jew. The Norsk Israel society, whom he represented in Roumania for about 15 years, bought his freedom as well as that of his wife and son, for several thousand Kroner.

"It would be needless to add that he is a militant anti-communist. The American Community in Oslo has been upended by his month's visit here. One hears, 'a contemporary St. Basel' or 'St. Paul' or 'a living martyr' as a frequent characterization. He is an unforgettable experience of God's power.

"His life and story have been thoroughly checked. He is trustworthy and responsible."

The public is invited.

Give Approval To $83,600 in Bldg. Permits

Several Licenses Are Granted by Council At Meeting Tuesday

Eight building permits having a total valuation of $83,600 were approved by the Thief River Falls city council at its regular meeting Tuesday night. The permits are as follows:

Clifford M. Jorde, addition to dwelling, $1,200; Vernon E. Nelson, dwelling improvement, $4,000; Marius Haukenstad, addition to dwelling, $2,000; L. B. Hartz Wholesale, addition, $42,000; Production Credit, addition, $28,000; Ted Heille, addition to dwelling, $2,700; Elgin Loeffler, garage, $1,500; and Gerhart Hanson, breezeway and garage, $2,200.

The assessment roll for Birch Lane drive, LaBree avenue, Spruce avenue, Markley av. N. and the southwest area was referred to the street committee for further study. The water extension assessment for Markley av. S. was adopted after a brief hearing at which no interested parties were present.

Plumber's licenses were granted to Edwin Langlie, Calvin Ripley, Carl Lee, Albert Swenson, M. T. Emme and William Moser. A taxi license was granted to Fred's Cab Service, a theatre license to the Falls theatre, an auctioneer license to A. G. Anderson and a pool table license to The Club.

Junk dealer's licenses were granted to Phillip's Auto Wrecking, Evans Seed, Wool & Fur and Joe Holtan. The council is considering investigating city licenses and proposing that certain changes be made. The pool table license may be lifted to conform with the recent lifting of the state pool hall license.

A progression raise of $10 per month for Elmer Poole, park and recreation department employee, was approved upon recommendation by James Foley, park and recreation director.

Only one bid for a traffic control radar unit was opened Tuesday afternoon. The Police Equipment Store of Minneapolis submitted a bid in the amount of $850 for a Dominator traffic radar unit. After inspecting the portable radar rig, the council voted to table action on the bid to May 17 to allow for a meeting with the police department.

School Board Retains Consultant for Bonds

Six New Teachers Hired by Board; Two More Resign

In anticipation of a possible bond issue for vocational school construction, the bonding firm of T. G. Evenson and Associates was retained by the Thief River Falls board of education meeting in regular session Monday evening. David Gabllsch represented the firm which will handle fiscal matters relative to the proposed bond issue.

The board also accepted two resignations, approved contracts for six teachers and granted one leave of absence at the session. Resignations were received from Al Adams, who will be employed on a full-time basis by the Thief River Falls junior college, and Miss Annette Sehring, fifth grade teacher at Washington school, who will be married this summer. Donald Rey was granted a leave of absence to return to graduate school.

Contracts were approved for Ann Charrier, business instructor to succeed Miss Genevieve Hutmacher; Gerald Wigness, business instructor in the vocational school, to succeed Gerald Lydeen; Fay Hermanson, speech therapist to succeed Miss Kay Knudson; Dwight Wilson, carpentry in the vocational school, to succeed Clarence Pope; Suzanne Schaak, girls physical education at Lincoln, to succeed Sheila Harmn; and James Sims, Mahnomen, boys physical education and football coach at Lincoln to succeed Bill Herzog.

Miss Charrier is a graduate of the University of North Dakota; Wigness was employed by Union State bank; Miss Hermanson is a graduate of the University of North Dakota; Dwight Wilson will come here from Duluth; Miss Schaak is a Cass Lake native and graduate of Bemidji State college; and Sims holds BA and MS degrees from Moorhead State college and has taught and coached at Eagle Bend.

Resolutions were adopted by the board to permit the school to participate in federal programs under Title I of the National Defense Education act, and named Francis Hamerlinck, administrative, assistant, as agent for the school in working with federal authorities.

Representing the Municipal Drivers and Helpers local, Mr. Brumeister appeared before the board and requested salary increases of 20 cents per hour for janitors and 27 cents per hour for bus drivers. Following discussion, the board agreed to offer an increase of eight cents per hour to janitors and no increase to bus drivers.

Approval was given to a high school equivalency certificate for Kenneth J. Ose and to a contract with the Thief River Golf club in the amount of $400 for use of the course for the school golf teams and summer recreation program.

Supt. M. R. Hankerson introduced discussion on possible new departments for the area vocational-technical school. Courses of study discussed were radio announcing, chef, grain technicians, machinist and medical and dental technologist.

Secretaries in the school system were granted salary increases of $10 per month and cooks were given $5 monthly increases. Several other salary adjustments were made for non-teaching personnel.

28 at Clinic for Crippled Children

Twenty-eight patients from five counties attended the spring crippled children's clinic conducted Tuesday by the Crippled Children services of the Minnesota department of welfare in cooperation with the DeCor group of the Federated Women's club of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Joe Dostal was project chairman with Mrs. Harold Buck as appointment chairman. Other volunteers assisting were Miss Geneva Overum, Mrs. Verna Nopper, R. N. and Mrs. N. Olson, R. N. Mrs. Dostal noted that the second cardiac clinic sponsored by the Crippled Children services and the Women's club would be held May 24 at Northwestern hospital.

Physicians participating were Mildred Norval, M. D., St. Paul, pediatrician; J. J. McLeod, M. D., Grand Forks, orthopedic consultant, and Ann Schutt, M.D., Fargo, physical medical consultant.

Others on the staff were Mrs. Thelma Read, social service consultant, St. Paul. Mrs. Laura Stenskog, field nursing consultant, Bemidji; Miss Adelaide Avoy, clinic coordinator, St. Paul; Miss Judy Larson and Mrs. Beverly Rongen, Pennington county welfare workers.

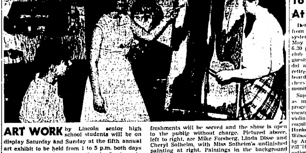
"Pretty-Up" Plan To Employ 154

One hundred and fifty-four low income elderly and chronically unemployed people 50 years or older will find employment on "Project Pretty-Up," according to the Inter-County Community council of Oklee. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars has been granted to the council for this purpose under the Nelson amendment of the Economic Opportunity act by the Office of Economic Opportunity. All towns within the four counties of Pennington, Red Lake, East Polk and Clearwater will participate.

Employment for "Project Pretty-Up" will begin immediately. Residents of Pennington and Red Lake counties may apply for work under "Pretty-Up" at the Thief River Falls Employment office Monday through Friday of next week, May 16-20.

"Project Pretty-Up" is a year-long program of community beautificatoin designed to provide supplementary income to low-income people who are unable to obtain employment or training under other programs. Employees will work a 20-hour week at $1.25 per hour. It is planned that work will start in all communities by June 1.



ART WORK by Lincoln senior high school students will be on display Saturday and Sunday at the fifth annual art exhibit to be held from 1 to 5 p.m. both days at the Lincoln high school cafeteria. Students in Art I and II classes at the school will exhibit approximately 200 items including drawings, paintings, sculpture, ceramics and prints. Refreshments will be served and the show is open to the public without charge. Pictured above, left to right, are Mike Forsberg, Linda Disse and Cheryl Solheim, with Miss Solheim's unfinished painting at right. Paintings in the background are by Karen Nelson and Judy Hanson. All are students in the Art II classes. Awards to first through fourth places and selected honorable mentions will be made by Union State Bank.

Retired Teachers To Be Honored At Dinner Mon.

Retiring and retired teachers from the Thief River Falls school system will be honord Monday, May 16, at a dinner to be held at 6:30 p.m. in the American Legion club rooms in this city. Special guests will be Miss Thora Skomedal and Clarence Pope, who will retire this year, members of the board of education and former teachers who are living in this community.

Supt. M. R. Hankerson will serve as master of ceremonies for the program which will include an invocation by Miss Gladys Johnson, violin solo by James Solsten, recognition to the teachers by Supt. Hankerson vocal solo by Mrs. Ruth Wilson and presentation of awards by Art Welter, president of the local chapter of the Minnesota Education association.

Summaries of Pope and Miss Skomedal's biographies will be published in the Times Monday.

Plummer School Has Pre-School Roundup Event

Twenty-five first graders of the 1966-67 school year and their mothers attended a pre-school roundup in the Plummer school gymnasium recently.

Information about the summer kindergarten was given and a film was shown. The kindergarten session will be held from June 13 through July 15. This is for all first graders of next year.

A short program was given by the first grade. J. Foldenhauer tested each pupil for speech and hearing defects, and Mrs. Hendrix, school nurse, also attended.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wayne Leining and Mrs. Goodwin Kvasager.

Fishing Season Opens May 14th

Somewhere in your favorite lake or river lurks the big fish you have been seeking for years. Waiting just inside the next weed bed, off the next sand bar or rocky point, or behind a sunken log, the grand-daddy of the species is ready to strike your lure. This is the hope of all fishermen who yield to the excitement of opening day.

Not all fishermen will find the big fish they have been seeking, but a few will be rewarded with good catches. More important, however, all will have the opportunity to get away from the daily routine, to breathe some fresh air and to forget the problems and perplexities of the day.

In this section the fisherman will find many ideas to make his annual opening week-end trip more comfortable and enjoyable. Local merchants offer a huge array of sporting goods and equipment — from common hooks to outboard motors, sinkers to bobbers and sunburn lotion to water-proof rain suits. A number of resorts also invite you to make use of the accommodations they have to offer.

When you take to the water on Saturday, we hope your fishing trip will be a successful one. The fisherman is (fortunately) an incurable optimist, and that grand-daddy walleye or northern may be yours after the very next cast.

Fishing Fever
reaches epidemic stages on the opening weekend. The only cure is to go fishing . . . so go ahead!

But when you pack for that long-awaited trip to the lake, don't forget your favorite beverage. In the hot sun or the cool shade, your favorite beer means real refreshment.

Safety First Is Word of Caution To Eager Anglers

There may be as many as one million fishermen on Minnesota lakes and rivers when the summer fishing gets into high gear Saturday, May 14, and some may not be coming back.

Carl Moen, conservation department information chief and chairman of the hunting and water safety section of the Minnesota Safety council, said the large number of fishermen, possible weather conditions and other factors combine to make the opening weekend of fishing a potentially big contributor to the annual drowning statistics.

"Fishermen have been looking forward all year to the opening of the season, and some may be so anxious to get out on the lake that they will overlook such things as high waves, overloaded boats and threatening weather," said Moen.

These are ingredients that contribute to drowning statistics, he said. Other factors that go to make the opening particularly hazardous for fishermen are the heavy clothing usually required because of the chill weather and the low temperature of the water.

If a fisherman capsizes his boat or falls out of it he is likely to find himself dragged under by the weight of water soaked clothing or lose consciousness from exposure before he can be rescued.

Moen urged fishermen to observe the principles of common sense and water safety during the opening. "If the water is rough or the weather threatening, stay off the lake. Remember that there will be many other days in which to go fishing, provided you survive the first two days."

City View, Happy Acres Win 4-H County Finals

City View 4-H club swept share-the-fun festival honors and Happy Acres won the one-act play championship at the annual Pennington County 4-H Play and Share-the-fun festival Monday evening at Lincoln senior high school in Thief River Falls.

Winning share-the-fun numbers were two musicals, "Seven Little Girls", and "Ballad of the Green Beret". Participating in the first number were Michael Engen, Susan Wysokl, Rayna Brandt, Myrna Dagen, Carol Sande, Susan Adamson, Suzanne and Roxanne Bruggeman. "The Country Cousins", including Dianne Timm, Mitchel and Joe Kezar and Eddie and David Furuseth, presented the second number.

"Scrambled Eggs" was the title of the winning play presented by the Happy Acres club. Cast members included Ward Johnson, Jerry Parham, Barbara Breiland, Kathy Breiland, Rosann Tripp and Les Nordhagen with Mrs. Bill Holmes and Mrs. Abner Johnson as coaches and Gary Oen as stage assistant.

Kathy Breiland, who played the role of Lucretia in the champion play, was selected by the judges as the outstanding actress. Named best actor was Mitchel Kezar who played the role of Buddy Rutledge in the City View play, "Buddy Pays the Mortgage."

The two winning share-the-fun numbers will be submitted to the state 4-H department, with one to be selected for participation in the district share-the-fun festival to be held July 20 at Crookston. There is no further competition for the winning play.

Entered in the play contest were Happy Acres, City View, Kratka and Deer Park. Participating in share-the-fun finals were the winning City View acts, Kratka, Pennington Quads, Black River, Good Hope, St. Hilaire and Deer Park.

JUDGED best actor and actress in the 4-H Play and Share-the-Fun contest were Mitch Kezar, who played the part of Buddy Rutledge in the City View play, "Buddy Pays the Mortgage," and Kathy Breiland, who played the role of Lucretia in the Happy Acres play, "Scrambled Eggs."

Express Optimism On Pelleting Plant

Optimism concerning the production of alfalfa and operation of the Northwest Pellet association plant at Thief River Falls was expressed at a meeting of the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce Tuesday noon at the Rex cafe. Gene Beito, chairman of Jobs, Inc., which serves as the industrial development committee of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting.

Speakers for the session were C. A. Sande, vice president of Agsco in Grand Forks, and Art Ramage, former manager of the pellet plant at West Fargo. Sande outlined the advantages to farmers in alfalfa production and Ramage noted that there is tremendous market potential for alfalfa pellets.

Comments were also made by Art Stenberg, chairman of the board of directors of the Northwest Pellet association, a cooperative which is nearing completion of a pellet plant north of this city. The plant is expected to be ready for operation in about three weeks and will process sun-cured alfalfa hay.

Hay will be purchased on the basis of protein content and moisture. Brokers have stated that there is increasing foreign demand for pelletized alfalfa and are interested in local production. There is also domestic demand for alfalfa pellets.

A loan of $172,500 was obtained through the Farmers Home administration to construct the plant, with payments to begin in 1968 and extend over 30 years. Working capital will be secured through the sale of preferred stock bearing interest of five per cent. The board of directors intends to redeem this stock over the next five years as profits permit.

The plant will be capable of processing about 100 tons of hay in a 24-hour day. Employment will be provided for an estimated 20

Alfalfa Practice Requested Given Federal Approval

Andrew Strandquist, office manager of the Marshall County ASCS, announces that the special project that was requested for new seeding of alfalfa has been approved by Washington and the state office.

"We will be accepting requests in our office at any time. We have also had a revision in the tree practice so that anyone that would like to sign up for shelterbelts or farmstead windbreaks should come into our office now," Strandquist said.

"The new practice is an improvement over the old tree practice. Requests for the wildlife practice, establishing vegetative cover for wildlife for food and cover, has been extended indefinitely so that anybody that would like to sign up for this practice, can come into our office and make their request," the office manager concluded.

Trinity To Host Former Prisoner Of Communists

Professor Richard Wurmbrand recently released from Communist Roumania, will speak at Trinity Lutheran church Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Wurmbrand is on tour in the United States, sent here by the American Community in Oslo, Norway, which felt that he must be heard by political leaders, students, church leaders and congregations.

Rev. Myrus Knutson of the American Lutheran church in Oslo writes the following concerning him

"Professor Richard Wurmbrand has been in the free world approximately three months. For fourteen years he was imprisoned by the Communist regime in Roumania. Three years were spent in solitary confinement. The suffering of these years was unimaginable. Eighteen deep, large holes in his body from beatings and hot pokers are horrible evidence. For a period he was given one hundred grams of bread per week (about one slice). He endured the torture of being brainwashed for a whole year but, as he said, the communists could not wash his soul. For over two years he was in the "death" ward with tuberculosis of both lungs. Physicians in Norway said there was no medical reason why he should be alive.

"Amnesty for many political prisoners was negotiated by the United States last year. Communists, generally, are anti-semitic. The only reason he could get out of Roumania was the fact that he was born a Jew. The Norsk Israel society, whom he represented in Roumania for about 15 years, bought his freedom as well as that of his wife and son, for several thousand Kroner.

"It would be needless to add that he is a militant anti-communist. The American Community in Oslo has been upended by his month's visit here. One hears, 'a contemporary St. Basel' or 'St. Paul' or 'a living martyr' as a frequent characterization. He is an unforgettable experience of God's power.

"His life and story have been thoroughly checked. He is trustworthy and responsible."

The public is invited.

Give Approval To $83,600 in Bldg. Permits

Several Licenses Are Granted by Council At Meeting Tuesday

Eight building permits having a total valuation of $83,600 were approved by the Thief River Falls city council at its regular meeting Tuesday night. The permits are as follows:

Clifford M. Jorde, addition to dwelling, $1,200; Vernon E. Nelson, dwelling improvement, $4,000; Marlus Haakenstad, addition to dwelling, $2,000; L. B. Hartz Wholesale, addition, $42,000; Production Credit, addition, $28,000; Ted Hellie, addition to dwelling, $2,700; Elgin Loeffler, garage, $1,500; and Gerhart Hanson, breezeway and garage, $2,200.

The assessment roll for Birch Lane drive, LaBree avenue, Spruce avenue, Markley av. N. and the southwest area was referred to the street committee for further study. The water extension assessment for Markley av. S. was adopted after a brief hearing at which no interested parties were present.

Plumber's licenses were granted to Edwin Langlie, Calvin Ripley, Carl Lee, Albert Swenson, M. T. Emme and William Moser. A taxi license was granted to Fred's Cab Service, a theatre license to the Falls theatre, an auctioneer license to A. G. Anderson and a pool table license to The Club.

Junk dealer's licenses were granted to Philip's Auto Wrecking, Evans Seed, Wool & Fur and Joe Holtan. The council is considering investigating city licenses and proposing that certain changes be made. The pool table license may be lifted to conform with the recent lifting of the state pool hall license.

A progression raise of $10 per month for Elmer Poole, park and recreation department employee, was approved upon recommendation by James Foley, park and recreation director.

Only one bid for a traffic control radar unit was opened Tuesday afternoon. The Police Equipment Store of Minneapolis submitted a bid in the amount of $850 for a Dominator traffic radar unit. After inspecting the portable radar rig, the council voted to table action on the bid to May 17 to allow for a meeting with the police department.

School Board Retains Consultant for Bonds

Six New Teachers Hired by Board; Two More Resign

In anticipation of a possible bond issue for vocational school construction, the bonding firm of T. G. Evenson and Associates was retained by the Thief River Falls board of education meeting in regular session Monday evening. David Goblirsch represented the firm which will handle fiscal matters relative to the proposed bond issue.

The board also accepted two resignations, approved contracts for six teachers and granted one leave of absence at the session. Resignations were received from Al Adams, who will be employed on a full-time basis by the Thief River Falls junior college, and Miss Annette Sebring, fifth grade teacher at Washington school, who will be married this summer. Donald Ray was granted a leave of absence to return to graduate school.

Contracts were approved for Ann Charrier, business instructor to succeed Miss Genevieve Hutmacher; Gerald Wigness, business instructor in the vocational school, to succeed Gerald Lydeen; Fay Hermanson, speech therapist to succeed Miss Kay Knudson; Dwight Wilson, carpentry in the vocational school, to succeed Clarence Pope; Suzanne Schaak, girls physical education at Lincoln, to succeed Sheila Harmn; and James Sims, Mahnomen, boys physical education and football coach at Lincoln to succeed Bill Herzog.

Miss Charrier is a graduate of the University of North Dakota; Wigness was employed by Union State bank; Miss Hermanson is a graduate of the University of North Dakota; Dwight Wilson will come here from Duluth; Miss Schaak is a Cass Lake native and graduate of Bemidji State college; and Sims holds BA and MS degrees from Moorhead State college, and has taught and coached at Eagle Bend.

Resolutions were adopted by the board to permit the school to participate in federal programs under Title I of the National Defense Education act, and named Francis Hamerlinck, administrative assistant, as agent for the school in working with federal authorities.

Representing the Municipal Drivers and Helpers local, Mr. Brumeister appeared before the board and requested salary increases of 20 cents per hour for janitors and 27 cents per hour for bus drivers. Following discussion, the board agreed to offer an increase of eight cents per hour to janitors and no increase to bus drivers.

Approval was given to a high school equivalency certificate for Kenneth J. Oxe and to a contract with the Thief River Golf club in the amount of $400 for use of the course for the school golf teams and summer recreation program.

Supt. M. R. Hankerson introduced discussion on possible new departments for the area vocational-technical school. Courses of study discussed were radio announcing, chef, grain technicians, machinist and medical and dental technologist.

Secretaries in the school system were granted salary increases of $10 per month and cooks were given $5 monthly increases. Several other salary adjustments were made for non-teaching personnel.

28 at Clinic for Crippled Children

Twenty-eight patients from five counties attended the spring crippled children's clinic conducted Tuesday by the Crippled Children services of the Minnesota department of welfare in cooperation with the DeCor group of the Federated Women's club of Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Joe Dostal was project chairman with Mrs. Harold Buck as appointment chairman. Other volunteers assisting were Miss Geneva Overum, Mrs. Verna Nopper, R. N. and Mrs. N. Olson, R. N. Mrs. Dostal noted that the second cardiac clinic sponsored by the Crippled Children services and the Women's club would be held May 24 at Northwestern hospital.

Physicians participating were Mildred Norval, M. D., St. Paul, pediatrician; J. J McLeod, M. D., Grand Forks, orthopedic consultant, and Ann Schutt, M.D., Fargo, physical medical consultant.

Others on the staff were Mrs. Thelma Read, social service consultant, St. Paul. Mrs. Laura Stenskog, field nursing consultant, Bemidji; Miss Adelaide Avoy, clinic coordinator, St. Paul; Miss Judy Larson and Mrs. Beverly Rongen, Pennington county welfare workers.

Student practical nurses who provided assistant were Roberta Allen, Gail Holthusen, Marilyn, Moren, Carol Hegge, Mrs. Marian Larson and Mrs. Caroline Rendahl. Visitors were Mrs. Margaret Race, Thief River Falls school nurse and Mrs. Bernice Hendrix, Red Lake Falls school nurse.

"Pretty-Up" Plan To Employ 154

One hundred and fifty-four low income elderly and chronically unemployed people 50 years or older will find employment on "Project Pretty-Up," according to the Inter-County Community council of Oklee. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars has been granted to the council for this purpose under the Nelson amendment of the Economic Opportunity act by the Office of Economic Opportunity. All towns within the four counties of Pennington, Red Lake, East Polk and Clearwater will participate.

Employment for "Project Pretty-Up" will begin immediately. Residents of Pennington and Red Lake counties may apply for work under "Pretty-Up" at the Thief River Falls Employment office Monday through Friday of next week, May 16-20.

"Project Pretty-Up" is a year-long program of community beautificatoin designed to provide supplementary income to low-income people who are unable to obtain employment or training under other programs. Employees will work a 20-hour week at $1.25 per hour. It is planned that work will start in all communities by June 1.

Retired Teachers To Be Honored At Dinner Mon.

Retiring and retired teachers from the Thief River Falls school system will be honord Monday, May 16, at a dinner to be held at 6:30 p.m. in the American Legion club rooms in this city. Special guests will be Miss Thora Skomedal and Clarence Pope, who will retire this year, members of the board of education and former teachers who are living in this community.

Supt. M. R. Hankerson will serve as master of ceremonies for the program which will include an invocation by Miss Gladys Johnson, violin solo by James Solsten, recognition to the teachers by Supt. Hankerson vocal solo by Mrs. Ruth Wilson and presentation of awards by Art Welter, president of the local chapter of the Minnesota Education association.

Summaries of Pope and Miss Skomedal's biographies will be published in the Times Monday.

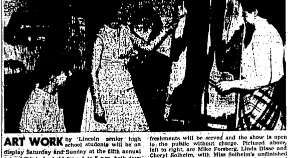
Plummer School Has Pre-School Roundup Event

Twenty-five first graders of the 1966-67 school year and their mothers attended a pre-school roundup in the Plummer school gymnasium recently.

Information about the summer kindergarten was given and a film was shown. The kindergarten session will be held from June 13 through July 15. This is for all first graders of next year.

A short program was given by the first grade, J. Foldenhauer tested each pupil for speech and hearing defects, and Mrs. Hendrik, school nurse, also attended.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Wayne Leining and Mrs. Goowin Kvasager.



ART WORK by Lincoln senior high school students will be on display Saturday and Sunday at the fifth annual art exhibit to be held from 1 to 5 p.m. both days at the Lincoln high school cafeteria. Students in Art I and II classes at the school will exhibit approximately 200 items including drawings, paintings, sculpture, ceramics and prints. Refreshments will be served and the show is open to the public without charge. Pictured above, left to right, are Mike Forsberg, Linda Disse and Cheryl Solheim, with Miss Solheim's unfinished painting at right. Paintings in the background are by Karen Nelson and Judy Hanson. All are students in the Art II classes. Awards to first through fourth places and selected honorable mentions will be made by Union State Bank.

Mother-Daughter Luncheon Held at Evangelical Free

"Planting with a Purpose" was the theme of the Mothers and Daughters luncheon held Tuesday evening, May 3, at the church parlors of the Evangelical Free church. Approximately 140 attended the event, sponsored by the Women's Mission Society and heard Miss Martha Kleppe, the guest speaker.

Mrs. Martin Hanson, president of the WMF, welcomed the guests. In keeping with the theme and noting that sunshine was necessary for growth, she led the group in singing "Heavenly Sunlight" and "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer".

Mrs. Ole Moen presented a short devotional message, the opening prayer and led the group in singing the table prayer. In the absence of Wanda Jacobson, the tribute to the Mothers was given by Cynthia Reierson. Christie Hanson gave the tribute to grandmothers and Mrs. Waldie Christiensen read the poem "Daughters of the Bible".

Musical numbers included on the program were a duet, "In the Garden" by Mrs. Orville Trontvet and her daughter; a trio "Have Thine Own Way" by Mrs. H. Vatthauer and her daughters and a selection "Do You Love Jesus" with Mrs. Charles Jones singing the solo part and her three daughters singing the affirmative response. A selection "God Bless You Dear Mothers" was presented by the Daughters choir with Mrs. Benhard Wold as director.

A special feature of the evening was the presentation of a corsage and a gift from the group to Mrs. Wesley Johnson in observance of her birthday. She responded with words of appreciation and also offered the closing prayer.

Forming the motif for the event, wheelbarrows and garden tools graced the platform while the tables were decorated with miniature wheelbarrows filled with vegetables, flowers and garden tools. At each individual place setting were program booklets with packets of seeds on the covers. The luncheon was prepared by members of circles three and four and served by the men of the congregation.

Book Fair Slated This Sunday at Trinity Church

Library board of Trinity Lutheran church, Thief River Falls, is planning to hold its second annual Book Fair in the church library on Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m.

A selection of 158 new books has been prepared for inspection and for sale at the book fair. Included are children's books, teenage books, novels, biographies, devotional books, Bibles, and other books of a Christian nature. These books were all selected for their appeal to the people in this area of Minnesota. All the books are new and have just been received from the publishers.

Last year 110 books were sold at the book fair. This year many of the same books were ordered as well as several copies of the more popular books. The library board feels that anyone of these books would make excellent reading and also be useful as a confirmation or graduation gift, according to Charles Samuelson, library board president.

Coffee and cookies will be served free of charge and all who are interested in books are invited to atted. All proceeds will go toward the library redecorating fund.

Anderson Resigns Boy Scout Post; Joins Air Force

David R. Anderson, Thief River Falls, district scout executive of the Lake Agassiz council Boy Scouts of America, has resigned from that position to enter military service, according to H. W. Oehler, Grand Forks, council scout executive.

Anderson has enlisted in the United States Air Force, and left recently for Lackland Air Force Base in Texas.

Since March 15, 1965, Anderson served as district scout executive for the Pembina Trail district, comprising Polk and Red Lake counties; the Penn-Ro-Shall district, made up of Pennington, Roseau and part of Marshall counties; and the North Star district, an area covering Kittson and eastern Marshall counties.

During the time that Anderson served the area, seven new scouting units were created. In addition a number of program activities and training events were held in the area, resulting in a more effective scouting program.

Anderson, a graduate of the University of North Dakota, will serve in the Air Force for four years. Mrs. Anderson, the former Karen Peterson of Minot, N. D. is continuing her education at the University of North Dakota.

Oehlr indicated that a successor to Anderson will be named as soon as possible. During the interim the area will continue to be served by the district officers in the three districts, and through the Lake Agassiz council office located at Grand Forks.

Reapportionment Plan Revealed By Legislator

After completing work on a reapportionment bill, the Minnesota legislature recessed Tuesday to await action or inaction by Gov. Karl Rolvaag on the reapportionment plan. Gov. Rolvaag has three choices regarding the bill. He can sign it into law, veto it, or let it become law without his signature by neither signing nor vetonig by midnight Friday.

The legislature will reconvene at 10 a.m. Monday. The long recess was enacted through a concurrent resolution, passed unanimously in both the House and Senate. Under the constitution, neither body can adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other.

Rep. Andrew Skaar of Thief River Falls, who has been in St. Paul during the special session, explained the bill in the following letter to the Times:

The extra session of the Legislature is rapidly drawing to a close. Honest and sincere effort was made to pass a reapportionment bill that would be acceptable to the House of Representatives, to the Senate, and to the Governor.

"The measure would maintain the senate at 67 members and the house at 135 shifting 5½ senate seats and 11 house seats into the Twin Cities suburbs and correcting population imbalances that led a federal court to declare the old distrits unconstitutional in 1964.

"Five of the new senate districts and 16 in the house, according to a conference committee analysis, would have populations which deviate more than 10 per cent from the average of 50,953 for each senate district and 25,288 for each house district, based on the 1960 federal census.

"Under the proposed bill, Red Lake county would be in a legislative district consisting of Polk, Norman and Red Lake.

"The representative districts are divided as follows: The county of Norman and that part of the county of Polk consisting of the towns of Johnson, Chester, Gully, Tynsid, Roome, Andover, Fairfax, Kertsonville, Tilden, Grove Park, Badger, Lessor Hill River, Eden, Vinland, Hammond, Russia, Onstad, Godfrey, Woodside, Knute, King, Brandsvold, Queen, Hubbard, Scandia, Reis, Liberty, Garfield, Garden, Winger, Sletten, Rosebud, and Columbia and the villages of Trail, Gully, Mentor, Climax, Erskine, McIntosh, Nielsville, Beltrami, Fertile, Winger, Fosston and Lengby, is entitled to elect one representative.

"The county of Red Lake and that part of the county of Polk not included in paragraph 66A is entitled to elect one representative.

"The sixty-seventh district consists of the counties of Pennington, Marshall, Kittson and Roseau, and is entitled to elect one senator and two representatives.

"The representative districts are divided as follows:

"67A. The county of Kittson and that part of the county of Roseau, consisting of the towns of Blooming Valley, Soler, Barto, Polonia, Dewey, Hereim, Deer, Lind, and the villages of Strathcona and Greenbush, and the unorganized territory north and west of the town of Soler, and that part of the county of Marshall not included in paragraph 67B is entitled to elect one representative.

"67B. The county of Pennington, that part of the county of Roseau not included in paragraph 67A; and that part of the county of Marshall, consisting of the towns of Thief Lake, Whiteford, Grand Plain, Moylan, Eckvoll, Rollis, Moose River, Linsell, Veldt, Valley and Espelie, and the village of Grygla, and the unorganized territory north of the town of Grand Plain is entitled to elect on representative.

"If Governor Rolvaag chooses to veto this reapportionment measure, I believe any further deliberations by the legislature would be fruitless, and in my opinion I believe the reapportionment problem would have to be solved by the federal courts."
